WELCOME

For me, the magic of theatre lies in the shared experience of sitting in an audience.

Whether it’s laughing with the person beside you, or joining in a collective gasp, or getting lost in the power of a transformative story – those reactions are what I love.

Then afterwards, you get to talk about all that with whoever’s sitting next to you.

And it is even more special because you know that experience – that one performance, shared with the other people in that room – will never come again.

This year, we have carefully chosen a series of world-class plays for you. Together, they deliver so many of the things I love about theatre. There are stories that make you both think and feel. There are classic plays you know and new productions you will be the first audiences to see.

We have international hits and works that could only have been made here in Melbourne. You’ll see actors you’re familiar with on stage and new ones we’re so proud to introduce to you.

The best way to save on tickets and snap up premium seats is to join us as a Subscriber. Whether it’s your first time, or you’ve been part of the community for years, our storytelling only comes to life with an audience. And when the end of the year arrives, you will know you have had a rare and thrilling experience – one you’ve shared with the rest of our community.

Join us for an unforgettable experience.

Lace up your boots whether you're a footy fanatic or not, the Cutting Cove boys are back!

The laugh-out-loud hit of Melbourne Theatre Company's Season 2024 returns after winning the hearts of critics and audiences alike.

The local footy team of this small coastal town has spent too long at the bottom of the ladder. But then a new hope arrives: the Marngrook cousins. Named after the Aboriginal game that inspired AFL, they're match-fit to bring home the team's first flag in forever. 37 juxtaposes choreographed sequences of Marngrook and the modern game with the hilarity and at-times questionable banter found within sporting clubs around Australia.

Set within the era of Adam Goodes's war cry – and named for the number he immortalised – 37 asks ten actors to throw themselves into this world of blood and grit to get at the values that drive a national obsession. Community, identity, the price of winning and the meaning of a goal: they're all up for grabs.

Penned by Nathan Maynard – twice named Tasmanian Aboriginal Artist of the Year – and directed by Isaac Drandic (The Birthday Party, ABC's Cleverman), 37 is a reminder that honest conversations are more than a ball toss. It matters where you stand.

A night to remember? More like a nightmare to forget.

A Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf? for the modern era, this savagely funny Australian premiere is written by Deborah Frances-White (host of the wildly popular podcast The Guilty Feminist) and directed by our Resident Director Tasnim Hossain (English).

Simon Gleeson (Les Misérables), Chika Ikogwe (Heartbreak High), Katie Robertson (Five Bedrooms) and Sunny S Walia (Shantaram) star as two couples sharing one last meal in honour of their doomed restaurant venture. As the wine is uncorked, secrets flow.

Fuelled by simmering tensions and top shelf booze, things boil over when a drinking game uncovers the real dynamics driving their relationships: power, resentment, envy and fear. And that's just the entrée.

Beneath the in-jokes and flirting, self-care and teasing is a seething stew of money, sex, race and class. Stirred through with a wicked sense of humour, Never Have I Ever is delicious proof that the most personal form of politics is also the most explosive.

David Williamson's The Removalists is still as provocative and relevant as it was at its debut.

When The Removalists premiered at Melbourne's La Mama Theatre in 1971 it put a wrecking ball through the walls of genteel Australian theatre. Profane, honest and arresting in its depiction of the animal side of humanity, its most surprising revelation is in how little has changed.

Set in an inner-suburb of Melbourne, Fiona and Kate report an act of violence to the police hoping things will be resolved peacefully. However, the local constabulary like to handle things their own way. Over the course of one evening the hidden currents of competition, desire and brutality flowing beneath polite society will be dragged out into the open.

Anne-Louise Sarks directs the bracing revival of this dark satire in a production that sets its gaze on Australia – right here, right now – and refuses to blink.

From Andrea James (Sunshine Super Girl) comes The Black Woman of Gippsland; a story of Victoria's dark past that is in dire need of revisiting, told as a thrilling modern mystery that unfolds with beauty, tragedy and rebellion.

A woman is tossed ashore from the sea, bedraggled and lost. A century and a half later, another finds herself diving deep into the truth behind a lingering legend.

Jacinta's family is driving her up the wall and her academic career is floundering, but amongst the books, something doesn't feel right about the story history tells. The myths and half-truths that surround the figure of a 'white woman' said to have lived among the Gunaikurnai people of Gippsland in the 1840s are so abundant it seems the reality is out of reach. But Jacinta is determined to unearth the truth for herself and her Gunaikurnai family no matter the twists and turns the journey might take her on.

Based on real events and set on Andrea's Grandmother's Country, The Black Woman of Gippsland is a poetic, emotionally rich and clever embracing of First Nations stories that have long been silenced.

Australian playwright S. Shakthidharan is one of the most exciting voices in theatre today. His epic play Counting and Cracking wowed audiences in sell-out seasons across the country, alongside triumphant tours to the UK and now New York. Melbourne audiences can again witness his talents in full flight with this new work conjuring a community confronted by the bold promises of globalisation.

For fifty thousand years, soldiers and missionaries and kings and queens have tried to conquer this remote Indian valley, and for fifty thousand years Nirmala's ancestors have kept them out. But what if out is exactly where her daughter Isha wants to be?

When a stranger arrives with an offer too good to be true, the two must reckon with the costs of a devil's bargain. Family, freedom and the fates of thousands will ultimately rest in their hands.

The Wrong Gods is a thrilling, gripping tale full of hope, betrayal, tradition and self-discovery. Rich with poetry and imagery, it asks brave questions that don't have a safe answer. If everything in this world comes at a cost, who gets to decide what that cost will be?

The bonds of love are tested in this expansive yet intimate drama rich with humour and wit, starring film, theatre and television legend Sigrid Thornton and directed by Lee Lewis. Careening through the twentieth century – from the Muzak-drenched 60s through the sexual revolution, disco era, and New Age movements that followed – Mother Play charts the personal upheavals of one family trying to find a place for themselves amid the slings and arrows of a changing world.

It's 1962 and Martha and Carl are unpacking. Again. Since their deadbeat dad ditched them and stole the family's savings, they've been following their fierce mother Phyllis from apartment to apartment. Cockroaches, landlords and snooty neighbours be damned. Phyllis is determined to live life on her terms. They're moving on up.

Mother Play is a gift for actors, allowing them to muster the full range of human emotion in service of a story that cannot fail to stir the heart.

Its 2024 Broadway production earned four Tony nominations and won two Drama Desk Awards and an Outer Critics Circle Award. It's time for Melbourne audiences to be treated to the Australian premiere of this lustrous gem of contemporary theatre.

The new girl in town is making heads spin.
You've got to move fast when you're 16 going on 70.

Kimberly Akimbo is the musical that took Broadway by storm. It won countless hearts and raked in five Tony awards including Best Musical, with music by Jeanine Tesori, the brilliant mind behind the critically acclaimed Fun Home. This Australian premiere directed by four-time Helpmann Award-winner Mitchell Butel and starring Marina Prior, Casey Donovan and Christie Whelan Browne brims with infectious energy and tunes that soar.

New Jersey, 1999: from a sea of teen angst, unrequited crushes and popularity contests bursts Kimberly, a musical heroine like no other. Equal parts teen comedy, heist caper and unlikely love story, her rollercoaster journey shows that the tempo of your own song is yours to set. Born with a genetic rarity that means she ages at four times the rate of everyone else, Kimberly is a teen in mid-life form and living on borrowed time. She can cope with her dropkick dad and narcissistic mum – can't spell 'dysfunction' without 'fun', right? But when her criminal aunt Debra shows up with a get-rich-quick scheme too good to be legal, Kimberly decides you're only young once.

History and the heart both have a habit of sweeping you away. This family drama serves as a potent reminder that the past is always with us.

Enter South Africa in 1976. Like countless 24-year-olds, Della juggles family, love, work and dreams, but the spectre of apartheid threatens to tear apart even the most unshakeable bonds. Revolution is in the air, and it comes at a price. When her old flame Ezra shows up with a head full of dangerous ideas, Della's world will be upended by forces that will echo around the globe.

Written by and starring award-winning South African-born actor and playwright Kirsty Marillier and directed by Zindzi Okenyo (Is God Is), Destiny is an intimate drama of allure and loyalty set against the canvas of world-changing events.

Buoyed by the spirit of social revolution that came to a head in the 1970s, this world premiere captures the era's music, fashion and sense of freedom in a fierce, funny, and unforgettable tale.

Step into the haunting world of Daphne du Maurier's classic 1938 novel, where love and doubt cloak the corridors of Manderley. This timeless tale reinvented the Gothic romance for modern audiences while Alfred Hitchcock's masterful film adaptation further cemented its legend as one of the iconic tales of the twentieth century. Now Anne-Louise Sarks invites us back to this ghostly manor, conjuring up the living and the dead who haunt its halls.

Infidelity, manipulation and murder crowd in as du Maurier's tightly knit narrative unfolds, and questions of identity, memory and obsession play out in spellbinding fashion. Performed by a powerhouse cast including Pamela Rabe (The Children), Nikki Shiels (A Streetcar Named Desire) and Bert LaBonté (Topdog/Underdog), Rebecca promises to be one of the major new productions of the Australian stage in 2025.

When a young woman falls hard for a dashing older widower, she moves to his bewitching country estate with no idea of the dark history that lies lurking amongst the grounds. The spectre of his first wife Rebecca infuses every shadowy corner while the domineering housekeeper Mrs Danvers is a constant watchful presence, determined to undermine her at every turn.

Every story deserves a good ending. What's yours?

When the acclaimed author Cory Taylor was diagnosed with a terminal illness, what followed was an astonishing creative surge that resulted in a memoir Barack Obama named as one of his favourite books of 2017.

Taylor's wry insights into the rituals, language and taboos surrounding mortality can be witty, provocative or eye-opening – sometimes in the same breath. With honesty and unsentimental clarity she confronts the swamp of anxiety and despair that traditionally surrounds death and opens the door to the bright clear-eyed vision it ultimately grants us. Learning to face death is, in the end, learning to live fully.

Equally moving and hilarious, Taylor's last work has been adapted with great care by writer and broadcaster Benjamin Law (Torch the Place), a family friend of Taylor's, who brings a loving ear to this most intimate tale.

Renowned television, film, and theatre actress Genevieve Morris invites you on a potent and playful journey to explore the essential things that are put into perspective as we all approach the finishing line.

Strap in for a theatrical feast to send the year out on a high, with Shakespeare's classic comedy of love's ecstasy and complexities.

Beatrice and Benedick are the most modern of Shakespeare's couples. They have history. They love to hate each other, yet everyone around them knows they're perfect for each other. Can love really conquer all?

This brutally funny battle of the sexes is brought ferociously to life by Helpmann Award-winner Alison Bell (The Letdown) and AACTA Award-winner Fayssal Bazzi (Stateless) in his Melbourne Theatre Company debut.

Beatrice and Benedick will fight for their lives against their happily ever after in a play packed full of drama, intrigue and romance. Brimming with wild reversals and hilarious collisions, this outrageously popular romantic comedy has captivated audiences for centuries.

Now, for the first time in 30 years, the Company presents a brand new production of Shakespeare's joyous war of words and razor-sharp banter, under the direction of Mark Wilson (Jacky).

A cheeky comedy set in an all-too-believable future, The Robot Dog sinks its teeth into some of the most provocative and challenging questions of our time. Bark meets byte in this thrilling tale exploring technology, language and culture in a fast-evolving world.

It's 2042 and Australia is more automated than ever before. Janelle, a woman of Cantonese heritage, and her partner Harry, a First Nations man, move back into Janelle's family home after the death of her mother. As they attempt to navigate their work, relationship and job seeking requirements, they find themselves assisted by the quirky AI controlling their home and a robotic therapy dog. Janelle and Harry are quickly swept into a world of augmentations, restrictions and chaos. Does their new hi-tech life help them connect to culture and each other, or does it hinder it?

The Robot Dog is an intercultural sci-fi comedy with a big, beating heart. A collaboration between Hong Kong-born multidisciplinary artist Roshelle Yee Pui Fong and Luritja writer and technologist Matthew Ngamurarri Heffernan with director Amy Sole (Blak in the Room), The Robot Dog promises to be a relatable, imaginative and highly theatrical production full of humour and humanity.

This funeral will be the death of them.

A rip-roaring ride plunging two best friends into the depths of the Chinese afterlife, LEGENDS vaults across genres, realities and theatrical convention with an infectious zest.

Co-created by Joe Paradise Lui and Merlynn Tong (Golden Blood), LEGENDS draws on the unique talents of many theatre artists from Australia's Asian diaspora. It's a powerful, deeply personal examination of the Chinese cultural experience and the enduring power of friendship, revealed through a hilarious yet subtly moving lens.

Merlynn and Joe are used to fiery clashes – but what old friends aren't? As they spend a night holding vigil for their dead grandfathers, their conflicting attitudes towards traditional values grow more and more heated. Merlynn wants to preserve the rites of her forebears, while Joe thinks it's all a load of superstition. But the lords of the Underworld have their own thoughts on all of this, and they're going to drag our heroes beyond the grave to resolve their differences.

THE FUTURE OF THEATRE

Our industry-leading initiatives help nurture the next generation of artists and audiences, investing in the future of theatre and enabling us to bring exceptional new theatre to you every year.

Underpinned by funding from donors, these programs enrich the experience you have in the theatre today and will continue to influence the stage for years to come.

NEXT STAGE Writers' Program

As the oldest professional theatre company in Australia, Melbourne Theatre Company has been at the forefront of developing new Australian plays for well over 60 years – beginning with the presentation of Ray Lawler's iconic Summer of the Seventeenth Doll in 1955. NEXT STAGE, our sector-pioneering playwriting program, continues that legacy by investing in, commissioning and developing exceptional new Australian theatre for national and international stages.

Education & Families

We're striving to ignite a lifelong interest in theatre in the young people of Melbourne and Victoria, and support the state's educators.

Through our innovative programs delivered online and face-to-face, we're able to offer unique opportunities and insights that break down barriers of geography and social inequality. Discover our award-winning Education & Families program at mtc.com.au/education.

Deadly Creatives

This unique learning initiative sees passionate young First Nations artists explore storytelling and theatre creation with teaching artists and peers, strengthening their own creative expression and creating future pathways.

Cybec Electric Play Readings

A landmark program in which emerging writers have the unrivalled opportunity to share work in development with an audience. This opportunity supports writers, directors and dramaturgs at early stages of their careers and leads to the creation of bold new Australian work.

Season 2025's The Black Woman of Gippsland has journeyed from the Cybec reading room to the Southbank Theatre stage. Look out for upcoming Cybec readings at mtc.com.au.

MinterEllison Future Directors Initiative

This initiative provides directors seeking opportunities to work at scale with a paid placement as an assistant director, fostering our future storytellers through investment in new voices, perspectives and stories.

Future Creatives

Through mentorships, professional development masterclasses and paid placements to work with senior theatre designers on our productions, this program develops and supports early career designers from historically underrepresented cultural backgrounds.

Building community relationships

Through considered and collaborative community engagement we aim to build authentic connections, foster a sense of belonging and welcome new people to join our vibrant and inclusive theatre community.

Blaktix

We offer heavily discounted tickets to our productions for First Nations people, supporting our commitment to equity and access.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Subscriptions

ADDITIONAL TICKETS

Subscribers can access an exclusive 10% discount on additional tickets for family and friends. This discount is only guaranteed at the time of booking your subscription.

CONCESSIONS

Proof of concession must be provided with your booking. Refunds are not payable if you become eligible for a concession after booking.

GROUP SUBSCRIPTIONS

Group Subscriptions are available for 10+ people booking for at least seven of the same performance dates and times. Groups can be inclusive of concession-priced subscriptions at the appropriate rate, alongside others at the group rate. All tickets must be purchased at the same time to qualify for the discount. Group Subscriptions are available by mail only.

HEAD BOOKERS

Head Bookers are the key point of contact for your subscription group. All tickets will be sent to the Head Booker. If you submit a booking online, are listed first on a printed booking form or are the topmost form when multiple forms are submitted together, you will become the Head Booker.

eTickets for Season 2025 productions will be emailed to the Head Booker 30 days prior to each performance date.

Content Warnings

Occasionally our productions contain strong language, nudity, violence, smoking, strobe lighting, haze and other content you may find uncomfortable or confronting. A comprehensive Production Content Guide outlining acts, language and behaviour that may impact some audience members can be found at mtc.com.au/warnings

Previews

Previews are the first public performances prior to Opening Night and your chance to see the production before anyone else! Previews are presented at a discounted price to compensate for any possible technical issues that may arise at these first performances with an audience. Due to limited capacity we charge a flat rate for previews and no further package discount applies.

OPENING NIGHT PACKAGES

A limited number of Opening Night subscriptions are available for Donors $1,000+. Opening Night subscription tickets can be exchanged for other performances, however any price difference is non-refundable. Additional tickets and concession prices are not available on Opening Nights.

PACKAGE ADD-ONS

The Robot Dog and LEGENDS (of the Golden Arches) can be purchased in addition to your Season 2025 subscription. Subscribers enjoy a 10% discount on every Package Add-On ticket and priority access to tickets before they go on general sale – simply include one or both of the Package Add-On productions when making your subscription booking.

PAYING BY INSTALMENTS

Subscriptions paid by credit card can be divided into four instalments. The first is payable when you subscribe, with the remaining instalments due on 2 January, 2 April and 2 June 2025. An administrative fee of $15 per card applies and a phone number and email address is required for each cardholder. Instalments are not available if you select PayPal when booking online. A $7.95 fee applies in the event of failed payments.

Refunds

We follow the Live Performance Australia Ticketing Code of Practice (see liveperformance.com.au for conditions). Tickets cannot be refunded after purchase except if an event is cancelled, rescheduled or significantly relocated as outlined by the Code.

Show Programmes

We are committed to sustainability and accessibility so find your free digital programme by clicking the link in your pre-show email, scanning the QR code at the theatre or at mtc.com.au/programmes

Matinees

Wednesday and Saturday matinees are scheduled for 2pm – with the exception of Package Add-Ons – LEGENDS (of the Golden Arches) and Education & Families show The Robot Dog.

Ticket Exchanges

CHANGE OF PLANS? NO WORRIES.

Exchanges can be made online, in person at Southbank Theatre or by mail from Friday 1 November 2024. Please note: exchanges cannot be made at Arts Centre Melbourne.

For a how-to guide on exchanging your tickets and full terms and conditions please visit mtc.com.au/exchanges

CHANGING DATES

Exchanges must be finalised at least 24 hours prior to your original performance date. A price difference will be payable if exchanging into a higher-priced performance.

CHANGING PRODUCTIONS

Exchanges into an alternative Season 2025 production must be finalised at least one week prior to the first preview performance of the original production. The alternative production must not be a Package Add-On or already be booked within the subscription. A price difference will be payable if exchanging to a higher-priced production.

EXCHANGE FEE

No exchange fee applies when exchanging tickets purchased as part of a Full Season Subscription. All other subscription tickets and Package Add-On tickets attract a $5 per ticket exchange fee.

EXCHANGES FOR DONORS

Donors $1,000+ can access personalised exchanges via donorticketing@mtc.com.au or by calling us on 03 8688 0953.

SUBSCRIPTION eTICKETS

Subscription eTickets will be emailed 30 days prior to each performance, to the Head Booker. eTickets can be scanned at the door from a smart phone and are valid for entry to the performance. Once received, eTickets are also valid for exchange as per standard exchange rules above.

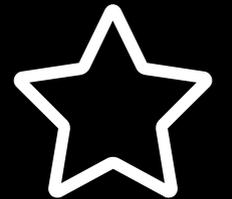

For exchanges to productions you have yet to receive eTickets for, please contact Southbank Theatre Box Office on 03 8688 0800, during opening hours, Monday to Friday from 12 to 6pm and two hours prior to each performance. Alternatively, email your request to: mtcticketing@mtc.com.au. Please include your name, subscriber number (if you have it), the number of tickets you are exchanging (and for whom), your current performance date and time and your preferred new performance date and time.
