FANS SHOW SUPPORT: The Jaguars did not have a home game blacked out in 2010 after having seven blackouts in 2009. The 2010 season was the first at EverBank Field for the Jaguars. The Jaguars announced a partnership with EverBank on July 27 that includes naming rights to the stadium.

THREE JAGUARS NAMED TO PRO BOWL:

Maurice Jones-Drew (starter), tight end Marcedes Lewis and special teamer Montell Owens were named to the AFC Pro Bowl roster, the most players voted in for the Jaguars since 1999.

MEDIA: The Jaguars utilize Twitter (@jaguarsinsider), Facebook and Text Messaging Alerts to provide fans with timely information, an exclusive behind the scenes look at the organization and the opportunity to engage in conversations with players and coaches. Visit jaguars.com/connect for access.

JAGUARS FINISH 8-8; 2ND PLACE IN AFC SOUTH HAD AFC SOUTH LEAD FOR FIVE WEEKS

The Jacksonville Jaguars finished the regular season 8-8 as they lost three straight games to conclude the season. For the second straight season, the Jaguars were not eliminated from the playoffs until the final weekend of the regular season.

The Jaguars had a share of first place in the AFC South for five of the last six weeks, the latest they had been in that position since 1999. The Jaguars finished 3-3 in the AFC South with a win against each team in the division.

Following a 1-2 start, the Jaguars won seven of their next 10 games including a streak of three straight wins. Two of the wins came in the final seconds. Josh Scobee connected on a franchise-record 59-yard field goal as time expired in week five to give the Jaguars a 31-28 win over Indianapolis. Following the bye week, the Jaguars won their second division game with a 31-24 victory against Houston. David Garrard connected with wide receiver Mike Thomas on a 50-yard touchdown pass as time expired.

The Jaguars put themselves in position to capture their first division title since 1999 by winning two straight games heading into a showdown at Indianapolis on Dec. 19. The Jaguars were held to 67 rushing yards while the Colts ran for 155, resulting in a 34-24 Colts victory which left the teams tied atop the AFC South at 8-6.

"We certainly experienced some tremendous highs and lows this season," Jaguars head coach Jack Del Rio said. "We came within a game of clinching our division crown, in the hunt for a playoff berth and a divisional title until the very last weekend, and we feel like certainly some things we can build on going forward."

"I think when you look at our goals, really each year we set out to find a way into the postseason tournament, to be a playoff participant. We're disappointed that we're not in that tournament this year. In my eight years here, in six of those years we've been in December with a chance to be in the hunt. I can assure you everybody wants more; you want more, fans want more, Mr. Weaver wants more, our players and our coaches want more."

The Jaguars played four games against 2010 playoff teams (Indianapolis twice, Philadelphia, Kansas City) and seven games against teams that finished .500 or better. Three of the club's last five games were against AFC South opponents with all three coming on the road.

INJURIES PLAY A ROLE DOWN THE STRETCH: The Jaguars concluded the season with 14 players on injured reserve including several starters. Pro Bowl RB Maurice Jones-Drew missed the final two games with a knee injury while QB David Garrard was placed on injured reserve with a finger injury the week of the regular season finale. The Jaguars started three different quarterbacks (Garrard, Todd Bouman, Trent Edwards) for only the third time (1997, 1998) in franchise history. DE Aaron Kampman produced four sacks in the first eight games before suffering a torn ACL in his knee during practice, forcing him to miss the final half of the season. 2009 second-round pick Eben Britton missed the final nine games after injuring his shoulder in week seven at Kansas City.

JAGUARS' 16-GAME STARTERS

The Jaguars had eight players start all 16 games in 2010: Brad Meester, Uche Nwaneri, Marcedes Lewis, Tyson Alualu, Terrance Knighton, Daryl Smith, Kirk Morrison and Rashean Mathis.

THREE JAGUARS VOTED TO PRO BOWL

Running back Maurice Jones-Drew (starter), tight end Marcedes Lewis and special teamer Montell Owens were named to the AFC Pro Bowl roster in voting by coaches, players and fans. The three players are the most for the Jaguars since 1999. Jones-Drew was recognized for the second straight year, while Lewis and Owens are first-time Pro Bowl selections. The 2011 Pro Bowl will be played on Sunday, January 30 and televised live on FOX at 7:00 p.m. ET from Aloha Stadium in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Jones-Drew is the 10th player in franchise history to be voted in as a starter and the first since 2006 (Rashean Mathis). Jones-Drew is the fifth player in franchise history to be voted to the Pro Bowl in back-to-back seasons, joining Tony Boselli (1996-2000), Mark Brunell (1996-97), Jimmy Smith (1997-2001) and Marcus Stroud (2003-05). Lewis is the first tight end and Owens the first special teamer to be voted to the Pro Bowl in franchise history.

With 707,913 votes, Jones-Drew finished second among AFC running backs in fan voting and ninth in the NFL. Marcedes Lewis compiled 350,039 fan votes, the second-most among AFC tight ends. Jones-Drew had to withdraw from the game after undergoing knee surgery on Jan. 5.

2010 HONOR ROLL

■ QB David Garrard - Named the AFC Offensive Player of the Week for the first time in his career following the Jaguars 35-17 win at Dallas in week eight. Garrard threw for a career-high four touchdowns and ran for another in the win. A Garrard highlight was voted by fans as the GMC NEVER SAY NEVER MOMENT OF THE WEEK for games played on November 11-15 after he connected with Mike Thomas on a 50-yard "Hail Mary" touchdown pass against Houston on 11/14 with no time remaining.

■ K Josh Scobee - Named the AFC Special Teams Player of the Week for the fifth time in his career following his franchise-record 59-yard field goal as time expired in week four to give the Jaguars a 31-28 win over the Colts. Named to Pro Football Weekly Midseason All-Pro Team.

■ LB Daryl Smith - Named the AFC Defensive Player of the Week for the first time in his career following his performance in the season-opener against Denver. Smith led the Jaguars with 11 tackles and contributed a forced fumble, one interception, one pass defended and one quarterback hit.

■ RB Maurice Jones-Drew - Named to Sporting News NFL All-Pro Team. Named FedEx Ground NFL Player of the Week following his performance against Cleveland on 11/21. Jones-Drew rushed for 133 yards and registered a career-high 220 yards from scrimmage in the win. Named FedEx Ground NFL Player of the Week after he rushed for a career-high 186 yards on 12/5 at Tennessee.

■ FB Greg Jones - Named to Dallas Morning News All-Pro Team.

■ DT Tyson Alualu - Named to The Dallas Morning News All-Rookie Team, Pro Football Weekly All-Rookie Team, Sporting News All-Rookie Team.

■ TE Marcedes Lewis - Named to Peter King's CNN.com NFL All-Pro Team.

■ DE Aaron Kampman - Selected by his teammates as the Ed Block Courage Award Recipient.

■ C Brad Meester - Selected as the Jaguars Walter Payton Man of the Year.

RECORD BREAKING SEASON

ADAM PODLESH HAS CAREER YEAR

Adam Podlesh quietly put together the most productive season of his career in 2010. Podlesh, a fourth-round draft pick in 2007, had a franchise-record 39.2-yard net average on 57 punts.

Podlesh finished with a career-high 26 punts downed inside the 20 and allowed only 19 punt returns. The 19 punt returns were the fewest in the NFL this season and fewest allowed in team history.

MEESTER SETS FRANCHISE-RECORD FOR STARTS

Center Brad Meester, the longest-tenured Jaguar on the roster, surpassed Jimmy Smith (150) for the most starts in franchise history in week six against Tennessee. Meester, who has started 161 games, was a second round pick in the 2000 draft by the Jaguars and joins QB David Garrard as the only players on the roster who were drafted by the Jaguars prior to 2003. Meester's first 48 starts were at left guard, his last 113 at center.

Here's the list of the top six players in starts in franchise history.

GARRARD SETS FRANCHISE RECORDS

Despite playing in only 14 games, David Garrard set the franchise single-season record for touchdown passes with 23. In addition, Garrard finished with a franchise-record 64.5 completion percentage.

Garrard threw for 23 touchdowns and 15 interceptions for a 90.8 passer rating. He finished the previous two seasons with 15 touchdowns and his previous career-high was 18 touchdowns in 2007. He completed at least 65 percent of his passes in seven of 14 games played including five games with a 76-plus completion percentage.

JONES-DREW PRODUCES IN 14 GAMES

Maurice Jones-Drew was on pace to break several records in 2010 but a knee injury sidelined him for the final two games. Jones-Drew compiled 1,324 yards on 299 carries in 14 games played, the fourth-most rushing yards in team history. He had a streak of six consecutive 100-yard rushing games and ranked among the top three in the NFL for the majority of the season.

Jones-Drew surpassed 1,200 rushing yards for the second consecutive season, joining Fred Taylor (2002-04) as the only players in franchise history to accomplish the feat.

HEAD COACH JACK DEL RIO

DEL RIO COMPLETES 8TH SEASON AS HEAD COACH:

Jack Del Rio completed his eighth season as the Jaguars' head coach, one of only five current NFL head coaches who have been with his current team more than seven seasons. Del Rio was named to the post on January 17, 2003, becoming the second head coach in Jaguars history.

Del Rio ranks eighth among active coaches with a regular season record of 65-63. He is one of just ten current NFL head coaches to earn 60 wins. In 2007, the Jaguars posted an 11-5 regular season record to earn the second playoff berth in three years, in addition to the franchise's first playoff win since the 1999 season.

Del Rio concluded his 25th year in the NFL, his 14th as a coach. Del Rio spent 11 years as an NFL linebacker and had a standout college career at the University of Southern California. He previously coached in New Orleans (1997-98), Baltimore (1999-2001), and Carolina (2002). He was the Panthers' defensive coordinator, and in his only season with the club the defense improved from last in the NFL to second, the biggest one-season defensive improvement in NFL history. Del Rio was the linebackers coach for three seasons in Baltimore, where the Ravens' defense also ranked second each season. He helped the team win Super Bowl XXXV over the New York Giants and coached the Ravens' talented linebackers, overseeing the development of Peter Boulware, Jamie Sharper and Ray Lewis, the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year in 2000 and the MVP of Super Bowl XXXV. Prior to coaching, Del Rio played 11 seasons in the NFL, with New Orleans (1985-86), Kansas City (1987-88), Dallas (1989-1991) and Minnesota (1992-95), playing in the Pro Bowl following the 1994 season.

Del Rio was a starter at linebacker for Southern California (1981-84), where he earned All-America honors, was a runner-up for the Lombardi Award and co-MVP of the 1985 Rose Bowl. Del Rio is the only NFL coach who graduated from USC. Del Rio has learned from some of the best coaches in all of football. He was recruited to USC and played for John Robinson, and in the NFL he played under Bum Phillips, Jim Mora, Jimmy Johnson and Dennis Green. As an assistant coach, he has worked for Hall of Famer Mike Ditka and Super Bowl winner Brian Billick, as well as Super Bowl participant John Fox. Among other notable coaches Del Rio has worked with are Dom Capers, Tony Dungy, Dave Wannstedt, Monte Kiffin, Mike Tice, Tom Moore, Norv Turner, Mike Smith and Butch Davis. Drafted by baseball's Toronto Blue Jays, Del Rio batted .340 while playing catcher on USC's baseball team in 1983 and 1984 with future stars Randy Johnson and Mark McGwire. He was a third-round choice by the New Orleans Saints in 1985 and was named to the NFL's All-Rookie team.

NFL HEAD COACHES WITH NFL PLAYING EXPERIENCE:

Jack Del Rio had the third-longest playing tenure in the NFL among the league's eight current head coaches who played in the NFL. Del Rio played 11 seasons in the NFL with New Orleans (1985-86), Kansas City (1987-88), Dallas (1989-91) and Minnesota (1992-95). Here are the eight current head coaches with NFL playing experience:

DEBUT OF EVERBANK FIELD

The 2010 season was the first at EverBank Field for the Jaguars. The Jaguars announced a partnership with EverBank on July 27 that includes naming rights to the stadium. The Jaguars did not have a home game blacked out this season after having seven blackouts in 2009.

The agreement includes EverBank's designation as the official bank of the Jaguars, promotions within Jaguars' game telecasts and a variety of other media rights to the Jaguars and EverBank Field marks, prominent signage in the stadium and elsewhere in Jacksonville. The Jaguars also announced that its stadium address has changed to One EverBank Field Drive.

EverBank Financial Corp is a privately-held bank holding company headquartered in Jacksonville, Florida, with more than 2,200 employees, and over 700,000 customers nationwide. EverBank provides banking, investing and lending products nationwide directly to consumers and through a variety of businesses.

PROTECTING HOME TURF

The Jaguars own a 39-25 home mark under head coach Jack Del Rio including a 5-3 mark in 2010. The club has posted a .500 record or above at home in seven of the eight seasons under Del Rio including three 6-2 marks. The Jaguars have posted six-plus home wins in seven of their 16 seasons.

ONLY TWO PLAYERS PREDATE DEL RIO

C Brad Meester and QB David Garrard are the only players on the Jaguars roster whose career started prior to Jack Del Rio taking over the helm in 2003. Meester and Garrard were both drafted by former head coach Tom Coughlin.

DEL RIO LOVES THE RUN

Jaguars head coach Jack Del Rio believes that running the football and stopping the run is key to success. The Jaguars outrushed their opponents in 64.1 percent (82 games) of their games the last eight seasons. Winning the rushing battle has translated into wins with the club owning a 59-23 record when they outrushed their opponents.

The Jaguars have rushed for 17,012 (132.9 avg.) yards the last eight seasons and allowed 13,474 rushing yards (105.3), a differential of plus 3,538.

Additional notes:

■ The Jaguars have recorded 100-plus rushing yards in 88 of 128 games since 2003 (68.7 percent) including 16 200-yard rushing games. The Jaguars rushed for a season-high 258 yards on 12/5 at Tennessee on a franchise-record 53 carries and also had 200 yard rushing games against Buffalo (216), at the N.Y. Giants (207) and against Oakland (234).

■ The Jaguars have at least one 200-yard rushing game in each of the last eight seasons including a franchise-record 375 yards on December 10, 2006 vs. Indianapolis.

■ The Jaguars have recorded 100-plus rushing yards in at least 10 games in seven of the last eight seasons and had 11 in 16 games this season.

■ Since 2003, the club has ranked among the top 10 rushing teams in six of eight seasons. The Jaguars finished with the NFL's second-best rushing attack in 2007 and ranked third in 2006 and 2010.

The Jaguars have rushed for 200-plus yards in 24 games in team history with 16 coming since 2003 under head coach Jack Del Rio. Eight of the top 10 highest rushing totals in team history have come under Del Rio.

CARDIAC CATS

The Jaguars won in several different ways in 2010 including three wins with the final outcome in doubt until the final seconds.

■ Josh Scobee connected on a franchise-record 59-yard field goal as time expired to give the Jaguars a 31-28 win over Indianapolis. The 59-yard field goal was the third-longest game-ending field goal in NFL history.

Josh Scobee, Jax.	10/3/10 vs. Ind.	W, 31-28	59

■ The Jaguars overcame a 10-0 deficit sparked by two early turnovers to defeat Buffalo 36-26 in week five on the road. A fumbled punt return set up Buffalo's first score, a 45-yard catch-and-run by Lee Evans, and then the Buffalo defense got an interception off a deflected pass to set up Rian Lindell's 29-yard field goal for a 10-0 Buffalo lead just 5:53 into the game.

The Jaguars responded by scoring on eight of their next nine possessions with three touchdowns and five field goals to preserve the win.

■ The Jaguars won in impressive fashion against Houston on Nov. 14 as David Garrard hooked up with wide receiver Mike Thomas for a 50-yard touchdown as time expired. The ball was tipped at the Houston one-yard line by a Texans defender into the hands of Thomas.

The last time the Jaguars won a game on the final play was the 2004 season-opener at Buffalo when Ernest Wilford caught a seven-yard touchdown pass from Byron Leftwich.

Thomas' 50-yard touchdown catch on the final play marked the fourth time in NFL history that a regular season game ended on a game-winning touchdown pass of 50 or more yards with no time remaining, and the first time the home team was the winner.

Here are the three other games:

12/8/02	Browns WR Quincy Morgan caught a 50-yard pass from Tim Couch while falling down in the end zone for a Browns 21-20 win over the host Jaguars.

■ Despite six turnovers including five consecutive possessions with a turnover, the Jaguars pulled out a 24-20 win against Cleveland on 11/21. The Jaguars won for the first time in team history with a minus-five turnover differential.

Maurice Jones-Drew took a screen pass from David Garrard and maneuvered 75 yards and then scored on a one-yard run with 1:16 remaining to give the Jaguars the win. Safety Sean Considine sealed the victory with an interception of Colt McCoy at the Jaguars three-yard line with five seconds remaining.

■ In Koetter's first season with the Jaguars, the Jaguars set a franchise single-season record for points (411, 25.7 avg.), touchdowns (50), touchdown passes (28) and yards per play (5.6). In 2009, the Jaguars set a single-season record with six plays of 60-plus yards.

■ From 2002-06, the Jaguars did not have an offensive player voted to the Pro Bowl. In just four seasons, Koetter has coached four different players who have earned a total of five Pro Bowl selections during his stint as offensive coordinator. RB Maurice Jones-Drew (starter) and TE Mercedes Lewis were both named to the Pro Bowl this season.

■ In four seasons under Koetter, the Jaguars have produced 400-plus yards of offense in 14 games. Prior to 2007, the Jaguars had only nine games in 12 seasons with 400-plus yards.

■ The Jaguars have compiled two of the three highest rushing totals in franchise history under Koetter and have ranked in the top 10 among NFL teams in rushing three of the last four seasons.

■ David Garrard was named the Jaguars starting quarterback in 2007 and he has thrived under the guidance of Koetter. Garrard set the single-season franchise record with 23 touchdown passes in 2010 despite missing two games. Garrard also set the single-season franchise record with a 64.5 completion percentage which ranked seventh in the NFL.

TRIPLE THREAT

The Jaguars had a 300-yard passer (David Garrard, 342), a 100-yard receiver (Mike Thomas, 149) and a 100-yard rusher (Maurice Jones-Drew, 100) in the same game against Houston on 11/14 for only the seventh time in franchise history. The Jaguars have had players surpass 100 yards rushing and 100 yards receiving in a game 20 times in 16 seasons.

The Jaguars had a 100-yard rusher and a 100-yard receiver in consecutive games for only the fourth time in franchise history. Jones-Drew (135 rushing yards) and Mike Sims-Walker (153 receiving yards) both had 100-yard games in week eight at Dallas.

TEAM NOTES

HISTORICAL DAY

The Jaguars won in impressive fashion on 11/14 against Houston as David Garrard hooked up with wide receiver Mike Thomas for a 50-yard touchdown as time expired. The ball was tipped at the Houston one-yard line by a Texans defender into the hands of Thomas.

The last time the Jaguars won a game on the final play was the 2004 season-opener at Buffalo when Ernest Wilford caught a seven-yard touchdown pass from Byron Leftwich.

Thomas' 50-yard touchdown catch on the final play marked the fourth time in NFL history that a regular season game ended on a game-winning touchdown pass of 50 or more yards with no time remaining and the first time the home team was the winner.

Here are the three other games:

DATE	Game Recap
12/4/60	The Lions defeated the Colts 20-15 on 65-yard touchdown catch by Jim Gibbons.
10/31/99	Browns QB Tim Couch hit WR Kevin Johnson with a 56-yard pass as time expired to claim a 16 win over the New Orleans Saints.
12/8/02	Browns WR Quincy Morgan caught a 50-yard pass from Tim Couch while falling down in the end zone for a Browns 21-20 win over the host Jaguars.

'REBOUND' WORKS TO PERFECTION: QB David Garrard made the call, "Rebound," in the huddle on 11/14 against Houston with three seconds remaining and the Jaguars executed the play to perfection. WR Mike Thomas was designated the "scoop man" and a Texans defender deflected Garrard's pass right into Thomas' hands for the touchdown.

"We practice it just about every week, but we don't actually throw the ball or have guys jumping down there because I don't want to sprain an ankle on a Saturday morning and I don't want our quarterback to chuck the ball 60 yards on a Saturday morning. But we practice the basic what we're going to do offensively and defensively about once a week," Jaguars head coach Jack Del Rio said.

JAGUARS ROLL UP THE YARDS: The Jaguars amassed a season-high 491 yards of offense against Houston on 11/14, the fourth-most in franchise history. It marked the 23rd game under Jack Del Rio with 400-plus total yards and the 14th under offensive coordinator Dirk Koetter who joined the Jaguars in 2007.

HOT AND STEAMY

Temperature at kickoff against Denver on Kickoff Weekend was 90 degrees (98-degree heat index), the warmest temperature for kickoff in franchise history at EverBank Field. The temperature at the start of the second half was 93 degrees with a heat index of 105. The weather did cool down a bit following a 33-minute delay for lightning following the third quarter. At the start of the fourth quarter, the temperature was 78 degrees with a heat index of 80.

The club has had four games with the temperature at kickoff 88 degrees or higher with two on the road and two at home. It was the ninth game in team history with the temperature at 87 degrees and above.

Here's a look at the warmest games in franchise history:

TIGHT END MARCEDES LEWIS

PRO BOWL SEASON FOR LEWIS

Marcedes Lewis produced career-best numbers this season, leading the team with a career-high 10 touchdown receptions along with 58 receptions for 700 yards. The 10 receiving touchdowns tied a single-season franchise record and he recorded two touchdowns in three different games (vs. Denver, at Buffalo, at Dallas).

Lewis was the only player on the team with multiple receptions in all 16 games. In his first four seasons (2006-09), Lewis had a total of seven touchdown receptions and no more than two in any season.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT MARCEDES

Jaguars general manager Gene Smith

"Marcedes is a consummate pro, a lot like his college teammate (Maurice Jones-Drew). He really started to emerge as a complete tight end and as a leader last year and I admire the strides that he's made since he became a Jaguar. He's established himself as one of the most dominant run blocking tight ends in the league and has become a factor as a pass receiver. He's a big target who is easy for David to find with a tremendous catching range. He's really improved the details of his route running and his run after the catch."

Jaguars tight ends coach Rob Boras

"I'd say he's right up there at the top (among NFL's top tight ends). As far as all-around, three-down tight end, I mean there are a lot of talented tight ends playing right now but you just look at Marcedes' blocking ability, what he does in pass protection for us and then this year what he's been able to do as far as creating separation and making plays in the pass game. I'd say he belongs in the conversation as far as the top all-around tight ends."

"His work ethic and commitment to improve in all areas; weight room, classroom and the practice field have been exemplary, and have paid dividends for not only himself, but most importantly the Jaguars. It is great to see that his performance has been recognized by both his peers and the fans. He is not only a special player, but also a special person."

Tennessee Titans linebacker Gerald McGrath

"He worked in the offseason to get better. That's one of the things that you always want to do, you always want to be better than you were last year. He's definitely showed that, he's proven himself as a tight end and proven that he's ready for the work load. If you watch film on him from last year he's a much better blocker, he's very good in open space. His speed is elusive, you might think he's not running real fast but the next thing you know he's up on you and that's one of the toughest things."

TIGHT END MARCEDES LEWIS/WIDE RECEIVER MIKE THOMAS

JONES-DREW NOT SURPRISED BY LEWIS' SUCCESS

Jaguars RB Maurice Jones-Drew doesn't need anyone to tell him how important tight end Marcedes Lewis is to an offense, especially the running game. Jones-Drew and Lewis completed their eighth consecutive season as teammates dating back to their days at UCLA.

The duo were the Jaguars first two picks in the 2006 draft with Lewis going in the first round and Jones-Drew in the second. Jones-Drew was a consensus All-America selection as an all-purpose back as a junior and received much of the limelight. But it was Lewis who won the 2005 Mackey Award, given to the nation's top tight end.

Jones-Drew credits Lewis for his making his decision to leave UCLA following his junior season a little easier. Lewis graduated in 2005 and Jones-Drew still had another year remaining but he was fully aware of what the loss of Lewis would do to the Bruins running game.

Jones-Drew said approximately 800 of his 914 yards as a junior came behind Lewis. It came as no surprise to Jones-Drew that Lewis is getting recognized as a Pro Bowler.

"He's just showing his versatility out there, he can be a blocker, he can catch, he can run after the catch," Jones-Drew said. "To me, he's been coming into his own for a long time and I think now obviously everyone else is starting to see it but he's been doing it for awhile. I'm just happy for him, because he deserves it."

THOMAS EMERGES IN 2ND SEASON

Second-year WR Mike Thomas produced career-high numbers in 2010 as he led the team with 66 receptions for 820 yards along with four touchdowns. Thomas joined Jimmy Smith (9 seasons) and Keenan McCardell (5 seasons) as the only players in team history with 66-plus receptions in a season.

Thomas had at least four receptions in 11 of 16 games and tied with TE Marcedes Lewis for the team-lead with six receptions of 25-plus yards. In addition, he averaged 9.5-yards per rush on 12 carries with a long of 33 yards and 10.5-yards as the club's punt returner. He had a career-long 78-yard punt return for a touchdown on 12/19 at Indianapolis, the second-longest in franchise history.

Thomas had a streak of three straight games with a touchdown. He had a career-long 50-yard touchdown reception off a batted ball against Houston on 11/14 as time expired. The three straight games was tied for the second-longest streak in team history. Reggie Williams owns the record with four straight games in 2007.

OFFENSIVE CATALYST

Maurice Jones-Drew led the Jaguars with 1,324 yards on 299 carries and five touchdowns along with 34 receptions for 317 yards and two touchdowns. Jones-Drew missed the final two games of the season with a knee injury, his first career games missed due to injury. He snapped a streak of 33 consecutive starts.

He registered a career-high seven 100-yard rushing games in 2010 including a streak of six straight. The six straight 100-yard rushing games was the longest streak of his career and the second-longest in franchise history. Here's a look at some other milestones for Jones-Drew in 2010:

- Produced the most rushing yards in team history through the first 13 games this season with 1,278 yards. Fred Taylor held the previous mark at 1,200 yards in 2003.
- Eclipsed 9,000 all-purpose yards for his career against Cleveland on 11/21 and surpassed 7,000 yards from scrimmage and 5,000 career rushing yards on 12/5 at Tennessee.
- Scored the 60th touchdown of his career against Houston in his 72nd career game. It marked the fastest player in franchise history to 60 career touchdowns.
- Surpassed 1,200 rushing yards for the second consecutive season, joining Fred Taylor (2002-04) as the only players in franchise history to accomplish the feat.
- Joined Taylor as the only players in team history with 1,500 yards from scrimmage in back-to-back seasons.
- Joined Taylor as the only players in team history with 300-plus touches in back-to-back seasons. Jones-Drew had 333 offensive touches in 2010 and finished the 2009 season with 365 touches.

SIX GAME STREAK OF 100-PLUS RUSHING YARDS

Maurice Jones-Drew recorded 100-plus rushing yards in six straight games for the first time in his career. The streak, which was snapped on 12/19 at Indianapolis, was the second-longest streak in franchise history and the longest streak in the NFL in 2010. Jones-Drew tied for third in the NFL with a career-high seven 100-yard rushing games this season.

ONE-TWO PUNCH OF JONES-DREW AND JENNINGS

The emergence of RB Rashad Jennings played a major role in the Jaguars ranking third in the NFL in rushing with a 149.7 average. Jennings (109) and Maurice Jones-Drew (101) both recorded 100-plus rushing yards on 12/12 at Oakland, the third time in franchise history two players have had 100 rushing yards in the same game.

Jones-Drew (166) and Fred Taylor (131) accomplished the feat on Dec. 10, 2006 vs. Indianapolis and again on Sept. 21, 2008 at Indianapolis with 121 yards by Taylor and 107 by Jones-Drew.

JENNINGS PRODUCES IN INCREASING ROLE

The Jaguars turned to second-year RB Rashad Jennings the last six games to complement RB Maurice Jones-Drew in the running game and also in the passing game. With Jones-Drew inactive the last two games, Jennings earned a starting role.

Jennings finished with 459 yards and four touchdowns on 84 carries along with 26 receptions for 223 yards, all career-highs. He eclipsed 100 rushing yards in two games with 109 yards against Oakland and concluded the season with 108 yards at Houston.

The 2009 seventh-round pick was a three-year starter at Liberty where he set Big South records for rushing yards (3,633), attempts (633), touchdowns (42) and 100-yard games (22).

GOING THE DISTANCE

Rashad Jennings registered his first career 100-yard rushing game on 12/12 against Oakland, finishing with 109 yards on only five carries (21.8 avg.). He scored a touchdown for the third consecutive game as he weaved his way through the Raiders defense for a 74-yard score in the third quarter. The 74-yard touchdown run was tied for the fourth-longest in the NFL this season and tied for the fifth-longest in Jaguars history.

Jennings became only the sixth player in the past 50 years to average at least 20.0 yards per rush in game (minimum five attempts).

The last player to accomplish the feat was Jaguars RB Maurice Jones-Drew on Nov. 1, 2009 at Tennessee (22.1 avg.)

GARRARD THROWS FOR CAREER-HIGH 342 YARDS

QB David Garrard threw for a career-high 342 yards on 11/14 against Houston with two touchdowns for a 134.1 passer rating. Garrard completed 14 straight passes to finish the game.

Both of Garrard's touchdown passes were from 50-plus yards in the fourth quarter as he hooked up with TE Zach Miller from 52 yards and threw a game-winning 50-yard touchdown pass to WR Mike Thomas with no time remaining. It marked the first time in franchise history the Jaguars had two 50-plus yard touchdown passes in the same quarter and only the second time in a game (9/22/96 at New England, Jimmy Smith, 51 yards, and Andre Rison, 61 yards, both from Mark Brunell).

CAREER DAY IN DALLAS

A week after sitting out with a concussion (ending streak of 38 straight starts), QB David Garrard threw for a career-high four touchdowns at Dallas in week eight, tying a franchise-record, and finished 17 of 21 passing for 260 yards for a career-best 157.8 rating. Garrard accounted for all five of the Jaguars touchdowns as he scored on a two-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Garrard had two touchdown passes to Mercedes Lewis (42 and 9 yards) and also hooked up with Mike Sims-Walker (10 yards) and Mike Thomas (15 yards). Garrard's 81.0 completion percentage was the second-highest of his career (82.8 pct., 12/2/07 at Indianapolis). He joined Mark Brunell (11/29/98 at Cincinnati) and Quinn Gray (12/30/07 at Houston) as the only quarterbacks in franchise history to throw for four touchdowns in a game.

Additional notes on Garrard's performance:

■ His 157.8 passer rating was the highest in franchise history and the highest-ever rating against the Cowboys dating back to 1960. The previous high against the Cowboys was 156.0 for Jay Fiedler of the Dolphins in 2003. Garrard owns four of the top six passer rating games in franchise history.

■ Completed his first 12 passing attempts and didn't have his first incompleteness until early in the third quarter. Garrard was 10 of 10 for 126 yards with two touchdowns for a perfect 158.3 rating in the first half. He became only the third quarterback since 2000 to complete every pass and throw for two touchdowns in the first half, joining Peyton Manning (12/17/09) and Randall Cunningham (9/10/00). According to Elias Sport Bureau, the 12 straight completions was the longest streak against the Cowboys since Steve Beuerlein was 12 for 12 for Carolina in 1998.

■ Became only the second quarterback since 1970 to throw for four touchdowns and rush for one in a road win (Trent Green, 2000).

■ Scored on a two-yard run in the fourth quarter for his 14th career rushing touchdown, tying Mark Brunell for the most rushing touchdowns by a quarterback in team history. The 14 rushing touchdowns are tied for the 10th-most in franchise history.

FRANCHISE-RECORD 17 STRAIGHT COMPLETIONS

DATE	OPP.	GAME-WINNING DRIVE
1/5/08	at PIT (playoffs)	Faced with a fourth-and-two from the Steelers 43-yard line, Garrard converted with a 32-yard run on a quarterback draw. Three plays later, Josh Scobee hit the game-winning field goal to give the Jaguars a 31-29 win in the AFC Wild Card game.
9/21/08	at IND	Garrard was five of six passing on the final drive to set up a 51-yard field goal by Josh Scobee with four seconds left.
9/28/08	vs. HOU	The Jaguars won the toss in overtime and faced a third-and-five at their own 35-yard line. Garrard connected with Matt Jones for a 24-yard completion and then hit Greg Jones on a screen pass and he battled his way for a 22-yard gain to set up the game-winning field goal by Josh Scobee.
10/18/09	vs. STL	Hit on six of seven passes in overtime including a 17-yard pass to Mike Thomas on a third-and-six. Four-plays later, Josh Scobee was good from 36 yards for a 23-20 win.
11/15/09	at NYJ	Led club on a 12-play, 80-yard drive to set up a game-winning field goal by Josh Scobee. Was 4 of 6 on the drive for 68 yards including a 33-yard pass to Mercedes Lewis.
11/22/09	vs. BUF	Completed four of his first five passes for 53 yards on the final drive to move the the ball to the Bills 32-yard line. Following five straight runs by Maurice Jones-Drew, Garrard hooked up with Sims-Walker for a three-yard touch down on a third-and-three with 56 seconds remaining. Garrard converted the two-point conversion with a run up the middle.
9/26/10	vs. IND	With the score tied 28-28 with 48 seconds remaining, Garrard used six plays including completions to Tiquan Underwood for six and 22 yards to move to the Indianapolis 41-yard line, from where Josh Scobee kicked a 59-yard field goal as time expired.
11/14/10	vs. HOU	The Jaguars recovered a Texans fumble at their own 34-yard line with eight seconds remaining in a tie game. Following an 11-yard completion to Mercedes Lewis, Garrard threw a 50-yard Hail Mary pass that was batted by a Texans defender into the hands of WR Mike Thomas to give the Jaguars the win.
11/21/10	vs. CLE	Starting at their own 13 with 2:46 remaining, the Jaguars moved 87 yards to paydirt in five plays highlighted by a Garrard screen pass to Maurice Jones-Drew that went for 75 yards. Jones-Drew scored the game-winning touchdown on a one-yard run.
12/12/10	vs. OAK	The Jaguars rallied from a 10-point deficit in the second half and Maurice Jones-Drew scored the game-winning touchdown on a 30-yard run with 1:42 remaining.

PLAYER NOTES

STAT SHEET STUFFER

LB Daryl Smith led the team in tackles for the second straight season as he finished with 156 tackles, the second-most of his career. Smith tied for the team-lead with eight tackles for loss and added one interception, four passes defended, eight quarterback pressures and one forced fumble.

Smith, a second-round pick in 2004, has surpassed 100-plus tackles in six straight seasons. He was the only player in team history to do it in five straight seasons.

Smith became the Jaguars all-time leading tackler against the Giants on 11/28, surpassing Donovan Darius for the most tackles in franchise history. Here's the Jaguars all-time list for most tackles:

CAPTAIN KIRK POSTS CAREER-HIGH IN TACKLES

The Jaguars used the 2010 draft weekend to not only add six rookies but they also acquired veteran LB Kirk Morrison from Oakland in a trade for a fourth-round draft pick. Morrison manned the middle of the Jaguars defense and ranked second on the team with a career-high 141 tackles (87 solo).

Morrison has totaled 100-plus tackles in each of his six seasons. He has played in all 96 games with 95 consecutive starts since being selected in the third round by the Raiders in 2005. The 95 starts are the third-most in the NFL among linebackers.

The Jaguars selected CB Derek Cox with the second of back-to-back third round picks in 2009 and traded up with New England to have the opportunity. Cox, who has started 27 games, led the Jaguars for the second consecutive season with four interceptions. He tied a single-game franchise record with two interceptions in week eight at Dallas.

Cox finished tied for second among NFL rookies with four interceptions a year ago. Cox's eight career interceptions are tied for the fourth-most in franchise history and most by a player in his first two seasons.

RUSHMEN

RUSHMEN MAKE IMPACT IN 2010

Jaguars defensive line coach Joe Cullen wasted little time letting his players know what he expected of them in 2010. Cullen, in his first season with the Jaguars, took down the traditional sign outside the position's meeting room and replaced it with his own term, Rushmen. Cullen's emphasis on rushing the passer was needed after the Jaguars finished 2009 with a franchise-record low 14 sacks.

The position saw a complete overhaul in the offseason. Eight of the club's 10 defensive linemen were not with the Jaguars in 2009. The Jaguars Rushmen responded with 20.5 of the club's 26 sacks.

Here are highlights from the Rushmen:

■ The Jaguars finished with 26 sacks (20.5 by linemen), surpassing their season total of 14 from 2009. In addition, the 20.5 sacks by the defensive linemen were nearly half the total from a year ago (10.5) and the fifth-most among AFC teams.

1.	Tennessee Titans	34.0
2.	Oakland Raiders	29.5
3.	Indianapolis Colts	25.0
4.	Houston Texans	23.0
5.	Jacksonville Jaguars	20.5

■ The Jaguars improved their sack total by 12 from the 2009 season. The plus-12 sack improvement tied for the fifth-highest in the NFL.

■ The Jaguars recorded three-plus sacks in five of 16 games. The Jaguars had a season-high six sacks on 11/21 against Cleveland, the most in a game since the team had seven on Nov. 9, 2008 at Detroit.

'POT ROAST' CLOGS MIDDLE

DT Terrance Knighton completed his second season as the anchor of the Jaguars defense as he has started 32 straight games to begin his NFL career. Knighton, nicknamed "Pot Roast" by former Jaguars LB Clint Ingram, has emerged as one of the team's leaders in the lockerroom.

Knighton ranked second on the team with a career-high four sacks along with 23 quarterback pressures, 84 tackles, six tackles for loss and four passes defended.

Knighton intercepted a ball that deflected off the hands of Cowboys running back Felix Jones for his first career interception in week eight at Dallas. It marked Knighton's first career takeaway and was only the third interception by a Jaguars defensive lineman since 2003 (Quentin Groves (11/15/09 at NYJ; Derrick Harvey, 9/7/08 at TEN)

Jaguars general manager Gene Smith

"Terrance has developed into to a complete player. He possesses dominate traits at the point of attack versus the run and has long arms to steer and control the blocker. He's learning how to get on the edges of blocks better as an inside pass rusher and does a good job of getting his hands in the quarterback's passing lanes. He's an emerging leader on our team who stepped up his role after the injury to Aaron (Kampman). He probably forces more plays at times than he actually makes, but there is great value in that because it enables players around him to perform at a higher level."

Terrance Knighton finished with a career-high 4.0 sacks which ranked fifth among AFC defensive tackles.

ALUALU STEPS INTO STARTING ROLE

For the second consecutive season, the Jaguars had a rookie defensive lineman step right into the starting lineup from day one. DT Tyson Alualu started all 16 games after being selected with the 10th overall pick in the 2010 draft. Alualu joined 2009 third-round pick Terrance Knighton as the only two defensive linemen in franchise history to start all 16 games as a rookie.

KAMPMAN'S SEASON ENDS AFTER EIGHT GAMES

For the second consecutive season, DE Aaron Kampman ended his season on injured reserve. Kampman suffered a torn ACL in his right knee during practice on Nov. 11 and underwent surgery on Nov. 29. In 2009, he sustained a season-ending knee injury in week 11 while playing for Green Bay.

Despite missing eight games, Kampman led the team with 30 quarterback pressures and tied for second with four sacks.

Kampman finished with a sack and a half in his Jaguars debut against Denver and finished with a game-high six quarterback hits.

Kampman sacked Kyle Orton on the opening series of the game for an eight-yard loss and he split a sack with defensive back William Middleton on a third-and-seven with 10:43 remaining in the third quarter. In week five at Buffalo, Kampman led the team with 10 tackles, 1.5 sacks, two tackles for loss and four quarterback hits. On 10/24 at Kansas City, Kampman produced nine tackles, one sack, one tackle for loss and three quarterback hits. He narrowly missed another sack in the second half but Matt Cassel was able to escape at the last second.

KAMPMAN ADDS VETERAN PRESENCE

DE Aaron Kampman has registered 58.0 career sacks and ranks 10th in the NFL from 2006-10 with 44.5 sacks despite playing in only 64 games. Here's the list:

MINCEY WORKS HIS WAY TO STARTING ROLE

Jaguars DE Jeremy Mincey was a sixth-round pick of the New England Patriots in 2006 and he battled injuries over the last five seasons but has finally found a home in Jacksonville. The Jaguars signed him toward the end of his rookie season and injuries limited him to only nine games prior to this season.

Mincey played in 15 of 16 games in 2010 and earned a starting job on Nov. 14 against Houston. He led the team with five sacks and ranked second with 25 quarterback pressures including a season-high five against Washington in the home finale. He recorded a career-high two sacks on 11/21 vs. Cleveland to lead a Jaguars defense that finished with a season-high six sacks against the Browns.

SIMS-WALKER PROVIDES RELIABLE TARGET

Mike Sims-Walker completed his second season as a starter and ranked third on the team with 43 receptions for 562 yards and seven touchdowns. Sims-Walker has seven touchdowns in back-to-back seasons, the first Jaguar to have six or more receiving touchdowns in back-to-back seasons since Jimmy Smith (2003-04). Six of Sims-Walker's seven touchdowns this season came in road games.

Sims-Walker led the club with two 100-yard receiving games including a career-high 153 yards on eight receptions in week eight at Dallas. The 153 receiving yards were the most by a Jaguar under head coach Jack Del Rio and most since Keenan McCardell had 156 on Nov. 12, 2000 vs. Seattle.

STRETCHING THE FIELD

Second-year TE Zach Miller has made plenty of strides in his first 29 career games. He finished with 20 receptions for a career-high 216 yards with one touchdown in 15 games played this season.

A former collegiate quarterback, Miller has recorded two of the three longest receptions in franchise history by a tight end. He had a career-long 52-yard touchdown reception on 11/14 against Houston, the longest touchdown catch by a Jaguars tight end in franchise history. The 52-yarder was the fifth-longest touchdown reception by a NFL tight end in 2010.

RETURNING NOT AN OPTION

It's fair to say the Jaguars had one of top special teams coverage units in the NFL this season and there is plenty of evidence to back it up. The Jaguars joined Cleveland and Tampa Bay as the only teams to rank in the top 10 for opponents punt return (6.5) and opponents kickoff return average (21.5)

The Jaguars led the NFL in opponents punt return average (4.2) in 2009 for the first time in franchise history and ranked fourth with a 6.5 average in 2010. The 4.2 average is the third-lowest in the NFL since 2000 and the fifth-lowest since 1990.

The Jaguars are the only team in the NFL in each of the last two seasons to not allow a return of more than 13 yards. In 2010, the Jaguars allowed an NFL-low 19 returns with a long of 13 yards.

The last punt return against the Jaguars for more than 13 yards was at Chicago on 12/7/08 (Devin Hester, 22 yards), a span of 35 games.

ADAM PODLESH HAS CAREER YEAR

Adam Podlesh quietly put together the most productive season of his career in 2010. Podlesh, a fourth-round pick in 2007, had a franchise-record 39.2-yard net average on 57 punts.

Podlesh finished with a career-high 26 punts downed inside the 20 and allowed only 19 punt returns. The 19 punt returns were the fewest in the NFL this season and fewest allowed in team history.

THOMAS PROVIDES SPARK AS RETURNER

Mike Thomas finished with a 10.5-yard average on 34 punt returns this season with one touchdown.

Thomas provided the Jaguars with some much-needed momentum in the second quarter at Indianapolis on 12/19 with a 78-yard punt return for a score. It was the second-longest punt return in franchise history and first for a touchdown by a Jaguar since 2002. He finished with 99 yards on four returns, the second-most punt return yards in a NFL game this season.

Thomas became only the third player in franchise history with a punt return for a touchdown, joining Reggie Barlow (2) and Bobby Shaw.

SPECIAL TEAMS

DOUBLE TROUBLE

If you go by the Pro Bowl voting the last two years, the Jaguars house the AFC's top two special teams players in Kassim Osgood and fourth-year pro Montell Owens.

Osgood earned his third Pro Bowl selection in 2009 as a member of the San Diego Chargers and signed with the Jaguars as an unrestricted free agent in the offseason. Owens was named the first alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl roster in 2009 and earned his first Pro Bowl selection in 2010.

Osgood and Owens caused opposing teams headaches as teammates as they combined for 34 special teams tackles (Owens, 20; Osgood, 14) in 2010.

The two combined for seven special teams tackles (Owens 4, Osgood 3) on 12/12 against Oakland and a game-changing play in the third quarter. With the Jaguars trailing 24-21, Osgood stripped the ball from Raiders kickoff returner Jacoby Ford at the Raiders 21-yard line and Owens recovered for the Jaguars. Five plays later, David Garrard hit Mike Sims-Walker on a 10-yard touchdown pass to take the lead. Earlier in the game Osgood batted a punt near the goal line which was downed at Oakland's five-yard line.

OWENS SETS FRANCHISE RECORD FOR TACKLES

Montell Owens led the Jaguars in special teams tackles for the second consecutive season as he finished with 20 in 2010. Owens tied the franchise's single-season record with 30 special teams tackles in 2009. He owns the franchise record for career special teams tackles with 95.

In 2010, Owens recorded at least one tackle in 13 of 16 games including four on 12/12 against Oakland.

Here's a look at the Jaguars career leaders in special teams tackles:

SCOBEE PROVIDES STRONG LEG

Josh Scobee completed his seventh season as the team's place-kicker. Scobee has connected on 144 of 187 field goals (77.0 pct.) and 230 of 233 extra points for his career.

Scobee started the season 14 of 14 with nine of the field goals coming from 40-plus yards (40, 44, 45, 46, 48, 49, 49, 51, 59) before he missed his final two attempts against Houston on 11/14. He finished the season 22 of 28 (78.6 pct.).

Scobee ranks second behind long-time kicker Mike Hollis in several categories in team history including consecutive games scoring.

FRANCHISE-RECORD HOLDER: Josh Scobee was successful on a franchise-record 59-yard field goal as time expired in week four to give the Jaguars a 31-28 win over the Colts. It was third-longest game ending field goal in NFL history. The previous franchise record was 53 yards.

PERFECT DAY IN BUFFALO: The weather was perfect in week five at Buffalo for the Jaguars 36-26 win and Scobee was flawless as well, hitting on all five field goal attempts (49, 49, 34, 40, 46) and tying his career-high with 18 points. The five field goals tied a single-game franchise-record which has been accomplished four previous times including by Scobee on 11/25/07 vs. Buffalo.

CONTROLLING FIELD POSITION: Scobee has recorded a franchise-record 106 touchbacks on 471 kickoffs since 2004. He had 17 touchbacks in 2009 and set a franchise-record with five touchbacks against Tennessee in week four. In 2010, he recorded touchbacks on 15 of his 75 kickoffs.

INJURY REPORT

The Jaguars finished the season with 14 players on injured reserve including seven rookies that are expected to play a role in 2011.

- FS Terrell Whitehead - 2010 undrafted rookie impressed the coaching staff during the offseason but was injured during training camp and placed on injured reserve on Aug. 8.
- DT D'Anthony Smith - 2010 third-round pick suffered an Achilles injury early in the training camp and was placed on injured reserve. Was a two-time All-Western Athletic Conference selection and finished his career with 23.5 tackles for loss and 12.5 sacks.
- C John Estes - Suffered a season-ending knee injury in the second week of the preseason. Was signed as an undrafted rookie after starting four seasons at Hawaii.
- LB Kyle Bosworth - Played in all four preseason games and excelled on special teams. Was signed as a rookie free agent after playing in 49 games with 21 starts at UCLA.
- RS Scotty McGee - Dynamic returner who displayed explosive speed and quickness in the preseason. Injured his shoulder in the final preseason game against Atlanta and was placed on injured reserve.
- LB Jacob Cutrera - Undrafted rookie played in eight games before he suffered a concussion on 11/28 at the New York Giants. Was placed on injured reserve on Dec. 2
- OT Kevin Haslam - Played in five games after joining club as a rookie free agent. Was placed on injured reserve (hand) on Dec. 10.

In addition to the rookies, several key players dealt with injuries including three starters (OT Eben Britton, DE Aaron Kampman, QB David Garrard) who were placed on injured reserve.

- WR Jarett Dillard - 2009 fifth-round pick was placed on injured reserve with a knee injury prior to the season-opener.
- CB Terrence Wheatley - Former second-round pick of New England in 2008 joined the Jaguars on Nov. 9 and played in one game before he was placed on injured reserve (hamstring).
- QB Luke McCown - Seventh-year pro injured his knee in the fourth quarter at San Diego in week two and was placed on injured reserve.
- WR Nate Hughes - Injured his shoulder during training camp and was placed on injured reserve on Aug. 8. Second-year pro played in eight games in 2009.
- QB David Garrard - Underwent surgery to repair a torn ligament in his finger on Dec. 30 and was placed on injured reserve. Garrard also missed a game after suffering a concussion in the first half against Tennessee on Monday Night Football and was inactive in week seven at Kansas City.
- OT Eben Britton - 2009 second-round pick has started 22 games at right tackle but injured his shoulder in week seven at Kansas City and was placed on injured reserve.
- DE Aaron Kampman - Suffered a torn ACL in his right knee during practice on Nov. 11 and was placed on injured reserve. Led team through the first eight games with four sacks and 30 QB pressures.

2009-10 DRAFT RECAP

2010 DRAFT CLASS

Gene Smith completed his second season as the Jaguars general manager and senior vice president, player personnel. Smith's first two drafts netted 15 players and all 15 remain with the club, and the group has made 157 combined starts.

Seven of the 15 players were regular starters including right tackle Eben Britton (2nd round, 2009) who was placed on injured reserve after suffering a shoulder injury in week seven at Kansas City. In addition to the draft picks, Smith and his staff have acquired several young players who played vital roles for the club.

DB William Middleton (Atlanta, 5th round), S Courtney Greene (Seattle, 7th round) and DB Don Carey (Cleveland, 6th round) were all signed by the Jaguars in 2009 after they were waived by their respective teams.

Here's a look at the Jaguars 2010 draft class:

DT Tyson Alualu (Round 1, 10th overall, California)

■ Was the only rookie to start all 16 games. Ranked tied for third on the club with 3.5 sacks and fourth with 20 quarterback hits along with 77 tackles. His six tackles for loss tied for the third-most on the team. Began the season with a sack in two of the first three games and registered at least one quarterback hit in 13 of 16 games including a season-high four at Tennessee on 12/5.

DT D'Anthony Smith (Round 3, 74th overall, Louisiana Tech)

■ Injured his Achilles early in training camp and was placed on injured reserve on August 31. Impressed the staff during the OTAs with his aggressive nature and ability to get to the quarterback. He was a two-time first-team All-Western Athletic Conference selection and finished his college career with 23.5 tackles for loss.

DE Larry Hart (Round 5, 143rd overall, Central Arkansas)

■ Played a pass-rushing role in the defensive line rotation in 14 games. Recorded one sack, 12 quarterback pressures and 13 tackles.

DE Austen Lane (Round 5, 153rd overall, Murray State)

■ Started nine of 11 games and totaled 33 tackles, 13 quarterback hits and two tackles for loss. He concluded his collegiate career with 29 sacks and 55 tackles for loss.

RB/KR Deji Karim (Round 6, 180th overall, Southern Illinois)

■ Played in 11 games as the primary kickoff returner and also saw action at running back. Recorded a 25.0-yard kickoff return average on 50 returns with a long of 65 yards. Carried the ball 35 times for 160 yards.

RS Scotty McGee (Round 6, 203rd overall, James Madison)

■ Gave the Jaguars a glimpse of what they can expect in 2011 during this year's preseason. Missed the first two regular season games with a shoulder injury before he was placed on injured reserve on Sept. 21. Played in all four preseason games and finished with a 29.3-yard average on 10 kickoff returns with a long of 47 yards and a 9.9-yard average on 11 punt returns with a long of 30.

2009 DRAFT CLASS

The Jaguars selected nine players in the 2009 NFL Draft including seven players on Sunday in the final five rounds. All nine players remain with the club. Seven offensive players and two defensive players were selected.

OT Eugene Monroe (Round 1, 8th overall, Virginia)

■ Started at left tackle in 28 games. One of six offensive linemen taken in the first round and third overall (behind Jason Smith and Andre Smith).

OT Eben Britton (Round 2, 39th overall, Arizona)

■ Was of only three rookies to start 15 or more games in 2009 after he was the seventh offensive lineman taken in draft. He started the first seven games in 2010 before suffering a season-ending shoulder injury on October 24 at Kansas City. He has the ability to play both tackle positions as well as guard.

DT Terrance Knighton (Round 3, 72nd overall, Temple)

■ Has started all 32 games to open his career and has emerged as the leader of the defensive front. Posted career-high numbers in 2010 with four sacks, 23 quarterback hits, six tackles for loss and 84 tackles.

CB Derek Cox (Round 3, 73rd overall, William & Mary)

■ Jaguars selected Cox with the second of back-to-back third round picks and traded up with New England to have the opportunity. Made 27 starts in his first two seasons and led the team in interceptions in both seasons. Had four interceptions in back-to-back seasons.

WR Mike Thomas (Round 4, 107th overall, Arizona)

■ Has started 15 of 30 games and plays a vital role in the passing game. A year after setting a franchise record for a rookie with 48 receptions, he led the Jaguars with 66 receptions for 820 yards in 2010. Has a 9.9-yard career punt return average including a 78-yard return for a touchdown against Indianapolis this season.

WR Jarett Dillard (Round 5, 144th overall, Rice)

■ Was placed on injured reserve prior to the season-opener against Denver, the second consecutive year his season ended due to injury. Dillard finished with six receptions for 106 yards as a rookie but missed the final seven games with a broken ankle.

TE Zach Miller (Round 6, 180th overall, Nebraska-Omaha)

■ Former college quarterback has played in 29 games with five starts and totaled 41 receptions for 428 yards and three touchdowns. He had a career-long 52-yard touchdown reception on Nov. 14 against Houston, the longest touchdown catch by a Jaguars tight end in franchise history. He recorded a 52-yard reception in 2009 against the Texans.

RB Rashad Jennings (Round 7, 250th overall, Liberty)

■ Played in 28 games with three starts and has emerged as the perfect complement to Maurice Jones-Drew in the running game. Finished with a career-high 84 carries for 459 yards with four touchdowns in 2010 including two 100-yard rushing games.

WR Tiquan Underwood (Round 7, 253rd overall, Rutgers)

■ Has played in 13 games for the Jaguars after playing four seasons at Rutgers. He has eight career receptions for 111 yards and a 23.4 average on 23.0 average on 26 kickoff returns.

GARRARD, DAVID, QB, #9 6-1, 236, East Carolina, 9th Year

NOTES: Veteran QB completed his fourth season as starter ... Had a streak of 38 consecutive starts, the longest streak in franchise history by a QB, which ended 10/24/10 because of concussion ... Broke single-season franchise-record with 23 TD passes and 64.5 completion percentage in 2010 season ... Has played in 86 games with 76 starts over eight seasons and owns a 39-37 career record ... One of just two players (Mark Brunell) in franchise history to throw for over 16,000 yards.

2010: 9/12 vs. DEN: Started at QB and completed 16 of 21 passes (76.2 percent) for three TDs. Finished with then career-high 138.9 passer rating, which is the third highest in team history (Mark Brunell - 146.4, Rob Johnson - 145.5) and highest since 2000. Had five completions of 20-plus yards. Added seven rushes for 10 yards. 9/19 at SD: Started at QB and finished 15 of 23 for 173 yards and one TD. Matched career-high with four interceptions equaling his total from 11/12/06 vs. Houston. 9/26 vs. PHI: Started at QB and was 13 of 30 for 105 yards. Also had eight runs for 23 yards. 10/3 vs. IND: Started at QB and completed 17 of 22 passes (77.3 percent) for two TDs. Ran five times for a season-high 44 yards, including a 25-yard TD run in the first quarter. Led team on game-winning drive from own 23-yard line with 48 seconds left that resulted in a 59-yard field goal by Josh Scobee to win the game. Was not sacked for first time this season. 10/10 at BUF: Started at QB and threw for 178 yards and three TDs on 16 of 20 passing (80.0 pct.), his second highest completion percentage of his career. The three TD passes tied his career-high. It marked the first time since 2007 he has thrown for multiple TDs in back-to-back games. Posted a 122.5 passer rating. 10/18 vs. TEN: Started at QB and went seven of 12 for 49 yards with one interception before getting injured. Suffered a concussion after being hit in the second quarter and did not return. 10/24 at KC: Inactive (concussion). 10/31 at DAL: Started at QB and threw for a career-high four TDs, tying a franchise-record, as he finished 17 of 21 passing for 260 yards for a career-best 157.8 rating. Had two TD passes to Marcedes Lewis (42 and nine yards) and also hooked up with Mike Sims-Walker (10 yards) and Mike Thomas (15 yards). His 81.0 completion percentage was the second-highest of his career (82.8 pct., 12/2/07 at Indianapolis). Completed his first 12 passes on the day. The TD pass to Sims-Walker was his first TD pass in the first quarter in his last 23 starts. Joined Mark Brunell (11/29/98 at Cincinnati) and Quinn Gray (12/30/07 at Houston) as the only quarterbacks in franchise history to throw for four TDs in a game. Added two rushes for two yards, including a TD. 11/14 vs. HOU: Started at QB and completed 24 of 31 passes for a career-high 342 yards with two TDs for a 134.1 passer rating. It marked his sixth career 300-yard passing game and first this season. Both TD passes were for 50-plus yards in the fourth quarter as he hooked up with Zach Miller for 52 yards and threw a game-winning 50-yard TD pass to Mike Thomas. Finished the game with 14 straight completions. Added seven runs for 35 yards. 11/21 vs. CLE: Started at QB and finished 20 of 34 for 254 yards, two TDs and three interceptions. Set a franchise record with 17 straight completions dating back to the previous game against Houston, surpassing Byron Leftwich's team record of 15 (10/17/04 vs. Kansas City through 10/24/04 at Indianapolis). Has multiple TD passes in three consecutive games for only the second time in his career (2007). His 75-yard screen pass to Maurice Jones-Drew was a career long. Ran three times for nine yards. 11/28 at NYG: Started at QB and completed 20 of 35 passes for 162 yards and one interception. Joined Mark Brunell as the only quarterbacks in franchise history to surpass 15,000 career passing yards. Added six carries for 41 yards including a rushing TD, the 15th of his career. 12/5 at TEN: Started at QB and was 14 of 19 (73.7 percent) for 126 yards. Added 10 rushes for 19 yards including a four-yard TD run in the second quarter, setting a career-high with four rushing TDs this season. 12/12 vs. OAK: Started at QB and completed 11 of 22 passes for 159 yards and three TDs. Had a one-yard TD pass to Marcedes Lewis, a 48-yard TD pass to Jason Hill and a 10-yard TD pass to Mike Sims-Walker in the third quarter. Tied Mark Brunell for most TD passes in a season at 20. Added five rushes for 32 yards, including a 24-yard scamper in fourth quarter. 12/18 at IND: Started at QB and finished 24 of 38 for 294 yards and two TDs. Established a single-season franchise-record with his 21st and 22nd TD passes of the season. Hooked up with Mike Sims-Walker for a six-yard score in the third quarter and found Sims-Walker again for a one-yard TD late in the fourth quarter. Had four rushes for eight yards. 12/26 vs. WAS: Started at QB and was 22 of 38 for 299 yards, one TD and two interceptions. Added six rushes for a team-high 39 yards. Had a 20-yard TD run in the fourth quarter, his fifth TD run this season which is the most in franchise history by a QB. Surpassed 16,000 career passing yards. 1/2 at HOU: Placed on IR (finger).

JAGUARS 24, BRONCOS 17

SEPTEMBER 12, 2010

EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

DENVER BRONCOS (0-1)	0	7	7	3	-	17
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (1-0)	0	7	10	7	-	24

In the warmest game in team history, which included a 33-minute lightning delay, the host Jaguars won their opener behind a three-touchdown performance by David Garrard. After a first quarter in which each team punted twice, the Jaguars got a turnover when Daryl Smith forced a fumble which Sean Considine recovered but the Jaguars were unable to convert into points. Jacksonville scored first when Garrard hit Marcedes Lewis for a 21-yard catch-and-run TD, but Denver answered with a four-play drive and a Kyle Orton-to-Jabbar Gaffney eight-yard scoring pass for a 7-7 halftime tie. Garrard hit Lewis again with a 10-yard strike on the first drive of the third quarter, but on the Jaguars' next possession they were stopped on a 4th-and-1 try at their own 40-yard line. Denver covered the 40 yards in 4 plays to tie the game at 14-14. A 45-yard Josh Scobee field goal put Jacksonville ahead before the third quarter ended with a 33-minute delay because of lightning. When play resumed Denver knotted the score once again with a 54-yard field goal by Matt Prater. On the ensuing possession the Jaguars marched 83 yards in 7 plays with Kassim Osgood catching a 24-yard strike from Garrard to close out the scoring. The Jacksonville defense closed out the game with a 4th-down stop and an interception by Daryl Smith. The kickoff temperature was 90 degrees with a heat index of 98, but the highs hit 93 and 105, respectively, in the second half.

JAGUARS 13, CHARGERS 38

SEPTEMBER 19, 2010

QUALCOMM STADIUM, SAN DIEGO, CALIF.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (1-1)	3	3	0	7	-	13
SAN DIEGO CHARGERS (1-1)	7	14	3	14	-	38

In a game that featured seven turnovers in the first half, the Jaguars were unable to stop an explosive Chargers offense that produced 477 yards and scored on four consecutive possessions. The Jaguars tied a team record with six turnovers including four on their first five possessions. San Diego marched 74 yards in six plays on the opening drive to take an early lead, and after both teams exchanged turnovers the Jaguars made it 7-3 on a 44-yard Josh Scobee field goal. The teams then exchanged interceptions before a Philip Rivers-to-Antonio Gates touchdown pass extended the Chargers' lead to 14-3. Three more turnovers and a blocked punt followed, but Scobee was good on a 48-yard field goal to get within 14-6 with 1:55 left in the first half. Rivers took over at the San Diego 13 and drove 87 yards in eight plays to make it 21-6 at the half. San Diego scored again on its next three possessions to build a 38-6 lead while the Jaguars turned the ball over on their first two possessions of the second half. Luke McCown replaced David Garrard at the start of the fourth quarter but he suffered a knee injury and Garrard returned to throw a three-yard scoring pass to Mike Sims-Walker on the Jaguars' final play. Garrard matched his career high with four interceptions.

GAME 3 JAGUARS 3, EAGLES 28

SEPTEMBER 26, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES (2-1)	7	7	14	0	-	28
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (1-2)	0	3	0	0	-	3

The Jaguars struggled to slow down a hot Michael Vick, who in his first game since being named the Eagles starter earlier in the week threw for three touchdowns and ran for another. Despite having to punt on four of their first five possessions, the Jaguars trailed by just 7-3 with 12 seconds left in the first half before Vick hit Jeremy Maclin with a 16-yard strike to extend the Philadelphia lead to 14-7. Vick had begun the scoring with a 61-yard strike to DeSean Jackson in the first quarter, capping a six-play drive. By halftime the Jaguars managed just 69 yards of offense, including 52 rushing and 17 net yards passing, while Philadelphia gained 198 yards led by Vick's 161 passing yards. In the third period Maclin caught his second touchdown pass, a 45-yarder from Vick who then added a 17-yard touchdown run to make it 28-3 at the end of the third quarter. The Jaguars defense sacked Vick three times, including one and a half from Terrance Knighton and one from former Eagle Sean Considine, but the Philadelphia defense turned in seven sacks of David Garrard. The Jaguars finished with just 191 total yards including 52 passing. With back-to-back 25-point losses the Jaguars fell to 1-2.

GAME 4 JAGUARS 31, COLTS 28

OCTOBER 3, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

INDIANAPOLIS COLTS (2-2)	7	7	0	14	-	28
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (2-2)	7	7	7	10	-	31

Josh Scobee drilled a team-record 59-yard field goal on the final play to give the Jaguars a thrilling 31-28 win and even the Jaguars' record at 2-2. Each team had nine possessions and scored four touchdowns, but the Jaguars capitalized on the only two turnovers deep in their own territory. On the opening series Indianapolis marched 59 yards in 11 plays and Joseph Addai punched it in from two yards, but the Jaguars answered with a nine-play, 76-yard drive with David Garrard running to paydirt from 25 yards. After the Jacksonville defense held the Colts to a three-and-out, Garrard directed a nine-play drive which Maurice Jones-Drew capped with a one-yard plunge for a 14-7 lead. Indianapolis, however, put together another 11-play drive before Peyton Manning hit Dallas Clark with a seven-yard scoring pass to knot the score at 14-14. In the third quarter the Jaguars defense made the difference, first with an interception by Anthony Smith at the Jacksonville four which he returned 47 yards to set up a seven-play, 49-yard scoring drive on which Garrard hit Marcedes Lewis from 15 yards out to take a 21-14 lead. The Colts once again had an 11-play drive but this one ended at the Jaguars 10 when Smith forced a fumble by Reggie Wayne. Gerald Alexander returned the fumble 43 yards. Following a Jaguars punt to the Indianapolis four-yard line, the Colts moved 96 yards in 11 plays and made it 21-all on Addai's second touchdown run. Jones Drew, who finished with 105 rushing yards, then pounded out four runs before catching an eight-yard touchdown pass from Garrard with 2:09 remaining, but the Colts answered again with a 65-yard drive culminating in Manning's one-yard pass to Austin Collie to tie the score at 28-28 with 48 seconds left. With a roaring crowd on its feet, Garrard used six plays including completions to Tiquan Underwood for six and 22 yards to move to the Indianapolis 41-yard line, from where Scobee kicked the third-longest game-ending field goal in NFL history.

GAME 5 JAGUARS 36, BILLS 26

RALPH WILSON STADIUM, BUFFALO, N.Y.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (3-2)	3	10	14	9	-	36
BUFFALO BILLS (0-5)	10	3	7	6	-	26

Scoring on eight of their first 10 possessions, the Jaguars overcame a 10-0 deficit sparked by two early turnovers to defeat Buffalo 36-26, moving to 3-2 and into a four-way tie in the AFC South. Leading the way were David Garrard with three touchdown passes and an 80 percent completion rate, another perfect day by Josh Scobee with five field goals, a strong pass rush led by Aaron Kampman's 1.5 sacks, and Deji Karim's 215 all-purpose yards in his NFL debut. A fumbled punt return set up Buffalo's first score, a 45-yard catch-and-run by Lee Evans, and then the Buffalo defense got an interception off a deflected pass to set up Rian Lindell's 29-yard field goal for a 10-0 Buffalo lead just 5:53 into the game. Scobee kicked 49-yard field goals on the Jaguars' next two possessions while the Jaguars held Buffalo to a 22-yard field goal after a first-and-goal at the Jacksonville four-yard line. The first of Mercedes Lewis' two touchdown catches capped a 10-play, 85-yard drive which knotted the score at 13-13 just before halftime, and Lewis kept the momentum going by battling into the end zone with a 27-yard reception on the third play of the second half. That scoring drive began at the Buffalo 39-yard line after Karim's 51-yard kickoff return to open the half. Buffalo got good field position after the Jaguars lost a fumbled snap on a 4th-and-1 try at their own 45, and the Bills scored six plays later to even the score at 20-20 midway through the third period. Mike Sims-Walker caught Garrard's third touchdown pass on the ensuing drive and Scobee nailed field goals on the next three possessions to increase the lead to 36-20 with 2:40 remaining. The Jaguars defense had made two fourth-down stops in the fourth quarter before a late Ryan Fitzpatrick touchdown pass. Sims-Walker covered an onside kick to preserve the 10-point win. The Jaguars rushed for 216 yards including 84 by Maurice Jones-Drew, 70 by Karim and 53 by Mike Thomas.

GAME 6 JAGUARS 3, TITANS 30

OCTOBER 18, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

TENNESSEE TITANS (4-2)	7	10	3	10	-	30
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (3-3)	0	0	3	0	-	3

Making their lone national television appearance of the season, the Jaguars had four turnovers and lost David Garrard to a concussion in the first half en route to a 30-3 home loss to the Tennessee Titans. Tennessee scored on the first series on a 23-yard pass from Vince Young to Kenny Britt. Each team then punted twice before the game turned. After Young suffered a knee injury on the Titans' second possession Kerry Collins took over, and in the second quarter he threw a two-yard touchdown pass to Bo Scaife for a 14-0 Titans lead. Rob Bironas' 26-yard field goal, his first of three field goals on the night, capped a 10-play drive on the next series. Trent Edwards then made his Jaguars debut, taking over the Jacksonville offense for Garrard on the last possession of the first half with the Jaguars trailing 17-0. Edwards moved the unit 60 yards in 11 plays, hitting Mercedes Lewis at the Tennessee 10-yard line, but Lewis fumbled to end the scoring threat with 30 seconds left before halftime. For Tennessee, Collins directed five scoring drives overall, including two field goals and a touchdown on the team's three second-half possessions. The Titans defense intercepted Edwards twice in the second half and yielded only a field goal despite two first-and-goal opportunities for the Jaguars inside the Tennessee five-yard line. Chris Johnson rushed 26 times for 111 yards and a touchdown, while Maurice Jones-Drew was held to 57 yards on 17 carries. The loss dropped the Jaguars to 3-3, with the rest of the AFC South teams at 4-2 through six games.

GAME 7 JAGUARS 20, CHIEFS 42

OCTOBER 24, 2010
ARROWHEAD STADIUM, KANSAS CITY, MO.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (3-4)	3	10	7	0	-	20
KANSAS CITY CHIEFS (4-2)	7	7	14	14	-	42

After trailing by just one point at halftime and by eight points with four minutes left in the game, the Jaguars were unable to overcome a tough rushing attack and three turnovers in a 42-20 road loss. Kansas City's NFL-leading rushing offense pounded out 236 yards on the ground and Matt Cassel threw just 18 passes as the Chiefs built an eight-minute time of possession advantage. Todd Bouman, who re-joined the team on Wednesday after David Garrard and Trent Edwards were injured the previous week, made his first start as a Jaguar and his first since the end of the 2005 season. Bouman's first five drives were long - 10, nine, eight, 10 and six plays - and four ended in scores including touchdown passes of 18 yards to Maurice Jones-Drew and nine yards to Mike Sims-Walker. Bouman's second touchdown pass kept the Jaguars within a point at 21-20 early in the third quarter, but his next pass was intercepted by Derrick Johnson and returned 15 yards to give Kansas City an eight-point lead at 28-20. That score stood until the final four minutes, when Cassel threw a scoring pass to Dwayne Bowe for the second time. After the two-minute warning the Chiefs tacked on a final touchdown which was set up by Bouman's second interception. Bouman, 38, completed 18 of 34 passes for 222 yards in his seventh career start, becoming the 11th player to start at quarterback in Jaguars history. Maurice Jones-Drew had 121 combined yards, Aaron Kampman got his team-leading fourth sack of the season and Josh Scobee remained perfect with his 12th and 13th successful field goals.

GAME 8 JAGUARS 35, COWBOYS 17

OCTOBER 31, 2010
COWBOYS STADIUM, DALLAS, TEXAS

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (4-4)	7	7	14	7	-	35
DALLAS COWBOYS (1-6)	3	0	0	14	-	17

David Garrard returned after missing one game because of a concussion and led the Jaguars to a 35-17 win in Dallas which moved Jacksonville to 4-4 at midseason. Riding record-breaking performances by Garrard and several others, the Jaguars were dominant throughout in gaining 387 total yards and scoring five touchdowns while making a team-record four interceptions on defense. Garrard completed his first 12 pass attempts, tied a team record with four touchdown passes, and finished with a career-best 157.8 passer rating. Mercedes Lewis scored on both of his receptions, while Mike Sims-Walker posted a career-best 153 yards and one touchdown on a team-leading eight receptions. Maurice Jones-Drew pounded out a season-high 135 rushing yards on 27 carries. On defense, Derek Cox led the way with two interceptions and the unit turned in a goal line stand at the end of the first half to preserve a 14-3 lead, the Jaguars' first halftime lead of the season, after the Cowboys had a first-and-goal at the nine-yard line. The Cowboys' field goal on their first possession was followed by interceptions on their next two, while Jacksonville scored 28 unanswered points with Garrard throwing scoring passes of 10 yards to Sims-Walker and 42 yards to Lewis in the first half and 15 yards to Mike Thomas and nine yards to Lewis in the third quarter. Garrard added a two-yard touchdown run in the fourth period, sandwiched between a Marion Barber scoring run and a Jason Witten touchdown catch for Dallas.

GAME 9 JAGUARS 31, TEXANS 24

NOVEMBER 14, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

HOUSTON TEXANS (4-5)	3	0	14	7	-	24
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (5-4)	3	14	0	14	-	31

A 50-yard Hail Mary completion from David Garrard to Mike Thomas on the game's final play gave the Jaguars a thrilling 31-24 win over Houston as time expired. The Jaguars held off a furious second-half rally by the Texans, who scored 21 points and had three 80-yard drives to tie the game in the final five minutes after Jacksonville had established a dominant 17-3 half-time lead. Each team opened with a field goal on its first possession, with Josh Scobee's 38-yarder and Neil Rackers' 24-yarder creating a 3-3 score which stood until late in the first half. Maurice Jones-Drew then pounded in for two touchdowns on runs of 3 and 9 yards to give the Jaguars a 17-3 margin. Houston took the second half kickoff and marched 80 yards in six plays with Arian Foster scoring on a one-yard run. On their next possession the Texans drove 80 yards in eight plays before Andre Johnson caught a nine-yard scoring pass from Matt Schaub, tying the score at 17-17 in the third period. On the first play of the fourth quarter Scobee missed a 39-yard field goal attempt for his first miss of the season, ending his streak of 14 consecutive field goals made. The Jaguars bounced back on their next drive with Zach Miller taking a Garrard pass 52 yards for a touchdown and a 24-17 lead. The Texans answered, however, moving 80 yards in five plays and tying the score again on an 18-yard Kevin Walter reception with 4:19 left in the game. Scobee then missed a 43-yard field goal try, but the Texans gave the ball back when Joel Dreessen fumbled at the Jacksonville 37 after making an eight-yard reception. An 11-yard Garrard completion to Mercedes Lewis and a defensive offsides penalty set up the Hail Mary game-ender, which was Garrard's 14th consecutive completion. Jones Drew finished with 100 rushing yards, Thomas turned in a career-high 149 receiving yards, and Garrard had a career-best 342 passing yards.

GAME 10 JAGUARS 24, BROWNS 20

NOVEMBER 21, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

CLEVELAND BROWNS (3-7)	0	7	10	3	-	20
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (6-4)	3	7	0	14	-	24

The Jaguars had turnovers on five consecutive second-half possessions, and six on the day, but rallied to claim a 24-20 home win against the Cleveland Browns that moved them into a tie atop the division at 6-4. Maurice Jones-Drew, who finished with 133 rushing yards and an additional 87 yards on three receptions, scored the game-winner on a one-yard run with 1:16 remaining after his 75-yard screen pass at the two-minute mark. The Jaguars got a 47-yard Josh Scobee field goal on their only possession of the first quarter before Cleveland took a 7-3 lead on Colt McCoy's 11-yard pass to Peyton Hillis. Jacksonville gained a 10-7 advantage when Garrard hit Mike Thomas with a five-yard scoring pass just before the half. In the third quarter the turnover barrage began when Jones-Drew's fumble was returned 18 yards for a touchdown by Abram Elam, who had also intercepted Jones-Drew's first career pass attempt in the first half. The Jaguars' next two possessions ended with Garrard interceptions, but the Browns managed only a field goal to take a 17-10 lead at the end of the third period. When the fourth quarter began the turnovers continued, with Garrard fumbling and then throwing another interception. But the Jacksonville defense, which turned in a season-high six sacks and a season-low 283 total yards, again denied the Browns scoring opportunities. Following Phil Dawson's second missed field goal attempt from 51 yards, the Jaguars moved 59 yards in 12 plays and tied the score at 17-17 on Marcedes Lewis' 14-yard catch. Cleveland responded with a 41-yard Dawson field goal for a 20-17 lead with 2:46 remaining. Starting at their own 13, the Jaguars moved 87 yards to paydirt in five plays with Jones-Drew covering 76 of the yards himself. For the second straight week, Sean Considine forced a key last-minute turnover, intercepting McCoy at the Jacksonville three-yard line to seal the win. The Jaguars became the first team since Dallas on Oct. 8, 2007 to win despite making six turnovers and posting a -5 turnover ratio.

GAME 11 JAGUARS 20, GIANTS 24

NOVEMBER 28, 2010
NEW MEADOWLANDS STADIUM,
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (6-5)	7	10	0	3	-	20
NEW YORK GIANTS (7-4)	3	3	3	15	-	24

After a first half in which the Jaguars scored on all three of their possessions to build a 17-6 lead, the Giants responded with 15 points in the fourth quarter including the game-winner with 3:15 remaining to claim a 24-20 victory. The Jaguars dominated the first half with 145 rushing yards and they converted five of six third down plays, while the Giants did not convert a third down in the first half. Both Jacksonville touchdowns came on five-yard runs as Rashad Jennings and David Garrard each scored, and Jacksonville's three first-half possessions covered 75, 85 and 71 yards utilizing nine, 15 and 13 plays. On the first play of the second half the momentum changed when Garrard was intercepted by Terrell Thomas, but the Jacksonville defense held New York to a short field goal for the third time in three red zone opportunities to retain a 17-9 advantage. The Jaguars' eight-point lead stood until early in the final period when Eli Manning threw a 26-yard scoring pass to Mario Manningham, and Ahmad Bradshaw converted the two-point try to knot the score at 17-17. The Jaguars responded with a 10-play drive and Josh Scobee's 42-yard field goal gave Jacksonville its final lead at 20-17 with 8:26 left in the game. After the teams exchanged punts the Giants moved 69 yards in six plays with Manning hitting Kevin Boss on a short pass that Boss took 32 yards to the end zone after breaking a tackle. After registering just one sack in the first three quarters, the Giants defense turned up the heat and sacked Garrard on the Jaguars' last three plays, finally forcing a fumble to seal the win. Maurice Jones-Drew finished with 113 yards on 21 carries, marking four consecutive 100-yard rushing games for the first time in his career. Daryl Smith became the all-time tackle leader in Jaguars history with 862 career tackles. Despite the loss the Jaguars remained tied for the AFC South lead with Indianapolis at 6-5.

GAME 12 JAGUARS 17, TITANS 6

DECEMBER 5, 2010
LP FIELD, NASHVILLE, TENN.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (7-5)	7	10	0	0	-	17
TENNESSEE TITANS (5-7)	0	0	3	3	-	6

The Jaguars set a team record with 53 rushing attempts and Maurice Jones-Drew posted his fifth consecutive 100-yard game with a career-best 186 yards on 31 carries to spark a 17-6 division road win in Tennessee. The tone was set early, with the Jaguars' first possession covering 77 yards on 12 plays - comprised of 11 runs and just one pass - to stake a 7-0 lead on Rashad Jennings' 11-yard scoring run on 4th-and-1. A Derek Cox interception of Kerry Collins early in the second quarter set up Jacksonville's second touchdown with David Garrard scoring from four yards out to cap a 13-play, 57-yard drive. On their ensuing possession the Titans moved to the Jacksonville 42-yard line from where they attempted to convert a 4th-and-7 play with Collins throwing deep to Randy Moss. Moss couldn't catch the underthrown ball and the Jaguars responded with a nine-play series that Josh Scobee finished with a 26-yard field goal as the first half ended, giving Jacksonville a 17-0 advantage. The domination at that point was stark, as the Jaguars had halftime leads in possession time (21:29 to 8:31), first downs (15 to 2), total yards (219 to 74), rushing yards (146 to 13), and third down conversions (six of nine to one of four). In the third period Tennessee got on the scoreboard with a 37-yard Rob Bironas field goal after a 10-play drive, and the Titans added a 30-yard field goal on their next series to cap a 13-play drive, their longest of the day. The two Tennessee scoring drives represented the Titans' only red zone penetrations of the day and the Jacksonville defense yielded only the two field goals. Scobee got two more chances in the fourth quarter to add to the Jaguars lead, but his 49-yard field goal try was blocked and then he hit the right upright from 48 yards. After the Jaguars defense held on another fourth-down conversion attempt, William Middleton ended the Titans' final possession with his interception at the Jacksonville 32. The Jaguars killed the clock after Jones-Drew broke a 37-yard run to the Tennessee 28. Jacksonville took a one-game lead in the division at 7-5 as the other three AFC South teams lost.

GAME 13 JAGUARS 38, RAIDERS 31

DECEMBER 12, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

OAKLAND RAIDERS (6-7)	7	10	7	7	-	31
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (8-5)	0	7	21	10	-	38

The Jaguars scored 21 points in the third quarter to overcome a 10-point halftime deficit, yet had to rally again in the final two minutes to claim a 38-31 win after the Raiders tied the score with 1:53 remaining. Oakland's Darren McFadden had an outstanding game with 209 combined yards and three touchdowns, but Maurice Jones-Drew and Rashad Jennings each ran for 100 yards as the Jaguars posted their third consecutive 200-yard rushing effort. McFadden opened the scoring with a 67-yard catch-and-run on Oakland's second possession before David Garrard threw the first of his three touchdown passes early in the second quarter, giving Mercedes Lewis his ninth touchdown of the season. The Raiders added a 26-yard field goal and another Jason Campbell touchdown pass before the half for a 17-7 advantage. On Jacksonville's first drive of the second half Garrard connected with Jason Hill in the end zone on a 48-yard pass, but Oakland answered three plays later when McFadden followed a 29-yard Zach Miller catch with a 51-yard touchdown run to make it 24-14 Oakland. The game turned minutes later, when Rashad Jennings ripped off a winding 74-yard scoring run and then Kassim Osgood and Montell Owens combined to force and recover a fumble at the Oakland 22 on Jacoby Ford's kickoff return. Five plays later Garrard found Mike Sims-Walker in the corner of the end zone with a 10-yard touchdown pass which gave the Jaguars a 28-24 lead. Josh Scobee extended it to 31-24 early in the final period with a 19-yard field goal. Oakland battled back, tying it at 31-31 on McFadden's 36-yard run with 1:50 left. But the Jaguars special teams units, enjoying an exceptional game, contributed again when Deji Karim returned the ensuing kickoff 65 yards to the Oakland 30-yard line. Jones-Drew scored on the next play with a 30-yard run up the middle, giving Jacksonville a 38-31 lead with 1:34 remaining. The defense held, getting a key sack from Jeremy Mincey to preserve the win.

GAME 14 JAGUARS 24, COLTS 34

DECEMBER 19, 2010
LUCAS OIL STADIUM, INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (8-6)	0	10	7	7	-	24
INDIANAPOLIS COLTS (8-6)	7	7	10	10	-	34

The Jaguars were held to 67 rushing yards while Indianapolis ran for 155, resulting in a 34-24 Colts victory in a key divisional showdown which left the teams tied atop the AFC South at 8-6. Indianapolis, however, gained the inside track towards the division title with two games remaining. The Colts struck on their first possession, an eight-play, 82-yard drive on which Peyton Manning completing all of his passes and Donald Brown broke off a 49-yard run to set up Austin Collie's seven-yard touchdown reception. The Jaguars later put together a 15-play, 77-yard drive to the Indianapolis four, but were held to a 22-yard Josh Scobee field goal at the start of the second quarter. Indianapolis responded with a drive which covered 92 yards in 14 plays and extended the lead to 14-3 on Collie's second touchdown, a 27-yarder. Mike Thomas recorded the Jaguars' first return touchdown of the season with 3:51 left in the first half when he took a Pat McAfee punt 78 yards, marking the second-longest punt return touchdown in team history and the first since 2002. On Jacksonville's first possession of the second half a failed fourth-down conversion attempt from the Jacksonville 39-yard line led to the Colts' next score on a 43-yard run by Brown, who finished with 129 rushing yards. The Colts then recovered a muffed punt to set up a 34-yard field goal, taking a 14-point lead at 24-10, before Garrard hit Mike Sims-Walker with a six-yard scoring pass, Garrard's 21st of the season which broke Mark Brunell's franchise record. On the final play of the third quarter Garrard was intercepted by Antoine Bethea and the takeaway was converted into three points on Adam Vinatieri's 37-yard field goal. The scoring was not over, however, as each team added a touchdown in the final two minutes of the game. Sims-Walker made his second touchdown catch of the day on a one-yard Garrard pass with 1:59 left to get Jacksonville within three at 27-24, but the Jaguars' ensuing onside kick was scooped up and returned 41 yards for a touchdown by Tyjuan Hagler.

GAME 15 JAGUARS 17, REDSKINS 20 (OT)

DECEMBER 26, 2010
EVERBANK FIELD, JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS (6-9)	10	0	0	7	3	20
JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (8-5)	0	7	3	7	0	17

The Jaguars were victimized by turnovers on their first and last possessions including an interception on the third play of overtime to fall 20-17 to the Redskins. The home finale marked the coldest home game in Jaguars history with kickoff temperatures at 38 degrees. Washington opened the game at the Jacksonville 44-yard line following a long opening kickoff return and a penalty, and scored five plays in on a 48-yard Graham Gano field goal. David Garrard's first pass attempt was intercepted by Carlos Rogers and returned to the Jacksonville 18-yard line, and from there the Redskins made it 10-0 when Rex Grossman hit Fred Davis with a one-yard scoring pass. Josh Scobee missed a 44-yard field goal try late in the first quarter but Jacksonville got on the scoreboard in the second on Garrard's 19-yard pass to Mike Thomas to cap a 10-play, 79-yard drive, the Jaguars' best of the day. In the third quarter the Jaguars tied the score at 10-10 with a 34-yard Scobee field goal, but Washington answered with a 14-play drive covering 68 yards with Ryan Torrain scoring on a one-yard plunge early in the fourth. A 21-yard Thomas punt return then set the Jaguars up at the Washington 42-yard line at the four-minute mark, and Garrard tied it at 17-17 on a 20-yard touchdown run with 2:44 left which ultimately forced overtime. In the extra period the Jaguars got the ball first, but they began at their own 11 following a miscue on the kickoff return. On third down Garrard's pass was intercepted by Kevin Barnes at Jacksonville's 22, and three plays later Gano hit the game-winner from 31 yards. The Jaguars limited Washington to 251 yards of offense including 79 rushing, but the Jaguars managed just 78 rushing yards as Maurice Jones-Drew was inactive due to a knee injury marking his first game missed because of injury.

GAME 16 JAGUARS 17, TEXANS 34

JANUARY 2, 2011
RELIANT STADIUM, HOUSTON, TEXAS

JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS (8-8)	0	17	0	0	-	17
HOUSTON TEXANS (6-10)	10	10	7	7	-	34

After trailing by three points at halftime, the Jaguars were outscored 14-0 in the second half in suffering a third straight loss to finish the season at 8-8. The Jaguars entered the season finale with playoff hopes, needing a win combined with a loss by Indianapolis, but those hopes were dashed by a 244-yard rushing effort and 497 total yards by the Texans. Houston marched 90 yards with its first possession to score on Arian Foster's two-yard run, and led throughout the game except when the Jaguars tied it at 17-17 late in the second quarter. Scoring on five of their first six possessions the Texans added to their 20-17 halftime lead, at which time Foster, the NFL rushing champion, had already rushed for 99 yards and his team had 286 total yards. The Jaguars managed no takeaways and no sacks and gave up two of each while Matt Schaub completed 18 of his 22 passes and Foster finished the day with 180 rushing yards and two touchdowns. With David Garrard and Maurice Jones-Drew sidelined by injuries, Trent Edwards and Rashad Jennings started in the Jacksonville backfield. Edwards, the 12th player to start a game at quarterback in the Jaguars' first 16 seasons, completed 12 of his 25 passes for 140 yards while Jennings rushed for 108 to register his second 100-yard game in a month. Mercedes Lewis made his 10th touchdown reception to tie the franchise single-season record, and Montell Owens turned in two tackles on special teams to reach 95 for his career, breaking the all-time team record set by Brant Boyer 10 years earlier.

COACH JACK DEL RIO
2010 SEASON WRAP-UP NEWS CONFERENCE
TUESDAY, JANUARY 4, 2011

"We certainly experienced some tremendous highs and lows this season. We came within a game of clinching our division crown, in the hunt for a playoff berth and a divisional title until the very last weekend, and we feel like certainly some things we can build on going forward. Offensively we end up third in the league in rushing, it's certainly a strength of ours, it's part of our identity. We've got a very talented group of running backs, offensive line that probably is best-suited for run blocking and we were very good at that. We were third in red zone scoring which is a good thing to be able to do to get down there to finish drives. First in the fewest three-and-outs in the league, which is part of possessing the ball, part of running the ball. David (Garrard) had a franchise record in the number of touchdown passes in only 13 games. We certainly feel that going forward that he has an opportunity to build on that and to have an even stronger year. And we got a couple guys in the Pro Bowl with Maurice (Jones-Drew) and Mercedes (Lewis). It's great to see them be voted in and great to see in particular Mercedes after being such a strong player over the last couple of years, our most dominant player coming out of training camp, so happy for him. Special teams-wise, our coverage teams were outstanding all year. Punt-wise, kick-off-wise with the coverage that they provided, a real strength for us. Obviously Montell Owens getting voted to the Pro Bowl and Kassim (Osgood) as a first alternate, clearly two of the better guys in the league at covering kicks and being disruptive. (Adam) Podlesh had a career year for us, 39.2 net which is a team record, good stuff there. And then Deji Karim and Mike Thomas both showed explosiveness as returners so we feel there's quite a bit to build on and that special teams-wise that was a strength for us as a football team in terms of putting all three phases together. Defensively, that is the area we have the most work to do. We feel like we have a good foundation with two really solid defensive tackles that we can build around. I think Terrance (Knighton) and Tyson (Alualu) are really good young players we added to the roster each of the last two years. (Austen) Lane and (Jeremy) Mincey and some of the others that filled in when (Aaron) Kampman went down, effort-filled guys that give us a chance to be pretty effective up front. I think Rashean (Mathis) staying healthy this year was a plus for us. I thought he played better football toward the end of the year. I think that we can build on that. He can come back and have a strong offseason and kind of pick up where he left off here and regain the form that has him up with the better corners in the league. Obviously Daryl Smith is another player that's been here a while now that's really been one of our core players, had probably his best year as a Jaguar, really had a strong year for us."

"Like I said, we had some highs and some lows. I think when you look at our goals, really each year we set out to find a way into the postseason tournament, to be a playoff participant. We're disappointed that we're not in that tournament this year. In my eight years here, in six of those years we've been in December with a chance to be in the hunt. I can assure you everybody wants more; you want more, fans want more, Mr. Weaver wants more, our players and our coaches want more. What I want is a ring. I've had the privilege of putting one on my finger. I'd like to get more. I've been in this game a long time playing and coaching. I've said it repeatedly, it's a privilege and an honor to be a part of this league. It's a great league, this league has done far more for me than I could ever do for it, but this is really not about survival. It's about winning, it's about winning championships, and we're committed to doing things the right way. We feel like we have a solid foundation that we can build upon. We did blow this thing up a couple years ago, you all know that. We feel like over the last couple of years we've begun to add some blocks that we have established as our foundation and that we can go forward and challenge at the highest level."

"From my standpoint I will continue to bring energy, passion, strong work ethic, look to have a disciplined football team. We once again are among the top teams in the league in terms of fewest penalties. That's something I take pride in, we work hard at that. We don't want to beat ourselves. We want to be a smart, tough football team. We have a great culture here. We've worked hard to become an unselfish football team. We have a cohesive team. I think despite some real adversity that we faced throughout the course of this year, our guys stuck together, never allowed anybody or anyone or anything to pull us apart and I think that can be a strength for us. I think I've made improvement as a head coach in my time here, heck, even in dealing with you all. I think I'm better at understanding the jobs that you have to do and looking to give you the information you need so you can provide it back to our fans, and I understand that role and many other roles that I have as a head coach much better now than I did when I took over in '03. I think really if you look at it honestly, fairly, it's rare that a head coach is offered the opportunity to rebuild a team a second time, which is essentially what we started two years ago. And I talked about as that's been going on the fact that it wasn't always the most comfortable thing for me as a veteran coach, but it absolutely was the right thing for our franchise, for the health of this franchise going forward. And Gene (Smith), Wayne (Weaver) and myself all understand that so we remain committed going forward to building this thing and doing it the right way. We're going to draft and develop, we'll add selective free agents to supplement that process, but this is a draft and develop organization. And we've got a lot of work to do but we feel like we've accomplished some things over the last couple of years. We've had some growth and so we're going to stay the course and continue on and add to it and build to that and be stronger going forward. Anyway, let me open that up now for questions."

(Wayne Weaver said he felt you were too stretched out calling the defensive plays and being the overall CEO of the team. Was there every a point you felt that way and if so did you consider turning it over to Mel Tucker before now?) "I went into the meeting yesterday with my own list of things to discuss, and one of those was my desire to have Mel be here. I think he's groomed and ready for the opportunity to call our defense in some of the four-three elements that were new to him when he first arrived. He brought in some three-four concepts and Mel is a good football coach. His contract is expiring and it was my intention to go to Wayne and talk to him about my desire to have Mel be our defensive coordinator and allow Mel to call the defense. I certainly can be a more effective head coach as somebody that's able to oversee the entire operation, and I do trust Mel and I do think he's ready to do that and lead us. He understands some of the core principles that I believe in. Much like we did with Mike Smith, when Mike first got here I shared a lot of those responsibilities with him and over time it was the right thing to allow him to do more and more. I feel that's the same case with Mel right now and so that's something that I agree completely with in terms of having Mel be the coordinator and not just the coordinator but be the play-caller on Sundays, and so that'll free me up. Did I ever feel like it was too much on my plate? No, I really didn't feel that. I enjoy the aspect, I love coaching, I love teaching, I love being in the grass. I'm going to stay in the grass, I'm going to continue to be a part of the teaching process with guys, but I do think I can be at my best as a head coach by giving that responsibility to Mel."

(with the way things ended, did you expect to be given an opportunity to continue this?) "Yes."

(why?) "All the things I just laid out."

(you knew you were only being evaluated on post Shack Harris era, right?) "No, I wouldn't say that."

(that's what Mr. Weaver said) "You had a chance to talk with him yesterday. I'm just here to talk with you today."

(did you know that your first six years with the team were not part of the evaluation?) "I didn't look at it like that. The way I look at it, I don't separate myself from Shack. I shared in some of those decisions to bring in some of the players that haven't panned out, and I'd like to think I've learned from some of those mistakes. I'd like to think that I'll be better going forward, but I was right there. Look, Shack and I worked very closely together and so I wouldn't want to paint it that way. Shack was a good man, I enjoyed working with him, we did what we thought was right at the time, some of those decisions didn't work out. It's rare that a head coach survives a quarterback not working out much less other draft picks not working out. Quite frankly a quarterback can get sometimes get a couple staffs, and so I understand that. I've been in this business long enough to understand that, but in terms of squeezing the most out of our roster and getting a team to believe and having a team be motivated and working hard and committed, those are things that we as a staff have been able to do. I like the staff I have, I think I've assembled a very strong staff here. I believe in this group of men that we have teaching our players right now, and I think our players believe in the group of coaches that are teaching them right now, and so I think that's a good thing."

(you said you want to win a ring. Sell those of us that don't believe you can win a ring with David Garrard. Will you bring in a new quarterback?) "I think we'll always have an eye to bring in talent on this football team at all positions, and I think certainly at quarterback I've said for a number of years now, I think we've maybe not been aggressive enough bringing in talent at that position to groom and to challenge. And even if it's to just develop him to a point where you have somebody that you can later trade or whatever the case may be, so that's something I'll continue to push for. But in evaluating David and looking at what he's done, look, I said it last year and people kind of took it the wrong way; he's been a very good quarterback. He's not been elite but I saw guys like Rich Gannon late in their career become elite, and what you want to do as a coach is continue to maximize the ability these guys have play to their strengths and try to minimize their weaknesses, and David has done some nice things here. David is a big, tough, mobile quarterback. He is an accurate passer and I do believe our system and him having the continuity with Dirk (Koetter) and our offensive staff, I do believe that allows everything to slow down for quarterbacks later in their career, and that's why you see quarterbacks play at a high level later in their careers. I think there's an opportunity to build on the things we've done and do some better and continue to push. I think this year David took a step forward in terms of the way he approached the game, the time he put in, the commitment level he had was at an all-time high, and we're going to go back and demand even more. So I think there are some real positives there that maybe are not portrayed that way."

(do you feel like you have to get this team into the playoffs next year?) "It's a totally fair question. That's what I'm about, that's what I want. I laid out there this year I thought we should win the division. I never did back away from it. I thought we should have won the division. We had an opportunity, went up to Indy with a chance to claim the crowd, didn't get it done. But no, I'm going to set the bar high. I believe we should. We're not going to set the bar low and hope to achieve it. We're going to set the bar high and reach for it and demand of ourselves and commit and do all those things. No, that's what I expect. I expect us to be challenging and playing this time of year, and so I don't back away from that at all."

(have you had a chance to analyze why you have not had success in December and January the past two years?) "I've got a little bit here. We can talk about that if you want to, we'll talk about the last two years. If you really look at last year (2009), I think we all recognize that when you have 33 new players out of 53, that's basically a complete rebuild. We knew that we were an achieving team last year. We talked about it. We weren't carried away with ourselves, we didn't think we'd arrived. We knew that if we maximized everything we had that we could squeeze out some games and we did. Our talent base was not playoff-worthy. In the end that proved to be the case. We would never concede that, though. Why would we concede that as a group of competitors, as a group of men? So that's why I said it was an achieving 7-9, that's what it was, and there are a lot of teams that are in a complete rebuild that would love to have that type of opportunity to play meaningful football in December, and so that's what we did. Now we built on that this year, we were a better team, I believe that. Our record ends up being one game better. I think we were a better football team. We had an opportunity to clinch the crown and didn't get it done. I'm not going to sit here and try and make excuses. We did not get it done at the end of the day in Indianapolis. That was a big moment for us. We didn't get it done, and so what we can do with that is learn from that experience that we had and make sure that we take full advantage of the next opportunity that we earn. And you do earn those opportunities. We did have some major accomplishments to put ourselves in position to have that opportunity, and there probably weren't many people in here that really thought that we could have that opportunity but we did and we just didn't seize that opportunity."

(what do you think happened in the last three games?) "In Indy we missed an opportunity to.... I think the Washington week, the final home game, probably our best defensive effort, probably the best defensive effort we had of the year, and we struggled to score points against a depleted defense. I've got to do a better job getting us ready to seize that moment at home. I know our guys wanted it. There was some talk about an emotional hangover from Indy; I don't subscribe to that. There was talk of that. For me, I'll shoulder that one. I feel like I should be able to do enough to get our football team ready to win that last home game. I wanted that in the worst way for our fans. If nothing else, I wanted our fans to leave EverBank Field feeling good about the home season we had. So I'll put that one squarely on my shoulders. I've got to find a way to help our football team score more against a depleted defense and do more as a team to win that game. We were close, we had our opportunities. It's an overtime game, we get the ball, and things just didn't happen. There was plenty of fight, there was plenty of determination, we just didn't get that one done."

(Maurice Jones-Drew scored the game winning touchdown against Oakland, goes over the 100-yard mark. He doesn't practice or play much the rest of the season. When did you know that he was not well and how long did he play hurt?) "We knew in training camp. He didn't want to talk about it. It's his body. He fought through the year. I think you saw two great examples of competitors this year; Andre Johnson, who just sat out for Houston, and Maurice. I think those guys, what they did for their teammates, unbelievable. The commitment level that Maurice made to his teammates and to his team, to fight through what he fought through and to have the kind of year he had with the leg that was bothering him all year was tremendous. I give him a lot of credit."

(will you change your approach to how much Jones-Drew carries the ball going forward?) "I don't they're related. He's a great football player, he impacts games for us. We rode him through a stretch there, we won five of six, kind of reestablished that smashmouth identity. Maurice is central to that. We'll always look at that but I think it's about us as a team doing all we can. He's a champion, he wants the ball, it's almost a confrontation every time you take him out and try to put Rashad (Jennings) because he wants to be out there. But that's a good thing, it's healthy. It's similar kind of when he was the young understudy and Fred (Taylor) was here. Those great players, they don't like coming off the field. So we'll try and strike the balance of maximizing our utilization of him and trying to keep him fresh, but that was really not a situation where there was wear. That was a situation where he started the year that way. We were fortunate to get 14 good games out of him."

(you have the support of the owner and the players but how cognizant are you of the reaction of the fan base of you coming back?) "The way I see it is what's most important is that the people that you referred to is where you have to start. I think the fans will understand over time, I think that just takes time. Typically that process just takes a little time but I think you have to make sound decisions. It's kind of like drafting Tyson (Alualu) and I think you have to make good, sound decisions based on good information and then you let the other things kind of take care of themselves over time. I don't know that you can be successful in life if you're going to take a straw poll or if you're going to kind of check the wind and then make your decisions based on that. I think people that have been successful, you gather good information, you make good solid decisions and you don't look back."

(but you're aware of it. Does it bother you?) "I'm aware of a tremendous amount of support. My phone blew up. Got a lot of people that have been prayerful and supportive and I certainly appreciate all that."

(for the end of the season, do you evaluate each game individually or do you review the overall philosophy that hasn't allowed you to be successful?) "I would say that you look at the quarter like that because that's the way you segment it, but certainly each opportunity is what you have to look at. Each game, matchups in each game, preparation for each game, it really boils down to your ability to execute in those particular ballgames, so that's the way I look at it."

(in the last two losses both times the teams came out and just dominated your team. What does that say about the preparation of the players and the coaches those last two games?) "Well, I don't know if that says anything other than we didn't start well. I think that's probably the biggest thing."

(so there's no common denominator?) "No."

(how close and/or far off is the defense from getting back to what you want it to be and what it was several years ago?) "We had so many explosive plays allowed this year it's alarming, and it's something we're going to have to give a lot attention to and we're going to have to fix. We'll work hard to get that done and I think if you look at what we've done over the last two offseasons, we identified offensive line as an area we needed to strengthen. I feel like we did that. We identified the defensive line as an area we needed to strengthen, we did that, and the other part that we knew we had to improve is our secondary. And we'll address that this offseason and get that straightened up."

(you talked about the core continuity with the coaching staff. Will you give them permission to look elsewhere?) "Yeah, we've got a good staff. I spoke with Mr. Weaver about that and I talked to the staff yesterday about that. It's not uncommon in today's NFL, it'll occur every now and then. Our guys understand that but in terms of wanting them to do what's best for themselves and their family, absolutely. They have to do that. I will always support that but we have a good staff and they believe in what we're doing and I think you'll see that our staff will remain intact."

(do you anticipate any staff changes or significant changes on the veteran side of the roster?) "Staff-wise, no. I like the staff that we've put together. I think it's a strong staff, a good teaching staff. As I indicated I think the players know that. And in terms of decisions on our roster, I'll get together with Gene and we'll have our personnel evaluations next week and then Gene, myself and Wayne will talk through direction for the offseason and the plan. So we'll work through that as we typically do. We did it last year where we took a week off and let the emotion of the season kind of subside and then come back and have our evaluations then. We found that to be a more effective way of kind of going through this process, so we're going to do that again this year."

(have you been told that Jones-Drew's surgery will bring him back to 100%?) "Yes, everything that I've heard and learned is that he's going to be able to get the fix that he needs and get him back rolling."

(was there any talk of doing this scope back in August?) "He looked at the different scenarios and chose to continue to play."

(your team was last in the league in forced turnovers. Is that due to not having enough impact players in the back end? Is this defense two or three players away from being the defense you want it to be?) "We'll fortify ourselves there. We need to strengthen ourselves there and I expect us to be significantly improved going forward next year."

(this is two years in a row where your future was left in limbo. How hard is that on you? They players said they could tell this was weighing on you a little bit.) "I have to tell you that me personally it's really not the concern. The weight that I feel is that of my family and other families, coaches and their families and the different amount of families and lives that these kind of decision impact. So me personally, I feel very confident about what I'm able to do, my abilities as a coach, all those types of things, and I've been in this environment my whole life. My whole adult life I've been in this environment that demands so much out of you for the last 26 years. So I'm comfortable with it but I do feel for the families involved, and so from that standpoint I'm very happy for all of them."

(do you understand the fans' frustration?) "Of course. I think what you sometimes forget is who cares more than me? Believe me, I'm all in. I'm like the turkey on Thanksgiving; I'm fully committed. I feel that pain, and nobody wants it more than me. What happens is you typically have a segment of people that don't quite know how to handle their disappointment or emotions that they're feeling. But I think the fact that we have a very passionate fan base, I think that's a great thing, I think it's because they're engaged. We want our fans to be engaged, we count on our fans. Nobody wants it worse than our players and coaches."

(early on you appeared more demonstrative on the sideline but now you seem more emotionally detached, or is that a conscious effort on your part in your head coaching style?) "Yes, it is. I am seeking to be much more consistent in my approach. From an emotional standpoint I think it's important. I'm very engaged, very passionate about what I'm doing but I would like to even out, I'd like to be more consistent in terms of what the players are getting from me on Sundays because I want from them more consistency and a more even approach. I think that's one of the areas I've grown in. I used to chuck that red flag and try to knock down the official, and now I just drop it and he knows, and I think there are a lot of areas where you grow as a coach in this position and that's one of them. I don't try to knock down the referee anymore with the red flag. Typically they come over and they're going into that tent and they're remembering that you just tried to pelt them with the flag and so that's not a good thing for your review. So there are things like that that I've learned, but I assure you there's a lot of passion and a lot want-to."

(was the passion with Team Teal a noticeable result to you?) "I think the way we started the year with the announcement of EverBank, putting the name on our field, on our stadium here, I think the Team Teal drive that the city had, Carl Cannon and Tony Boselli out there, there's no question that that positively impacted our football team, the team stepping up. The rumors about us going to L.A. and all those things, it affects all our families. That all subsided and we played in front of packed stadiums all year, had the games on TV all year, those are real positive things for us, for our football team and our community and we're very appreciative of that. And so there's no question, no question about that."

(on your duties being redefined over the past two years on the personnel side and on play-calling) "I think those things are probably played out more by you all than really the net-net of what it means to me. Really my relationship with personnel has not really changed. I have the same input and say that I did in the first place. It's really semantics as far as I'm concerned. As a head coach I have a very strong voice in how things are going to be done here, that remains, and in terms of the decision with Mel, that's something that I had on my list to talk with Mr. Weaver about. That's something that I was seeking, to get Mel extended and to do a little bit like I did with Mike Smith where I give him more responsibility and now I can sit back as the head coach and oversee the entire operation. So those are positive developments in my view but please continue whatever else you had to ask."

(do you consider yourself a micro-manager?) "No, I wouldn't say that. I think one of the areas I feel like I've grown in over my time here is trusting my staff. I think Dirk had a really good year as an offensive coordinator for us. I really encourage him to build on that and grow going forward. I think he was a strength for us. I think Mel is poised to do that for us. I think Russ Purnell did a heck of a job with our special teams units, and I empower our coaches to do their thing. As a head coach I have input I share with them during the course of the week in preparation, and then one of the reasons I want to pull back from the defensive side is so I can oversee the entire operation on game days which I have done and know that I can be even more effective doing going forward."

(so you don't see that as too much of an adjustment?) "No."

(do you plan to do anything different this offseason even from the standpoint of shaking the bushes and shaking hands with the fans or doing more player evaluation?) "I don't know if we can do any more shaking the bushes and being out engaging our fans than we have. I think that was probably record-setting for the league last year, the initiative that we undertook. I think from our standpoint this is the time of the year when you get into evaluations, you get into offseason projects and things like that. I know Wayne spoke about some of those topics with you all yesterday. Those are things that we typically do and we're going to make sure that he understands some of those things that we're doing and kept abreast of that, but those are things that we typically do to give ourselves every opportunity and to have some freshness. I think some of the things that you saw on our offensive design this year, we had some of that freshness and those are things we'll want to build on."

(you referred to totally rebuilding the team. Mr. Weaver referred to it as a complete dismantle of the roster. Is that a fair characterization of what happened after the '08 season?) "I would say they're fairer than any view you may have at this particular time."

(do you have any comments regarding your 2011 schedule?) "It's a tough one."

(have you looked at the quarterbacks you'll be facing?) "I have. We better be improved."

(do you feel any sense of relief yesterday?) "Sure I did, because like I said all of the lives, all the different people that are affected, absolutely. I care, it's just a matter of I care more about everybody else than I care about myself. I'm going to be fine. I care about the families that are impacted. I care about the people involved and I believe in what we're doing and I think it was a wise decision to stay the course, I really do, because I believe that we're doing things the right way."

(you said ???, but the record doesn't seem to bear that out?) "But I think if you're really fair about it and you really look at all the different circumstances I think that it would bear itself out. You've been watching, you've been here, you understand, you either believe or you don't believe."

WAYNE WEAVER
MEDIA AVAILABILITY
MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 2011

"Good afternoon. We met last year a little bit later than this time, and I said that I had set out a number of challenges to our organization. And so today I thought what we'd do is, before I get into all of that, I ask you to be reflective with me and let's take a look back. If you remember, as you've heard me say many times, that we really missed badly in our early-round draft choices. And I'll remind you in 2004 we drafted Reggie Williams, in 2005 we drafted Matt Jones, there's nobody left from that 2005 class. In '06 we did draft Mercedes (Lewis), a Pro Bowl player, and (Maurice) Jones-Drew, a Pro Bowl player. '07 we drafted Reggie Nelson, '08 Derrick Harvey and there's no other player other than Derrick that's left on our roster. So we really set our franchise back with some poor choices on draft choices. Now after the 2008 season I recognized that this team was in trouble in terms of we had missed (on) too many very important draft choices, and I overhauled our total personnel department. I made Gene Smith the GM, gave him total authority for the 53-man roster, and so I think if you reflect back on that and say when we dismantled after the 2008 season, we totally dismantled our roster and said we're going to rebuilt this roster, we're going to built it the right way with character guys, guys that want to come in here and be selfless and play as a team and be great role models in our community. And I think we've done that. So if you take a review of our roster today, and I'm not going to go through everything on the roster, but if you take a look at our roster, our offensive roster is pretty strong. We've got (Eugene) Monroe, we've got (Vince) Manuwai, (Brad) Meester, (Uche) Nwaneri, Mercedes Lewis, Zach Potter, Mike Thomas. We brought in Jason Hill from San Francisco. Kassim Osgood we brought in from San Diego. We drafted Rashad Jennings and (Deji) Karim. Montell Owens continues to perform at a high level for us. Greg Jones still continues to be one of the best fullbacks in the National Football League. So we really have put together a roster on our offensive side. Where we need some help and we need to work is defense, and it couldn't have been more clear than it was Sunday night."

"But we've got a nucleus there. We've got Tyson Alualu, (Terrance) Knighton, (Jeremy) Mincey is growing, Mincey is getting an opportunity. Derek Cox, Rashean Mathis certainly played much better the last half of the year and is getting back to his best playing period, Daryl Smith, and on and on. But those are the nucleus so I had to reflect and say, am I better off to blow this thing up and start over again with the coaching staff? I spent most of the day with the players, the leadership of our players, and then the other part of the day I spent with Jack (Del Rio) in terms of the things that we have to do to get better. But honestly when I reflect back on what we've accomplished, I think we're growing a strong culture. I think we're stronger by keeping this group together, I'm saying 'this group' our coaches together under Jack's leadership, and continue to build what Gene and our personnel department are doing. And I think when you look at it and you say we're two years into this, I think it would be insanity, and you've heard me say the definition of insanity is doing the same thing over and over again and expect a different result. I don't think we're doing the same thing over and over again and expecting a different result. I think what I just said shows that we've made huge strides, that we're making progress, that we are building the culture of holding people accountable for what we are doing."

"I asked Jack to do some things differently this year. I believe very strongly that it's hard for a head coach to be a coordinator and call the plays. I've asked Jack to step back on that and take charge of game day the way a head coach has to do. Now, you can say in some cases other head coaches call plays; well, it's a big responsibility. I think we'll be better, I think Jack will be better. He will have a better overall view of making sure that he's on top of the game during the game."

I've been critical of our football team of not making adjustments during the game and I think this will certainly help that. It'll give Jack a chance to be more aware of everything that's going on on the field."

"So I really do believe that we've made real progress. I think it would be a knee-jerk is the best way to put it, if I decided to start over with a new coach and a new staff. One of the players I have great respect for today, and I didn't solicit this, he said to me, 'Mr. Weaver I hope that we're not planning to start over because this team is this close to becoming a real good football team.' And he said starting would set this team back. Now obviously I don't look to the players to make decisions for me, but it's refreshing when players have an opinion that makes sense and that comes from the heart, and I really believe that he was saying this because he really believes that a new system would set this football team back."

"I have given Jack a number of challenges. I've said look, because we've made some progress, and I do really believe that we've had some growth over the last year, I do believe that we've set a series of challenges and goals to hold people accountable. I said to you last year that I talked about our conditioning and strength program; I will tell you it's the best ever. I said that we had to challenge our players. Some of you thought I called out David but I did not call out David; I said David needs to do things better, David needs to spend more time in the film room. I told the story of Peyton Manning and Pierre Garcon. Well, David has risen to the challenge. There are 11 quarterbacks that have a higher rating than David in the National Football League; nine of them are in the playoffs. David has the third-best quarterback passing rating in fourth quarter leaders, I beg your pardon, second behind (Ben) Roethlisberger. So David has taken the challenge to heart and he's really made huge progress. Do we expect more from David? Yes. We think we'll get more, we think that David is going to continue to grow. I've challenged Jack to do what I challenged last year, to give his coordinators special offseason projects. Look at on offense, how do we improve our offense? Go look at the best in the National Football League and see what we can learn from them. I challenged Jack to, now that Mel Tucker is going to assume the role of the defensive coordinator and call the plays, I'm not an Xs and Os guy but I say I think our blitzes are very vanilla. Let's see if we can't disguise them better. We've got to find a way to put more pressure on the quarterback."

"So I believe that those things are going to be put in place and that we will have an opportunity to see what we started here two years ago, and you've got to look at it that way. We started this two years ago; we're now going into our third year of rebuilding this football team. And I believe with every fiber in my body that this team is an ascending football team and that whether it's next year or the following year, in the next two years we're going to compete at the very highest levels. I will tell you we will be in the playoffs next year, I don't think there's any doubt about it. Last year I said I didn't want to be sitting home in January, believe me I've read my (comments) from last year because I know you'll regurgitate it all to me, but maybe it was a little bravado last year but I really believe; what I'm saying now is absolutely how I feel and what we can achieve here as a football team. So with that, you're here for questions."

(is there a quantitative thing you can point to for fans as to why you feel this is a better football team?) "Yeah, I think so due to the things I said about David. If you remember I challenged Jack and our coaches to determine what kind of football team we're going to be. Are we going to be a running football team? Are we going to be a passing football team? We decided we were going to be a running football team. We were third in the National Football League this year in rushing. So yes, I think there are a lot of positives that we can point to. We were in the top 10 on special teams in every major category. David Garrard, as I said, there are only 11 quarterbacks ahead of him with a higher passing rating and I believe the guy that's right ahead of him is Drew Brees. My point is we have seen improvements in the areas that we identified that we had to improve in to be a better football team. Now you can look at the record and you can say we've been average. You can say well, 8-8 is average. You have to look behind that number to say, 'did we really make progress or are we just an 8-8 football team?' We're not an 8-8 football team; we're better than that."

(one of the challenges is obviously selling tickets. If you were to take a poll most of the fans would probably disagree with your move today.) "They may. I would say to them what I said earlier this morning coming in. Somebody grabbed me and I said, 'This year we earned what we got.' We did. We earned what we got. I said, 'but I believe that we made progress. We had growth this year.' And I said fans are going to have to trust me. I've made bad decisions in my life but I wouldn't be sitting here if I hadn't made a lot more good ones than I made bad ones, so trust me."

(how many players did you speak to this morning?) "I would say eight to 10."

(Coach Del Rio had to pretty much go through this last year. Did he say anything different to convince you? What do you think he learned from this year?) "The first question I asked Jack was to be reflective on the year and how you could have done things better. And I thought it was a very honest, very positive conversation about the things that we could do, and out of that led to what we ought to do is maybe is take the additional responsibility of calling plays so that you can exercise more executive coaching on game day. So yes, it was a very reflective conversation."

(you said to look beyond the 8-8 record then followed up with you earned what you got. Does that mean you're going to be a better football team going forward?) "Yeah, we earned what we got this year. For me to sit here and tell you that I'm not disappointed that we lost the last three games of our season, absolutely I'm disappointed. I know how disappointed the fans are. I'm disappointed that we lost to Indianapolis when we had the division in our control, but you still have to look behind the numbers and say what I've just gone through with you. Are we a better football team this year than we were last year? Have we shown growth? Have our people put in place things in terms of initiatives and things that are going to make us better going forward? Are we better off going forward with what we've got and the culture that I believe we've built, versus blowing it up and starting over again? Absolutely I believe we're better off."

(do you feel the defense has grown?) "The defense has not grown. It goes back to we haven't used our draft choices as well as we should. We missed on first-round draft choices; those guys should have been impact players on our defense. I will tell you that I believe that we have an opportunity in free agency and in this draft to really fix some of the holes that we have on defense. Can we fix them all? I don't know, we'll see."

(you're asking fans to trust you that this coach, quarterback, general manager, staff is capable to leading the Jaguars to a championship.) "I believe that or I wouldn't be sitting here telling you that. We'd be having a different conversation."

(did money or the labor unrest have anything to do with this decision at all?) "No. I'll take that in two parts. No, money had nothing to do with it. But I believe that any other decision other than the one I made would set this franchise back. Labor unrest, obviously it would be very difficult for anyone coming in, from the uncertainty and the scramble of putting a roster together at the last minute, but I still felt my decision was made on make the right decision that I believe in my gut is the right decision for this franchise, and that's what I did."

(are you concerned about being able to sell tickets?) "Let's talk about that because I challenged this side of the building, the administrative side of the building, and I thought that they responded brilliantly, certainly with the help of the community, the Mayor's leadership, Team Teal, Tony Boselli, Carl Cannon and that group along with Macky (Weaver) and his staff coming up with the creative 30/30 Plan that we sold 15,000 new season tickets, 87,000 group sales. A year ago, coming out of 2008, we sold 31, 000 or 32,000 group sales. In 2009 we sold 60,000. We sold 87,000 groups (in 2010), so we've got a template there. Hopefully those people will stay with us. We will continue to have to sell those groups. We'll have to sell each year another three or four thousand season tickets to build our season ticket base up, and as we do that then we'll pull those out of group."

(don't you think it's a tough sell eight years with Coach Del Rio, one playoff win and it's a tough sell with having David Garrard at quarterback for four years?) "You can look at eight years and say, you know something, what Jack inherited, and I'm not going to defend any more than I have, what Jack inherited when he took over in 2003 the roster was decimated. And then we chose to blow it up in 2008 because we made a lot of mistakes, and I take total responsibility for it. I should have recognized in our personnel department that we should have made some changes earlier. So you've got to look at it and say let's be rational. We've been rebuilding this team for the last two years, not eight. That's the only rational way you can look at it, and I think anyone that looks at it in that context would be pretty hard-pressed to argue that my decision is not a good decision based on what I just said."

(does the team have to make the playoffs next year for Coach Del Rio to keep his job?) "I don't want to get into that, but I will tell you that if we're not in the playoffs next year, there won't be many people around here."

(there was a void in the club seats last season. Will you change your approach in how you sell club seats this year?) "That's the biggest challenge I've given this side of the building this year, is we've got to figure out a way to sell out our premium seats. I really do believe that we have a template, if our fans stay with us, for selling out our general bowl with the group sales and growing our season ticket base in the general bowl. But if you look across from where I sit over to the east side, it's an eyesore and I said to our people, 'look, we've got to look at it like our consumers look at it.' It's like buying a car, maybe a cheap car, over a three-year period so we have to have a plan there. We've reduced the prices there but we need to come up with a plan that says you can buy this ticket over 36 months or whatever it is to make it more affordable for people being in those seats, and we've got a lot of work to do. We're just getting into that but we've got a lot of work to do. That's our biggest challenge. It's 60 percent of our revenue, our premium seats are 60 percent of our gate, or almost 60 percent."

(when you spoke to Coach Del Rio today did you both come to a consensus as to why the team wasn't successful in December two years in a row?) "We did talk about that a lot and I don't know that I can give you a good answer except that we have a lot to address the last two years with a very young roster. I can show you on film as I've looked at it with our personnel department the kind of mistakes."

(did have something to do with the building process?) "It had everything to do with the rebuilding process."

(on having a history of not being able to win down the stretch) "And we went to the playoffs and beat Pittsburgh twice in 2007 in their home."

(with the draft mistakes you talked about, is Gene Smith under the same scrutiny?) "I think someday you get Gene aside and ask him how many times that I remind him that he was part of those drafts."

(wasn't Coach Del Rio also part of those decisions?) "Jack, Gene had a big voice in those drafts. But there was one man in charge who had the final say, and we changed that and our draft have changed dramatically for the positive."

(would you like to see the franchise draft a quarterback and develop him?) "I think we do have to look at drafting a young quarterback as a developmental quarterback, but I think David is our quarterback. I believe that we can win with David and he has to continue to do the things that we ask of him and we have to do the things that are going to help David be more successful, just like giving him a little more time in the pocket and doing that things that we ask of him in the film room and on the practice field and going out with his receivers and working extra with his receivers. I'm optimistic. I like the development of certainly Mike Thomas and I like Jason Hill the way he's coming along. We'll get Jarret Dillard back and we would certainly look to draft a wide receiver somewhere in this draft."

(are you implying that your evaluation of Coach Del Rio is basically on a two-year clock? The first six years have been wiped from the evaluation process.) "There's no point in looking back. We made a conscious decision in 2008 to dismantle our roster. We knew what we were doing. We made that decision, so in fairness when you look back and say you missed all these players by missing early round draft choices that should be impact players on your roster, and then you're going to totally dismantle your roster, let's be fair. We totally changed our roster for the most part in 2009 and 2010. There are very few players from the early years."

(the players who are impact players were here before 2008 – David Garrard, Maurice Jones-Drew, Mercedes Lewis)
"Mercedes Lewis and Jones-Drew were in '07."

(but the nucleus of your offensive line) "No, (Brad) Meester, (Vince) Manuwai, yeah. (Eugene) Monroe, (Eben) Britton, those are all new guys on our roster, (Uche) Nwaneri."

The following material is the copyrighted property of Jacksonville Jaguars, Ltd. (on challenging the premise of totally dismantling the roster) "But you can't say it any other way. For heaven's sakes how do you say that we didn't dismantle our roster? We didn't throw everybody out, but we really gutted this roster for the most part and kept the core that we had that we could build around."

(but the core of the team didn't change) "But the core is a lot of new people, too."

(are you any closer to having an exit strategy?) "No, I've said all along I'm going to be 76 and when I decide that I'm going to sell the team it'll be someone that comes along that I really believe has the same passion that I have for this market place, that wants to carry on and be the steward that I believe that we've been of this team in trying to chase a championship. Whether I get there or not I don't know, but whoever comes behind me will because I'm going to leave this team in a position that's it's an ascending franchise that can continue to grow."

(when you dismantled the roster and were asked to assess the following year. You said it wouldn't necessarily be among wins and losses.) "No, I shouldn't say that. Truthfully, I expect this team to be a playoff team. I was just giving Vito (Stellino) a hard time."

(so the actual numbers will be important next year?) "The actual numbers are definitely important next year."

Del Rio comments cap 2010
Coach talks of staying the course
Tuesday, January 4, 2011
By Vic Ketchman, jaguars.com senior editor

Jack Del Rio echoed most of owner Wayne Weaver's comments to the media on Monday, during Del Rio's season-ending press conference at EverBank Field on Tuesday morning.

Weaver announced Monday afternoon that Del Rio would be retained as the team's head coach for a ninth season, effectively making Del Rio the longest-tenured coach in Jaguars history. Tuesday, Del Rio agreed with Weaver's decision.

"I believe it was a wise decision to stay the course," Del Rio said.

The "course" to which Del Rio referred is a rebuilding project that enters its third season in 2011 under General Manager Gene Smith. The first two years have yielded records of 7-9 and 8-8 but no playoff berths, despite being in the lead for a playoff spot both years when December began.

Del Rio came to the press conference prepared to address the question of the team's 1-7 record over the final four weeks of the last two seasons. In 2009, the Jaguars lost their final four games; they lost their last three in '10.

"That's basically a complete rebuild," he said of the '09 roster, which he said included 33 new faces. "We maximized everything we had. Our talent base was not playoff-worthy but we would never concede that. It was an achieving 7-9," Del Rio said.

"This year we were a better team; had a chance to clinch a division crown and did not get it done," he said.

A 34-24 loss in Indianapolis in week 15 turned out to be the game that cost the Jaguars the division title; they would not have made it into the playoffs had they won their last two games. A loss to the Redskins in week 16 in the home finale, though meaningless in the playoffs race, inflamed fans and likely produced the defining moment of the season when a David Garrard pass was intercepted in overtime and directly led to the game's deciding field goal.

"We struggled to score points against a depleted defense. I've got to do a better job. I'll shoulder that one. I should be able to do enough to win that last home game. Put that one squarely on my shoulders," Del Rio said.

The coach spent much of his 45-minute press conference talking about the expectation for making it into the playoffs in 2011 and what it'll take to accomplish that feat.

"We're disappointed we're not in the postseason tournament this year. Everybody wants more. What I want is a ring. This is not about survival. This is about winning. This is about winning championships and we're committed to doing things the right way. We feel we have a solid foundation we can build upon," Del Rio said.

Most of that foundation would appear to be on the offensive of the ball. The running game was third-best in the NFL. Quarterback David Garrard set a franchise-record with 23 touchdown passes and finished with a very respectable 90.8 passer rating that was 13th-best in the NFL.

The offseason emphasis will, again, be on the defensive side of the ball. The Jaguars were 28th in the league in defense. Six of the league's 12 playoff teams have a defense ranked 10th or higher.

"Defense is the area we have the most work to do," Del Rio said, who then referred to young defensive tackles Terrance Knighton and Tyson Alualu as the building blocks of future Jaguars defenses, much as Del Rio referred to Marcus Stroud and John Henderson as cornerstone players when Del Rio was a rookie coach in 2003.

"It's rare a coach is offered the opportunity to rebuild a team a second time," Del Rio said. "This is a draft-and-develop organization."

On defense, the play-caller will change in 2011 from Del Rio to Defensive Coordinator Mel Tucker, who came to the Jaguars in '09 to help install principles of the 3-4 defensive concept with which Tucker was familiar.

"I think he's groomed and ready for the opportunity to call our defense in the 4-3 concepts that were a little new to him when he got here," Del Rio said. "I can be a more effective head coach as someone who can oversee the entire operation."

Del Rio's comments on Garrard will no doubt please and displease opposing factions of the fan base. The coach confirmed Weaver's comments that Garrard will remain the team's starting quarterback, though Del Rio also acknowledged the need to draft a quarterback and begin the development process.

"We've not been aggressive enough to bring in talent at that position," Del Rio said of quarterback; the Jaguars haven't drafted one since 2003 when they made Byron Leftwich the seventh pick of the draft.

"He's been a very good quarterback," Del Rio said of Garrard. "He's not been elite but I've seen guys late in their careers, like Rich Gannon, become elite. David has done good things here."

Jack Del Rio understands he has a rare opportunity

Twice during his season-ending press conference today, Jack Del Rio talked about the rare opportunity he's getting.

He said it's rare for a head coach to survive a drafted quarterback that didn't work out (Byron Leftwich). He also said it's rare for a coach to get the opportunity to rebuild twice.

I'll have a more complete story later in the day, but here are a few of Del Rio's more interesting comments today.

- - Del Rio opened by assessing the team. He praised the offense and the special teams, including punter Adam Podlesh who had a career year. Then he said this about the defense: "Defensively that is the area where we have the most work to do." He said they have a foundation of solid defensive tackles in Tyson Alualu and Terrance Knighton to build around.
- - "In my eight years here, in six of those years we've been in December with a chance to be in the hunt. I can assure you everybody wants more. You want more. Fans want more. Mr. Weaver wants more. Our players and our coaches want more. What I want is a ring. I've had the privilege of putting one on my finger, I'd like to get more. I've been in this game a long time playing and coaching. ... This league has done far more for me than I can ever do for it."
- - On whether Mel Tucker (whose contract is expiring) assuming defensive play-calling responsibilities was his decision or Weaver's dictum: "I went into the meeting yesterday with my own list of things to discuss and one of those was my desire to have Mel be here. I think he's groomed and ready for the opportunity to call our defense and some of the 4-3 elements that were new to him when he first arrived. He brought in some 3-4 concepts. Mel is a good football coach. His contract is expiring. It was my intention to go to Wayne and talk to him about having Mel ... call the game. ... I do trust Mel. I think he's ready to do that and lead us. He understands some of the core principles that I believe in. Much like we did with [current Falcons head coach and former defensive coordinator] Mike Smith when he first got here I shared a lot of responsibilities with him. It was the right thing to allow him to do more."
- - Addressing personnel decisions, Del Rio said, "I don't separate myself from Shack [Harris]. I shared in some of those decisions about players that haven't panned out." Del Rio and Harris made drafting decisions together until Gene Smith became the general manager. Del Rio said he thinks he's learned from some of those mistakes.
- - Del Rio reiterated a point he made earlier this season, that he believes quarterbacks sometimes blossom late in their careers and it's possible for David Garrard to become an elite quarterback. "In evaluating David and looking at what he's done, I said it last year and it was taken the wrong way, he's been a very good quarterback. He's not been elite. I saw guys like Rich Gannon late in their career become elite."
- - He was asked what went wrong in the last three games. Del Rio talked about the Redskins game as one that should have gone differently. "The Washington week, the final home game probably our best defensive effort we had of the year. We struggled to score points against a depleted defense. I've got to do a better job getting us ready to seize that moment. ... There was some talk about emotional hangover from Indy. I don't subscribe to that. I'll shoulder that one."
- - Del Rio said he's been in this pressure-packed business long enough that the stress doesn't get to him, "but I do feel for the families involved. From that standpoint I'm happy for them. What you sometimes forget is who cares more than me? Believe me. I'm all in. I'm like the turkey on Thanksgiving. I'm fully committed. I feel that pain. I feel that pain. What happens is you have a segment of people that don't know how to handle their disappointment or emotions. I think the fact that we have a very passionate fan base is a great thing."

JAGUARS

Players voice approval

Decision to keep Del Rio is popular in locker room

By TANIA GANGULI
The Times-Union

Support for Jaguars coach Jack Del Rio resonated from every part of the Jaguars locker room all week and players applauded team owner Wayne Weaver's decision to keep his head coach.

"I think that's the consensus around the locker room," kicker Josh Scobee said. "The players like Jack, we like what he brings to the table. It's just a matter of executing better. They call the plays and we're supposed to execute them."

The Jaguars retained Del Rio for at least next season, his ninth in Jacksonville. Del Rio is the fourth-longest tenured coach in the NFL. He still has two seasons remaining on his contract.

Almost immediately after news of Del Rio's return surfaced, defensive tackle Terrance Knighton posted on Twitter that Del Rio is the right man for the job.

"I wouldn't wanna play for no one else," Knighton posted. "He's perfect for us. We as players need to put in the effort like Jack does. Only if people knew how hard our coaches work."

That feeling was consistent throughout the season. The first rumblings of Del Rio's job security slipping occurred in Week 4 after back-to-back 25-point losses, and back then players said they wanted Del Rio to remain head coach.

In the past few weeks, as those rumblings grew louder, especially with a late-season slide that left the Jaguars at 8-8, their third consecutive non-winning season, players echoed Del Rio's sentiments that the team had improved despite missing the playoffs again.

Players were aware of the speculation about his job status and guard Uche Nwaneri said that drove Del Rio to coach even more passionately.

"With all the talk and the negative energy coming from the outside world after we dropped two in a row, you could kind of see that weight on his shoulders," guard Uche Nwaneri said. "Jack was more than able to carry that weight."

Several players said the Jaguars were a team on the rise.

Where they failed, they blamed themselves rather than their coach.

"There's no coach out there that dictates the outcome of the game," cornerback Rashean Mathis said. "There's no one call out there that coaches make that dictate the outcome of the game. The players that are on the field, we're the guys who are making them or not making them. That's my thought process regardless of what sport you play. Phil Jackson's a great coach, but he's also had great players to help him win championships."

Their words meant something in Weaver's decision. He spoke to 10 players, veteran team leaders, to ask their thoughts on Del Rio. One player, whom Weaver did not identify, said a new head coach would be detrimental to the Jaguars.

"Especially if you're trying to build something and you're trying to re-establish the identity of this organization, it starts with the head coach," Knighton said before the decision was announced. "If you replace a coach you're basically going back to Step 1."

The Jaguars consider themselves to have just completed the second year of a rebuilding process. They replaced major parts of their defense and a few offensive pieces in the past two seasons. Weaver attributed that turnover to the Jaguars' late-season slides in the past two seasons.

"We're very close," said running back Maurice Jones-Drew, who missed the last two games with a knee injury. "We're in the divisional title game [a loss to the Colts on Dec. 19]. We made a great run, we did a lot of great things, we just didn't finish at the end. There's a lot of things we've got to take care of."

"It was a great season, we're 8-8. Half the world thought we were going to go 4-12. We just gotta continue to work hard and keep proving ourselves."

Weaver promises top tier team next season

01/04/2011

by Joe Wilhelm Jr., Daily Record

Staff Writer

Jacksonville Jaguars owner Wayne Weaver saw progress in his organization this year, not that there wasn't disappointment.

During a news conference Monday at EverBank Field, Weaver explained that he expects his organization to continue to improve from this year's 8-8 record and "compete at the very highest level. We will be in the playoffs next year. I don't think there is any doubt about it."

Weaver announced that Head Coach Jack Del Rio will continue to lead the team.

"When you look back at the things we have accomplished, I think we have grown a strong culture," said Weaver. "I think we are stronger by keeping this group together."

Fan support began to drop for Del Rio as the Jaguars finished the season with a three-game losing streak. But Weaver spent Monday morning talking with eight to 10 players about the future of the Jaguars and continued the conversation with Del Rio in the afternoon.

During those sessions, Weaver said he was convinced that his team was close to taking the next step toward progress and that replacing Del Rio would be a "knee-jerk" reaction.

Though Del Rio will stay at the helm next season, there will be changes.

"I believe very strongly that it is hard for a head coach to be a coordinator and call the plays. I've asked Jack to step back on that and take charge of game day the way head coaches need to," said Weaver.

"I think he will have a better overall view of making sure that he is on top of the game during the game. I've been critical of our football team in the past of not making adjustments during the game, and it will give Jack a chance to be more aware of everything that is going on the field," he said.

Weaver also challenged defensive coordinator Mel Tucker to be more creative with the blitzes by disguising them better and not being so "vanilla."

The front office didn't escape challenges.

When asked, Weaver didn't have a kind description for the Touchdown Club seats that are directly behind the benches of home and visiting teams. Because of the location, they are constantly in the background during the football game and aren't the most densely filled seats in the stadium.

"When you look out from where I sit, the east stands (Touchdown Club) are an eyesore," said Weaver. "I've challenged our ticket sales department to figure out a better way to sell our premium seats. We've reduced prices, but we have got to come up with a plan to make those seats more affordable. They are 60 percent of our gate."

While the Jaguars have challenges, some of the community leaders in the Team Teal ticket drive said they will continue their support.

"The (Team Teal) effort was very important for Jacksonville. I think it was very successful," said Wayne Hogan, a Team Teal member and attorney at Terrell Hogan.

"The fact that we had no blackouts means that the community came together to support the Jaguars, who had a surprising season that ended when we had injuries to key players. But it certainly bodes well for next year and years to come," said Hogan.

"The Weavers are due a tremendous amount of credit for sticking with Jacksonville while Jacksonville stuck with them," said Hogan.

He plans to continue supporting the Jaguars and didn't believe Jacksonville was shortchanged by a team that finished the season with three losses.

"When you look around the league, there are many cities that have teams that didn't have anything close to a shot at the playoffs," said Hogan.

"Notwithstanding having had marquee players, marquee coaches, and they didn't get nearly as far as the Jaguars did," he said.

Former Florida Times-Union Publisher Carl Cannon was part of Touchdown Jacksonville, a group developed in the early 1990s to convince the NFL that Jacksonville could support an NFL team. The group was revived in 2009 to generate enthusiasm for ticket sales and help eliminate television blackouts. He doesn't see the group fading away anytime soon.

"Touchdown Jacksonville, the group that started the effort to sell the tickets, was extremely pleased with the response from the fans this season," said Cannon.

"The team could have done a little bit better, but I think we probably had three or four of the best games I've seen in the stadium in the last 10 years take place this season. I think the fans got their money's worth and we are looking forward to next year," he said.

While having hoped for better than an 8-8 season, he said few people he has spoken to regretted being part of the Jaguars this season.

"Most of the people, especially first-time ticket buyers, were happy to be a part of it," said Cannon.

"From that standpoint, I don't think that anyone is disappointed with their investment. As fans, we all want our team to win, but we are pleased with the effort that was put forward," he said.

Cannon was pleased with the efforts on and off the field. "Team Teal" was created to rally season ticket holders to bring more fans into EverBank Field and avoid television blackouts, giving the Jaguars the 12th man advantage. Team Teal Commissioner Tony Boselli oversees a group of 500 team captains who have helped to "Revive the Pride," the organization's motto.

Del Rio thankful, hopeful

Says repairing the defensive secondary will be high priority

By TANIA GANGULI
The Times-Union

That his is an unusual opportunity doesn't escape Jaguars coach Jack Del Rio.

He understands frustration with the franchise's one playoff win and two playoff appearances during his eight-year tenure. But he thinks in time, people will understand that the direction in which the Jaguars franchise is heading is the right one.

"If you look at it honestly, fairly, it's rare that a head coach is offered the opportunity to rebuild a team a second time, which is essentially what we started two years ago," Del Rio said. "... It wasn't always the most comfortable thing for me as a veteran coach, but it absolutely was the right thing for our franchise, for the health of this franchise going forward."

Del Rio held his season-ending news conference Tuesday, one day after his initial news conference was postponed because he was meeting with team owner Wayne Weaver. After the meeting, Weaver opted to keep Del Rio for a ninth season after he went 66-65 in the first eight.

Weaver said he expects the Jaguars to be in the playoffs next season — they haven't been since 2007 — and Del Rio knows his team must be better.

"In my eight years here, in six of those years we've been in December with a chance to be in the hunt," Del Rio said. "I can assure you everybody wants more. You want more. Fans want more. Mr. Weaver wants more. Our players and our coaches want more. What I want is a [Super Bowl] ring."

His words came two days after the Jaguars lost 34-17 to Houston, capping a three-game losing streak and another late-season slide.

Last season ended on a four-game losing streak, after which Weaver spent more than a week deciding whether or not to stick with his coach.

This time, it only took Weaver one day of meetings. On Monday, Weaver said the Jaguars were in a rebuilding phase after having been set back several years by poor drafts under former vice president of player personnel James "Shack" Harris. Weaver acknowledged both Del Rio and current general manager Gene Smith's role in those drafts, but emphasized that the personnel improved after Smith took over as general manager in 2009.

"I don't separate myself from Shack," Del Rio said Tuesday. "I shared in some of those decisions to bring in some of the players that haven't panned out, and I'd like to think I've learned from some of those mistakes. I'd like to think that I'll be better."

It wasn't the only area in which Del Rio said he's learned and grown during his eight years as head coach.

He said he better understands his role with the media now than he did when he started. And he said he can keep his emotions better in check.

"I don't try to knock down the referee anymore with the red [challenge] flag," Del Rio said. "Typically they come over and they're going into that tent and they're remembering that you just tried to pelt them with the flag and so that's not a good thing for your review."

For the rebuilding to progress it'll take more than Del Rio's growth.

He acknowledged the need for overall team improvement, particularly on defense. Del Rio won't be calling the defensive plays anymore, defensive coordinator Mel Tucker will assume those duties.

Personnel will have to change, too.

The Jaguars struggled against the pass this season and will be facing some of the NFL's best quarterbacks next season, including Pittsburgh's Ben Roethlisberger, San Diego's Philip Rivers, Atlanta's Matt

Ryan and of course AFC South quarterbacks Peyton Manning and Matt Schaub.

"We had so many explosive plays allowed this year it's alarming, and it's something we're going to have to give a lot of attention to and we're going to have to fix," Del Rio said. "... We identified the defensive line as an area we needed to strengthen, we did that, and the other part that we knew we had to improve is our secondary. And we'll address that this offseason and get that straightened up."

Part of fixing the defensive line during the 2010 offseason meant drafting defensive tackle Tyson Alualu in the first round instead of a glitzier name. It was an unpopular decision with some, but one that may work for the Jaguars, who now feel that Alualu and defensive tackle Terrance Knighton are two players around whom they can build the defense.

Del Rio saw some congruence between his remaining as head coach and the team drafting Alualu.

"I think the fans will understand over time," Del Rio said. "Typically that process takes a little time, but I think you have to make sound decisions. It's kind of like drafting Tyson. ... I don't know that you can be successful in life if you're going to take a straw poll or if you're going to kind of check the wind and then make your decisions based on that."

DB Jags' biggest need

Team needs to draft QB, too, but running back, special teams areas of strength

By TANIA GANGULI
The Times-Union

What the Jaguars need next season is as clear as it was this season. Just as the pass rush took center stage in the 2010 offseason, the defensive backfield will take precedence in 2011.

Jaguars coach Jack Del Rio emphasized the need for improvement in the secondary during his season-ending news conference.

This is a franchise committed to building its roster through the draft — and one that's had some expensive misses.

Though Jaguars general manager Gene Smith always espouses picking the best player available regardless of position, here's a look at what the Jaguars need this offseason:

Quarterback

The Jaguars haven't drafted a quarterback since taking Byron Leftwich seventh overall in 2003. That is the longest any team has gone without drafting at that position. The Chiefs are second, drafting Brodie Croyle in 2006. Quarterbacks don't always work out, but hitting rather than missing can dictate a franchise's direction for years.

Players like Matt Ryan, whom the Falcons drafted third overall in 2008, or Aaron Rodgers, whom the Packers drafted 24th overall in 2005, have their teams in the postseason.

Draft a Peyton Manning or Ben Roethlisberger, and building a team around them becomes much easier.

Garrard

Del Rio said again this year that David Garrard is not an elite quarterback. He emphasized that it wasn't a slight — there are only a few elite quarterbacks in the NFL. Garrard's streaks of good play made the need for a quarterback slightly less urgent. But after seven years without drafting a quarterback, it's time.

Draft urgency: Mid-round pick.

Wide receiver/TE

The midseason pickup of Jason Hill worked better than the Jaguars might have expected. Hill became a consistent target for the Jaguars and started late in the season instead of Mike Sims-Walker. He was able to become a deep threat, catching 11 passes for 248 yards and a touchdown.

He was added to a passing attack that featured Mike Thomas and Sims-Walker and heavily used tight ends Mercedes Lewis, a Pro Bowl selection, and Zach Miller. The Jaguars will also get back Jarret Dillard, who spent the 2010 season on injured reserve.

Sims-Walker is a free agent and might not be back. A star receiver early on has the potential to change an offense, but the Jaguars' defensive issues are more pressing.

Draft urgency: Mid- or late-round pick.

Running back

After his rehab from arthroscopic knee surgery, the Jaguars expect Maurice Jones-Drew to be back to full strength. The bruising 25-year-old back has quite a few miles left in his career. The Jaguars drafted running backs Rashad Jennings and Deji Karim in each of the last two years, and both have shown promise in their limited time running the ball. Jennings had his first 100-yard game this season against the Raiders. He was less productive in the final two games of the season when carrying a full load while Jones-Drew sat out, but a lot of that had to do with the play of the offensive line.

Draft urgency: No pressing need.

Offensive line

The Jaguars' interior is aging, but not to the point where the Jaguars need to make drastic moves.

Center Brad Meester will be entering his 12th season, but the Jaguars have a center in John Estes who spent the 2010 season on injured reserve. At guard the Jaguars have Uche Nwaneri, who signed a five-year contract extension this season. Their other guards are Vince Manuwai, who will be 31 next season, and Justin Smiley, who turns 30.

The team drafted tackles Eugene Monroe and Eben Britton in the first two rounds in 2009. Britton missed the second half of the season with a shoulder injury. The Jaguars allowed 38 sacks this season, 11th worst in the NFL.

Draft urgency: Mid- or late-round pick.

Defensive line

Last offseason was all about this unit from free agency to the draft when the Jaguars took defensive linemen with their first four picks.

Injuries put a dent in the defensive line this season with defensive end Aaron Kampman going down at midseason after tearing his right anterior cruciate ligament. They also lost third-round draft pick D'Anthony Smith to an Achilles tear in training camp. Those guys will be back. Of bigger concern is the fact that the Jaguars took defensive end Derrick Harvey, a former first-round pick, out of the starting lineup, rather than continue to wait for him to realize his potential.

The defensive end rotation grew a little bit thin and the Jaguars could use some help.

Draft urgency: Mid-round pick.

Linebacker

Starters Justin Durant and Kirk Morrison played the final year of their contracts this season, and it's possible the Jaguars will need to replace one or both of them.

The Jaguars acquired Morrison in a draft-day trade last April. The middle linebacker had an admittedly slow start but played better as the season progressed.

Durant won the starting job convincingly over backup Russell Allen, but Durant missed six games due to injury — a high ankle sprain early in the season and a groin injury late in the season. The Jaguars need to add some depth here.

Draft urgency: Mid-round pick.

Defensive back

The defensive backfield was a significant weak spot for the Jaguars this season. They were one of the worst pass defenses and allowed 28 touchdowns through the air — sixth-worst in the NFL.

Gerald Alexander, Reggie Nelson, Sean Considine and Anthony Smith emerged as the leading candidates at safety during training camp.

Eventually, they turned cornerback Don Carey into a safety and promoted Courtney Greene, their best tackling defensive back, at strong safety.

Second-year cornerback Derek Cox had a poor season opener, but after being benched for a few games, he returned to the lineup better than he was in his rookie year.

Eight-year veteran Rashean Mathis, who turns 31 in August, also had a slow start. The franchise's leader in interceptions had only one this season.

The Jaguars need young talent at both safety and cornerback. It's their highest priority.

Draft urgency: First- and/or second-round pick.

Specialists

Special teams were one of the bright spots for the Jaguars this season.

Montell Owens made the Pro Bowl with Kassim Osgood as his first alternate. Karim made some mistakes as a kick returner but showed the potential to break off some long runs. Scotty McGee, a 2010 draft pick, will come off injured reserve and help bolster the unit.

Kicker Josh Scobee started the season 14 of 14, including a 59-yard field goal to beat the Colts, but cooled off later in the season.

Adam Podlesh finished third in the league in net punting.

Draft urgency: No pressing need.

JAGUARS

12TH MAN RESPONDS

In year free of blackouts, Jags change perceptions

By VITO STELLINO
The Times-Union

When running back Maurice Jones-Drew was asked last week what sticks out about the Jaguars season this year, he didn't talk about what the team has done on the field.

"The fan support," said the Jaguars running back. "Obviously, there were no blackouts this year, and that was awesome."

When the Jaguars play their final regular-season home game today against the Washington Redskins, it will mark what is likely to be remembered as a milestone season for the team and its future.

Just a year after all but one home game was blacked out on TV and speculation was rampant that the team was heading for Los Angeles, London or somewhere else, the Jaguars had a remarkable turnaround, avoiding a television blackout for every game this season.

Consequently, the perception of the team has changed.

"The national press is all of sudden recognizing us as an ascending football team," team owner Wayne Weaver, who sent his staff members an e-mail last week congratulating them on their efforts, told the Times-Union this week. "We've got more good national press in the last month [than in a long time], and no chatter about the team moving. That's been great for the franchise, our psyche and certainly great for the city."

How the Jaguars turned it around is a complicated story that started with Mayor John Peyton, who convened a group of civic and business leaders last year to brainstorm ways to help sell tickets.

Another key ingredient was the innovative pricing plans put together by the Jaguars, plans that are now being copied by other teams.

Peyton's efforts led to the founding of Team Teal and the appointment of Tony Boselli as the unpaid commissioner. The tireless efforts of the first player ever drafted by the Jaguars played a key role in improving season ticket sales by 44 percent — they sold 15,000 more than last year. And group sales jumped from 60,000 to 86,000.

"I love the franchise. I love the NFL and love living here in Jacksonville," Boselli said. "It was a big mountain to climb, but it just proved what I believed. There was a disconnect and a need to touch the fans and show why this town loves having a football team."

The team's pricing plans, notably the 30-30 plan in which fans could buy season tickets for just $30 a month for three years, also helped.

"Our strategy was good and the Team Teal and community efforts were just amazing in terms of how the community rallied around that initiative," Weaver said.

Other NFL teams have taken notice.

The Tampa Bay Bucs have started to try some of the Jaguars' ideas, according to a front page story in the Sarasota Herald-Tribune last week. The Bucs' home finale against Seattle is blacked out today, completing a season in which no Tampa Bay home game was shown on TV.

The Bucs now have tickets for as low as $35, $25 for fans age 16 and younger. And they now have a 10-month payment plan.

All the talk about the small-market Jaguars moving also might have helped convince the on-the-fence fans that they needed to support the team to keep it in Jacksonville.

Weaver said the Jaguars have a hard-core fan group of about 40,000 that he believes is as passionate as any fan base in the league. But he said the team needs more of them.

Boselli said the Jaguars were hit by a perfect storm last year with the collapse of the economy at the same time the team was struggling on the field, dropping from 11-5 in 2007 to 5-11 in 2008.

While the economy remains difficult and getting some fans to renew could be a challenge, Boselli said he believes most fans will feel their tickets provided value this year. The Jaguars are 8-6 and still in the playoff hunt, and they have played several close games at home, two decided on the final play. Boselli added that general manager Gene Smith is in the process of building a contending team. Winning always makes tickets easier to sell.

Also helping: The Jaguars struck a multiyear stadium sponsorship deal with EverBank before the season, and Weaver said the team will be going digital on all the video screens at EverBank Field in the next year or two to enhance the fan experience.

Jaguars officials are adamant they will not get complacent, saying they will continue to be innovative in their marketing. Boselli will continue his Team Teal efforts. "Team Teal is not going to end," he said.

Mackey Weaver, the senior vice president/sales and marketing, is already putting together plans for next year. He said season-ticket holders can reserve their tickets for next year with a $50 non-refundable deposit, which will apply to the price of the tickets.

Wayne Weaver was candid in pointing out that avoiding TV blackouts by selling slightly more than 50,000 non-premium tickets doesn't solve all the problems. The Jaguars also have 13,000 premium seats, which account for almost 60 percent of the team's revenue. They need to sell 4,500 to 5,000 that went unsold last year.

"We've really struggled with our premium tickets," he said.

He said only about half of the club seats on the east side are sold, and the cameras are aimed at that side of the field.

"It's an eyesore," Weaver said. "We've got to figure out what is the sweet spot that is going to help sell those seats."

The Jaguars have reduced prices for most club seats and might try to get buyers to share unsold suites.

Overall, though, selling the non-premium seats and lifting the TV blackouts is a positive first step in securing Jacksonville's future in the NFL.

Weaver, who said he hasn't been approached by any representatives of Los Angeles, has said he and wife Delores plan to sell the team at some point in the future, but he hasn't set a timetable to do that.

If the team keeps avoiding the TV blackouts, it might be easier to find a buyer willing to keep the team in Jacksonville.

Weaver said he knows the kind of buyer he wants.

"Someone who shares our vision about the market and has a commitment to the market," he said.
