SIR PAUL EDMUND STRZELECKI

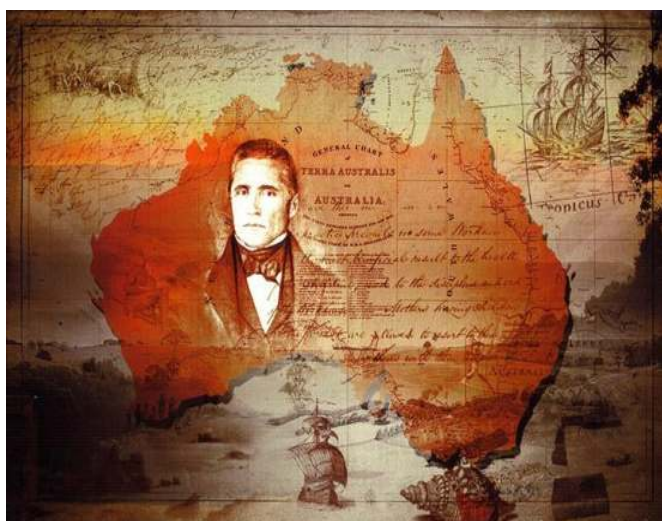

Born in Poland 20/07/1797 – died in England 06/10/1873
Australian explorer and Irish humanitarian

Polish Hill River Church Museum Committee

He invites the Polish community of South Australia, as well as compatriots from all over the continent, to the exhibition

- We present the routes of Paul Edmund Strzelecki's dangerous exploratory expeditions to places of the Australian continent where no white man has ever set foot before him.
- We present his self-sacrificing humanitarian work during the Great Famine in Ireland, where he saved more than 200,000 children and an unknown number of adults from starvation.
- We present an extraordinary man, one of the most handsome gentlemen and the most famous romantics of the 19th century.
