

DESIGNER IN YOUR POCKET

Home improvement projects can be fun and exciting but they can also become overwhelming very quickly. There are so many choices and considerations that need to be accounted for. You don't always need a professional to take over, but you could use their advice and help keeping it straight.

That's where Designer in Your Pocket comes in. For someone to come alongside you when those projects are starting to get out of hand, someone who has been through all this before. Someone who knows the right questions to ask, like, do you have everything covered? The right tradesmen? Is a calendar in place? Have the materials been located?

When the decisions become too much and the advice of friends and family just leaves you confused and frustrated, let us help.
