DOWNTOWN WEST

Toronto's Downtown West is one of Canada's fastest growing submarkets. The area is popular with young urban professionals who desire a downtown 'live, work, and play' lifestyle. Known as Toronto's Entertainment District, Downtown West is home to the city's biggest tourist attractions including TIFF, the Theatre District and the hottest restaurants and nightlife in Toronto.

Bolstered by the most active office and residential market in the country, Downtown West has experienced exponential growth the past decade with ample mixed used development projects under construction in the immediate area. The area is the city's tech hub and features some of the top tech talent in the country including Shopify's Toronto headquarters.

A large number of high-profile projects are slated for completion in the next three years, including King-Adelaide Centre, Waterworks, KING Toronto, and The Well.
