..... Felicia Captain has a special appreciation for the needs of residential buyers and sellers. After living on three different continents in the span of six years, Captain is acutely aware of the demands and logistics of relocating. She also had her own law practice for 12 years prior to living abroad. Captain's analytic and detail-oriented mindset, coupled with her personal experience, empower her to address the needs of her clients with exceptional service. Having grown up on the North Shore and now residing in Weston, Captain provides buyers across the greater Boston area with a wealth of local market knowledge. As a global luxury property specialist and pricing strategy professional, Captain provides sellers with a competitive edge, and her impressive negotiation skills consistently deliver optimal return on investment. Captain gives both buyers and sellers the relevant market data necessary to make an educated decision, and she guides them through the transaction process—with personalized service from start to close.
