We believe the best way to build better lives for children is to invest in the communities in which they live. By partnering closely with local community groups, churches, families, and children themselves, we address the root causes of poverty that directly impact children. This approach strengthens the good work they’re already doing, and ensures that the ownership of their children’s futures remains in their hands.

Child sponsorship connects sponsors, children, and communities. When a child is sponsored, they become a link for the sponsor to the community that child is living in. Sponsors’ donations establish long-term improvements that benefit their children’s whole community, such as building schools or providing access to clean water.

If you believe that we have a future together, go ahead and complete the form below. It only takes a week at school at a time. It is a way of giving back to a child in need.

Child sponsorship changes lives

If you have been lucky enough to have a Kiwi sponsor, finish this sentence: We will never study at school again. I don’t make the same mistakes again. I want to be a teacher. I want to be like him.

Child sponsorship is a powerful tool in overcoming the root causes of poverty. Our generous child sponsors are transforming communities and helping the world’s most vulnerable children have a brighter future.

World Vision New Zealand has made a big difference in Nekhantani’s life. Not only does he have a Kiwi sponsor, but Nekhantani has also greatly benefitted from Unlock Literacy, an education programme directly funded by child sponsorship that benefits the whole community. Nekhantani proudly shows off his reading and writing skills, and the school bags he has received as awards.

“I’m always attentive and listen to what the teacher says,” Nekhantani says. “I want to be a teacher. I want to be like my teacher.”
