Welcome to majestic peninsula of Istria

THE BEAUTY OF ADRIATIC

Legend says that a long time ago, giants used to live in Istria, erecting cities out of giant stones on the tops of its hillocks.

That is why today, nearly every Istrian hill is topped by a medieval town that gets an average of 260 days of sunshine per year. Istria is the green-blue oasis of the northern Adriatic. A combination of fragrant pine forests, beautiful blue sea and red earth. Embark on a historic journey and uncover the monuments and structures dating back to the days of Rome and the Austrian rule, even some protected by UNESCO. Set off on an adventure across more than 500 kilometres of cycling paths through dense forests and meadows rich in asparagus and truffles. On its seaside, Istria offers 445 kilometres of coast to explore, and the sea just perfect for sailing. Enjoy the exquisite cuisine: truffles, boškarin cattle delicacies, world-renowned wines and olive oils.

CHARM IS ITS MIDDLE NAME

Vrsar is a small Istrian town which dates back more than 2,000 years, with a rich history still talked about today. It was built on a hill and surrounds a castle or Kaštel, as it is known, which used to be a bishop’s summer residence.

Vrsar has always been a town of love. It is where the world’s best-known lover and playboy Giacomo Casanova had many a secret affair and where he returned time and again. Its many romantic lookouts boast stunning views of an archipelago of 18 uninhabited islands. With 190 berths in the local marina, Vrsar is also a sailing paradise. Ever since its erection over the tiny bay in western Istria, Vrsar has been an inexhaustible source of inspiration for adventurers, fishermen, artists, winemakers and lovers. You will be drawn to it by Casanova’s house, Mediterranean architecture, and numerous sculptures scattered around town, but you will stay because of the locals. Fun & Sport

Fun and holidays go hand in hand. By the day's end, it's always nice to have a few extra experiences aside from sunbathing and enjoying the pristine sea. That's why we've made sure you always have something to do throughout the day – all you have to do is choose when. Learn how to cook and dance, or spend evenings at our amazing music shows. For our youngest guests, we have various clubs, disco nights and workshops.

And there's no lack of sports, either. Amongst our many sports activities, you'll find surfing, basketball, tennis, miniature golf, and volleyball, and you can even try scuba diving. Cycling is, of course, closely associated with Istria and a great way to explore the stunning Istrian coast with your family and friends.

MaiSky KIDS CLUB

The MaiSky Kids Club is a brand of children's clubs, inspired by a local legend of a dragon who couldn't breathe enough fire to keep warm, embarking on a quest to find a new home in warmer lands by the sea. At MaiSky kids clubs, children learn something new every day through play and exploration, thanks to a diverse activities programme.

The fun doesn't have to end at the end of the day – that's why the reception desks at the campsites participating in the MaiSky programme offer a variety of products featuring the Sky dragon. This way, children can take it home as a wonderful memento of their time spent playing together or as a companion for continued fun. We also cater to older children with our Teen Club, featuring a diverse range of activities tailored for those aged 12 to 18.
