SHAREHOLDERS

- The Green Bay Packers have been a publicly owned, nonprofit corporation since 1923. They were first organized as the Green Bay Football Corp., and then reorganized in 1935 as Green Bay Packers, Inc.
- A total of 5,011,566 shares are owned by 361,060 stockholders — none of whom receives any dividend on the initial investment.
- The corporation is governed by a board of directors and a seven-member executive committee.
- One of the more remarkable business stories in American history, the team is kept viable by its shareholders — its unselfish fans. Even more incredible, the Packers have survived during the current era, permeated by free agency and the NFL salary cap. And, thanks in large part to Brown County's passage of the 2000 Lambeau Field referendum, the club will remain solvent and highly competitive well into the future due to its redeveloped stadium.
- Fans have supported the team financially on several occasions, including five stock sales: 1923, 1935, 1950, 1997 and 2011.
- To protect against someone taking control of the team, the articles of incorporation prohibit any person from owning more than 200,000 shares.

The team wishes to thank the following for their invaluable help in producing this guide: the entire staff at Elias Sports Bureau (including Seymour Sivoff, Steve Hirdt, Santo Labombarda, Alex Stern, Peter Hirdt, Chris Thorne, Frank Labombarda, John Labombarda, Kevin Hines, Ken Hirdt, Tom Hirdt, Randy Robles, Bob Rosen, Rob Tracy, Bob Waterman, Matt Martingale, Todd Betzag, Sal D'Agostino, John Carson, Chris Slowik, Dan Hollar, Dennis Hirdt, John McCarthy, Ben Rosenberg and Jennifer Giacona); STATS LLC; Brown County Library (Mary Jane Herber); Jostens Corporation (Ken Westland & Bob Skoronski); the NFL communications department (including Randall Liu, Mike Signora and Alex Zerkel); Paul Spinelli; NFL player personnel (Joel Bussert); NFL Films; the Pro Football Hall of Fame (Pete Fierle and Salem Choudhry); the Packers Hall of Fame (Tom Murphy); Z.D. Studios (including Jason Albert); Somerville, Inc. (including Melanie Pateam); CoSIDA and the sports information departments at its member schools; colleagues at other NFL teams; and Press Pass Ink (Shirley Cleereman).

Most of the historical data covering the Packers' first 50 years from 1919 to 1968 was taken from the team's official records; Packers press books and press guides dating to the early 1930s; interviews with former players, staff members and fans dating to the 1920s; the Brown County Library's local history department; and from the pages of the Green Bay Press-Gazette. George Whitney Calhoun, co-founder of the Packers, worked for the paper for 40 years as a telegraph editor, city editor and sports editor and continued to write columns in retirement about Packers history until his death in 1963. For nearly 30 years, from 1919 to 1947, Calhoun also doubled as the Packers' publicist. In addition, he was the team's secretary for nearly 20 years and a member of its board of directors for nearly 35 years.

Additional historical input was derived from the writings of Val Schneider, Art Bystron, John Walter, Art Daley and Lee Rimmel of the Green Bay Press-Gazette and Bud Lea and several others from the Milwaukee Sentinel and The Milwaukee Journal.

The following books also were used as sources: the annual NFL Record & Fact Book, Total Packers, Total Football II, the NFL Encyclopedia and The Packer Legend by John Torinus. Other valuable information was gleaned from Ron Wolf, Eric Goska, John Maxymuk, Rick Gosselin, David Dolan, Guy Hankel, Joe Cronin, and John Karll and family.

PACKERS

IN THE COMMUNITY

GREEN BAY PACKERS GIVE BACK

The Green Bay Packers organization is dedicated to enriching the lives of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan residents by donating time and talents, along with providing diverse community outreach programs. Programs are designed to assist nonprofit organizations, mentor youth, encourage volunteerism and gain an awareness of the unique needs of our communities. We are committed to taking an active role in leading by example to encourage, inspire and build unity within the communities that have consistently supported us for more than 98 years.

Green Bay Packers Give Back is the Packers' all-encompassing community outreach initiative that comprises appearances by players, alumni, coaches and staff, cash and in-kind donations, community events, the Green Bay Packers Foundation, Make-A-Wish visits, youth football outreach and much more. The Green Bay Packers Give Back charity initiative had an impact in excess of $8 million in the past year.

THE GREEN BAY PACKERS MISSION:

To win championships and deliver excellent guest experiences while being guided by our core values. We believe in taking that mission beyond the walls of Lambeau Field and into the community to help make it stronger, healthier, happier and better – for all of us.

COMMUNITY EVENTS

FESTIVAL OF LIGHTS

For the past 11 years, the Packers and Festival Foods have brought the joy of the holidays to all who attend this annual event. Free family-friendly activities include holiday movies and cartoons, card making, music performed by local high school choirs, cookie decorating, photo opportunities with Santa Claus and the tree lighting. Fans also donate toys for Toys for Tots at the event.

PROJECT PLAY 60

Project Play 60, an event held in March in the Lambeau Field Atrium, is designed to get children and families active during the Wisconsin winter. Kids enjoy the fun of inflatables, climbing walls, bungee trampolines, face painting and obstacle courses.

AMERICAN RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVES

On Aug. 30, the community answered the call once again for the "Drive for Five," donating a record-breaking 429 pints of blood to help Lambeau Field blood drives surpass 5,000 pints donated over the past 14 years.

CHRISTIAN OUTREACH ECUMENICAL THANKSGIVING DINNER

The Packers hosted the 2016 event in the Lambeau Field Atrium. A sit-down meal was provided to more than 800 people in need. Beyond the sit-down meal, an additional 1,200 meals were delivered to the homebound.

GREEN BAY PACKERS GIVE BACK CELEBRITY BOWLING EVENT

Packers players, coaches and President/CEO Mark Murphy joined area businesses at Ashwaubenon Bowling Alley in June to raise funds for the NWTCC Student Emergency Fund. $45,000 was raised for this program that is dedicated to offering financial support to students at NWTCC to prevent unforeseen financial barriers from getting in the way of their education.

SPOOKTACULAR

Each October, the Lambeau Field Atrium is transformed into a hauntingly happy Halloween playground. In 2016, the 14th Annual Spooktacular event featured interactive entertainment, including music and variety acts, as well as Halloween-themed crafts and activities.

EMPOWER

This Green Bay Packers leadership event was held at Lambeau Field during two days for 280 Brown County middle-school students (140 boys and 140 girls). The all-day event featured speakers and projects geared at encouraging the students to use their influence to create positive ripples throughout the community.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

PACKERS 5K RUN PRESENTED BY BELLIN HEALTH

2016 marked the seventh annual Packers 5K Run presented by Bellin Health. Nearly 4,900 runners made their way through Lambeau Field and around neighboring streets to raise $11,758, which was donated to the American Red Cross, Volunteer Center of Green Bay and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Northeastern Wisconsin.

BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH RECOGNITION

Each October, Lambeau Field and the team don pink to raise awareness for breast cancer. At the game against the Giants, Zeta Tau Alpha handed out 25,000 complimentary pink ribbons to fans attending the game. The American Cancer Society distributed #PackersVsCancer selfie cards along the fan walkway, encouraging fans to write the name of someone they know who has been affected by cancer and honor them by sharing a selfie with a card.

BROWN COUNTY CHILDREN'S CHARITY GOLF CLASSIC

Since 2004, the Packers and Brown County have collaborated to host this annual event. Packers players were there this year to help raise $58,000 for House of Hope and the Northeast Wisconsin Technical College Educational Foundation.

DELAWARE NORTH SPORTSERVICE CONCESSION-STAND EFFORTS

In 2016, 77 nonprofit groups staffed Lambeau Field's concession stands, each earning a percentage of their stand's net sales. More than $1.2 million was returned to these nonprofit groups for their efforts.

COMMUNITY PARTNERS

Through the support of the Packers, Bon Ton and the Community Partners program, 5,500 high school student-athletes, parents, coaches and administrators in Milwaukee had access to 20 distinct Positive Coaching Alliance workshops during the 2016-17 school year. The workshops provide information, inspiration and tools to teach those involved in sports how to reach their potential as athletes. The Packers Community Partners program helps those in need in southeast Wisconsin through donations, fundraising and volunteerism.

FIRST DOWN FOR TREES

Each regular season, the Packers donate one tree for every first down earned, with 490 trees planted this year. Since the program began in 2010, more than 3,600 trees have been planted, which provide total lifetime benefits of $18.3 million to the community. The program is possible through the partnership between the Packers, SCA and Green Bay Packaging, with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources and Wisconsin Public Service providing administrative support.

HIGH SCHOOL QUARTERBACK CHALLENGE PRESENTED BY HP AND CAMERA CORNER

In its second year, the contest included an on-field passing competition between two Wisconsin high schools during halftime of each home game to see who would take home a $500 donation from HP and Camera Corner for their school.

FAMILY NIGHT PRESENTED BY BELLIN HEALTH

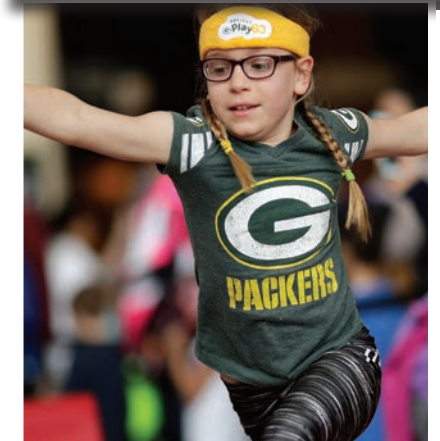

Family Night has become a highly anticipated event at the beginning of every season, with 66,000 fans in attendance in 2016. Not only is Family Night an opportunity for young fans to experience the awe of Lambeau Field, but the 2016 event recognized 1,000 families, staff members and volunteers from March of Dimes. Parking proceeds benefited Wendy's Wonderful Kids foster-care adoption program.

HISPANIC HERITAGE LEADERSHIP AWARD

In October, Griselda Aldrete, president and CEO of Hispanic Professionals of Greater Milwaukee, was honored with the Hispanic Heritage Leadership Award. In partnership with the NFL, the Packers proudly recognize Hispanic leaders who impact the community with this award each year. Aldrete was awarded a $2,000 check from the Hispanic Heritage Foundation for her organization.

HOPELINE® PROGRAM

The Packers joined Verizon Wireless to power the HopeLine® Program at Lambeau Field, which collects no-longer-used cell phones and accessories and refurbishes them for survivors of domestic violence. The cell-phone drive was held throughout the season, and fans were invited to donate to a large-scale collection at an October home game. Through the program, Verizon awarded a $50,000 grant to End Domestic Abuse WI for their Statewide Teen Dating Violence and Healthy Relationships Project.

GREEN AND GOLD GALA

Family Services of Northeast Wisconsin, in partnership with the Green Bay Packers, held its 28th annual Green and Gold Gala at Lambeau Field in 2016. TRAINING CAMP

People come from all over the world to experience Green Bay Packers training camp. Fifteen practices in 2016 were open to the public and free of charge. The estimated number of training camp watchers, known as “railbirds,” was 37,000. Just as exciting as watching a practice is experiencing the storied “riding of the bikes” tradition. Since the Lombardi era, Packers players ride young fans’ bikes, while they jog alongside, from the locker room to the practice field. This year, kids from the Boys & Girls Club of Greater Green Bay were able to participate in this tradition by riding American Family DreamDrive bicycles with players.

TAILGATE TOUR

The 11th annual Tailgate Tour brought Packers players and alumni together with Wisconsin communities in June. Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy, players Jared Abbrederis, Sam Barrington and Jayrone Elliott and alumni LeRoy Butler, Robert Brooks and Sean Jones spent the week connecting with fans on the tour. Their efforts helped raise $205,000 at the tailgate parties hosted by nonprofit organizations in Ripon, Fort Atkinson, Dodgeville, Black River Falls and Shawano, bringing the total raised since the tour’s inception to more than $1.9 million.

GIVING

DONATIONS

With more than 12,000 donation requests annually, supporting the fundraising efforts of organizations across Wisconsin continues to be the Packers’ leading outreach effort. A variety of items were donated in 2016, raising more than $3 million to assist with helping those in need. Separate cash donations to nonprofit organizations exceeded $5 million during this same time period, and 100 percent of Wisconsin’s counties received in-kind donations.

Those interested in requesting a donation to benefit a nonprofit organization in Wisconsin must apply online at www.packers.com/community/donations.html

GREEN BAY PACKERS FOUNDATION

The Green Bay Packers Foundation in 2016 awarded $800,000 to 316 civic and charitable groups throughout Wisconsin. Combined with two $250,000 impact grants, one awarded to the Jackie Nitschke Center in Green Bay and one awarded to St. Norbert College in De Pere, $1.3 million was granted through the Foundation in 2016. During this annual grant-cycle disbursement, 69 percent of Wisconsin’s counties received at least one grant from the Foundation.

Nonprofit organizations located in Wisconsin interested in applying for a grant can apply online March 1 through July 1 at www.packers.com/community/packers-foundation.html

BISHOP’S CHARITIES GAME

Bishop Ricken of the Diocese of Green Bay greeted fans attending the preseason game against the Raiders, continuing a 56-year tradition of the Bishop’s Charities Game. Following the game, the Packers made their annual donation to the diocese, adding to the more than $3.7 million donated since 1960.

MIDWEST SHRINE GAME

Designating one preseason game as the Midwest Shrine game has been an annual tradition since 1950. Following the game, a donation was made to the Midwest Shrine’s burn center and hospitals, adding to the more than $3.5 million donated over the last 66 years. Janine Brass, a former patient of the Shrine Hospital, sang the national anthem prior to the Packers-Browns game.

MY CAUSE MY CLEATS

Packers players took advantage of a leaguewide opportunity to wear custom cleats that reflect their commitment to charitable causes. Davante Adams' cleats showed his support of AIDS Awareness, while Ha Ha Clinton-Dix's cleats promoted Ha Ha's HERO Foundation. Clay Matthews' cleats reflected his support of Cure Duchenne and Aaron Rodgers' cleats displayed his support for the MACC Fund.

SCHOLARSHIPS

The Green Bay Packers Foundation, along with Scholarships, Inc. and Northeast Wisconsin Technical College, awarded 54 scholarships totaling $53,000 to students who are residents of Brown County and meet the scholarship criteria. The Packers proudly fly United States flags over Lambeau Field in dedication to the men and women who have made a commitment to serve their country. The team often receives requests from military personnel as they prepare for retirement, and the Packers have flown over 40 flags at Lambeau Field in the last year to honor military retirements.

OPERATION FAN MAIL

At each home game, the Packers and WPS Health Solutions honor an active-duty serviceman or servicewoman and his/her family through Operation Fan Mail. Since its debut in 2007, 99 military families have been recognized and provided with complimentary tickets to the game at which they are honored.

4TH HOOAH'S "OPERATION COLD SNAP" PROGRAM

For local veterans organization 4th HOOAH (Helping Out Our American Heroes), making sure veterans in Wisconsin have a properly working furnace is a top priority. Their program, Operation Cold Snap, works to replace or repair furnaces at no cost for veterans in need. This year, the Packers joined 4th HOOAH with assistance from an NFL Foundation grant, the 2016 Salute to Service Team Program Grant. The grant allowed 4th HOOAH to install a new furnace at the home of Erin Mendoza, a U.S. Air Force veteran and mother of three, who wondered if her furnace was going to make it through the winter.

The award is the only one in the league that recognizes a player's off-the-field community service as well as his on-the-field performance. The Packers' 2016 nominee was linebacker Jayrone Elliott. He was recognized for his continual investment of time and talents outside of football in the community that included speaking to young people at local schools and youth programs in Wisconsin, Arizona and his native Ohio.

ALUMNI

With several special alumni homecomings throughout the year, 2016 was highlighted by a four-day celebration honoring alumni from various decades. Many alumni who were part of the Super Bowl XXXI team were also recognized at various home games throughout the season.

GREEN BAY POLICE FOUNDATION

Head Coach Mike McCarthy and the Packers partnered to each make a $100,000 donation to the Green Bay Police Foundation. The donations are matching grants, requiring the Green Bay Police Foundation to raise an additional $200,000 in order to secure the donations directed to support the Foundation's efforts to build and enhance relationships between the police and the community.

APPEARANCES

Members of the organization, players, coaches, staff and alumni are committed to supporting the community through appearances at local nonprofit fundraisers, school visits, athletic banquets and many other events and programs.

The team, made up of 13- and 14-year-old boys and coached by Bobby Diaz, competed with 63 teams from across the country with support from the Club Matching Youth Football Grant.

GREEN BAY PACKERS FOUNDATION

The Green Bay Packers organization has enjoyed tremendous fan support throughout its long and storied history. The community supported the team in times of need by "passing the hat" at games and by buying stock in 1923, 1935, 1950, 1997 and 2011, among other ways. To give back to the community, the team created the Green Bay Packers Foundation in December 1986. The foundation assists in a wide variety of activities and programs that benefit education, civic affairs, health services, human services and youth-related programs.

Last year, in its annual distribution of funds, the foundation awarded $800,000 to 316 civic and charitable groups throughout the state of Wisconsin, Terry Fulwiler, chairman of the foundation committee, announced Dec. 6, 2016. The foundation now has distributed more than $7.2 million for charitable purposes since it was established in 1986 by Judge Robert J. Paris, then president of the Packers Corporation, "as a vehicle to assure continued contributions to charity."

Of the foundation's contributions, 63 grants – aggregating $172,100 – were awarded to Brown County organizations. Additional grants, totaling $627,900, were made to 253 other groups around the state.

Under the Packers Scholarship Program, established in 2002, $53,000 was awarded – $26,500 to Scholarships, Inc., for distribution to students in four-year colleges, and $26,500 to Northeast Wisconsin Technical College (NWTC) for distribution to students in two-year associate-degree or apprenticeship-trades programs.

PACKERS

ADMINISTRATION & COACHES

MARK MURPHY

PRESIDENT & CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Mark Murphy, possessor of extensive experience in professional football and sports administration, is in his 10th year as the Packers' President and CEO.

Under Murphy's guidance, the organization continues to rank as one of the NFL's premier franchises, with highly successful operations both on and off the field. On the field, the team has compiled a 102-57-1 overall record (.641), made eight consecutive playoff trips and earned a victory in Super Bowl XLV. Off the field, the club continues to perform well in its business efforts, which allows the organization to support football operations. The fan experience at Lambeau Field, a top priority for the organization, continues to be ranked among the best in sports.

It was a direction both Murphy and the organization envisioned when Murphy was elected by the Packers' Board of Directors as the franchise's 10th Chief Executive Officer on Dec. 3, 2007. He began his work with the organization as president-elect on Jan. 1, 2008, and then formally took over on Jan. 28, 2008.

"I am honored to have been selected and very appreciative of this tremendous opportunity," Murphy said the day of his election. "The Packers are one of the great franchises in all of professional sports, with a rich history and incredible fan support. These are successful times for the Packers. On the field they're performing well, and off the field, they're in great shape, too. I look forward to being a part of that continued success."

Murphy, who holds a law degree and an MBA in finance, brought a unique and highly qualified background to his role as head of one of the NFL's flagship franchises, first drawing from a deep understanding and appreciation of the game that comes from an eight-year playing career with the Washington Redskins. Later, he served a combined 16 years as director of athletics at Colgate University and Northwestern University, and was an assistant executive director of the NFL Players Association and a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice.

In addition to his playing career and work with the NFL Players Association, Murphy had maintained his ties to the NFL through his work on the Commissioner's Player Advisory Committee (1994-2002) as well as the NFL Youth Football Committee (2002-2011). Additionally, his NFL experience includes Super Bowl wins as a player (XVII, 1982) and as a CEO (XLV, 2010), believed to be the first such achievement in league history.

NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell, recognizing the unique experience and skills Murphy brought to the NFL as the Packers' CEO, in 2008 appointed him to the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee, the NFL owners' committee whose responsibility was to serve as the bargaining team during negotiations with the NFL Players Association which resulted in a new, 10-year Collective Bargaining Agreement in 2011. The position has allowed Murphy to increase his involvement and contributions at the league level, ensuring the organization has a voice in NFL matters.

"Mark's rare blend of experiences makes him integral to the future of the Packers and the NFL," said Goodell when appointing Murphy. "His accomplishments as an NFL player, his work with the NFLPA, and now his leadership of the Packers, provide a unique perspective to the league and also to the players. He's very effective in discussions with NFLPA executives. Mark is a bright and thoughtful individual who understands what needs to get done to create a system that benefits all sides for years to come. He is very reasonable and wants what's best for fans, the game and players, as we all do."

In 2012, Goodell added to Murphy's NFL-level involvement by naming him to the important Competition Committee, the group composed of team executives and coaches that studies all aspects of the game and recommends rules and policy changes to NFL clubs. Goodell also placed Murphy on the NFL owners' Health and Safety Committee and the College Relations Committee.

Upon joining the Packers, Murphy broadened his knowledge of the franchise, its operations and its standing in the community by meeting with employees, shareholders, fans and members of the Board of Directors, as well as many community groups.

Among his first initiatives was to update the organization's strategic plan, a process involving all the leadership positions of the organization, including the Executive Committee and football operations. The process created core objectives to serve as a backdrop for all key business decisions. In a move to enhance those objectives, Murphy restructured the management of the organization, which included creating a new senior-leadership staff overseeing administration and finance, football operations, human resources, legal, marketing and fan engagement, and sales and corporate partnerships. The structure reflects the growth the organization has experienced in recent years and gives broader coverage across all operations with more people involved on a senior-management level.

Murphy also is directing the organization's master plan involving Lambeau Field, the Lambeau Field Atrium, the practice facilities, and property the organization owns adjacent to the stadium. Lambeau Field and the Atrium recently underwent a $312 million, five-year expansion and renovation that included a new distributed-audio sound system (2011), two new HD video boards and the new Bellin Health Gate on the north end of the stadium (2012), 7,000 additional seats in the south end zone served by the Shopko Gate (2013), a larger Oneida Nation Gate and new football facilities (2013), the American Family Insurance Gate, a redeveloped Harlan Plaza and new Packers Pro Shop (2014), and a new Packers Hall of Fame and restaurant, 1919 Kitchen & Tap (2015). Additionally, a two-year, $55 million project to renovate Lambeau Field's suites and club seats was completed in 2017.

To support the Lambeau Field project, Murphy directed the Packers' fifth stock sale, an effort that netted the organization more than $64 million. More than 268,000 shares were sold during the offering, from Dec. 6, 2011, through Feb. 29, 2012, with more than 250,000 new shareholders joining the Packers' ownership. All stadium improvements were financed without public tax money.

In 2015, the Packers announced plans for Tittletown, a nearly 45-acre mixed-used real estate development west of Lambeau Field, with the first phase including an engaging public plaza. The development is building upon the success of the renovated Lambeau Field and complements the vibrant business and hospitality clusters in the area that have experienced enhancement in recent years. Tittletown should become a destination for visitors and residents alike. In 2017, Lodge Kohler, a four-diamond hotel; a Bellin Health Sports Medicine and Orthopedics Clinic; and Hinterland Restaurant and Brewery opened during the summer. Portions of the park and plaza are slated to come online as well in 2017, including a unique tubing hill and ice-skating rink and trail. Planning is underway for additional phases, including a residential component.

Among the other initiatives Murphy has directed is the enhancement of the organization's retail operations, including the purchase of a new warehouse for the Packers Pro Shop and the establishment of a customer relationship management (CRM) program, with both efforts upgrading customer service to Packers fans.

Murphy also has worked to increase the number of outside events utilizing Lambeau Field, including Kenny Chesney concerts in 2011 and 2015, and LZ Lambeau in May 2010, a welcome back for Wisconsin Vietnam veterans. In September 2016, the Lambeau Field College Classic, presented by Carmex, saw the LSU Tigers play the Wisconsin Badgers, the stadium's first college football game since 1981. Additionally in the community, Murphy has ensured the organization remains a strong community partner, with a charity impact of approximately $8 million in the past year.

Inside the organization, Murphy continues to grow and develop the team's human resources, with new programs for employees such as leadership development.

The 62-year-old Murphy joined the Packers after 4½ years (2003-07) as director of athletics at Northwestern University. At the Big Ten Conference school, Murphy oversaw a 19-sport program with a $40 million budget and 160 full-time employees. During his tenure, the school won eight individual national championships and three NCAA team titles. Additionally, the university won nine conference team championships and 34 individual Big Ten titles. A total of 49 Wildcats earned first-team All-America distinction. On the football field, the Wildcats participated in two bowl games during Murphy's tenure after playing in just four previous such contests in the program's history. In 2006-07, Northwestern finished 30th in the U.S. Sports Academy Directors' Cup standings with a school-best 626.5 points. The Wildcats ranked among the top 30 in the standings for the last three years of Murphy's tenure and in 2007 finished sixth among Big Ten schools for the third straight year after previously not placing higher than ninth.

The school's athletic success under Murphy was achieved while its student-athletes continued to excel off the field. The NCAA Graduation Success Rate (GSR) data released in October 2007 reported Northwestern's rate at 98 percent, tying it with Notre Dame and Navy for No. 1 in the nation.

Prior to his tenure at Northwestern, Murphy served as director of athletics at Colgate University in Hamilton, N.Y. (1992-2003), the school from which he graduated in 1977. During his 11 years at the helm, the university experienced a renaissance of its football program, going from 0-11 in 1995 to three consecutive appearances in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. In 2003, the year after Murphy's departure to Northwestern, the team made it to the championship game; the achievement of that squad – a non-scholarship program – remains one of Murphy's proudest moments.

Colgate's other teams experienced success as well, with men's basketball, women's soccer, women's volleyball, women's softball and men's ice hockey teams making NCAA tournament appearances. The school also achieved graduation rates among the highest for student-athletes in Division

THE GREEN BAY PACKERS ORGANIZATION

LAMBEAU FIELD RANKED NO. 1 GAMEDAY EXPERIENCE:

In a November 2007 Sports Illustrated poll on SI.com rating the gameday atmosphere for each NFL team, the experience of seeing the Green Bay Packers at Lambeau Field ranked first.

Lambeau Field topped the rankings for a second consecutive season in 2008, according to the SI.com poll. It was the only stadium to achieve a top-five ranking in each of the five categories: affordability & food, tailgating, team quality, atmosphere and accessibility.

"For all the glitz and money the NFL exudes nowadays," the poll summarized, "football's heart is still on that 'frozen tundra,' where tough guys grapple with each other while fans warm themselves on cold bleachers with hot chocolate and full-throated cheering. And that is still the essence of Lambeau."

More recently, in an October 2015 USA Today rankings list, the publication named Lambeau Field the No. 1 NFL stadium, calling it "the NFL's only historic gem, the only one that would appear on a sports bucket list." Sporting News, in August 2015, also rated Lambeau Field as the top NFL stadium, with rankings taking into account fan amenities such as seating, concessions, technology, tailgating and other key factors that affect the gameday experience. FoxSports.com in 2017 also named Lambeau Field the best stadium in the NFL, describing it as "the undisputed king of NFL stadiums."

NO. 1 ACROSS ALL OF SPORTS: Each year since 2003, ESPN The Magazine has ranked all 122 franchises in the four major sports based on eight major categories: bang for the buck, ownership, stadium experience, on-field leadership, fan relations, affordability, players' effort and likability, and championships won/expected to win. The Packers finished first in the inaugural rankings in 2003 and also in June 2011, joining the NBA's San Antonio Spurs (2004, 2006, 2015) as the only team to have garnered the distinction more than once. The franchise also placed in the top 10 in 2004 (third), '05 (eighth), '08 (fourth), '10 (ninth), '12 (second), '13 (fifth), '14 (eighth), '15 (sixth) and '16 (fourth), and is one of only two teams to rank in the top 10 every year since 2010. Lambeau Field has ranked as the top NFL venue in nine of the 14 rankings and landed in the top overall spot across all sports six times.

MOST POPULAR FRANCHISES: In March 2009, the NFL and ESPN Sports Poll released a study in which it aimed to determine the nation's most popular individual pro sports franchises across all sports. The Dallas Cowboys and Green Bay Packers, always among the top vote-getters in the annual Harris Interactive Poll determining America's favorite football team, finished Nos. 1 and 2 across all franchises. NFL teams held six of the top 10 spots in the poll.

In fact, in the most recent Harris Polls determining America's favorite football team, the Packers have been ranked in the top three each year.

I during Murphy's tenure. A proud alum, Murphy had the honor of delivering the address for the university's 2012 graduation ceremony.

A former All-Pro safety for the Washington Redskins, Murphy enjoyed an eight-year career (1977-84) after originally signing with the team as an undrafted free agent in 1977. He was a co-captain from 1980-84, a period that included two Super Bowl teams (1982-83). He enjoyed his finest season in 1983, leading the NFL with nine interceptions and earning consensus All-Pro honors as well as a trip to the Pro Bowl. Murphy was named as one of the Redskins' "70 Greatest Players," as well as one of the "80 Greatest Redskins," and also is a member of the club's 50th Anniversary Team.

Joe Gibbs, the Hall of Fame former coach of the Redskins who led the team during Murphy's 1981-84 seasons, was appreciative of the player's contributions and lauded the Packers' hiring of Murphy.

"Mark meant a lot to the Redskins organization the years he was here and played," Gibbs said. "He was a great person along with being one of the brightest and most competitive people we've had here at the Redskins."

Gibbs had an influence on Murphy as well, as the Packers' CEO attributes much of his leadership style to what he learned from the successful Redskins coach.

"He had many leadership traits that I admired and tried to incorporate into my own leadership style," said Murphy. "He had a very natural way about him with the way he related to people, and he tried to be accessible. He was a very effective communicator, too, as most great leaders are. And when he worked with you, he was very fair and sincere. All those skills and traits fueled his awesome ability to motivate his teams."

A natural leader among his teammates, Murphy served as the Redskins' player representative to the NFL Players Association from 1980-84, including the position of vice president of the players union (1983-84). While a representative, he served on the players' bargaining committee during the 1982 players' strike. Those experiences have served him well in his role on the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee.

During his days with the Redskins, Murphy earned an MBA in finance from American University in Washington, D.C., attending classes full-time in the offseason and evening classes in-season. Upon completion of his playing career in 1985, he joined the NFL Players Association as assistant executive director. While with the NFLPA, Murphy served on the bargaining team, including during the 1987 players' strike, developed the agent-certification system and strengthened the PA's degree-completion and career-counseling programs.

While with the NFLPA, he started work on a law degree from Georgetown University and ultimately finished his studies full time after leaving the Players Association. Upon receiving his law degree in 1988, he worked at a Washington, D.C., law firm (Bredhoff and Kaiser) before becoming a trial attorney with the U.S. Department of Justice in 1989.

During a four-year career with the Department of Justice, he primarily represented government agencies in trials. Then, in 1992, his alma mater called and he returned to the sports realm.

At ease in public settings and with the media, Murphy enjoyed hosting a weekly radio show during his playing days and later became a sports commentator for National Public Radio (1983-92) and the Anheuser-Busch Radio Network (1986-88), offering his insights into football and sports-related legal issues in general.

Born July 13, 1955, in Fulton, N.Y., Murphy spent some of his formative years in the Houston area before moving back to the Buffalo-area community of Clarence. He was a three-sport star (football, baseball and basketball) at Clarence Central High School and was named the best all-around athlete in Western New York during his senior year. His baseball talents drew attention from major-league scouts. In 2002, he was inducted into the Greater Buffalo Sports Hall of Fame in recognition of his achievements both on and off the field. In February 2016, Murphy returned to Clarence Central High School to present a golden football as part of the NFL's 50th Super Bowl celebration.

Murphy and his wife, Laurie, who also is a Colgate graduate, have been involved in the communities in which they've lived. Over the years, the couple has donated their time to numerous organizations, including local schools, the United Methodist Church in Hamilton, N.Y., and the First Congregational Church of Evanston, Ill. Also, while in Chicago, Murphy served on the bid committee for the 2016 Olympics, which eventually were awarded to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. While at Colgate University, Murphy formed the Hamilton Youth Basketball League and served as its commissioner. Heavily involved in the community while with the Redskins, Murphy was named the team's "Miller Man of the Year" in 1984 in honor of his work off the field.

In Green Bay, Murphy continues a busy schedule of meeting with fans and shareholders, as well as speaking to a variety of business and community groups. He also has given his time to several community organizations to help their causes, including Big Brothers Big Sisters. Murphy also serves on University of Wisconsin-Green Bay's council of trustees and co-chaired the school's most recent capital campaign. Additionally, Murphy serves on the advisory board of the Positive Coaching Alliance, an organization created to transform the culture of youth sports to give all young athletes the opportunity for a positive, character-building experience, as well as on USA Football's board of directors.

Mark and Laurie are active supporters of foster-care services in Brown County and have had the pleasure of serving as foster parents in the community. Laurie recently helped establish the JAS (Journey to Adult Success) House in downtown Green Bay for teenagers who age out of foster care. She is also involved in a number of national and local organizations whose missions support hunger relief, as well as housing and education for underserved populations. In addition, Laurie established "Ladies of Lambeau," an inclusive group of women who are associated with the Green Bay Packers. The group hosts an annual hands-on event at Lambeau Field which benefits a variety of nonprofit organizations.

Mark and Laurie have four children: Katie, 34, a graduate of Harvard who played basketball for the Crimson and lives in Chicago with her husband, Eugene Kornel, and son, Richard, and works at Credit Suisse; Emily, 32, a 2008 graduate of Middlebury (Vt.) College with a degree in Chinese who lives with her husband, Robert Kraynak, and daughter, Louise, in Ann Arbor, Mich., where Emily and Robert both attend graduate school at the University of Michigan; Brian, 28, a graduate of Amherst (Mass.) College who played football for the Lord Jeffs and now lives in Austin, Texas, where he is in business school at the University of Texas; and Anna, 26, a graduate of Northwestern University who now works for Korn Ferry in New York City.

Away from work, Mark enjoys playing golf, fishing and participating in various forms of exercise, including bicycling, cross-country skiing and jogging.

TED THOMPSON

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, GENERAL MANAGER
& DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

agency playing a complementary role in addressing specific needs.

Now 12-plus years into his tenure as Executive Vice President, General Manager and Director of Football Operations, Thompson's philosophy was validated in 2010 with a win in Super Bowl XLV over the Pittsburgh Steelers, Green Bay's fourth Super Bowl title and 13th world championship.

A look at the Packers' roster for Super Bowl XLV indicates a team truly built by Thompson. Nineteen of 22 starters and 49 of 53 players on the roster were acquired by Thompson via the draft, free agency, trades or the waiver wire during his time in Green Bay.

Thompson's approach was reaffirmed the past six seasons (2011-16) as Green Bay added to one of its most successful stretches in team history. The Packers finished with a franchise-best 15 regular-season wins in 2011 while also capturing five division titles in six seasons, including four consecutive from 2011-14. It marked the first time since the league went to a divisional format in 1967 that Green Bay won four straight division titles, making the Packers the only NFC team to win its division each of those four seasons and one of only three teams in the NFL to do so over that span (Denver, New England). The 2016 season also marked the Packers' franchise-record eighth straight playoff appearance and ninth in the last 10 seasons, making them the only NFC team to accomplish those feats. Green Bay's streak of eight straight postseason berths is tied for No. 3 in NFL history behind only team teams with nine.

The Packers' success under Thompson has been due, in part, to the immediate contribution of Thompson's draft picks and undrafted free agents. Overall, the Packers rank No. 3 in games played by rookies (1,434) since 2005. Also, 29 rookie free agents have made the opening-day roster under Thompson, with 22 undrafted rookies making the Week 1 roster in the past seven seasons (2010-16), third most in the NFL over that span.

The seven-man 2016 draft class was a productive presence throughout the season, playing in 87 of a possible 112 total games. First-round pick DT Kenny Clark out of UCLA saw his impact and playtime steadily increase during the course of the season as he appeared in all 16 games, finishing No. 3 on the defensive line with 33 tackles and leading the team with five QB pressures in the postseason. LB Kyler Fackrell, a third-round selection from Utah State, was tied for second on the team with nine special teams tackles, while fourth-round pick LB Blake Martinez of Stanford ranked fifth on the team with 62 tackles and started nine games.

Three of Thompson's draft selections made their first Pro Bowl for the Packers in 2016: T David Bakhtiari, S Ha Ha Clinton-Dix and G T.J. Lang, who were joined by QB Aaron Rodgers. For Rodgers, Thompson's first draft pick as Green Bay's GM in 2005, it marked his sixth career selection.

Combining the drafts he has run in Seattle and Green Bay, 30 of Thompson's selections have earned Pro Bowl, All-Pro or All-Rookie honors, and since Thompson joined Green Bay in 2005, the Packers have drafted 14 players who have made at least one Pro Bowl appearance, No. 3 in the NFL over that span.

Highlighting the 2015 draft class were first-round selection CB Damarious Randall of Arizona State and second-

- Of the 53 players on Green Bay's Super Bowl XLV championship roster, 49 of them had been acquired by Thompson since 2005.
- The 2016 season marked the Packers' franchise-record eighth straight playoff appearance (2009-16), tied for the third longest streak in league history behind only two teams with nine. Additionally, the Packers are 87-40-1 (.684) since 2009, No. 2 to only New England (99-29, .773) over that span.

- Named NFL Executive of the Year in 2007 and 2011 by Sporting News in a vote of his peers.
- The 2013 season was the first of Thompson's Green Bay tenure in which every player on the roster was acquired by him.
- Since 2005, the Packers rank third in games played by rookies (1,434). Also, 29 rookie free agents have made the opening-day roster under Thompson, with 22 undrafted rookies making the Week 1 roster in the past seven seasons (2010-16), third most in the NFL over that span.
- Named to his position on Jan. 14, 2005, his second stint with the organization. Earlier served eight years with the Packers (1992-99) – as assistant director of pro personnel (1992), director of pro personnel (1993-96) and director of player personnel (1997-99).

round selection CB Quinten Rollins of Miami (Ohio). Randall was named the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Month for November and appeared in 15 games with nine starts in 2015, totaling 59 tackles and three interceptions, including one returned for a touchdown. His three interceptions tied for the team lead and ranked tied for second among all NFL rookies. Rollins posted two interceptions, tied for fourth among NFL rookies, in 14 games with four starts. Green Bay also received contributions from its fourth-round selection, LB Jake Ryan. Ryan proved his mettle in 14 games with five starts, tallying 47 tackles, a fumble recovery and six special teams tackles.

The 2015 season also saw five Packers named to the Pro Bowl in FB John Kuhn, LB Clay Matthews, LB Julius Peppers, Rodgers and G Josh Sitton. A first-round choice by Thompson in 2009, Matthews was making his sixth appearance in the Pro Bowl, and first at inside linebacker. In 2012, he became the first Packer to earn Pro Bowl recognition in each of his first four seasons (2009-12) in the NFL.

The 2014 class saw first-round selection Clinton-Dix of Alabama and fifth-round selection C Corey Linsley of Ohio State earn PFWA All-Rookie Team honors after both appeared in all 16 games with a combined 26 starts. Second-round selection WR Davante Adams of Fresno State and third-round pick TE Richard Rodgers of California also had an impact, ranking third and sixth on the team, respectively, in receiving yards.

The 2014 season also saw seven Packers named to the Pro Bowl: WR Randall Cobb, Kuhn, Matthews, WR Jordy Nelson, Rodgers, CB Sam Shields and Sitton. It marked the first appearances for Cobb, Nelson and Shields in the annual all-star game. Rodgers was also named NFL Most Valuable Player by The Associated Press for the second time in his career (also 2011) to go along with his MVP honors for Super Bowl XLV.

The 2013 draft class had a similar immediate impact on the Packers' success. Second-round pick RB Eddie Lacy was named NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year and second-team All-Pro by AP, NFL Rookie of the Year by the PFWA, and was selected to the Pro Bowl. Lacy finished the season with 1,178 rushing yards, the most in franchise history by a rookie. Lacy followed up his rookie campaign with 1,139 rushing yards in 2014 to become the fifth player in franchise history to record back-to-back 1,000-yard rushing seasons. The 2013 draft also produced Bakhtiari (fourth round), the only rookie in the NFL to start at the all-important left tackle position in every game during the 2013 season.

Despite coming off a world championship in 2010 and featuring one of the deepest rosters in the league, the Packers received consistent contributions from Thompson's 2011 draft class in their rookie seasons. Second-round pick Cobb finished the season ranked No. 2 in the NFL (No. 1 among rookies) with a 27.7-yard kickoff return average and No. 7 in the league (No. 2 among rookies) with an 11.3-yard punt return average. Cobb continued to excel in 2012, setting a franchise record with a league-leading 2,342 combined net yards. Additionally, Cobb became the first player in NFL history to post 900-plus receiving yards (959) and 900-plus kickoff return yards (964) in the same season.

The combined achievements authored by the 2010 and 2011 teams assembled by Thompson have a prominent place in Packers and NFL history. Covering a span of 364 days, Green Bay won 19 consecutive games (including postseason) over the two seasons. The 19-game winning streak began in Week 16 of 2010 and lasted until Green Bay suffered its lone regular-season defeat at Kansas City in Week 15 of the 2011 season. The streak was the longest in franchise history and was the second-longest winning streak in NFL history (including playoffs) behind only the 2003-04 New England Patriots (21 games). Perhaps most impressively, the Packers never trailed in the fourth quarter during their 19-game winning streak.

Seven of Thompson's players were selected to the Pro Bowl following the 2011 campaign, the most the Packers had voted to the all-star game since 1967. The selections included WR Greg Jennings, Kuhn, Matthews, NT B.J. Raji, Rodgers, C Scott Wells and CB Charles Woodson. Six of the selections were acquired by Thompson as Jennings, Matthews, Raji and Rodgers were draft picks while Kuhn was claimed off waivers and Woodson was signed as a free agent. It was the fourth straight Pro Bowl selection for Woodson, the NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 2009 who was signed by Thompson in 2006.

In 2010, the Packers posted a 10-6 mark and qualified for the postseason for the third time under Thompson. Winners of three straight playoff games on the road, Green Bay became just the second No. 6 seed (2005 Steelers) to win a Super Bowl since the NFL went to a 12-team playoff format in 1990.

The Packers featured eight Pro Bowl selections in 2010, with five of the players being voted to the initial squad. Four of the eight players were draft picks of Thompson's and two more were signed as free agents.

What made the Packers' championship season in 2010 even more notable was the adversity the team faced due to injuries. Green Bay finished the year with 15 players on injured reserve, and eight of them had started at least one game on the season. Six starters from the opening-day depth chart sustained season-ending injuries in the first seven games.

Because of those injuries, the roster depth that Thompson had built during his tenure came to the fore. Rookies such as T Bryan Bulaga, a first-round draft pick in 2010, and Shields and LB Frank Zombo, both undrafted free agents in '10, were called upon to step into prominent roles. A pair of fourth-year players, LB Desmond Bishop and S Charlie Peprah, moved into the starting lineup and became key cogs on defense after contributing primarily on special teams earlier in their careers. RB James Starks, a sixth-round pick in 2010 who was limited to just three games during the regular season because of an injury, led the NFL with 315 rushing yards in the postseason, third most in league history by a rookie RB in the playoffs.

The Packers' Super Bowl XLV team was a direct reflection of the philosophy that Thompson has held true to throughout his Green Bay tenure, one that should put the franchise in good position to contend for championships on an annual basis. Since taking over as GM, Thompson has focused on rebuilding and improving the bulk of the roster, mostly through the draft.

In his first four drafts from 2005-08, Thompson utilized 14 trades, all but one of them down, to turn 31 picks into 43 selections, plus an extra choice in '09. In 2009-10, however, his trades went in the other direction as the improved roster core allowed him to focus less on the overall quantity of picks. Those two years, Thompson traded up for specific players he had targeted in certain rounds.

In 2009, after selecting Raji out of Boston College with the No. 9 overall selection in the first round, Thompson traded a second-round pick and two third-round selections – Nos. 41, 73 and 83 overall – to New England to get another crack at a first-round talent. He moved up 15 spots to No. 26 overall and nabbed Matthews out of Southern California, while also receiving a 2009 fifth-round pick in return from the Patriots.

Just like that, not only did Thompson give the Packers two first-round draft choices for the first time in 16 years, he added highly touted prospects at the two linchpin positions in the 3-4 defense – a middle anchor and an outside pass rusher.

Thompson followed in the footsteps of his mentor, Ron Wolf, in becoming Green Bay's GM, and following the 2007 season he joined Wolf in becoming the only people in the history of the organization to be recognized as the best in their field in a vote of their peers as the NFL Executive of the Year by Sporting News. He further cemented his reputation in the NFL by winning the award for a second time following the Packers' record-setting 2011 season.

Preceding his first award, Thompson left an undeniable stamp on Green Bay's successful 2007 season. In just his third campaign as GM, he assembled a roster that was the youngest yet one of the most talented in the NFL, and the Packers went 13-3, won the NFC North Division title, and advanced to the NFC Championship Game for the first time in a decade.

"I'm honored to receive this award on behalf of the Green Bay Packers," the humble Thompson said. "We view this as a team honor and feel the coaches, players and staff should all be very proud of the job they've done in helping this franchise succeed."

The prestigious award acknowledged Thompson for his diligence and success as the team came within an overtime field goal of advancing to the Super Bowl. But it also served as recognition for Thompson's overall body of work since taking his current position in 2005.

One of the biggest additions to the playoff-bound team came from a key trade. Thompson acquired RB Ryan Grant from the New York Giants at the end of training camp for a sixth-round draft choice, adding the former Notre Dame standout to a crowded but banged-up backfield.

Grant eventually took over as the feature back midway through the season and proceeded to rush for nearly 1,000 yards, adding 201 yards and three TDs in the NFC Divisional playoff victory over Seattle, both Green Bay postseason records. He went on to add back-to-back 1,200-yard campaigns in 2008-09.

Surprising many with the hiring of Mike McCarthy as head coach in January 2006, Thompson embarked on turning around a 4-12 team beset by injuries and salary-cap concerns in his first season. The improvement to an 8-8 mark in 2006, followed by the playoff run in 2007, netted McCarthy the Motorola NFL Coach of the Year award and placed both Thompson and his chief hire at the top of their professions.

Thompson's career as a football executive came full circle Jan. 14, 2005. That day, former Green Bay Packers CEO Bob Harlan gave him full authority over all aspects of football operations for the storied franchise.

In becoming the 10th general manager in club history,

Thompson rejoined the team with which he received his start under Wolf in 1992. After working for the legendary general manager through the 1999 season, Thompson spent five years as vice president of football operations for the Seattle Seahawks.

"It's almost a dream-come-true-type job," Thompson said. "You think about, when you're a young kid, some of the things you'd like to do when you grow up and you think maybe manager of the New York Yankees or maybe the general manager of the Green Bay Packers. So it's a thrill, it's an honor."

For Harlan, the selection of Thompson to lead Green Bay's football fortunes was an easy choice, and Thompson has validated that confidence in his selection by successfully remaking the roster into one he and the organization believe is built for long-term success.

"I feel Ted is a perfect fit for the Packers," Harlan said, introducing Thompson in 2005. "He is a respected National Football League veteran who is a proven talent evaluator and an efficient administrator. He knows the people in our personnel department and he is familiar with how we run our football operation. He embraces the Packers' championship tradition, and he was very anxious to have the opportunity to return to Green Bay."

Now in his 36th NFL season, including 10 years as a player, Thompson knows and respects the position the Packers hold in the hearts of the fans, and around the league.

"The history and tradition of this place is unrivaled in professional sports," Thompson said. "I understand the passion the people here have for their team. Ron (Wolf) told me this is the best job in the National Football League. I never forgot that."

The 64-year-old Thompson not only joined an organization with which he was familiar, but also oversees a respected staff that includes Eliot Wolf, director-football operations, Brian Gutekunst, director of player personnel, and Alonzo Highsmith, senior personnel executive.

Former Thompson staffers include current Kansas City Chiefs general manager John Dorsey, Oakland Raiders general manager Reggie McKenzie, Raiders director-college scouting Shaun Herock and Seattle Seahawks executive vice president/general manager John Schneider.

Almost immediately upon taking over, Thompson made a crucial choice for the long-term benefit of the club. In the 2005 NFL Draft, Rodgers had been projected as high as the No. 1 overall pick, but he wasn't taken there and ended up sliding all the way down to the Packers at No. 24. One year later, Thompson handed Rodgers to an accomplished quarterback mentor in McCarthy to mold him into the team's signal caller of the future.

In 2008-09, following the retirement and subsequent trade of Brett Favre, Rodgers became the first quarterback in league history to eclipse 4,000 yards passing in each of his first two seasons as a starter. Rodgers surpassed the 4,000-yard mark again in 2011 and 2012 and posted 21,332 passing yards from 2008-12. That total ranks first in NFL history for the most passing yards by a QB in his first five seasons as a starter, surpassing the previous mark held by Peyton Manning (20,618, 1998-2002). Rodgers' career passer rating of 104.1 ranks No. 1 in NFL history, and his 122.5 passer rating in 2011 set a single-season NFL record, topping Manning's 121.1 mark in 2004. Additionally, Rodgers' 1.55 career interception percentage is tops in NFL history.

Although Thompson prefers to shift the spotlight in another direction, his fingerprints were also all over the Seahawks' road to Super Bowl XL during the 2005 season. League MVP Shaun Alexander, Thompson's first draft pick in Seattle, captured the 2005 league rushing title and established a then-single-season NFL record with 28 TDs. Nine of Seattle's Super Bowl starters, as well as K Josh Brown, were drafted by Thompson. That list included G Steve Hutchinson, a Pro Bowler in seven of his 12 NFL seasons.

Thompson's philosophy on building a successful team relies heavily on drafted players as a foundation. In today's NFL, teams can't win consistently with free agency as their primary tool. And in building through the draft, the Packers place a premium on character.

But despite how much value he places on the draft, Thompson also will use the free-agent market as another tool to build the roster. In Green Bay, he has brought in players like Woodson, DT Ryan Pickett and most recently Peppers, among others, to either take over starting jobs or provide valuable, experienced depth at their positions.

"I think free agency is a very interesting tool to use to help you patch some holes and do some things," said Thompson, who signed five unrestricted free agents in 2006, the Packers' most since 1998. "There's no reluctance on our part. We do try to make certain that what we do is not just fantasy football. We're investing in a player that's got to come in and play a particular role. If we don't think that player can perform to that contract, then it doesn't make sense for us to do it just to say, 'Look what we've spent.'"

In Green Bay annals, Thompson is only the fourth general manager to serve exclusively from the front office, joining Verne Lewellen (1954-58), Vince Lombardi (1968) and Wolf (1992-2000).

The low-profile Thompson has a proven track record as an evaluator. Overseeing Seattle's draft board from 2000 through 2004, Thompson provided the Seahawks a solid foundation which they used to make three straight playoff appearances (2003-05). His 2003 draft saw Thompson land three players – Brown, CB Marcus Trufant and S Ken Hamlin – who not only made immediate front-line contributions as rookies, but who also became cornerstone players for years to come.

Just one year later, those three were instrumental in Seattle's 2004 NFC West championship. In the Seahawks' playoff game that year, 11 of 22 starters were acquired through Thompson's drafts. In his first two Green Bay drafts, Thompson selected S Nick Collins in 2005 and LB A.J. Hawk, Jennings and G Daryn Colledge in 2006. All four were named to the Pro Football Weekly All-Rookie team. In '07, he drafted K Mason Crosby, whose 1,267 career points are the most in franchise history.

Prior to 2009, Thompson selected 43 players in his first four drafts as GM, signaling the rebuilding of the roster core that had seen only 27 draft picks in the four years (2001-04) before Thompson returned to Green Bay.

As a result, offseason competition for positions on Green Bay's 53-man roster has been fierce since Thompson took over. The goal is to improve the team's play through competition, just as it was when Bum Phillips annually brought in younger talent to try to take Thompson's job during the former linebacker's 10-year playing career with the Houston Oilers.

A former Oilers teammate, Mike Reinfeldt, helped to launch Thompson's second football career. In 1992, Reinfeldt, then the Packers' vice president of administration, recommended that Wolf take a look at Thompson as a potential pro scout for his staff. Wolf subsequently brought Thompson in to audition as a personnel evaluator, and Thompson always has felt he learned a lot from Wolf.

"He taught me passion, he taught me work ethic, he taught me believing in yourself, to have confidence, to write down what you see, not what other people see, and to trust yourself."

During his first tenure in Green Bay, Thompson was instrumental in providing talent that produced an 83-45 record (.648), six straight playoff berths, two Super Bowl appearances and the 1996 world championship. With his help, the team acquired free agents Reggie White, Sean Jones, Don Beebe, Santana Dotson and Desmond Howard. Through the draft, Green Bay added Vonnie Holliday and Donald Driver, the Packers' all-time leading receiver.

A possessor of strong football credentials and keen knowledge of the game gleaned from his decade-long playing career, Thompson credits Wolf with deepening his understanding of the scouting process and cites his experience in Seattle working with Mike Holmgren as very valuable in terms of his growth as a football person, running an organization and making decisions that affect the team in the present and in the future.

A versatile linebacker during his 10-year NFL playing career with the Oilers (1975-84), Thompson also was one of the most durable players in team annals, missing just one of 147 contests due to injury. He started eight games over the course of his career and also played in seven postseason contests (1978-80), with the Oilers going 4-3 in those games, losing in the AFC Championship to the Steelers in both 1978 and 1979. He originally was signed by Phillips as an undrafted free agent.

Thompson's Oilers teammates included Pro Football Hall of Famers Earl Campbell, Mike Munchak, Elvin Bethea, Warren Moon and Bruce Matthews (current Packer Clay's uncle). Thompson also served as a reserve kicker and converted all four PATs he attempted in an emergency situation vs. the N.Y. Jets in a 1981 contest.

Collegiate, Thompson was a three-year starter (1972-74) at linebacker and team captain (1974) for SMU. As a sophomore, he played under head coach Hayden Fry, and Phillips, his eventual pro coach, was defensive coordinator. He also served as the team's placekicker as a senior. Following his football career, in the spring of 1975, he lettered as an outfielder for the Mustangs' baseball team. Thompson gained Academic All-Southwest Conference honors and graduated with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Born Jan. 17, 1953, in Atlanta, Texas, Thompson was an all-region player at the city's high school, lining up at running back, linebacker and placekicker. He also lettered in basketball, baseball, track and golf. He is single and enjoys an occasional round of golf in times of leisure.

He is responsible for negotiating player contracts and managing the salary cap, in addition to the daily supervision of football-administration departments including athletic training, equipment, video, corporate travel, player development, family programs and public relations.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY ASSISTS PACKERS TO 1961 CHAMPIONSHIP

Vince Lombardi won nine straight postseason games, a streak that began in 1961 during the Berlin Crisis when Paul Hornung, Ray Nitschke and Boyd Dowler were called up to active military duty.

Hornung was ordered to report to Fort Riley, Kan., Nitschke and Dowler to Fort Lewis, Wash.

All three reported by mid-November and were at the mercy of their base commanders as far as getting weekend passes to play football. In the end, Dowler played all 14 games that season; and Nitschke and Hornung each played 12.

In fact, Hornung played enough to be named the NFL's Most Valuable Player.

But with the league's championship game scheduled for Dec. 31, Coach Vince Lombardi was fretting over how much practice time the three would get.

That proved to be no problem for Dowler and Nitschke. They were given 14-day leaves and arrived back in Green Bay Dec. 22. But Hornung was awarded just a six-day leave that wasn't going to start until Dec. 27, leaving him scant time to practice.

Based on secondhand accounts, the story goes that Lombardi decided to pull some strings. He had President John F. Kennedy's private phone number at the White House and called him. Kennedy, in turn, called Fort Riley with clear instructions that Hornung be given an earlier release.

Orders were followed and Hornung arrived in Green Bay not only in time for a week of practice, but to escort a date to Green Bay's Charity Ball on Dec. 23.

The Packers ended up beating the Giants, 37-0, and Hornung was named the game's MVP.

The Berlin Crisis was a Cold War confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union over the occupation of the German capital. At its height in late 1961, there was fear that it could trigger a nuclear war.

PAUL BANIEL

VICE PRESIDENT OF FINANCE AND ADMINISTRATION

Paul Baniel is in his ninth year heading up the Green Bay Packers' financial operations and is in his sixth year serving as vice president of administration for the organization.

In addition to leading the daily operation of the club's finance, facility and information technology departments, Baniel represents the Packers at the NFL level on economic issues and leads strategic initiatives of the organization. He was integrally involved in Lambeau Field's $312 million expansion and renovation project, drawing on his experience with major projects with the Milwaukee Brewers and Potawatomi Bingo Casino while in leadership roles in those organizations. Additionally, he helped to oversee the team's recent $55 million project to renovate the stadium's suites and club seats, and is integrally involved with planning for Titledown, the organization's mixed-use real estate development on nearly 45 acres of land immediately west of Lambeau Field that will maximize its unique location to attract visitors, spur regional economic growth, offer amenities to residents and complement the greater Green Bay area's draw as an excellent location to live, work, play and visit.

Baniel, a Certified Public Accountant and Chartered Global Management Accountant, also oversees the audit process and works closely with the organization's treasurer, the Board of Directors' audit and investment committees, and the stadium district.

"Paul is a key leader in our organization," said Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy. "His experience in professional sports has been an important asset to the organization, especially during our recent significant work on Lambeau Field. We appreciate his strong leadership within the organization and the impact he has on our development efforts around Lambeau Field, including Titledown."

Baniel (pronounced BAN-yel), who joined the Packers on July 30, 2009, moved to Green Bay from Milwaukee, where he had spent more than six years (2003-09) as the chief financial officer of Potawatomi Bingo Casino. At Potawatomi, he helped lead the planning and construction of a $240 million expansion of the facility, which opened in 2008.

STUDY SHOWS PACKERS' ECONOMIC IMPACT ON THE COMMUNITY

The Packers are the only franchise in professional sports to be owned and sustained by their fans, so most people know how much the community has meant and continues to mean to the team. But one question has long gone unanswered: "What do the Packers mean to the community?" To answer that very question from a quantifiable and tangible economic standpoint, the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Football District commissioned what is regarded as the most comprehensive economic impact study of the last 10 years on the subject when it contracted the firm AECOM Economics in 2009. Below are some of the findings and highlights of the report:

-The total economic impact of the Packers and the renovated Lambeau Field on the community was an estimated $281.5 million in 2009. That total included the existence of 2,560 jobs and more than $124 million in earnings.

-The Packers' 10 home exhibition and regular-season games in 2009 had a $123.3 million impact on Brown County. For each game, the team generates approximately $12.3 million in economic impact to the community.

-When including the days visitors are in Green Bay to attend summer's training camp, the impact increases by another $7.4 million.

-Shown that in 2009, the total economic impact attributed to spending by the Packers and Lambeau Field was $141 million, including the creation of 760 jobs and the generation of $80.6 million in wages.

-The fiscal impact of taxes to local and state governments courtesy of both training camp and Packers games was an estimated $8.7 million.

The South End, which opened in 2013, included the addition of approximately 7,000 new seats and now generates an additional spending impact of approximately $11 million each year. In addition to the newly added seats, the Packers completed extensive renovations to the Atrium in 2015, a project that included a new Packers Pro Shop; new American Family Insurance Gate; and a new restaurant, 1919 Kitchen & Tap. In total, over the five years of work, the projects employed more than 3,000 workers and generated more than $130 million in wages.

“Craig is a valuable member of our senior staff,” Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy said. “His experience with the organization has served him well in his expanded role, particularly with our business partners, who are key to the success of the organization. Craig has shown great growth in his position as a vice president and will play an increasing role in the leadership of the organization.”

Prior to joining the Packers in 1998, the 53-year-old Benzel served as vice president of marketing for the Milwaukee Wave for six years (1993-98), managing all aspects of revenue generation, including corporate sponsorships, tickets, promotions, and television and radio programming. Before his tenure with the Wave, Benzel worked in sports marketing for the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse (1991-93).

NAMES ON THE FAÇADE

The names gracing the east and west façades are among the more awe-inspiring features of Lambeau Field's bowl. The names represent the 24 men who have been inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame primarily for their years spent with the Green Bay Packers.

Of the 24 names, 21 were players. Earl “Curly” Lambeau and Vince Lombardi were inducted as coaches. Ron Wolf was inducted into Canton in 2015 as a general manager. Quarterback Brett Favre's name was added to the façade during the 2016 season, following his induction into Canton.

Four of the names were charter inductees of the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1963: Lambeau, Don Hutson, Robert “Cal” Hubbard and John “Blood” McNally.

Hutson, Hubbard and Blood played during the Lambeau era, as did Clarke Hinkle, Mike Michalske, Arnie Herber and Tony Canadeo. Of the 21 players, 11 of them spent their prime playing for Lombardi: Jim Taylor, Forrest Gregg, Bart Starr, Ray Nitschke, Herb Adderley, Willie Davis, Jim Ringo, Paul Hornung, Willie Wood, Henry Jordan and Dave Robinson.

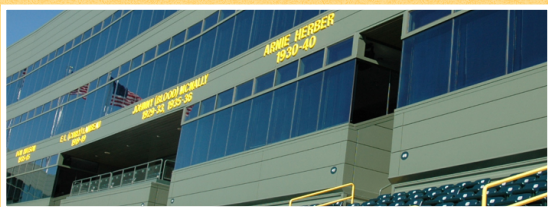

James Lofton's and Reggie White's Packers careers were played in later eras.

In deference to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, the names appear on the façade as they do on their busts in Canton with nicknames or adopted names included in quotation marks. That's why John “Blood” McNally is listed as he is. While McNally was his given name, he never used it during his playing career, even to sign his contracts. Nor did the name McNally ever appear in a Packers program or press book, or in newspaper coverage of the day. He was simply Johnny Blood, one of the most magical names in sports in the 1920s and 1930s.

The years listed are only the years the players spent with the Packers. Only seven of the inductees spent their entire NFL careers with the Packers: Hutson, Hinkle, Canadeo, Starr, Nitschke, Hornung and Wood. Lombardi was inducted in Canton only as a coach. That's why the years listed under his name don't include 1968, when he served strictly as Green Bay's general manager.

The names were arranged on the façade in no particular order.

Also gracing the interior walls of the Lambeau Field bowl are the years of the Packers' NFL-record 13 world championships and the team's retired numbers. Favre's No. 4, which was retired July 18, 2015, when he was inducted into the Packers Hall of Fame, was unveiled on the façade next to the five other retired numbers during Green Bay's home game against the Chicago Bears on Thanksgiving, Nov. 26, 2015.

GABRIELLE DOW

VICE PRESIDENT OF MARKETING AND FAN ENGAGEMENT

Gabrielle Dow, possessor of 23 years of diverse experience across professional sports, entertainment and venues, is in her fourth year as the Packers' vice president of marketing and fan engagement.

Dow, who was named to the position on May 12, 2014, oversees the Packers' retail operations, digital and broadcast, marketing, brand engagement, business research and analytics, and game presentation.

In her three years with the Packers, Dow and her team have enhanced the gameday experience with a variety of new elements in Lambeau Field, including the use of pyrotechnics and a revamped music selection, along with "Get Loud Lambeau," a fan-engagement campaign that encourages game attendees to support and energize the players and coaches. Dow also introduced a new fan-spirit initiative, "Green and Gold Friday," enhancing the fan tradition of wearing Packers colors and gear to work, school and in the community each Friday to ramp up support and enthusiasm for the team.

"Gabrielle has been a great addition to the Packers," Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy said. "Her experience and new initiatives have been excellent for the organization and our fans. She's had an immediate impact in revenue areas, including the Packers Pro Shop. We look forward to her continued work in enhancing the connection with our fans and in their experience following and supporting the team."

Dow joined the Packers from the Baltimore Ravens, where she had served as vice president of marketing for eight years, a position in which she oversaw the team's marketing, promotions, sponsor activations, brand management, game entertainment and fan-affinity efforts. With the Ravens, Dow created successful fan initiatives such as "Purple," a first-ever female fan club that has grown to 25,000 members, and launched the Ravens' own "Purple Friday" campaign, creating an engaging Baltimore tradition that kids and fans of all ages participate in every Friday during the football season.

She and her husband, Jeff, a Port Washington, Wis., native, have maintained strong ties to Wisconsin, as Jeff's parents live in Port Washington and his extended family runs a dairy farm in Lomira, Wis. The couple has a daughter, Danielle, 12, and a son, Jackson, 8.

SHOVELING SNOW AT LAMBEAU

One of the more recent traditions that has taken hold among Packers fans is answering the call to shovel snow off the Lambeau Field bleachers.

When the team needs help clearing the stands for an upcoming game, it issues a press release or uses social media to alert fans. The Packers provide the shovels and the fans, in turn, provide the muscle (pictured, lower right).

During the 2015 season, the Packers put out a call on Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 prior to their Jan. 3 home game against the Minnesota Vikings. It marked the 27th and 28th occasions that Packers fans have been asked to shovel snow since 2005.

Fans at least 15 years old who arrive early enough often shovel for several hours. Participants receive $10 per hour upon completion of their work.

While shoveling the stands is a more recent development, fans for generations have been eager to help the Packers in times of need.

Prior to the 1965 NFL Championship Game, played in Green Bay on Jan. 2, 1966, about 25 young volunteers helped close to 60 stadium workers shovel and haul away snow off the large tarpaulins that had covered the field (pictured, upper right).

Prior to the game, the Packers also had spread 40 tons of marsh hay over the playing surface to keep it from freezing. That, too, had to be removed.

The nearly five inches of wet, heavy snow that blanketed the turf fell the morning of the game.

The Packers tried using a helicopter to dry out the field and blow snow off the seats, but it didn't work out and the stadium crew wound up trying to clear the seating areas, as well.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle was in attendance, but said he never considered calling off the game.

"I think you may be better equipped to handle this sort of thing here than any other place in the league," said Rozelle, directing his remarks to local reporters.

ED POLICY

VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL COUNSEL

dent and general counsel.

Policy, who started with the Packers on Aug. 1, 2012, has an extensive background that includes work in professional football with the Arena Football League and NFL, and broad legal experience with litigation, sports labor relations, sports facility construction and commercial real estate.

In addition to directing the corporation's legal affairs, Policy leads the organization's endeavor to develop Titledown, a nearly 45-acre mixed-use real estate development immediately west of Lambeau Field. Titledown is designed to maximize its unique location to attract visitors, spur regional economic growth, offer amenities to residents and complement the greater Green Bay area's draw as an excellent location to live, work, play and visit on a year-round basis. He also represents the Packers at the NFL level on legal matters, and oversees the club's community outreach, public affairs, shareholder relations and security departments.

"Ed's contributions to the organization have been extremely valuable," Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy said. "His legal experience in sports and real estate, along with his knowledge of the NFL, has served the Packers very well. Ed's diverse skill set is a great asset not only to help lead our Titledown development efforts, but also to be integrally involved in the club's overall continued success."

Policy's professional sports experience includes nine years (2001-09) with the Arena Football League, including a period (2008-09) in which he served as commissioner, president and CEO. He also served as deputy commissioner and president (2006-08), chief operating officer (2004-06) and executive vice president – strategic league development and legal affairs (2001-04). During his tenure with the league, he oversaw all business and operations of the AFL, including strategic development, legal affairs, sales, finance, marketing, broadcasting, digital media, football operations, labor relations, events and human resources.

Policy also served as an executive consultant with the NFL (2009-10), a position in which he advised and assisted NFL senior management in strategic and development matters and also worked with senior executives on special projects within various business areas.

Ed Policy, an executive with significant sports and legal experience, is in his sixth year as the Green Bay Packers' vice presi-

HISTORY OF THE "G"

Before his third season as head coach and general manager of the Packers, Vince Lombardi elected to decorate the team's helmets with a logo that has become one of the most iconic in American sports. Lombardi decided to place a green and white "G" directly above the earholes of the team's mostly gold helmets.

Typical of the times and particularly Lombardi, no big deal was made of the unveiling, either beforehand or after. The "G" was introduced at an intra-squad game played Aug. 5, 1961, at old City Stadium. The game was played there because the field at the Packers' new stadium — now Lambeau Field — had been recently reseeded and wasn't ready for use.

It was understood at the time that the "G" stood for Green Bay and that hasn't changed. Lombardi settled on the "G" before he won his first NFL championship.

As can best be determined, the development and design of the "G" was carried out by a select few in addition to Lombardi: Gerald "Dad" Braisher, the Packers' equipment manager; John Gordon, a part-time assistant to Braisher and an art student at St. Norbert College; and workers at Romo Display Advertising Inc. of Green Bay.

It's uncertain who conceived the logo, but Lombardi and Braisher would have been the likely candidates. Gordon sketched it before Romo took his drawing and turned it into an artistic rendering. But, clearly, it never would have come to be without Lombardi's approval.

The original Packers "G" was shaped like a football, flattening gradually from its height toward the ends. The "G" has been slightly modified in the years since. Today, it is shaped more like an oval measuring 3.125 inches at its tallest point and five inches at its widest point.

ed on March 21, 2016. Prior to his current role, Wolf spent the 2015 season as the team's director of player personnel after spending the previous three seasons as the team's director of pro personnel. In 2011, he served as the assistant director of player personnel after working as the team's assistant director of pro personnel the previous three seasons (2008-10).

Originally hired as a pro personnel assistant on Feb. 26, 2004, by then-General Manager/Head Coach Mike Sherman, Wolf spent four seasons in that position.

The son of former Packers general manager and 2015 Pro Football Hall of Fame inductee Ron Wolf, Eliot's scouting career unofficially began at age 10, when he joined his father in film sessions at Lambeau Field. His scouting abilities continued to develop as he filed his first report at age 14 for the Atlanta Falcons.

LAMBEAU FIELD AND ATRIUM RENOVATIONS

In 2003, the Packers unveiled a completed renovation of Lambeau Field that included additional seating in the stadium bowl, new club seats and luxury boxes, and the construction of the Atrium and its encompassing businesses on the stadium's northeast side. The resulting revenue streams have helped the franchise remain competitive in the ever-evolving landscape of the NFL, despite competing in the league's smallest market and without traditional ownership. The renovation also helped to enhance the fan experience at the stadium, both on game-days and with year-round attractions like stadium tours and the Packers Hall of Fame.

It was in that very vein that the organization announced another, albeit less extensive, renovation project on Aug. 25, 2011, highlighted by the addition of approximately 7,000 seats in the stadium's south end. The renovation also features the addition of two new entry gates, the Bellin Health and Shopko gates, two rooftop viewing terraces – the North Loft and South Loft – for premium ticket holders on gamedays, two new high-definition Mitsubishi Diamond Vision video boards and a new sound system. The $146 million project was funded by the 2011 stock sale ($64 million), a loan from the NFL G4 program ($61 million) and a contribution from the Stadium District.

In 2013, the Packers announced the second phase of the Lambeau Field renovation that began in 2011, which focused on the Atrium. Highlights of the project, which was completed for the 2015 season, include a larger Oneida Nation Gate and new football facilities (completed in 2013), the American Family Insurance Gate on the stadium's east side and accompanying 50-foot replica Lombardi Trophy in the gate's lobby, a redeveloped Harlan Plaza and Packers Pro Shop (2014), and a new Packers Hall of Fame and restaurant, 1919 Kitchen & Tap (2015). The players' parking lot moved to the south side of the Oneida Nation Gate, with access via a tunnel under the enlarged gate. This enhancement further opens up access to the east side of the Atrium, with parking adjacent to the American Family Insurance Gate. The project cost $166 million, with funding coming from the Packers through private financing ($111 million) and an NFL G4 program ($55 million) loan.

Following the Atrium renovations, work began to enhance Lambeau Field's suite interiors and club-seat common areas, a two-year, $55 million project that was completed prior to the 2017 season. Renovations included the installation of operable window systems to allow fans to open and close windows, as well as updates to the décor and appliances. The club-seat common areas gained additional TVs and video walls, as well as updated furniture and décor, including corridor graphics and original artwork.

BRIAN GUTEKUNST

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

Promoted to director of player personnel on March 21, 2016, Brian Gutekunst enters his 19th season with the Green Bay Packers' player personnel department. He spent his first 13 seasons with the club as a college scout, serving as an East Coast regional scout for his first two years (1999-2000), before switching to the Southeast region (2001-11) and most recently serving as director of college scouting (2012-15).

Possessor of prior professional scouting and college coaching experience upon joining Green Bay on a full-time basis late in 1998, Gutekunst gained his first NFL experience in the summer of 1995, when he assisted the coaching staff of the New Orleans Saints with the offensive line during training camp. Gutekunst's initial exposure to the Packers came in the summer of 1997, when he worked as an intern in the team's scouting department.

His first full-time appointment in professional scouting was in 1998 as a scouting assistant for the Kansas City Chiefs. After one year with the Chiefs, Gutekunst returned to the Packers when he was named a college scout on Dec. 30, 1998, for the East Coast by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

Gutekunst earlier had played two years of college football for the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse. He then became an assistant coach for the team during his final two years at the school (1995-96) after a shoulder injury cut short his playing career. Serving as a linebackers coach during the 1995 season, he helped the school to the Division III national championship as the Eagles finished with an unblemished record of 14-0. Gutekunst majored in sports management.

He and his wife, Jen, reside in Green Bay with their daughters, Marley, 12, Joie, 11, and Kacey, 6, and son, Michael, 8.

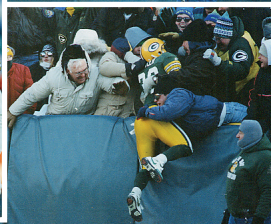

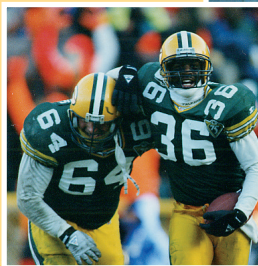

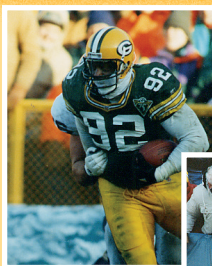

THE LAMBEAU LEAP

Defensive back LeRoy Butler's spontaneous gesture after scoring a 1993 touchdown has turned into the team's most prominent modern tradition, emulated by many other NFL players. It also symbolizes the team's unique relationship with its fans. No doubt, the initial Lambeau Leap will go down as one of the most memorable moments of Butler's 12-year career.

Butler's leap took place late in a frigid game vs. the Los Angeles Raiders, Dec. 26, 1993, at Lambeau Field. The touchdown gave the Packers a commanding fourth-quarter lead, en route to a 28-0 shutout that clinched a playoff berth, their first of six consecutive postseason trips.

Chronology of the play:

- QB Vince Evans completes second-down swing pass to RB Randy Jordan, who takes ball to Raiders' 40-yard line.
- Butler forces fumble, recovered by Reggie White at Raiders' 35.
- White returns ball 10 yards before lateraling to Butler, who covers the remaining 25 yards into the end zone and leaps into arms of fans in south bleachers.

ALONZO HIGHSMITH

SENIOR PERSONNEL EXECUTIVE

An NFL player for six seasons, Alonzo Highsmith enters his 19th year with the Green Bay Packers' personnel department.

He was promoted to senior personnel executive in May 2012 after 13 years on the Packers' college scouting staff, where he maintained primary responsibility for the South-west region.

First named as a college scout on Feb. 1, 1999, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf, Highsmith originally had entered the professional ranks as the No. 3 overall pick in the 1987 NFL Draft by the then-Houston Oilers, behind only college teammate Vinny Testaverde (Tampa Bay) and Cornelius Bennett (Indianapolis).

Highsmith began his pro career by playing three seasons in Houston (1987-89), starting 40 straight games with the Oilers. Following offseason knee surgery, he was traded to the Dallas Cowboys prior to the 1990 campaign.

Highsmith was with Dallas for 1½ seasons before being waived by the Cowboys on Oct. 4, 1991. Claimed by Tampa Bay, he spent the remainder of his pro career with the Buccaneers. Due to a series of knee injuries, he retired from the NFL at the end of the 1992 season.

Highsmith's NFL totals included 65 games played with 283 rushing attempts for 1,195 yards (4.2 avg.) and seven touchdowns. He also made 42 receptions for 428 yards (10.2 avg.) and three TDs during the course of his pro career. After the conclusion of Highsmith's NFL career in 1992, he turned his sights to boxing. As a professional boxer, he competed as a heavyweight across the country, compiling a 27-1-1 career record over a four-year period.

Earlier a four-time letterman (1983-86) for the University of Miami (Fla.), Highsmith was a member of the 1983 Hurricanes squad that captured the collegiate national championship with a 31-30 triumph over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. As a sophomore in 1984, he led Miami in rushing with 906 yards on 146 carries (6.2 avg.), and repeated that feat during his senior season, gaining 442 yards on 105 attempts (4.2 avg.). Highsmith graduated in 1987 with a degree in business administration.

Highsmith was the Florida High School Defensive Player of the Year in 1982 as a linebacker at Christopher Columbus High School in Miami, where he was a teammate of former Alabama head coach and current Carolina Panthers offensive coordinator Mike Shula. A three-time letterwinner for the school's basketball team as a guard, Highsmith also competed in the 100- and 200-meter races in track for three years.

Highsmith resides in Green Bay. He and his wife, Denise, are the parents of three children, Alonzo, 27, A.J., 26, and Jordan, 23. Highsmith has two other children, Jasmine, 31, and Brandon, 29. Brandon (Thermilus) played collegiately as a running back at the University at Buffalo, Alonzo was a collegiate linebacker at the University of Arkansas, A.J. ended his college career as a defensive back at the University of Miami and is currently a scout for the San Francisco 49ers, and Jordan recently finished her collegiate career as a track and field student-athlete at Samford University.

PACKERS IN THE COLLEGE ALL-STAR GAME

- From 1934-73 and 1975-76, the NFL participated in what was called the College All-Star Game. It kicked off the league's preseason, but it was the most popular game in pro football for many years.
- Chicago's Soldier Field, even when the Bears were playing at Wrigley Field, served as the game's stage for all but two years. Doye Stadium in Evanston, Ill., was the site in 1943 and '44. An NFL labor dispute forced cancellation of the 1974 game.
- The Packers played in the game eight times and benefited greatly from the exposure, especially in the Curly Lambeau era. When the Packers and All-Stars drew 84,560 for the 1937 game, the Packers had never played before more than 37,000 fans in an NFL regular-season game. They appeared in the game that summer by virtue of winning the 1936 NFL Championship Game, which drew a crowd of 29,545.

- Up until the time he died in 1965, Curly Lambeau said the Packers' victory in the 1940 College All-Star Game was the biggest of his coaching career. "Maybe this sounds funny for me to say, but I believe pro football, all of pro football, turned the corner in that game," Lambeau said shortly before his death. As coach of the Packers, Lambeau won six NFL championships.

JON-ERIC SULLIVAN

DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE SCOUTING

Jon-Eric Sullivan begins his 14th season with the Packers and second as the director of college scouting after being promoted on June 16, 2016. Sullivan previously served as a college scout covering the Central Plains region (2008-11) and the Southeast region (2012-15) after working as the team's National Football Scouting representative to the annual NFL Scouting Combine and authoring evaluations of all prospective seniors in the Southwest region.

Sullivan joined the team's football operations department on July 12, 2004, having previously served as a scouting intern during Green Bay's 2003 training camp.

Sullivan played his junior and senior seasons (1998-99) as a wide receiver at Gardner-Webb University in Boiling Springs, N.C. As a senior, he was named to the all-conference team after leading the Bulldogs with 43 receptions. Previously, he played at the University of South Carolina from 1995-97 before transferring to Gardner-Webb.

Sullivan attended high school at Fork Union (Va.) Military Academy, where he was an all-state defensive back his junior year, pacing state players with nine interceptions, and then an all-state receiver as a senior. Sullivan lettered twice in football, while also receiving two letters each in indoor and outdoor track. As a senior, he was all-state in track as a member of the state-champion 400-meter relay team.

Following his college football career, Sullivan served as a student-assistant receivers coach at Gardner-Webb for

JOHN WOJCIECHOWSKI

DIRECTOR OF PRO PERSONNEL

Now entering his 22nd season in the NFL, John Wojciechowski begins his sixth season with the Packers and first as the director of pro personnel after being promoted in June 2017. He joined the team on May 23, 2012, as a college scout.

Prior to coming to Green Bay, Wojciechowski spent the previous nine seasons (2003-11) as the Northeast area scout for the Dallas Cowboys.

He came to Dallas after working for the Jacksonville Jaguars for five seasons (1998-2002). During his first three seasons with Jacksonville, Wojciechowski worked as the team's Southeast regional scout for the BLESTO scouting organization. He was promoted to Midwest scout by the Jaguars in 2001.

Wojciechowski's first venture into the NFL player personnel field came with the Pittsburgh Steelers, where he served as a player personnel assistant for two seasons (1996-97). With the Steelers, he evaluated both college and pro players and did quality-control work for the special teams units.

Wojciechowski (pronounced woh-jih-cow-skee) was a four-year starter at Duquesne at defensive end (1992-95) and a three-year tri-captain. As a senior in '95, he earned first-team All-Metro Atlantic Conference honors and first-team All-America honors from Don Hansen's Football Gazette. He helped lead the Dukes to their first-ever conference championship (7-0 record) and a 10-1 mark overall. The team finished the season with an ECAC Bowl victory over Wagner.

GREEN BAY PACKERS, INC.

The seven-member Executive Committee of the Green Bay Packers presently is composed of: (back row) Mark J. McMullen, Treasurer; Daniel T. Ariens, Secretary; Mark H. Murphy, President; Thomas M. Olejniczak, Member; Michael D. Simmer, Member; (front row) Susan M. Finco, Member; and Thomas L. Olson, Vice President and Lead Director.

Now in their 99th season of existence and their 98th season in the National Football League, the Green Bay Packers are a team and an organization unique in both structure and accomplishment. They represent – from an organizational standpoint – the only publicly owned franchise in the 32-team NFL. On the field, they have won 13 NFL championships, more than any other franchise.

The Packers have been a community-owned team since 1923 when the Green Bay Football Corporation was founded. After it was forced into receivership in 1933, the franchise was reorganized in 1935 as Green Bay Packers, Inc., which is still operating today.

While the Packers still think of themselves as community-owned, their community has grown since 1923 to reflect their worldwide fan base. There are 5,011,566 shares of stock owned by 361,060 shareholders. A seven-member executive committee elected from a board of directors governs the corporation. The committee directs corporate management, approves major capital expenditures, establishes broad policy and monitors management's performance in conducting the business and affairs of the corporation.

MIKE MCCARTHY

HEAD COACH

25th NFL Season • 13th Packers Season • 12th as Head Coach win a Super Bowl, and that would never change.

In 2010, McCarthy led the Packers back to the pinnacle of the sport, joining Vince Lombardi and Mike Holmgren as the only coaches in team history to lead the Packers to a Super Bowl title, with a 31-25 win over the Pittsburgh Steelers in Super Bowl XLV.

The path to that world championship was not an easy one, as McCarthy joined Pittsburgh's Bill Cowher (2005) as the only Super Bowl-winning coaches to lead their respective teams to three road victories as the No. 6 seed in the playoffs en route to a title.

Since taking over as head coach in '06, McCarthy has a 124-69-1 overall record (.642), including a 10-8 mark (.556) in the postseason. Entering 2017, his overall winning percentage ranks No. 2 among current NFL head coaches (min. 50 games). McCarthy's 124 total victories at the helm of the Packers ranks second in franchise history, trailing only Curly Lambeau (212), and his 114 regular-season wins in his first 11 seasons as a head coach are tied for No. 3 in NFL history with Tony Dungy and George Seifert, while only trailing Don Shula (117) and Joe Gibbs (115). Additionally, McCarthy reached 100 wins faster than any active NFL coach, needing just 155 games, and with another 10-win season in 2016, he extended his franchise record (since 1921) with his eighth regular season with 10-plus wins.

With the victory over Dallas in the 2016 playoffs, McCarthy has led the Packers to 10 wins in the postseason, passing Lombardi and Holmgren for the most in team history.

SUSTAINED SUCCESS

Over the past eight seasons (2009-16), McCarthy guided Green Bay to one of the most successful stretches in team history. During that time, the Packers posted a 96-47-1 record (.670), including the playoffs. Green Bay's 96 total victories from 2009-16 ranked No. 2 in the NFL behind only New England (110). Additionally, the 2016 season marked the Packers' eighth straight playoff appearance, tied for the third-longest streak in league history behind only two franchises with nine (Dallas, 1975-83; Indianapolis 2002-10). McCarthy is only the fourth head coach in NFL history to lead a single franchise to eight-plus consecutive playoff appearances, joining Tom Landry, Chuck Noll and Bill Belichick. McCarthy's nine playoff appearances overall are the most by a Packers coach since the NFL postseason began in 1933. Last season saw the Packers advance to the NFC Championship Game for the fourth time (2007, 2010, 2014, 2016) in the past 10 seasons, the most in the NFC over that span.

With another division title in 2016, McCarthy's team has captured five NFC North titles in the last six years, the most in the NFC during that time, with no other NFC club winning more than three division titles over that span. More impressively, the Packers won four straight NFC North Division crowns from 2011-14, marking the first time that Green Bay won four straight division titles since the league went to a divisional format in 1967. The Packers were the only NFC team to win its division from 2011-14 and one of only three teams in the NFL to do so over that span (Denver, New England). McCarthy has guided Green Bay to a 48-17-1 (.735) record against division opponents since 2006, the second-best mark in the NFL over that time span (New England, 51-15, .773). Additionally, the Packers reeled off 12 straight wins against NFC North opponents from 2010-12, the longest divisional winning streak in team history.

Green Bay has also displayed a pattern of success at Lambeau Field under McCarthy. Since 2006, the Packers rank second in the NFL with a 65-22-1 (.744) regular-season mark at home, trailing only New England (75-13, .852). In 2014, Green Bay finished 8-0 for the fifth time since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger (1996-97, 2002, 2011) and were one of only two teams to go undefeated at home during the regular season (Denver). The Packers also led the NFL with 318 points scored at home during the 2014 season, the third-most points scored at home during the regular season in NFL history, trailing only the 2011 Saints (329) and the 2011 Packers (321).

McCarthy has been quite successful taking his teams away from Lambeau during his tenure as well. With a 4-4 road record during the 2016 regular season, Green Bay finished with at least a .500 road record for the ninth time in 11 seasons under his direction. Overall, the Packers are 49-39 in regular-season away games during McCarthy's tenure. The .557 road winning percentage since 2006 is No. 2 in the NFC and No. 4 in the NFL over that span.

In 2011, McCarthy led Green Bay to a franchise-best 15 regular-season wins, as the Packers became just the sixth team in NFL history to reach that mark in the regular season. The Packers began the '11 campaign by reeling off 13 consecutive wins, easily eclipsing the previous franchise record of 10-0 starts in 1929 and 1962. Dating back to Week 16 of the 2010 season, and including the playoffs, Green Bay won 19 consecutive games before suffering its lone regular-season defeat at Kansas City in Week 15. Covering a span of 364 days, the 19-game winning streak was the longest in franchise history and was the second-longest winning streak in NFL history (including playoffs) behind only the 2003-04 New England Patriots (21 games). Perhaps most impressively, the Packers never trailed in the fourth quarter during the streak.

The Packers' 2011 regular-season success culminated with their second NFC North title under McCarthy and first since 2007. Green Bay's 6-0 mark in the division marked the first time in team history that the Packers posted an undefeated record in their division. Green Bay also became the first team since the 1987 Chicago Bears to sweep the NFC North/Central. Additionally, the Packers earned the NFC's No. 1 seed for the first time since 1996 and finished with a perfect 8-0 record at Lambeau Field for the first time since 2002.

McCarthy was runner-up in Coach of the Year voting by The Associated Press and saw seven of his players earn Pro Bowl nods following the 2011 campaign, the most the Packers had voted to the all-star game since 1967.

McCarthy guided the Packers to a 10-6 campaign in 2010, highlighted by seven wins in the final 10 games. What made Green Bay's championship season even more impressive was the adversity the team faced due to injuries. The Packers finished the year with 15 players on injured reserve, and eight of them had started at least one game during the season. Six starters from the opening-day depth chart sustained season-ending injuries in the first seven games.

The Packers became just the third 10-6 team in NFL history to win a Super Bowl, and their six losses on the season came by a combined 20 points. Green Bay never lost a game by more than four points, but even more impressive, it never trailed by more than seven points at any point in a game all season. The Packers became the first team since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger to never trail by more than seven points at any point during the regular season, and became the first championship-winning franchise to do so since the 1942 Washington Redskins.

It was a shining example of the steady, consistent approach that McCarthy has taken in leading the Packers throughout his tenure, one that culminated with the organization's fourth Super Bowl title and 13th world championship.

PROLIFIC OFFENSES

Prior to coming to Green Bay in 2006, McCarthy was known in NFL circles for his innovative offensive mind and his ability to develop young quarterbacks.

Now 11 seasons into his tenure with the Packers, that reputation has become enhanced by the Packers' offensive prowess before and during Aaron Rodgers' tenure as the team's starting quarterback.

During McCarthy's time in Green Bay, the Packers have averaged 26.7 points per game, the third-best mark in the NFL since 2006. Additionally, the team's 218 total giveaways from 2006-16 were the second fewest in the league. In 2014, Green Bay set a franchise record for fewest giveaways in a season with 13, while ranking tied for first in the NFL. The six best giveaway seasons in franchise history have come under McCarthy (13 in '14, 14 in '11, 16 in '09 and '12, 17 in '15 and '16).

Nine of the 11 Green Bay teams led by McCarthy have ranked in the NFL's top 10 in total yardage – checking in at ninth in 2006, second in '07, eighth in '08, sixth in '09, ninth in '10, third in '11, third in '13, sixth in '14 and eighth in '16. Additionally, seven of the franchise's top 10 single-season yardage totals have occurred during McCarthy's tenure. In 2008-09, the Packers became the first team in NFL history to produce a 4,000-yard passer (Rodgers), two 1,000-yard receivers (Greg Jennings, Donald Driver), and a 1,200-yard rusher (Ryan Grant) in back-to-back seasons.

The Packers also finished in the top 10 in the NFL in total points for eight consecutive seasons (2007-14), and in nine of McCarthy's 11 seasons, highlighted by a franchise-record 560 points in 2011. The franchise mark also ranks as the third-highest point total in NFL history behind only the 606 points posted by the Denver Broncos in 2013 and the 589 points recorded by the New England Patriots in 2007. The '14 Packers registered 486 total points, the second most in franchise history, and the top three single-season point totals (461 in 2009) have all come under the direction of McCarthy.

McCarthy's best offense in 2011 will also be remembered as one of the best in NFL history. In addition to setting a new franchise single-season record for points, the team set new single-season marks for touchdowns (70), total net yards (6,482) and net passing yards (4,924). The 70 TDs are also tied with the 1984 Miami Dolphins for the third-most TDs in a season in NFL history behind only the 2013 Broncos (76) and 2007 Patriots (75). Green Bay outscored its opponents 560-359 in 2011, a 201-point differential that ranked No. 2 in the NFL (New Orleans, plus-208). It marked the third straight season (2009-11) that the Packers outscored their opponents by at least 145 points, as they became the first NFL team to accomplish that feat in three-plus consecutive seasons since the San Francisco 49ers from 1991-95.

MAJOR CHANGE

In 2009, McCarthy embarked upon the first major alterations to his coaching staff since his arrival, hiring Dom Capers to be his new defensive coordinator and change the unit from a 4-3 base alignment to the 3-4 scheme that has been the staple of Capers' career.

The results have been incredibly impactful. With a No. 2 ranking in 2009 and a No. 5 ranking in 2010, the Packers finished in the top five in the league in overall defense in back-to-back seasons for the first time since 1968-69. Since 2009, Green Bay ranks No. 1 in the NFL in interceptions (165), No. 4 in total takeaways (229), No. 5 in opponent passer rating (81.0), No. 3 in sacks (328) and No. 8 in points allowed per game (21.2).

Capers' defensive formula under McCarthy, pressuring the quarterback and creating turnovers, was evident once again in 2016. Led by LB Nick Perry's career-high 11 sacks, Capers' defense ranked tied for No. 6 in the NFL with 40 sacks last season, marking the sixth time in the last seven seasons that Green Bay finished in the top 10 in the league in that category. The Packers also ranked tied for No. 4 in the NFL with 17 interceptions in '16, guiding them to a plus-eight turnover margin that ranked No. 6 in the NFL. Most impressively, during Green Bay's six-game winning streak to close out the regular season, the Packers forced a league-leading 15 turnovers. The Packers have an 82-11-1 regular-season record (.878) when holding the advantage in turnover ratio during McCarthy's tenure.

Capers' unit was also proficient against the run in 2016, ranking eighth in the NFL while surrendering just 94.7 yards per game on the ground. That mark is tied for the seventh-lowest average in franchise history.

In 2015, the Packers were tied for No. 7 in the NFL with 43 sacks and also ranked No. 5 in the league in sacks per pass attempt (7.8 percent). Additionally, Green Bay tallied 16 interceptions to rank No. 9 in the NFL, guiding them to a plus-five turnover margin, tied for No. 10 in the NFL.

The defensive unit was also proficient at keeping opponents off the scoreboard in 2015 as the Packers held 10 opponents to 20 points or less during the regular season, tied for No. 3 in the NFL. Overall, Green Bay surrendered just 20.2 points per game during the 2015 regular season, No. 12 in the league and the lowest since giving up 15.0 points per game in 2010.

The Packers' 41 sacks in 2014, tied for No. 9 in the NFL, were only part of the story as the defense registered at least six quarterback hits in 10 of 16 regular-season games. Green Bay was tied for No. 4 in the league for the most players to register at least three sacks, with six in 2014. The Packers also finished the regular season No. 3 with 110 points off takeaways and tied for No. 9 in the NFL with 29 takeaways. Green Bay finished the 2014 season with a league-best turnover margin of plus-14.

Despite missing the team's best pass rusher, LB Clay Matthews, for five games in 2013, the defense still finished the season with 44 sacks to tie for No. 8 in the NFL. Additionally, the defense finished the '13 campaign strong by forcing 12 turnovers over the last five games, which was tied for No. 3 in the NFL over that span. The Packers posted two or more takeaways in each of the last five games, the longest single-season streak by the club since a nine-game stretch in 2002.

The 2012 defense was led by Matthews and the pass rush as he tallied 13 sacks in just 12 games, helping the defense to 47 total sacks, good for No. 4 in the NFL. The sack total was also tied for fifth best in franchise history (since 1963). Green Bay was No. 4 in the NFL in opponent passer rating (76.8), while limiting its opponent to 20 points or less in eight of the last 10 regular-season games to propel the Packers to a No. 11 ranking in scoring defense (21.0 ppg). Green Bay finished the season tied for No. 8 in the NFL with 18 interceptions, contributing to a plus-7 turnover margin, good for No. 10 in the league in '12. Green Bay was the only team in the NFL to finish in the top 10 in the league in turnover differential each season from 2007-12.

In 2011, the defense was at its ball-hawking best as the Packers posted a league-high 31 interceptions, the second time in three seasons (2009) that they led the league in that category. The INT total was the most posted by Green Bay since it registered the same total in 1962. The Packers finished tied for the league lead with 38 total takeaways, leading to a plus-24 turnover ratio that ranked second in the league and tied for second in franchise history.

In 2010, the Packers ranked No. 2 in the NFL in scoring defense at 15.0 points per game, the team's best mark since leading the league in the category in 1996 (13.1). Green Bay was tied for No. 2 in the NFL with 47 sacks in '10, its highest league ranking since sacks began to be recorded as a team statistic in 1963.

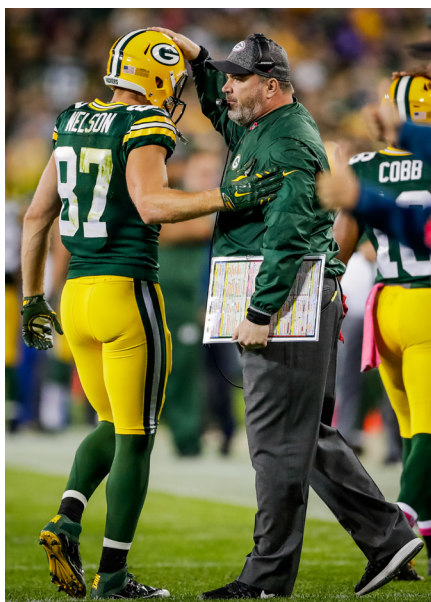

The defense improved from 20th in total yards allowed in '08 to second in '09, and from 26th in run defense to the top spot, becoming the first Green Bay defense to lead the league against the run and setting a franchise record by allowing just 83.3 yards rushing per contest. The defense also led the NFL in interceptions (30) and total takeaways (40) in '09.

The '09 season was not a smooth road back to playoff contention, however. Back-to-back losses in early November dropped the Packers to 4-4, and a promising season suddenly appeared in doubt. But McCarthy kept building on the identity that was forming – a team that could attack with multiple threats offensively, stop the run defensively and win the turnover battle – and led the Packers out of the adverse stretch to a 7-1 record over the second half of the schedule. Meanwhile, Rodgers earned his first Pro Bowl berth, nearly breaking the franchise's single-season record for passing yards, and veteran cornerback Charles Woodson was named the NFL Defensive Player of the Year.

Unfortunately, the late-season surge ended abruptly with a sudden-death overtime loss at Arizona in an NFC Wild Card contest, but McCarthy had gotten the Packers back on track toward the goal they would reach just a year later.

ON THE BRINK

McCarthy brought the Packers to the brink of accomplishing that Super Bowl goal in just two years. Coming off an 8-8 rookie season that ended with a momentum-building, four-game winning streak, McCarthy tied the Packers to a 13-3 mark in 2007 that was groundbreaking in many respects.

The Packers tied the then-franchise record for victories in the regular season and won the club's first NFC North Division title since 2004. They also captured a bye in the playoffs and advanced to the conference championship game for the first time in a decade. It all earned McCarthy 2007 NFL Coach of the Year awards from Motorola and NFL Alumni, and he also was runner-up in Coach of the Year voting from AP.

The championship he had set as the goal was within reach, as the Packers hosted the N.Y. Giants in the NFC title game on a frigid January day at Lambeau Field. The hard-fought, 23-20 overtime defeat was an opportunity missed, but one McCarthy vowed his team would learn from.

Green Bay went 13-3 and secured the team's first playoff bid since 1997, and McCarthy tied Mike Sherman for the most wins by a Green Bay coach in his first two seasons with 21.

Behind Brett Favre's superb final year in Green Bay and the emergence of Grant as the feature back, the Packers finished with the league's No. 2-ranked offense, their highest ranking since 1983. They also compiled season totals in points (435) and net yards (5,931) that rank sixth and seventh, respectively, on the franchise's all-time list.

The postseason began in startling fashion, with Grant fumbling twice in the first minute of the game to set up two Seattle scores for a 14-0 Seahawks lead in the NFC Divisional playoff. Drawing on a steadfastness that served the team well during some rough spots the previous year, McCarthy and the Packers never panicked and rallied for a dominant 42-20 victory in the snowy "winter wonderland" of Lambeau Field.

In advancing to the NFC Championship Game, McCarthy became the first Packers coach since Lombardi to lead the team to a title game in his second season at the helm.

Though the quest for that championship came up short, McCarthy had returned the Packers to playoff prominence just two years after the 4-12 season that preceded his arrival.

A LEADER OF QUARTERBACKS

In his first two seasons as head coach, McCarthy simultaneously oversaw a mini-renaissance of Favre's career and the development of Rodgers as his backup.

Charged with learning McCarthy's version of the West Coast offense and given more latitude in making decisions at the line of scrimmage, Favre concluded his brilliant Green Bay career with a 95.7 passer rating in 2007, his best in 11 years and fourth best in his career, while completing a then-career-high 66.5 percent of his passes.

Buying into McCarthy's aggressive but controlled approach, Favre's interceptions dropped from 29 in 2005 to 18 in 2006 to 15 in 2007. He finished second in the voting for what then would have been an unprecedented fourth NFL MVP award, and he subsequently passed the torch to Rodgers, his understudy for his final three years in Green Bay and McCarthy's prime pupil for the last eight seasons.

Since taking over as the starter in '08, Rodgers hasn't disappointed his main tutor or the team as he has developed into arguably the league's best quarterback. Rodgers has topped 4,000 yards passing six times (2008-09, 2011-12, 2014, 2016), which in '08, combined with Favre's total in '07, marked the first time in league history a team had two different quarterbacks throw for 4,000 yards in consecutive years. In the process, Rodgers also became the first quarterback in league history to surpass the 4,000-yard plateau in each of his first two seasons as a starter. In total, McCarthy has been on the coaching staff for eight of the 13 (1999, 2007-09, 2011-12, 2014, 2016) 4,000-yard passing seasons in franchise history.

Rodgers posted 21,332 passing yards from 2008-12 to set an NFL record for the most passing yards by a QB in his first five seasons as a starter, surpassing the previous mark held by Peyton Manning (20,618, 1998-2002). His career passer rating of 104.1 ranks No. 1 in NFL history, and he is the only QB in league history to post a 100-plus passer rating in six consecutive seasons (2009-14). Additionally, his 1.5 career interception percentage is tops in NFL history.

The 2016 season saw Rodgers become the first Green Bay quarterback to lead the NFL in TD passes (40) since Favre in 2003, his franchise-record fourth season (2011-12, 2014, 2016) with 35-plus TD passes (Favre, three, 1995-97). In the process he also became just the fourth QB in NFL history to record two seasons (also 2011) with 40-plus TD passes (Dan Marino, Peyton Manning, Drew Brees). Last season, Rodgers also threw for 4,428 yards, the sixth 4,000-yard passing season of his career, setting the franchise record as he surpassed Favre's mark of five 4,000-yard seasons. He also set the single-season franchise record for completions in 2016 with 401, surpassing Favre's mark of 372 in 2005. Most impressively, Rodgers only threw seven interceptions last season, marking his sixth season with 500-plus attempts/eight or fewer interceptions, the most in NFL history (Tom Brady, three; nine others with one).

After missing seven games in 2013 because of injury, Rodgers was again at his best in 2014 as he captured his second NFL MVP award under McCarthy. Rodgers' accomplishments that season were many; he threw for three-plus touchdowns eight times, recorded a 120-plus passer rating seven times and registered eight 300-yard passing games. Rodgers also became the first quarterback in NFL history to throw for 18-plus touchdowns with one or fewer INTs in the first seven games of the season, and his 13 games (min. 15 attempts) without an interception were the third most in a regular season in NFL history. He extended his NFL record by finishing the regular season with a passer rating above 100.0 for the sixth season in a row, with his 112.2 rating ranking as the second-best mark in a season in team history, trailing only his own rating of 122.5 in 2011. He once again finished the season ranked among the league leaders in several categories: second in passer rating (112.2), third in passing touchdowns (38) and first in TD/INT ratio (7.6).

McCarthy's work with the quarterbacks in 2013 was perhaps his best. After suffering a significant injury in Week 9 against the Bears, Rodgers was sidelined for the team's next seven games. Despite missing one of the league's best players, McCarthy still found a way to guide the Packers to their third straight NFC North title. In the process, it marked the first time a division winner had four different QBs (Rodgers, Seneca Wallace, Scott Tolzien, Matt Flynn) start at least one game that season since the 1987 Chicago Bears, and just the fourth time since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. Rodgers was at the top of his game in his nine contests in '13, finishing among the league leaders in several categories as he ranked No. 5 in passer rating (104.9), No. 2 in yards per attempt (8.74), No. 5 in completion percentage (66.6) and No. 3 in yards per completion (13.14).

In 2011, Rodgers and McCarthy teamed up to author one of the greatest offensive seasons in NFL history, highlighted by the former Cal standout's 122.5 passer rating that set an NFL single-season record. He finished the season connecting on 343 of 502 passes (68.3 percent) for 4,643 yards and a career-high 45 TDs with six INTs on his way to earning league MVP honors. His 45 TD passes obliterated the franchise single-season record (Favre, 39 in 1996) and is the sixth-highest total in NFL annals, while his 4,643 passing yards also set a new franchise record. He is the only 4,000-yard passer in NFL history to throw six or fewer INTs in that season, having done it twice.

Rodgers also set an NFL single-season record with 11 consecutive 110-rating games, topping 49ers QB Steve Young's mark of seven straight in 1994, and 12 consecutive 100-rating games, besting Manning's mark of nine in 2004. Rodgers finished the 2011 season ranked No. 1 in the league in yards per attempt (9.25) and TD/INT ratio (7.50), No. 2 in TD passes (45) and completion percentage (68.3) and No. 4 in yards per game (309.5).

Rodgers has also enjoyed success in the postseason under McCarthy, setting an NFL record with 10 passing TDs in his first three postseason starts. Rodgers also became only the fourth signal-caller to throw for 300 yards and three TDs with no INTs in a Super Bowl on his way to earning game MVP honors for Super Bowl XLV.

THE RIGHT FIT

With a personality to match his blue-collar hometown, McCarthy landed his first NFL head-coaching job in his kind of place.

A Pittsburgh native, McCarthy was named the 14th head coach of the Green Bay Packers on Jan. 12, 2006, the only step left to take after 13 years as an NFL assistant.

But while he previously had traveled through NFL cities such as Kansas City, New Orleans and San Francisco, it may be Green Bay that most resembles his native Pittsburgh. And if there was one word used to describe McCarthy's hiring in his first days with the Packers, it was that he was the right "fit," both for a town and a team looking to turn around a disappointing 4-12 season in 2005.

The way McCarthy fits Green Bay, however, goes beyond the toughness in his personality, down-to-earth demeanor, and pride in his upbringing.

He not only spent one of those 13 previous years in the NFL with Green Bay, but he took over the Packers already well-versed in the West Coast offense, with a reputation for developing offensive talent, particularly at the quarterback position.

McCarthy is known for taking a hands-on teaching approach with young players and is well-respected around the league, in part because he called plays for six seasons as an offensive coordinator before becoming a head coach. Plus, he has tutored an impressive roster of NFL quarterbacks.

While two of the biggest names he has worked with, Favre in Green Bay and Joe Montana in Kansas City, were at or beyond their peak years at the time, McCarthy has played at least a part in the development of signal callers Aaron Brooks, Jake Delhomme, Matt Hasselbeck, Flynn, Marc Bulger, Rich Gannon and Elvis Grbac.

The entire stable of quarterbacks that McCarthy has worked with, which also includes Jeff Blake, Steve Bono and Dave Krieg, has combined for 41 career Pro Bowl selections, 10 Super Bowl starts, and eight Most Valuable Player awards.

General Manager Ted Thompson heavily weighed McCarthy's track record with quarterbacks when he hired him the following year, knowing that since the post-Favre era was inevitable, the right tutelage at the game's most important position would be key to a smooth and successful transition.

PAYING HIS DUES

Much like those players he worked with who rose to prominence, McCarthy paid plenty of dues along the way to his first head-coaching job.

He learned a disciplined and no-nonsense approach to life at an early age. His father, Joe, was a longtime firefighter and police officer who also owned a bar near a Pittsburgh steel mill. McCarthy worked odd jobs at the bar as a teen. It was interacting with the hard-working tavern clientele while also watching a father in uniform dedicated to public service that helped make McCarthy proud of where he came from.

After his playing career as a tight end at Baker University (Kan.) ended, his 30-year coaching career began as a linebackers coach at Fort Hays State (Kan.) in 1987. He cracked the Division I ranks two years later as a volunteer assistant at the University of Pittsburgh.

It was there he displayed the will and determination to make it in the coaching profession, working unpaid on the football field by day and collecting tolls along the Pennsylvania Turnpike during the graveyard shift to make ends meet.

He soon moved into a paid position at Pitt assisting with the quarterbacks, and then coaching the wide receivers, before Panthers head coach Paul Hackett recommended him to the Kansas City Chiefs when they hired Hackett as offensive coordinator in 1993. McCarthy joined Hackett on the Chiefs' staff as a quality-control assistant.

McCarthy considers Hackett the biggest influence in his coaching career, having learned the West Coast offense from him and then installing it himself as offensive coordinator in New Orleans.

It was under Hackett's wing that McCarthy developed the attention to detail, scouting and game-planning skills that would help him move up the NFL ranks.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

The third-youngest head coach in the NFL when he was hired at age 42 (the Saints' Sean Payton was seven weeks younger and the Jets' Eric Mangini was 35), McCarthy took over a team coming off its first losing season since 1991, before Favre arrived as quarterback.

Thompson made it clear when he hired McCarthy he wasn't looking for just an X's and O's guy. He was looking for someone who would impress him with a variety of qualities, including leadership ability, toughness, football knowledge and an awareness of the Green Bay organization and the team's unique place within the NFL and the local community.

McCarthy, who had interviewed for the Cleveland Browns' head-coaching job five years earlier but admits he wasn't necessarily ready then, fit the bill. In his introductory news conference, he spoke of how taking over the Packers was like buying his "dream house," with the foundation, tradition and resources to help him make the team a championship contender once again.

McCarthy emphasized he didn't feel the Packers were in a rebuilding mode at all, but there was work to be done right away.

He wasted no time constructing the environment he wanted for his team, installing an offseason workout program that saw a then-record attendance, which spoke volumes about the level of respect he quickly commanded as a head coach.

CAREER AS NFL ASSISTANT

McCarthy broke into the NFL as a quality-control assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1993. It was then he worked with Montana before moving up to quarterbacks coach from 1995-98, working with starters Gannon, Grbac and Bono. The trio's total of 52 interceptions marked the lowest total in the AFC over that four-year span.

After working with McCarthy from 1995-98, Gannon went on to earn all four of his Pro Bowl selections, the 2002 league MVP award and a start in Super Bowl XXXVII with the Raiders. Gannon credits McCarthy with helping him take the quarterback's game to a higher level.

"He's the guy that really helped catapult my career," Gannon said. "He was the guy who really taught me the West Coast system of football. He really taught me how to prepare for a game, taught me how to watch film, how to break down an opponent, how to study. It was really those things I took with me to Oakland.

"There was never a doubt in my mind he'd be a head coach. He's a great play-caller, great working with the quarterbacks. He's a tough guy, a guy willing to do the work, and he's a leader."

When Gannon left the Chiefs for Oakland in 1999, McCarthy departed Kansas City to become Green Bay's quarterbacks coach. That year, the Packers ranked No. 7 in the NFL in passing and No. 9 in total offense. Favre threw for 4,091 yards, the third-highest total in his career at that point.

The following year, McCarthy began a successful five-year stint as the offensive coordinator of the New Orleans Saints. It became the most prolific offensive era to that point in the team's four decades, as the Saints set 10 offensive team records and 25 individual marks.

Among the more notable accomplishments, the Saints led the NFC with 432 points and 49 touchdowns in 2002, both team records at the time. In his first season in 2000, McCarthy was named NFC Assistant Coach of the Year by USA Today.

That year the Saints produced their first 1,000-yard receiver in eight years in Joe Horn, and their first 1,000-yard rusher in 10 years in Ricky Williams. After that drought of 1,000-yard rushers, the Saints had one (either Williams or Deuce McAllister) in each of McCarthy's five seasons running the offense.

In 2005, McCarthy served as offensive coordinator for the San Francisco 49ers.

COLLEGE COACHING & PLAYING CAREER

McCarthy began his six-year collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at Fort Hays State in Hays, Kan., in 1987, just after completing his playing career at nearby Baker University in Baldwin City, Kan.

At Baker, McCarthy earned a degree in business administration and was an all-conference tight end and senior captain in 1986, helping lead the Wildcats to an NAIA Division II national runner-up finish. He was inducted into the school's athletic hall of fame in October 2007.

At Fort Hays State under head coach John Vincent, McCarthy coached linebackers for two years while earning a master's degree in sports administration.

The return to his hometown came in 1989 under Pittsburgh head coach Mike Gottfried, now an ESPN college football analyst, followed by three years under Hackett with the Panthers.

As quarterbacks coach, McCarthy worked with Alex Van Pelt, now the Packers' quarterbacks coach, as he topped the school's career and single-season records for passing yards established by Dan Marino.

PERSONAL

Born Michael John McCarthy on Nov. 10, 1963, in Pittsburgh, he grew up one of five children in the Irish-Catholic family of father Joe and mother Ellen in Greenfield, a Pittsburgh neighborhood just a couple of miles from downtown. He graduated from Bishop Boyle High School in Homestead, Pa.

McCarthy's family includes wife Jessica and their five children.

Since returning to Green Bay in 2006, McCarthy has immersed himself in the local community and beyond through charitable donations and participation in numerous philanthropic events. His local-event participation included his nine-year involvement in the Mike McCarthy Cystic Fibrosis Celebrity Golf Open. The golf outing, which was hosted by the current Packers head coach, benefited local and statewide cystic fibrosis organizations. The tournament was originally started by Lindy Infante.

Perhaps closest to his heart is the Mike & Jessica McCarthy Golf Invitational. Established in June 2010, the tournament benefits the American Family Children's Hospital in Madison, Wis. In just eight years, the event has raised funds that have helped the hospital expand with two new floors, a neonatal intensive-care unit and additional pediatric beds. Coach McCarthy and his family are committed to further developing and improving resources and facilities at the hospital to meet the needs of sick children.

Including projected contributions in 2017, the McCarthy Family Foundation has made donations to benefit numerous charities, projects and institutions during his 11-plus seasons as head coach. McCarthy established the foundation with the intent of fostering a long-term philanthropic commitment by his family beyond his NFL career. Beneficiaries have included organizations throughout Wisconsin, Kansas and his hometown of Pittsburgh. Some of the organizations that have benefited from the foundation, or from McCarthy personally, include: Autism Society of Northwest Wisconsin, Baker University, Cure Autism Now Foundation, Green Bay Boys and Girls Club, Greenfield Baseball Association, Greenfield Organization, Jackie Nitschke Center, Little Sisters of the Poor, Seven Loaves Project, St. Mary's Hospital Medical Center, St. Rosalia Academy, Midwest Athletes Against Childhood Cancer and the American Red Cross.

Additionally, McCarthy has served as honorary chairperson and participated in numerous charitable events around the state, including serving as honorary chairperson for the local Cerebral Palsy Telethon and working with the American Heart Association on its Red Cap campaign to recognize heart disease and stroke survivors and to raise awareness of those conditions.

In the past, he has participated in the Lombardi Award of Excellence Dinner Ball, which supports the Vince Lombardi Charitable Funds in the fight against cancer, and served as host of the Green & Gold Gala, a fundraiser for Family Services of Northeast Wisconsin. He has also spent time visiting cancer patients at Aurora St. Luke's Medical Center in Milwaukee.

Among several other events, McCarthy has participated in the Jerry Parins Cruise for Cancer Motorcycle Ride, the Edgar Bennett Celebrity Bowl-A-Thon, the team's regular Make-A-Wish Foundation practice and game visits, the 2016 Men for All Seasons Green Bay Men's Conference and various local Get Motivated seminars.

McCarthy was honored with the Distinguished Service Award at the Lee Remmel Sports Awards Banquet in April 2008, and then in the fall as the 2008 Person of the Year from his native Greenfield Neighborhood. He was also voted by the fans as the 2007 Motorola Coach of the Year, and in 2011 was named the Maxwell Football Club's NFL Coach of the Year.

WINSTON MOSS

ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH/LINEBACKERS

19th Season as NFL Coach • 12th Packers Season

Entering his 30th season in the NFL, 19th as an NFL assistant coach and 12th with the Packers, Winston Moss will serve as associate head coach for the third season in 2017. In addition, he continues to have responsibility for all linebackers for the fourth consecutive season, a role he originally worked in from 2006-08.

Named to the assistant head coach post by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Jan. 15, 2007, Moss impressed McCarthy with his leadership skills when the two worked together for five seasons in New Orleans and again in 2006 in Green Bay. His position responsibility was modified to inside linebackers from 2009-13 with the switch to a 3-4 defense. In February 2014, Moss' position title shifted back to all linebackers.

Since Moss was named assistant head coach in '07, the Packers rank No. 1 in the NFL in interceptions (206), No. 4 in total takeaways (285), No. 1 in opponent passer rating (79.7) and No. 7 in points allowed per game (21.2).

Last season, fifth-year LB Nick Perry emerged as a consistent force under Moss as he registered a team-high 11 sacks, despite missing two games. His 11 sacks ranked tied for No. 8 in the NFL and he became the 11th player in team history (since 1982) to register a double-digit sack total in a season. Additionally, Perry posted a half-sack or more in 10 games during the 2016 season, tied for No. 2 in the NFL.

The 2015 campaign saw Moss oversee the continued evolution of Clay Matthews, who made his sixth career Pro Bowl and his first at inside linebacker. Despite playing inside full time, Matthews still ranked second on the team with 6½ sacks and led the team with 14 QB hits. He also ranked second on the team with a career-high 84 tackles. Under Moss, LB Julius Peppers continued to excel in his second season with the Packers after transitioning from DE in 2014. Peppers led the Packers with 10½ sacks in 2015, earning his ninth selection to the Pro Bowl, his first as a Packer, and first as a linebacker.

In 2014, Moss helped utilize Matthews in a variety of roles. Matthews made his fifth career Pro Bowl while starting games at LOLB (four), ROLB (six) and MLB (six). He led the team with 11.0 sacks, finished No. 2 in pressures (21) and was tied for No. 2 in QB hits (17). Matthews was one of only three players in the NFL with 10-plus sacks, an interception and a forced fumble (Texans DE J.J. Watt, Broncos DE DeMarcus Ware) in 2014.

Moss played a role in the acclimation of Peppers to a 3-4 outside linebacker in 2014. Peppers set a career high with 11 passes defended, led the team in both forced fumbles (four) and fumble recoveries (three), and tied for the team lead (Casey Hayward) in takeaways with five (three fumble recoveries, two INTs). He finished tied for No. 2 on the team with 17 QB hits and No. 3 with 17 pressures. Peppers' two interception touchdowns, the highest single-season total by a Packers LB, tied for No. 2 in the NFL, and his 101 interception return yards were No. 1 among linebackers/defensive linemen.

Moss tutored A.J. Hawk, who became the franchise's all-time tackle leader (1,118), during Hawk's nine seasons in Green Bay (2006-14). Hawk led the team in tackles five times during his career, which tied him with LB Nick Barnett for the franchise record.

In 2013, Hawk paced the club with 153 tackles, the second-highest total of his career behind only his 155 tackles as a rookie in '06. Playing the "Buck" LB position, Hawk also registered a career-high five sacks, an interception, a fumble recovery, a forced fumble and five passes defended.

In 2012, Hawk led the team with 142 tackles and added three sacks. With Desmond Bishop (preseason opener) and D.J. Smith (Week 6) lost to season-ending injuries, Brad Jones was inserted into the starting lineup at "Mack" LB after playing on the outside in his first three seasons. Jones started the final 10 games and finished the season with a career-high 102 tackles, two sacks, six passes defended and a forced fumble.

In 2011, Bishop entered the season as the starter for the first time in his career and went on to be named a Pro Bowl alternate, registering career highs with a team-leading 142 tackles and five sacks despite missing three games due to a calf injury.

In 2010, Moss was a member of a staff that helped Green Bay finish No. 2 in the NFL in scoring defense at 15.0 points per game, the team's best mark since 1996 (13.1). The Packers finished No. 5 in overall defense, the team's second straight top-five ranking.

After Barnett was lost for the season in Week 4 of 2010 due to a wrist injury, Bishop stepped into the starting role at MLB for the remainder of the season and flourished under Moss' direction. Bishop finished second on the team with 121 tackles, while posting three sacks. His career-high 10 passes defended were the most by a Packers LB since John Anderson recorded 15 in 1981.

Hawk played in all 16 contests with 15 starts at BLB and assumed more of an every-down role with nickel LB Brandon Chillar limited to just eight games due to a shoulder injury. Hawk paced the team with 134 tackles, his fifth straight season either leading the team or finishing second in the category. He added a career-high three interceptions, which was tied for the lead among NFL linebackers, and matched his career best with nine passes defended to earn Pro Bowl recognition for the first time in his career.

In 2009, Moss was part of a staff that guided the defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the NFL, the highest ranking since the 1996 team finished as the No. 1 defense. Green Bay led the NFL in rushing defense for the first time in team history, and its average of 83.3 rushing yards allowed per game set a team record for any season. Barnett returned from a serious knee injury to start all 16 games at MLB and lead the team in tackles with 122, a franchise-record fifth time in his career (later matched by Hawk) that he led the squad in tackles, and also register a career-high four sacks.

In 2008, Hawk made a rather seamless transition to middle linebacker to fill Barnett's spot after he was lost for the season to a torn ACL in Week 10, while Bishop and Chillar both contributed at Hawk's former weak-side position. In 2007, Barnett was named second-team All-Pro after leading the Packers in tackles for the fourth time in five seasons and posting a then-career-high 3½ sacks along with two INTs and numerous big plays late in games.

Moss spent a total of six seasons with the Saints, where he also coached linebackers. Originally hired by the Saints in 2000 as defensive assistant/quality control, he was promoted to linebackers coach near the end of that season to replace John Bunting, who departed to become head coach at the University of North Carolina. Moss began his coaching career in 1998 as a defensive quality-control assistant for the Seattle Seahawks, the club for whom he played his final three NFL seasons.

A veteran of 11 seasons and 155 NFL games (146 starts), the former linebacker played for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1987-90) and the Los Angeles Raiders (1991-94), in addition to the Seahawks (1995-97). Over the course of his career, Moss recorded 768 tackles, 20½ sacks, six INTs and a fumble recovery for a TD.

In 1993, when Moss led the Raiders in tackles on a team that advanced to the AFC Divisional playoffs, he earned the Ed Block Courage Award after a vote of his teammates. Moss also was a three-time defensive captain and received the 1996 NFL Players Association Unsung Hero Award while with the Seahawks.

A four-year letterman at the University of Miami (Fla.), he and current Packers senior personnel executive Alonzo Highsmith helped the Hurricanes win the national championship after the 1983 season under Howard Schnellenberger. Moss was inducted into the University of Miami Sports Hall of Fame in April 2015.

Born Dec. 24, 1965, in Miami, Fla., Moss attended Miami (Fla.) Southridge High School and was an all-state linebacker. He and his wife, Zoila, have three sons, Winston Jr., 24, Robert, 18, and Marcus, 16, and two daughters, Victoria, 22, and Isabella, 9.

RON WOLF'S LEGACY AS A MENTOR

Former Packers general manager Ron Wolf's many accomplishments in Green Bay have been well-documented since his retirement in 2000. A 2015 Pro Football Hall of Fame inductee, Wolf engineered one of the most impressive turnarounds in the history of the sport after assuming control of the Packers' football operation late in 1991.

In the nine seasons under his leadership, Wolf's teams posted a 92-52 regular-season record, played in two Super Bowls (highlighted by their victory in Super Bowl XXXI, the franchise's first in 29 years), and accounted for seven consecutive winning seasons and six straight playoff berths. All of that success, and yet Wolf's enduring contribution to the organization and the league might lie in an entirely different realm.

Wolf was initially ushered into the business and mentored by former Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders owner Al Davis in the 1960s. Following Wolf's ascent, he placed an emphasis on paying that stewardship forward for young personnel types looking to develop the same knack for talent evaluation and procurement associated with his own career in the National Football League. Throughout his time at different stops, he shared his wealth of knowledge and training with scouts of all ages, men who have since gone on to have remarkable careers of their own running personnel departments across the league.

Most impressively, Wolf's lineage currently features general managers representing four NFL franchises, in addition to several other senior-level evaluators for other clubs and many of the high-ranking members of the personnel staff in Green Bay.

A look at the collection of personnel men who have studied under Wolf:

EDGAR BENNETT

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

13th Season as NFL Coach • 17th Packers Season

Edgar Bennett begins his 25th NFL season in 2017, his 23rd in Green Bay and his third as offensive coordinator after four years as the Packers' wide receivers coach and six seasons as running backs coach.

Named to his current position on Feb. 12, 2015, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, after coaching wide receivers from 2011-14, Bennett originally became a position coach on Jan. 28, 2005, for the running backs. He was renamed to that post on Jan. 17, 2006, for McCarthy's first season at the helm. He continues his "third" Green Bay tour after initially rejoining the club to head the player development department (2001-04) and after a tenure as one of the most productive running backs in Green Bay history (1992-96).

In Bennett's second season as offensive coordinator in 2016, he helped guide the Packers to their eighth consecutive postseason berth (2009-16), extending the franchise record. Green Bay finished the season ranked No. 4 in the NFL in scoring (27.0 ppg) and No. 8 in total offense (368.8 ypg). Bennett also continued to emphasize the importance of ball security as Green Bay's 17 giveaways were tied for the fifth fewest in team history and tied for the eighth fewest in the NFL last season.

In 2014, Bennett helped wide receivers Jordy Nelson and Randall Cobb combine for one of the best single-season performances in NFL history. Cobb and Nelson became the first duo in league annals to both record 90-plus receptions, 1,200-plus yards and 12-plus receiving touchdowns. Both set numerous career highs, with Nelson setting a franchise record for receiving yards (1,519) while finishing with the fourth-most receptions (98) in Packers history. Nelson also recorded the third-most TD receptions (13) in his career (15 in 2011, 14 in 2016) and tied for the seventh most in team history. Cobb reached the 1,000-yard receiving mark for the first time in his career (1,287), and his career-best 91 receptions were the seventh most in team history at the time. Cobb and Nelson became the first pair of Packers players to both catch 90-plus passes in the same season.

On top of aiding Cobb and Nelson to Pro Bowl seasons, Bennett also tutored 2014 second-round draft choice Davante Adams, whose 446 yards on 38 receptions (11.7 avg.) ranked third on the team. Adams racked up 121 yards on six receptions in a Week 13 victory over New England, the best receiving-yardage total by a Packers rookie since Sterling Sharpe's 124-yard effort vs. Detroit in 1988. In his first postseason contest (vs. Dallas), Adams registered a team-high 117 receiving yards and a TD on seven receptions (16.7 avg.). Both his receiving-yardage total and his reception total were franchise playoff records by a rookie.

In 2013, the Green Bay receiving corps accounted for 3,319 yards, the second most in a season in franchise history and an average of 207.4 per game that ranked No. 2 in the NFL. Fronted by Nelson, the group overcame its share of challenges, including injuries within its own ranks and the play of four different starting quarterbacks on the season after Rodgers missed seven games following a collarbone injury suffered in Week 9. Having fully recovered from an injury-plagued 2012, Nelson turned in a stellar season in 2013, posting team highs with 85 catches, 1,314 yards (15.5 avg.) and eight touchdowns.

Following the record-setting season turned in by the wide-receiver group during his first year as its leader in 2011, Bennett's charges overcame injuries and lineup shuffling to have another resoundingly productive season in 2012. In the absence of Greg Jennings and Nelson, James Jones and Cobb ascended to the forefront of the team's passing attack. Jones put it all together under Bennett's direction in 2012, posting career highs at the time with 64 catches, 734 yards and an NFL-leading 14 TDs, becoming the first Packer to lead the league in receiving TDs since Sharpe (18) in 1994. A uniquely versatile threat, Cobb emerged as the team's leading receiver in just his second season, catching a team-best 80 passes for 954 yards and eight TDs.

Under Bennett's watch, the group posted one of the most productive seasons in franchise history in 2011, setting new team records and finishing first in the NFL among receiving corps in yards (3,667), yards per game (229.2) and TDs (38). The touchdown total was the second highest in league history at the time by a receiver group, and all five players at the position posted 25 or more catches for the first time in franchise annals.

On an individual level in 2011, Bennett helped guide Jennings to his second consecutive Pro Bowl berth during a season that saw the sixth-year pro on pace for several career highs before a knee injury sidelined him for the final three regular-season games. Additionally, he was instrumental in the development and emergence of Nelson, who in his fourth season posted career highs at the time in every major statistical category and was named an alternate for the Pro Bowl. Nelson led the team with 68 catches for 1,263 yards and an impressive 15 TDs, the third most in team history.

In what is a true testament to the intense emphasis on ball security that marked Bennett's career as a player and now as a coach, the receiver group committed just two turnovers from 2011-14, despite a combined 971 touches on offense.

Prior to becoming wide receivers coach, Bennett oversaw the development of several key running backs in Green Bay's stable from 2005-10.

James Starks was a sixth-round draft pick in 2010 who missed all of training camp and the first 11 games of his rookie season recovering from a hamstring injury. But when Starks was healthy, Bennett got him ready to go. Starks kick-started the team's Super Bowl run with a franchise rookie playoff-record 123 yards in an NFC Wild Card game at Philadelphia (Jan. 9).

The rookie was particularly vital down the stretch after Ryan Grant suffered a season-ending ankle injury in Week 1. Prior to the injury, Grant had become just the third running back in team history to eclipse 1,200 yards in back-to-back seasons in 2008-09.

Grant rapidly progressed in 2007, his first season with the Packers, after coming to the team in a trade at the end of training camp. Grant emerged from a backfield-by-committee to become the starter at midseason, went on to rush for 956 yards (including five 100-yard performances), and then set Green Bay postseason records with 201 yards and three TDs in a playoff victory over Seattle.

In his first season as a full-time coach in 2005, Bennett saw the team start five halfbacks and feature six after season-ending injuries claimed Green and Najeh Davenport (ankle). Faced with steep adversity, Bennett took Samkon Gado, an undrafted player fresh off the practice squad, and guided him to what was at the time the second-most productive season by a rookie running back in franchise history.

Initially joining the club on April 10, 2001, as its director of player development, Bennett spent four years helping players become acclimated to their roles as Green Bay Packers, both on and off the field. Bennett's efforts in this area were recognized in 2003 as the Packers' player development department was named the best in the NFC.

Green Bay's fourth-round draft selection in 1992, Bennett is the 10th-ranked rusher in Packers history. The former Florida State athlete gained 3,353 yards over his five seasons in green and gold (1992-96) and was the starting running back for the 1996 Packers team that captured the Super Bowl XXXI title. In 1995, he became only the fifth player in team annals to rush for 1,000 yards in a season (1,067) and the first since Terdell Middleton in 1978. He also continues to hold the club single-season record for receptions by a running back with 78, set in 1994. His accomplishments were honored in 2005 with his induction into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame.

After a torn Achilles' heel suffered in the Packers' 1997 preseason opener ended his season, a successfully rehabbed Bennett signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent in 1998 and led the Bears in rushing that season with 611 yards. After one more season with Chicago, Bennett retired from football in 2000.

A four-year starter at fullback for Florida State (1987, 1989-91), Bennett holds a bachelor's degree in social science, with a primary emphasis in political science and a secondary emphasis in sociology. Previously, he was a first-team all-state back at Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville, where he played with former Packers safety LeRoy Butler, who later also would be his teammate at FSU and in Green Bay. Bennett was inducted into the Florida State Athletic Hall of Fame in 2005.

Bennett and his wife, Mindy, have a son, Edgar IV, and a daughter, Elyse Morgan, and live in Green Bay. In 2003, he created the Edgar Bennett Celebrity Bowl-A-Thon, an event that brings together Packers players, coaches and staff. In recent years, the event has supported Families of Children With Cancer, a foundation that gives financial and social support to local families whose children are receiving treatments for cancer or bone marrow failure. In its initial year, the Bowl-A-Thon supported the March of Dimes. In May 2006, Bennett received the Nice Guy Award at the Doug Jirschele Sports Awards Banquet in Clintonville, Wis.

MULTIPLE 100-YARD RUSHERS IN SAME GAME

In the 2008 regular-season finale, two Packers topped 100 yards rushing, a feat which has been accomplished only twice by the team in the past 31 seasons. Ryan Grant (106) and DeShawn Wynn (106 yards) became the fifth pair in Packers history to accomplish the feat.

DOM CAPERS

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

32nd NFL Season · Ninth Packers Season

Entering his 32nd season in the NFL, Dom Capers begins his ninth year with the Packers in 2017 as the club's defensive coordinator.

Named to his position Jan. 19, 2009, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Capers is one of the most experienced coaches in the league, spending time with seven different NFL franchises before coming to Green Bay.

Since Capers took over as defensive coordinator in 2009, Green Bay ranks No. 1 in the NFL in interceptions (165), No. 4 in total takeaways (229), No. 5 in opponent passer rating (81.0), No. 3 in sacks (328) and No. 8 in points allowed per game (21.2).

Capers' defensive formula, pressuring the quarterback and creating turnovers, was evident once again in 2016, as he helped guide the Packers to their franchise-record eighth consecutive postseason berth (2009-16) and fifth NFC North title in six years. Led by LB Nick Perry's career-high 11 sacks, Capers' defense ranked tied for No. 6 in the NFL last season with 40 sacks. It marked the sixth time in the last seven seasons that Green Bay finished in the top 10 in the league in that category. The Packers also ranked tied for No. 4 in the NFL with 17 interceptions in 2016, guiding them to a plus-eight turnover margin, which ranked No. 6 in the NFL. Most impressively, during Green Bay's six-game winning streak to close out the regular season, the Packers forced a league-leading 15 turnovers over that span.

Capers' unit was also proficient against the run last season, ranking No. 8 in the NFL while surrendering just 94.7 yards per game on the ground. That mark also ranked tied for the seventh-lowest average in franchise history.

Since Capers joined the staff, Green Bay defensive players have made 17 appearances in the Pro Bowl, eighth most in the NFL since 2009. The latest defender to join the list was third-year S Ha Ha Clinton-Dix, who made his first career Pro Bowl in 2016. His career-best five interceptions last season were tied for No. 5 in the NFL and tied for No. 1 among safeties.

In 2015, the Packers were tied for No. 7 in the NFL with 43 sacks while also ranking fifth in the league in sacks per pass attempt (7.8 percent). Additionally, Green Bay tallied 16 interceptions to rank ninth in the NFL, guiding them to a plus-five turnover margin, tied for 10th in the NFL. LB Clay Matthews made his sixth career Pro Bowl as a member of Capers' defense in 2015 and first as an ILB. He was joined by LB Julius Peppers, making his first appearance as a Packer and ninth overall.

In 2014, the Packers' 41 sacks tied for No. 9 in the NFL as six different players registered at least three sacks, which was tied for No. 4 in the league. The Packers also finished the 2014 campaign tied for No. 9 in the NFL with 29 takeaways and No. 3 with 110 points off takeaways. Green Bay's plus-14 turnover margin was best in the NFL in 2014.

Despite missing Matthews for five games in 2013, Capers' unit still finished the season with 44 sacks to tie for No. 8 in the NFL. Additionally, the defense finished the 2013 campaign strong by forcing 12 turnovers in the last five games, which was tied for No. 3 in the NFL over that span. The Packers posted two or more takeaways in each of the final five games, the longest single-season streak by the club since a nine-game stretch in 2002.

In 2011, the Packers led the league in INTs (31) for the second time in three seasons (also 2009), and tied San Francisco for most total takeaways (38). Capers' defense was well-represented in the Pro Bowl with Matthews, NT B.J. Raji and CB Charles Woodson all being honored, the first time since 1967 that the Packers had a defensive lineman, a linebacker and a defensive back earn Pro Bowl recognition in the same season.

In 2010, Capers coordinated a unit that finished No. 2 in the league in scoring defense, allowing just 15.0 points per game en route to winning Super Bowl XLV. That was the team's best ranking since finishing No. 1 in 1996 (13.1 ppg), and the 24 TDs allowed were the team's fewest since 1996 as well (19). The Packers also finished No. 5 in overall defense (309.1 yards per game), which, coupled with the team's No. 2 ranking in 2009, gave the Packers a top-five overall defense in consecutive years for the first time since 1968-69.

That No. 2 ranking in Capers' first season, when he guided the transition to the 3-4 scheme, highlighted one of the biggest statistical turnarounds in franchise history, as the Packers improved from the No. 20 spot in 2008. They also ranked No. 1 against the run in 2009 after a No. 26 ranking in that category before Capers' arrival. That top ranking in rushing defense was a first in franchise history, and the average of 83.3 rushing yards per game set a team record. In 2009, the Packers also led the NFL with 40 takeaways and 30 INTs, the first time Green Bay led the league in INTs since 1965.

Under Capers' tutelage, Woodson posted perhaps his finest all-around season in 2009 as he was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year by The Associated Press and was selected to virtually every all-pro team. It was the third time in Capers' career as a defensive coordinator that one of his players earned the top defensive honor from AP, as Woodson joined Miami DE Jason Taylor (2006) and Pittsburgh CB Rod Woodson (1993). Capers nearly had a fourth protégé win the award in 2010, as Matthews finished runner-up in the voting to Pittsburgh S Troy Polamalu.

Capers was honored with an award of his own in '09 as he was named Coordinator of the Year by Sporting News in a vote of 53 current NFL head coaches and league executives.

Capers joined the Packers after one season with the New England Patriots as special assistant – secondary. Prior to that, he had defensive-coordinator responsibilities for two seasons with the Miami Dolphins, holding the titles of special assistant to the head coach (2006) and defensive coordinator (2007). After inheriting a defense that had allowed 317.0 total yards per game (No. 18) in 2005, Capers made an immediate impact as Miami finished fourth in overall defense (289.1 ypg) in 2006.

Capers served as the head coach of the expansion Houston Texans for the first five seasons of the franchise's history. He was hired in January 2001, more than a year before Houston's inaugural season in 2002.

From 1999-2000, Capers was the defensive coordinator in Jacksonville, where, under his guidance, the Jaguars improved from 25th in the NFL in total defense in 1998 to fourth in 1999. Jacksonville also allowed the fewest points (217) in the NFL in 1999, and Capers was named NFL Assistant Coach of the Year by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA and USA Today.

Capers served as a head coach for the first time in his career from 1995-98 with the expansion Carolina Panthers, guiding that team from its origin to the NFC title game in just two seasons. In 1996, Carolina won its last seven games en route to a 12-4 record and the NFC West title. The Panthers defeated the defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys in the divisional playoffs before falling to the Packers at Lambeau Field in the NFC Championship. Capers was honored with all of the major coach of the year awards in '96, including the AP's honor.

Prior to taking over in Carolina, Capers served as a defensive coordinator for the Pittsburgh Steelers from 1992-94, the first time in his coaching career that he ran a defense. His unit ranked third in the NFL in total defense in 1993, second in 1994, and the Steelers won the AFC Central in 1992 and 1994. Pittsburgh finished in the top 10 in scoring defense in all three of Capers' seasons with the club, including No. 2 rankings in 1992 and 1994.

Capers' first NFL coaching stop came with the New Orleans Saints, where he served as the defensive backs coach for six seasons (1986-91). He helped the Saints earn their first three playoff berths in franchise history, and he worked under head coach Jim Mora, whom he also assisted with the Philadelphia/Baltimore Stars of the USFL from 1984-85 as the Stars won the league title both seasons.

Capers began his coaching career by spending 12 seasons at the collegiate level, beginning with a three-year stint as a graduate assistant at Kent State (1972-74). He went on to coach defensive backs at Hawaii (1975-76), San Jose State (1977), California (1978-79), Tennessee (1980-81) and Ohio State (1982-83).

Capers played safety and linebacker for Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, from 1968-71, and graduated with a degree in physical education and a minor in psychology. He also earned his master's degree in administration from Kent State. In May 2012, Capers delivered the commencement address at Mount Union and was awarded an honorary doctorate of humane letters.

Capers grew up in Buffalo, Ohio, where he was a star athlete at Meadowbrook High School. He hosted an annual charity golf tournament for 13 years (1995-2007) in the area to raise money for the Southeastern Ohio Regional Medical Center's cardiac rehab unit, and for a college scholarship in the name of Dale Dickson, Capers' former high school football coach who died of a heart attack.

Born Aug. 7, 1950, in Cambridge, Ohio, Capers lives in Green Bay with his wife, Karen.

RON WOLF'S STAMP ON PACKERS HISTORY

Ron Wolf arrived in Green Bay Nov. 27, 1991, with a mandate to rescue the Green and Gold from a quarter-century of mediocrity, an assignment which prompted him to assert, "I was brought here to win."

And win, in the decade to follow, the Packers did – in large part because of his leadership and the "cast" he assembled to execute one of the most electrifying turnarounds in NFL annals ... rewardingly punctuated by Green Bay's first Super Bowl victory in nearly three decades and back-to-back appearances in professional football's ultimate game.

During the history-making process, he made a more profound impact upon the Packers organization than anyone since the revered Vince Lombardi, who arrived in Green Bay with a similar mission 32 years earlier. Over Wolf's 1992-2000 tenure, the Packers compiled the NFL's second-best regular-season record, a 92-52 mark for a .639 percentage, recorded seven straight winning seasons and made six consecutive playoff appearances.

He converted the Green and Gold from perennial also-rans into consistent winners, exemplified by the fact they also have mounted the NFL's second-best regular-season won-lost record since the 1993 institution of free agency (225-126-1, .641).

Wolf's aggressive stewardship, launched with the hiring of 49ers offensive coordinator Mike Holmgren as head coach and the acquisition of Brett Favre as a franchise quarterback in 1992, is perhaps no better illustrated than by the Packers' immediate, 9-7 turnaround in 1992 – his first year on the job – after the team had been a dismal 4-12 in 1991 and 6-10 in 1990 ... a transformation which brought him recognition as NFL Executive of the Year by Sporting News.

Wolf, reflecting upon the overall record from his perspective on the day he announced his retirement, observed with pardonable satisfaction: "What people said couldn't happen here ... happened here (building a winner in Green Bay) ... I'm proud of that."

A statistical glance at some notable team figures, over the nine years before – and after – Wolf took control:

| 31-40-1 | W-L-T, Home Games | 60-12-0 |

MARK LOVAT

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING COORDINATOR

19th NFL Season · 19th Packers Season

Mark Lovat is now in his 19th year with the Packers and his eighth as the club's strength and conditioning coordinator. Promoted to his current position Feb. 15, 2010, Lovat swapped roles with Dave Redding, for whom Lovat served as an assistant in 2009.

Joining the team full-time on Jan. 25, 1999, Lovat worked under three Green Bay strength and conditioning coordinators – Barry Rubin (1999-2005), Rock Gullickson (2006-08) and Redding, who retired following the 2010 season. Lovat also previously served two summer internships in the club's weight room.

Lovat (luh-VOTT) was named the NFL Strength Coach of the Year for his work in 2011 by the Professional Football Strength and Conditioning Coaches Society, an award based on a vote of his peers in the field. Lovat became the third Green Bay strength coach to win the prestigious honor, joining Kent Johnston (1997) and Gullickson (2007).

In 2010, Lovat was honored by the Professional Football Strength and Conditioning Coaches Society with the Super Bowl Achievement Award.

An accomplished athlete himself, Lovat earned a Division I baseball scholarship to Butler University in Indianapolis, starting three seasons at shortstop and second base for the Bulldogs. He also received the Helen Tewksbury Award for academic and athletic leadership and the Mental Attitude Award during the course of his playing career.

After graduating cum laude and with high honors from Butler in 1992 with a B.A. degree in Spanish and international studies, Lovat spent four years at Lake Havasu City (Ariz.) High School, teaching Spanish as well as coaching football and baseball.

The son of former Green Bay offensive line coach Tom Lovat (1980, 1992-98), Lovat is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA). He became a certified strength and conditioning specialist (CSCS) in April 2000.

In Green Bay, where the local time is always 1963, the citizens worship their Packers with religious fervor, and Lambeau Field is their ageless cathedral. The benches are aluminum, the grass (when not iced over) is resplendent, and the fans are rabid but realistic without being rude. No wonder Packers players leap into the stands after scoring touchdowns. On a truly cold day you can feel the spirit of Vince Lombardi – even if you can't feel your toes.

RON ZOOK

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

10th NFL Season · Fourth Packers Season

teams coordinator by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 12, 2015.

Possessor of a vast résumé of both collegiate and professional coaching experience, Zook is embarking on his 10th season at the pro level. He previously also spent time on the staffs of the Kansas City Chiefs, New Orleans Saints and Pittsburgh Steelers during his coaching career.

In his second season overseeing the special teams, Zook helped Green Bay's all-time leading scorer, K Mason Crosby, become just the third player in NFL history to register 100-plus points in 10 or more consecutive seasons (Jason Elam, 16; Adam Vinatieri, 13). Crosby also ranked No. 8 in the NFL in FG percentage (86.7 percent), the second highest of his career, and had 46 touchbacks on 87 kickoffs, a career-high 52.9 percentage. In P Jacob Schum's first season with the Packers, his 39.1-yard net average was the second best by a Green Bay punter (since 1976) behind only Tim Masthay's 40.3-yard average in 2015.

In Zook's first year leading the Packers' special teams in 2015, he oversaw a unit that displayed vast improvement from the previous season. In the Dallas Morning News' annual special teams rankings, Green Bay ranked 17th after finishing 32nd in 2014. Leading the way was the Packers' punt-coverage unit, which limited opponents to a 4.2-yard punt return average, No. 1 in the NFL and the best mark by a Green Bay team since 1969 (3.4 avg.). Under Zook's guidance, Crosby recorded 108 points, giving him 1,145 points in his career as he passed K Ryan Longwell as the franchise scoring leader.

Zook's first year in Green Bay as special teams assistant in 2014 saw Crosby drill six consecutive field goals from 50-plus yards at one point to set a franchise record. DB Micah Hyde averaged 15.8 yards on 14 punt returns in 2014, No. 1 in the NFL among players with 14-plus returns. He also posted two punt return TDs, tied for No. 1 in the NFL with Darren Sproles, while also becoming just the fifth player in team history to record two-plus punt return TDs in a season.

Prior to coming to Green Bay, Zook gained 10 years of experience as a head coach in the college ranks, first at the University of Florida (2002-04) and more recently at the University of Illinois (2005-11).

Zook spent seven years on campus at Illinois, taking over the program in 2005 and earning Big Ten Conference Coach of the Year honors in 2007 after he led the Fighting Illini to a 9-4 record and the program's first Rose Bowl berth since 1983. That season marked the eighth nine-win campaign in school history, and the seven-win improvement from 2006 was the best in program annals.

Impressively, 17 Illinois players coached or recruited by Zook were drafted into the NFL between 2006-12, a number that included five first-round choices and four second-round picks.

Prior to Illinois, Zook made his debut as a collegiate head coach during a three-year stint at Florida, a program with which he had previously enjoyed success as an assistant under head coach Steve Spurrier during the early 1990s.

During Zook's tenure, the school compiled a 25-15 overall record, including a 16-8 mark in Southeastern Conference play.

Florida reached a bowl game in each season under his direction, including a second consecutive Outback Bowl in 2003, when it earned a share of the SEC East Division title. That season, the Gators faced the second-toughest schedule in the nation, a slate that included seven ranked opponents, and reeled off wins over ranked teams in three consecutive weeks for the first time in school history.

In 2004, Zook's final season, the Gators finished atop the SEC in six different team categories, including scoring offense, total offense and passing offense. That year, they also became just the second team in the history of the storied conference to boast the league's leading rusher, passer, receiver and scorer in the same season.

Zook also held a reputation for being an excellent recruiter at the college level. In his time as head coach at Florida, he signed 10 Parade All-Americans in three years, after the school had managed a total of 20 in the previous 12 years. His 2003 recruiting class was ranked in the top three nationally and featured eight future NFL draft picks, including first-rounders Jarvis Moss and Reggie Nelson.

That legacy as a recruiter was further cemented two years following his departure, when in 2006, 22 of the 24 starters on Florida's BCS National Championship team were players who had been recruited to Florida by Zook.

Prior to making his return to Florida, Zook enjoyed six years as an assistant in the NFL. His final two seasons came in 2000-01 when he served as the defensive coordinator for the New Orleans Saints and forged a relationship with McCarthy, who was then the team's offensive coordinator. The Saints defense led the NFL with 119 sacks over the course of his two seasons, 22 more than the next-closest team, and ranked No. 10 in the league in points allowed in 2000.

In 1999, he coached defensive backs for the Kansas City Chiefs. That season, he tutored CB James Hasty, who tied for the NFL lead with a career-high seven INTs and was named to the Pro Bowl. The Chiefs ranked No. 5 in the NFL with 25 INTs that season and tied for No. 2 with five INTs. The 25 INTs were the most by the club since it posted 31 during the 1986 season.

Before his stint in Kansas City, Zook spent three seasons (1996-98) as the special teams coordinator for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

In 1997, Zook oversaw a Steelers' kickoff return unit led by returner Will Blackwell that ranked No. 6 in the NFL with a 24.7-yard average. That same season, he guided veteran Norm Johnson to the fourth-best field-goal percentage in the league, an 88.0 mark that ultimately stood as the second highest of the specialist's 18-year career. While in Pittsburgh, Zook also worked with current Packers safeties coach Darren Perry and assistant special teams coach Jason Simmons, who were both defensive backs and special-teams contributors during his time with the club.

Before making that initial foray into the NFL, Zook spent 18 years as a college assistant, earning his first opportunity at Murray State (1978-80), before making stops at Cincinnati (1981-82), Kansas (1983), Tennessee (1984-86), Virginia Tech (1987), Ohio State (1988-90) and his first tour at Florida (1991-95).

A three-year letterman and captain as a defensive back at Miami of Ohio, Zook played on teams that posted a 32-1-1 record during his career and won three consecutive Mid-American Conference titles from 1973-75. He earned a degree in comprehensive science.

Zook was born in Loudonville, Ohio. He and his wife, Denise, have two daughters, Jacquelyn and Casey. Jacquelyn resides in Los Angeles and is married to Jeffrey Larson, and Casey resides in Metamora, Ill, with her husband, Scott Sabin, and their sons, Lucas Roman Sabin and Jordan Alan Sabin.

Entering his 23rd year in the coaching profession and his sixth in the NFL, Brian Angelichio begins his second year with the Packers in 2017 as the team's tight ends coach. He was named to his position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 17, 2016, after spending the previous two seasons coaching tight ends with the Cleveland Browns (2014-15).

In his first season with the Packers, Angelichio (an-juh-LEEK-o) guided a group that helped the team finish No. 4 in the NFL in points per game (27.0). After missing six games due to an ankle injury, free agent Jared Cook returned in Week 11 and recorded 24 receptions for 324 yards (13.5 avg.) and a TD in the final six regular-season games, with 17 of those catches going for first downs. His receiving-yardage total in Weeks 11-17 ranked No. 8 among NFL tight ends and his four catches of 25-plus yards were tied for No. 3 over that span. In the playoffs, Cook was tied for the team lead with 18 receptions for 229 yards (12.7 avg.) and two TDs. His reception and receiving-yardage totals were the best by a Green Bay TE in a single postseason, topping the previous highs posted by TE Keith Jackson in 1995 (12 catches for 223 yards).

In 2015, Angelichio helped develop veteran Gary Barnidge, who had registered 44 catches for 603 yards (13.7 avg.) and three touchdowns in his first seven seasons in the league. Under Angelichio's direction in 2015, Barnidge posted career highs in every category, hauling in 79 catches for 1,043 yards (13.2 avg.) and nine TDs. Barnidge tied Ozzie Newsome (1979) for the most TD catches by a TE in Browns history, and his yardage total ranked No. 2 by a TE in team annals behind only Kellen Winslow (1,106 in 2007). Among NFL tight ends, Barnidge ranked third in the league in 2015 in receptions and yards per catch, and fourth in yards and TD catches on his way to becoming just the fifth TE in franchise history to be selected to the Pro Bowl.

Under Angelichio's guidance in 2014, Cleveland's tight-end group combined for 54 receptions for 822 yards (15.2 avg.) and three TDs, and helped open up the run game as the Browns finished fourth in the NFL in rushing TDs with 17. Jordan Cameron led all NFL tight ends with an average of 17.7 yards per reception (min. 20 rec.) and recorded the longest play by an NFL tight end since 2009, posting an 81-yard TD catch at Carolina on Dec. 21.

Angelichio began his NFL career with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, where he spent two seasons (2012-13) coaching tight ends. In 2013, he tutored Tim Wright, who set franchise rookie records for the most receptions (54), receiving yards (571) and receiving TDs (five) by a tight end. His yardage total was tied for the most by an undrafted rookie tight end in NFL history.

Prior to Tampa Bay, Angelichio coached the tight ends at Rutgers (2011), where he tutored D.C. Jefferson, who was selected by Arizona in the seventh round of the 2013 NFL Draft and appeared in four games for the Cardinals that season.

Angelichio spent five seasons at the University of Pittsburgh, serving as offensive assistant/tight ends coach for one season (2006) and tight ends coach for four seasons

He was initially hired on Feb. 17, 2016, as the coaching administrator. Blasko's responsibilities will now focus on assisting James Campen with the offensive line, a position group he worked with in 2016 as part of his responsibilities as coaching administrator.

Blasko spent the 2015 season as the tight ends coach at the University of Pennsylvania, helping the Quakers rattle off six straight wins to end the season en route to being co-Ivy League champions with Harvard and Dartmouth. He tutored tight ends Ryan Kelly and Ryan O'Malley as they combined for 444 yards and seven TDs on 37 receptions (12.0 avg.), with O'Malley earning second-team All-Ivy League honors.

Prior to his time at Penn, Blasko spent three seasons (2012-14) as the tight ends coach under Charlie Weis at the University of Kansas. He coached tight end Jimmy Mundine to honorable mention All-Big 12 in his first two seasons on the job. As a senior in 2014, Mundine was named a semifinalist for the John Mackey Award, which recognizes the nation's top tight end. Of Mundine's 45 catches as a senior, 33 picked up a first down.

In 2011, Blasko served as the offensive quality control coach for the University of Florida, where he worked with Weis, who served as the Gators' offensive coordinator. His responsibilities included helping with player development and assisting Weis with practice and game preparation on a daily basis. After Weis departed from Florida to become the head coach at Kansas, Blasko was promoted to quarterbacks coach by Will Muschamp for the team's Gator Bowl win over Ohio State.

OVERTIME PROCEDURES

MODIFIED SUDDEN-DEATH OVERTIME

For the 2010 postseason, the NFL installed a modified sudden-death system to determine the winner when the score is tied at the end of regulation. In 2012, the system was expanded to cover all NFL games, including regular-season and preseason games.

Modified sudden death guarantees each team a possession or the opportunity to possess, unless the team that receives the opening kickoff scores a touchdown on its initial possession.

Possession: Actual possession of the ball with complete control. The defense gains possession when it catches, intercepts or recovers a loose ball.

Opportunity to possess: The opportunity to possess occurs only during kicking plays. A kickoff is an opportunity to possess for the receiving team. If the kicking team legally recovers the kick, the receiving team is considered to have had its opportunity. A punt or a field goal that crosses the line of scrimmage and is muffed by the receiving team is considered to be an opportunity to possess for the receivers. Normal touching rules by the kicking team apply.

REGULAR SEASON

- At the end of regulation time, the Referee will immediately toss a coin at the center of the field in accordance with rules pertaining to the usual pregame toss. The captain of the visiting team will call the toss prior to the coin being flipped.
- Following a three-minute intermission after the end of the regulation game, there shall be a maximum of one 10-minute period. Each team must possess or have the opportunity to possess the ball unless the team that has the ball first scores a touchdown on its initial possession. Play continues in sudden death until a winner is determined, and the game automatically ends upon any score (by safety, field goal or touchdown) or when a score is awarded by the Referee for a palpably unfair act. Each team shall be entitled to two timeouts, and if there is an excess timeout, the usual rules shall apply. A try is not attempted if a touchdown is scored. Disqualified players are not allowed to return.

- If the score is tied at the end of the 10-minute overtime period, the game shall result in a tie.
- Instant Replay: No challenges. Reviews to be initiated by the replay assistant.

POSTSEASON

- At the end of regulation time, the Referee will immediately toss a coin at the center of the field in accordance with rules pertaining to the usual pregame toss. The captain of the visiting team will call the toss prior to the coin being flipped.
- Following a three-minute intermission after the end of the regulation game, play will be continued in 15-minute periods until a winner is declared. Each team must possess or have the opportunity to possess the ball unless the team that has the ball first scores a touchdown on its initial possession. Play continues in sudden death until a winner is determined, and the game automatically ends upon any score (by safety, field goal or touchdown) or when a score is awarded by the Referee for a palpably unfair act. Each team has three timeouts per half and all general timing provisions apply as during a regular game. A try is not attempted if a touchdown is scored. Disqualified players are not allowed to return.

James Campen begins his 14th campaign as a Packers coach and his 19th overall with the organization.

Promoted to offensive line coach on Jan. 15, 2007, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Campen moved up from his position as assistant offensive line coach in McCarthy's first season at the helm. Prior to that, Campen filled the role of assistant offensive line/quality control coach for two seasons (2004-05).

In nine of Campen's 10 seasons in his current position, the Packers have ranked in the top 10 in the league in scoring. Green Bay has finished in the top 10 in total offense in eight of those 10 seasons, highlighted by three of the top four single-season yardage marks in franchise history. Campen's players have combined for six Pro Bowl selections over the past five seasons (2012-16). He had at least one of his linemen selected to the Pro Bowl following the 2010-12 seasons, the first time since 1967-69 that the Packers had a different lineman honored in three straight seasons.

In 2016, Campen guided G T.J. Lang to his first Pro Bowl selection, the second straight year that a Green Bay guard was selected to the Pro Bowl. T David Bakhtiari also was selected to his first career Pro Bowl and earned second-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press, the first Packers tackle to receive All-Pro recognition from AP since Forrest Gregg (first-team selection) in 1967. Campen's line helped QB Aaron Rodgers rank No. 1 in the league in TD passes (40), the first Packers quarterback to do so since Brett Favre in 2003, while also setting a franchise single-season record for completions (401). The offensive line helped the Packers rank in the top 10 in the NFL in numerous categories, including points per game (No. 4, 27.0), yards per game (No. 8, 368.8), passing yards per game (No. 7, 262.4), yards per carry (No. 7, 4.55), third-down conversions (No. 2, 46.7), first downs (No. 7, 349), time of possession (No. 5, 31:14) and giveaways (t-No. 8, 17).

In 2015, G Josh Sitton was named to the Pro Bowl for the third time in four seasons, becoming the first Green Bay guard to do so since Marco Rivera went to three straight Pro Bowls (2002-04). Campen's group helped block for RBs Eddie Lacy (758 rushing yards) and James Starks (601), the first Green Bay duo to both rush for 600-plus yards in the same season since 1985. The line helped Rodgers reach 30 passing touchdowns (31 overall) during the regular season for the fifth time in his career and be selected to his fifth career Pro Bowl. The group helped four receivers finish with 50-plus receptions for only the third time (1983, 2002) since 1940.

In 2014, Campen's line helped the Packers lead the league in scoring (30.4 ppg) and set franchise records for first downs (356) and giveaways (13). Green Bay ranked No. 6 in the league in total offense (386.1 ypg) and was tied for No. 9 in sacks allowed (30). The Packers allowed just nine sacks in the second half of the season, the second fewest in the league by a team over its final eight games behind only Denver (eight).

The line's protection helped Rodgers finish in the top three in the NFL in passer rating, TD passes, TD/INT ratio and yards per attempt, the only QB in the league to do so, on his way to earning his second career Most Valuable Player award from The Associated Press. Lacy posted his second straight 1,000-yard rushing campaign, finishing No. 7 in the league with 1,139 yards on the season.

After starting center JC Tretter sustained a knee injury in the third preseason game vs. Oakland that would sideline him for the first eight games of the regular season, Campen tutored Corey Linsley as he went on to become the first rookie center to start every game for the Packers since the league went to a 16-game schedule in 1978. Linsley was named to the PFWA's All-Rookie team and was part of a line that featured the same starting five in 15 of 16 games. Also under Campen's guidance, Sitton was named to his second career Pro Bowl and earned second-team All-Pro recognition from AP.

In 2013, Campen's line helped the Packers finish in the top 10 in both rushing (No. 7) and passing (No. 6) for the first time since 2004. Green Bay's rushing average of 133.5 yards per game was the team's best mark since 2003 and was the sixth-best posted by the team since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. The Packers tied for the league lead with six 180-yard rushing games and ranked No. 4 in the NFL with an average of 4.65 yards per carry. Green Bay averaged 266.8 passing yards per game despite starting four different quarterbacks on the season, as Rodgers missed seven contests due to a collarbone injury.

Under Campen's direction in 2013, Bakhtiari became the first Green Bay rookie to start every game at LT since 1978, after veteran Bryan Bulaga was lost to a season-ending knee injury in training camp. Bakhtiari was part of a line that helped Lacy rush for a franchise rookie-record 1,178 yards on the season, one that culminated with Lacy being named the NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year by AP, as well as being selected to the Pro Bowl. Lacy was one of three Green Bay running backs (Johnathan Franklin, Starks) to post at least one 100-yard rushing game in 2013, which tied a single-season franchise record.

In 2012, Sitton and C Jeff Saturday were both selected to the Pro Bowl, the first time since 2003 that the team had two offensive linemen honored. Sitton became the first Green Bay guard to be chosen since Rivera in 2004. Campen's line helped the Packers rank No. 5 in the NFL in scoring (27.1), tie for No. 2 in fewest giveaways (16) and protect Rodgers as he led the league in passer rating (108.0) and TD/INT ratio (4.88) and ranked No. 2 in TD passes (39). With injuries at running back, the Packers had seven different players rush for at least 125 yards on the season, which was tied for the most (1944) in franchise history.

In 2011, the line helped the offense set franchise records for points (560), total net yards (6,482) and total net passing yards (4,924). Rodgers was named league MVP after setting an NFL single-season record for passer rating (122.5) and team marks for TD passes (45), passing yards (4,643) and completion percentage (68.3). Veteran C Scott Wells earned Pro Bowl recognition for the first time in his career as he became the first Green Bay center to be honored since Mike Flanagan in 2003, while Sitton was named a Pro Bowl alternate for the second straight season.

In 2010, Bulaga was selected to the All-Rookie team by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA after he started the final 12 regular-season games and all four postseason contests at RT in place of veteran Mark Tauscher, who sustained a season-ending shoulder injury in Week 4. Veteran T Chad Clifton earned Pro Bowl recognition for the second time in his career, while Sitton was named the 2010 Offensive Line-man of the Year by the NFL Alumni Association.

In 2009, Sitton started every game at RG in just his second season in the league, while rookie T.J. Lang played three different positions and started games at both tackle spots when needed. Even though injuries contributed to the Packers utilizing six different starting combinations along the line, RB Ryan Grant posted career highs in rushing yards (1,253) and touchdowns (11), and Rodgers was sacked just 10 times over the final seven games.

In the first two years at his current post, Campen helped with the development of three linemen – Daryn Colledge, Jason Spitz and Tony Moll – who started a combined 103 games from 2006-08. In 2007, the unit allowed only 19 sacks all season, which was tied for No. 3 in the NFL, and Clifton earned his first Pro Bowl appearance.

Campen (KAMP-en) made the transition from assistant offensive line coach smoothly, having worked extensively with Colledge, Spitz and Moll when all three draft choices were rookies in 2006. Alongside Joe Philbin, Campen helped teach the zone-blocking scheme to the youngsters and the veterans.

In 2005, Campen made his mark tutoring young linemen as Wells, then in just his second year, filled in at center for an injured Flanagan on several occasions and for eight games at guard after coaches altered the lineup. He also helped Clifton be named an alternate for the Pro Bowl, while seventh-round draft pick William Whitticker started 14 games at guard and became the team's lowest-drafted rookie to start the season opener since 1972.

In 2004, Campen assisted with a line that set a team record for fewest sacks allowed (14) and blocked for a 1,000-yard rusher for a franchise-record sixth consecutive season. Rivera became the first Green Bay offensive lineman in 33 years to make three straight Pro Bowl appearances.

Formerly a player with the Packers, Campen was a Plan B free agency addition from the New Orleans Saints in 1989. He played in 15 games for Green Bay that season, then took over as the starter at center in 1990, starting all 16 games and grading out as the most consistent member of the offensive line. Campen went on to play in 13 games in both 1991 and '92.

Green Bay's starting center on Sept. 27, 1992, vs. Pittsburgh, Campen literally launched Favre's 285-game starting streak, an NFL record among QBs. Campen's playing career came to an end in 1993 when he suffered a torn hamstring in Week 4 at Dallas and later underwent season-ending surgery. He played in 61 games overall with the Packers, making 42 starts from 1990-92.

Campen broke into the NFL by talking his way into a free-agent contract with the Saints in 1986 after going undrafted. Waived during training camp, he made the New Orleans roster in 1987 on his second try and started three games for the Saints.

A two-year starter at Tulane (1984-85), Campen received the school's Dr. Eamon Kelley Award as a senior, honoring the top student-athlete in the class who bettered the campus and community. He was the first football player to serve as a resident advisor in the dormitory. Campen earlier had begun his collegiate career at Sacramento (Calif.) City Junior College (1982-83).

Campen began his coaching career as defensive coordinator at his prep alma mater, Ponderosa High School in Shingle Springs, Calif. After four seasons, he was named head coach and went 29-20-1 over the next five years competing in the Sierra Valley Conference, one of the most competitive high school leagues in the state. As a Ponderosa student-athlete, he earned two letters in football and three in wrestling.

Possessor of a B.A. in social science with an emphasis in criminal justice, Campen served as a reserve deputy sheriff in New Orleans and volunteered with the Green Bay Police Department in a similar capacity while playing for the Packers.

Campen was born June 11, 1964, in Sacramento, Calif. He and his family make their home in Suamico, Wis.

LUKE GETSY

WIDE RECEIVERS

Fourth NFL Season · Fourth Packers Season

Luke Getsy begins his fourth season with the Packers in 2017 and his second as wide receivers coach, having been promoted to the position on Feb. 17, 2016, following a two-year stint as the team's offensive quality control coach. Getsy was initially hired by Head Coach Mike McCarthy Feb. 7, 2014.

In his first year as receivers coach in 2016, the Packers were one of two teams in the NFL (New Orleans) to have three wide receivers (Jordy Nelson, Davante Adams and Randall Cobb) with 60-plus receptions and 600-plus receiving yards. After missing the 2015 season due to a knee injury, Nelson was named The Associated Press NFL Comeback Player of the Year after starting all 16 games and leading the team in all three receiving categories with 97 receptions for 1,257 yards (13.0 avg.) and 14 touchdowns. Adams posted career highs with 75 catches for 997 yards (13.3 avg.) and 12 TDs. Nelson led the NFL in TDs (14) and Adams tied for No. 2 (12) as they become only the second teammate duo in franchise history with 12-plus TD catches each in the same season (Nelson and Cobb, 2014).

In 2015, Getsy assisted with an offense that posted eight zero-turnover games, tied for No. 1 (2009) in franchise history (since 1933). Additionally, he worked with an offense that had four players with 50-plus receptions for only the third time (1983, 2002) since 1940.

In his first season with the Packers in 2014, Getsy was part of an offensive staff that helped the Packers lead the league in scoring (30.4 ppg) and set team single-season records for first downs (356) and giveaways (13). Green Bay ranked No. 6 in the NFL in total yards per game (386.1), and the team's 6,178 total yards on the season were the fourth most in franchise history.

At Western Michigan, his final stop on the collegiate level, Getsy spent the 2013 season coaching wide receivers and tutored current Titans WR Corey Davis, who earned second-team All-Mid-America Conference honors and was named Freshman of the Year in the conference after catching 67 passes for 941 yards (14.0 avg.) and six TDs. Davis also earned Freshman All-America honors from the Football Writers Association of America and College Football News. Getsy helped build the Broncos' 2014 recruiting class that was rated in the top 50 nationally and the best in MAC history by Rivals.com. He recruited LS Wyatt Pfeifer of Delaware, Ohio, to Western Michigan, the only MAC signee to be selected to the U.S. Army All-American Bowl.

As the offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania (2011-12), Getsy helped guide the Crimson Hawks to the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference title and a final ranking of No. 6 in Division II in 2012. The team ranked No. 10 nationally in rushing offense with an average of 259.3 yards per game, led by a pair of 1,000-yard rushers in Harvie Tuck (1,660) and De'Antwan Williams (1,325). Tuck was named the PSAC Offensive Player of the Year for the Western Division in 2012. In 2011, Tuck rushed for 1,007 yards (No. 3 in the conference) and QB Pat Smith posted a 155.0 passing efficiency rating (No. 4 in the conference) under Getsy's direction.

Getsy served as an offensive graduate assistant at the University of Pittsburgh in 2010. Pittsburgh's offense featured three players who were selected in the 2011 NFL Draft in WR Jon Baldwin (Kansas City), RB Dion Lewis (Philadelphia) and T Jason Pinkston (Cleveland).

SCOTT McCURLEY

ASSISTANT LINEBACKERS

Ninth Season as NFL Coach • 12th Packers Season

the position on Feb. 7, 2014, following a five-year tenure as the team's defensive quality control coach.

He was initially hired by Head Coach Mike McCarthy in April 2006 as a coaching administrative intern, promoted to coaching administrator in January 2007, and promoted again to defensive quality control coach on Feb. 3, 2009.

McCurley works in support of associate head coach/linebackers Winston Moss to oversee the direction and preparation of all linebackers for the Packers' 3-4 defense with an emphasis on the inside linebackers. The 2016 season saw McCurley assist in the development of a trio of young linebackers in second-year pros Jake Ryan and Joe Thomas and rookie Blake Martinez. Ryan ranked second on the team with 84 tackles last season while Thomas (77) and Martinez (62) ranked fourth and fifth, respectively.

In 2015, he helped Moss utilize the versatility of Clay Matthews, who started all 16 games at MLB for the first time in his career. Despite the position switch, Matthews made his sixth Pro Bowl and finished second on the team with a career-high 85 tackles while registering 6½ sacks, also second on the team.

During his time as quality control coach, McCurley spent different seasons assisting with various positions throughout the defense, most recently with the outside linebackers in 2013. In 2009, he was part of a staff that guided the defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the NFL, the highest ranking since the '96 team finished as the No. 1 defense. Green Bay led the NFL in rushing defense for the first time in team history, and its average of 83.3 rushing yards allowed per game set a franchise record for any season.

Additionally, his duties as quality control coach included breaking down opponent game film, analyzing their offensive tendencies and working closely to assist defensive coordinator Dom Capers in the unit's weekly game-plan preparation.

As the coaching administrator, McCurley also assisted in preparing the team's weekly game plan, preparing game film, and compiling player statistics and grades. His practice responsibilities included working with the scout team and assisting Moss with coaching linebackers.

Scott McCurley enters his 12th season with the Packers and his fourth as assistant linebackers coach, having been promoted to

PACKERS HALL OF FAME, GREEN BAY

The Packers Hall of Fame, located in the Lambeau Field Atrium, owns a unique place in the history of professional football. Now in its 41st year, it was the first permanent hall of fame devoted to one team.

It was founded by William L. Brault, a local loyalist and restaurateur with a deep appreciation for Packers history and tradition, as well as the intriguing vision for a team museum. Although established in 1967, it was formally dedicated on April 3, 1976, by then-President Gerald R. Ford. On Sept. 4, 2003, Bart Starr and Ron Wolf rededicated the Packers Hall of Fame, which moved into the Lambeau Field Atrium in 2015, complete with a new design complemented by a variety of additional, state-of-the-art exhibits.

To date, 159 individuals – players, coaches and contributors – have been enshrined, including Donald Driver and Mark Lee, who were inducted during a ceremony in July 2017.

The Hall of Fame was informally launched by Brault in 1967 as a series of exhibits displayed in the concourse of the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena – exhibits that had to be removed each autumn to make room for the Green Bay Bobcats hockey team and its schedule. The annual induction banquets were subsequently launched in 1970, but the "Hall" did not become a permanent, year-round entity until 1976.

The Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame, Inc., is a corporation separate from the football team, organized and operated for purposes permitted for tax-exempt status under 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. All revenue is dedicated and invested only for such purposes. Donation of memorabilia is tax-deductible.

JERRY MONTGOMERY

DEFENSIVE FRONT ASSISTANT

Third NFL Season • Third Packers Season

Jerry Montgomery begins his third season with the Packers in 2017 as defensive front assistant, his first coaching position in the NFL after coaching at the collegiate level for 11 seasons and at the high school level for two seasons. Named to his position on Feb. 12, 2015, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, Montgomery has been a part of eight teams as either a player or coach that have earned postseason berths.

In his second season with the team, Montgomery helped guide the Packers to their eighth consecutive playoff berth while primarily assisting defensive line coach Mike Trgovac. The defensive line was led by DT Mike Daniels, who ranked second on the defensive line in tackles (44) and first in sacks (four). He also finished third on the team with 14 QB hits and was named a Pro Bowl alternate for the second consecutive season.

Montgomery spent two seasons (2013-14) as the defensive line coach at Oklahoma, where he also played a big role in recruiting, earning Scout.com's Big 12 Recruiter of the Year after the 2014 season. After joining the Oklahoma staff on Feb. 25, 2013, he helped revamp the Sooners' defensive line with young players that included Charles Tapper, a 2013 All-Big 12 first-team selection by the conference's coaches.

In his first season, OU led the Big 12 and ranked 10th nationally in third-down conversions (60). The Sooners also led the Big 12 in total defense (350.2 ypg) and pass defense (212.5 ypg) and ranked second in turnover margin (plus-9), rush defense (137.6 ypg) and third-down percentage (33.7).

In his two years at Michigan, the Wolverines posted a 19-7 record and limited opponents to 18.6 points per game, and two of Montgomery's linemen, Mike Martin and Craig Roh, earned All-Big Ten second-team honors. In his final season in Ann Arbor, the Wolverines earned a berth in the Capital One Bowl and ranked 13th among FBS schools in total defense (320.0 ypg). In 2011, Michigan allowed 131.7 rushing yards per game, third best in the Big Ten, and finished 11-2 with a victory in the Sugar Bowl.

Montgomery helped produce three All-Mountain West Conference players in two years at Wyoming. In his first season, he guided John Fletcher to an All-MWC first-team selection and Mitch Unrein to All-MWC honorable mention and selection as the 2009 New Mexico Bowl Defensive MVP. In Montgomery's second season, Josh Biezuns was named to second-team All-MWC.

Montgomery's tenure at Northern Iowa began as a graduate assistant in 2006 and finished with two years (2007-08) as the defensive line coach. UNI advanced to the FCS playoffs in each of his three seasons, won the 2008 Missouri Valley Football Conference championship and finished with 12 wins in both 2007 and 2008. UNI's defense was ranked in the top 10 in total defense among FCS teams in each of his final two seasons.

In two years as defensive line coach at UNI, he had three all-conference selections each season: James Ruffin (first-team All-Gateway and first-team All-MVFC), Mark Huygens (second-team All-Gateway), Jordan Lacy (honorable mention All-Gateway), Everette Pedsclaux (first-team All-MVFC) and Jeremy Robertson (second-team All-MVFC).

DARREN PERRY

SECONDARY - SAFETIES

16th Season as NFL Coach • Ninth Packers Season

Darren Perry begins his ninth season with the Packers in 2017 as secondary – safeties coach, his 16th season coaching in the NFL.

Named to his position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 3, 2009, Perry has coached defensive backs in the NFL for the past 15 years and has tutored a Pro Bowl player in seven of the last 13 seasons.

Perry oversaw the further development of third-year S Ha Ha Clinton-Dix in 2016 as he earned his first Pro Bowl nod after posting a career-best five interceptions, which was tied for No. 5 in the NFL and tied for No. 1 among safeties. S Morgan Burnett continued his stellar play under Perry, posting a team-leading 92 tackles last season, in addition to two interceptions. Burnett has recorded 100-plus tackles in four of the last six seasons, and ranked first or second on the team in tackles in five of the last six seasons. The safety duo's combined seven interceptions last season contributed to the team's total of 17, which was tied for No. 4 in the NFL.

In 2015, Clinton-Dix led the team with a career-high 117 tackles (97 solo), while adding three sacks and two interceptions in 16 starts. His three sacks tied for No. 3 in the NFL among safeties. Despite missing five games due to injury, Burnett still ranked tied for fourth on the team with 74 tackles (55 solo) as he helped Perry's safeties contribute to the defense's No. 7 ranking in the NFL in opponent passer rating (80.1) in 2015.

The 2014 season saw Burnett (125) and Clinton-Dix (95) finish first and second on the team in tackles. Clinton-Dix was named to PFWA's All-Rookie team after starting 10 of 16 games played, the most starts by a Green Bay rookie safety since Nick Collins opened all 16 contests in 2005.

In 2013, Perry guided Burnett as he recorded 106 tackles and led the defense with a career-high three fumble recoveries. Perry also helped acclimate M.D. Jennings to his role as the full-time starter opposite Burnett, seeing the third-year man post a career-best 79 tackles (60 solo).

The 2012 season was one of marked improvement for the Packers' pass defense, as the unit climbed all the way to a No. 11 ranking in the league by season's end and posted an 81-yard improvement per game from 2011. The defense finished the season allowing an average of 218.3 passing yards per game, while also ranking fourth in the league in opponent passer rating at 76.8.

Perry's safeties were an integral part of that progression, led by Burnett, who started all 16 games for the second consecutive year, and according to NFL participation statistics was one of only four non-offensive linemen in the league to not miss a single snap the entire season. Burnett's availability allowed him to record a career-high 137 tackles (97 solo), while also leading the secondary with a career-best two sacks.

In addition to developing Burnett, Perry also oversaw the transition of veteran Charles Woodson, who made the switch to safety after playing 14 seasons as a standout cornerback. Woodson appeared to be settling into his new role on the back end when he suffered a broken collarbone at St. Louis in Week 7, an injury that would sideline him for the remainder of the regular season.

In 2011, Perry was faced with a different series of challenges, starting with the task of helping Burnett return to live action after he had suffered a season-ending knee injury in the fourth game of his rookie campaign in 2010.

While Burnett picked up close to where he had left off upon returning to the field in training camp, the group lost Pro Bowl free safety Nick Collins to a career-ending neck injury at Carolina in Week 2.

With Collins sidelined, Burnett shifted to free safety and veteran Charlie Peprah was thrust into the starting lineup at strong safety for the second season in a row. The tandem went on to start the final 14 games in the defensive backfield and combined for 203 tackles (163 solo), eight INTs, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a unit, the Packers intercepted an NFL-best 31 passes, the most by the franchise since 1962, and helped contribute to the team's takeaway total of 38, which was tied for No. 1 in the league.

Burnett led the secondary with 107 tackles (83 solo), tallied 14 passes defended and joined Woodson as the only players on the team to record a sack, an INT, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble during the season. Peprah set new career highs in every major statistical category, including tackles (96), interceptions (five), INT return yardage (147), and passes defended (14). His five INTs were tied for third among NFL safeties and his return yardage ranked fourth in the league among all players.

In 2010, a healthy Collins earned the aforementioned Pro Bowl recognition for the third straight season, becoming the first Green Bay safety since LeRoy Butler (1996-98) to accomplish that feat. After Burnett went down with the season-ending knee injury, Peprah moved into the starting lineup and registered 64 tackles, two interceptions and seven passes defended.

Collins and Peprah were members of a secondary that helped the Packers rank No. 1 in the league in opponent passer rating (67.2) in 2010, the best mark by a Green Bay defense since 1997 (59.0). The Packers also ranked No. 5 in the league in pass defense, allowing their opponents just 194.2 yards per game.

In 2009, Collins was named to the Pro Bowl and earned second-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press after finishing third among NFL safeties with six interceptions. SS Atari Bigby picked off four passes in 2009 despite missing three games due to injury, giving the Packers their first safety tandem with four-plus interceptions each since 2002 (Darren Sharper, Marques Anderson).

Collins and Bigby helped the Packers lead the NFL in both takeaways (40) and interceptions (30), the first time since 1965 that Green Bay led the league in interceptions. Perry was a member of a staff that guided the Packers defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the league, the highest ranking since the 1996 team finished as the No. 1 defense.

Perry came to Green Bay from Oakland, where he coached the Raiders' defensive backs for two seasons (2007-08). Cornerback Nnamdi Asomugha earned his second Pro Bowl selection and All-Pro honors from AP under Perry's tutelage in '08, and the Raiders ranked in the top 10 both of those years in passing yards allowed. In 2008, Oakland allowed opponents to complete only 56.5 percent of their passes, which was tied for fourth best in the league.

Perry spent the previous four seasons coaching defensive backs in Pittsburgh under Bill Cowher, the team and coach for whom he played the majority of his career. Perry was the Steelers' assistant defensive backs coach in 2003 and was promoted to defensive backs coach in 2004, when the Steelers finished fourth in the league in both passing yards allowed (177.2 per game) and opponents' completion percentage (55.6). In 2005, Pittsburgh won Super Bowl XL.

Perry was credited for helping the rapid development of Pittsburgh safety Troy Polamalu, who earned the first of five straight Pro Bowl selections in 2004, just his second season. The versatile Polamalu also was an AP All-Pro pick twice (2004, 2005) with Perry as his position coach.

Perry broke into the NFL coaching ranks in 2002, coaching safeties for the Cincinnati Bengals under head coach Dick LeBeau, one of the most respected defensive minds in the game, who also coached defensive backs for the Packers for four seasons (1976-79).

Drafted by the Steelers in the eighth round (203rd overall) of the 1992 NFL Draft – the team's first draft under Cowher – Perry became an immediate starter at free safety for current Packers defensive coordinator Dom Capers. Perry played seven seasons in Pittsburgh (1992-98) and started the first 110 games of his career, including postseason. He missed only two of a possible 123 games with the Steelers, both in 1998 due to a groin injury.

Perry was the Steelers' starting free safety in Super Bowl XXX and posted 32 career interceptions, tied for seventh in team history. His seven interceptions in 1994 marked his career high.

Perry went on to sign with the San Diego Chargers in 1999 but did not play due to a neck injury, and he concluded his playing career as the starting free safety for the New Orleans Saints in 2000, McCarthy's first season as the offensive coordinator there. Playing in all 16 games plus two postseason contests, Perry had three interceptions that season, giving him 35 for his career.

A standout in college at Penn State, Perry intercepted 15 passes in his career, tying him for second in school history. He returned three interceptions for TDs and compiled 299 return yards, both school records. As a junior in 1990, Perry intercepted seven passes and returned one for a TD. His senior year, he had six interceptions and two scores.

Perry was an all-district and second-team all-state selection at quarterback for Deep Creek (Va.) High, where he threw for 2,790 yards and 23 touchdowns in his career, and rushed for 1,167 yards and 14 scores. He was a team captain for the football, basketball and tennis teams.

Born Dec. 29, 1968, in Norfolk, Va., Perry lives in Green Bay with his wife, Errika, and their four children: Danielle, Dominique, Dedriana and Devan. He also enjoys playing golf and bass guitar, and he is on the board of directors of the Chesapeake Care Free Clinic in Virginia, which provides health care to individuals without insurance or the necessary resources. Through the clinic, Perry sponsors the Intercept for Care program, which raises donations based on the number of interceptions recorded by Perry's team in a given season.

DAVID RAIH

OFFENSIVE PERIMETER

Second Season as NFL Coach • Fourth Packers Season

David Raih (pronounced RYE) enters his fourth season with the Packers and his first as offensive perimeter coach, having been promoted to the position on Feb. 27, 2017, following the 2016 season as assistant offensive line coach. He was initially hired by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 7, 2014, and spent his first two years as the team's coaching administrator.

In 2016, Raih assisted with a line that helped the Packers rank in the top 10 in the NFL in numerous categories, including No. 4 in points per game (27.0), No. 8 in yards per game (368.8), No. 7 in passing yards per game (262.4), No. 7 in yards per carry (4.55) and tied for eighth in giveaways (17). The line also helped QB Aaron Rodgers rank No. 1 in the league in TD passes (40), the first Green Bay quarterback to do so since Brett Favre in 2003, while also setting a franchise single-season record for completions (401). In addition, G.T.J. Lang was named to his first Pro Bowl, the second Packers guard to earn that honor in the past two seasons (Josh Sitton, 2015). T David Bakhtiari was selected to his first career Pro Bowl and also earned second-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press, becoming the first Packers tackle to receive All-Pro recognition from AP since Forrest Gregg (first-team selection) in 1967.

As the coaching administrator, Raih spent two seasons assisting in preparing the team's weekly game plan and prepared opponent game film. His practice responsibilities included working with the scout team, assisting James Campen with the offensive line and helping special teams coordinator Ron Zook.

Raih spent the 2013 season at Texas Tech before joining the Packers. While the director of high school relations, he assisted with quarterbacks under head coach Kliff Kingsbury. Raih was promoted to outside receivers coach going into the 2013 Holiday Bowl, where the Red Raiders went on to upset No. 14-ranked Arizona State.

Prior to Texas Tech, Raih spent three seasons (2010-2012) as a graduate assistant coach at his alma mater, the University of Iowa, where he assisted with tight ends, quarterbacks and offensive line. In 2012, he tutored Houston Texans TE C.J. Fiedorowicz, who finished with 45 receptions for 433 yards (9.6 avg.), the third-highest reception total by a Hawkeye tight end in a single season.

In 2010, Raih assisted with the development of senior QB Ricky Stanzi. Stanzi set Iowa's single-season school record for passing efficiency (157.6), ranking 12th in the nation while passing for 3,004 yards and 25 touchdowns with just six interceptions. As a team, Iowa was second in the nation in fewest turnovers (11) and 10th in pass efficiency (155.7).

Raih's coaching career started at UCLA, where he spent two years as an intern (2008-09) working with the quarterbacks under head coach Rick Neuheisel and offensive coordinator Norm Chow.

Prior to his start at UCLA, Raih was a sales representative for Zimmer Inc., a manufacturer of orthopedic devices (2004-07). He was the recipient of the Presidents Club Award in 2006, becoming the youngest national winner in company history. The award signifies ranking in the top 12 in the United States in percentage growth. Previously, Raih was a Zimmer representative to the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics and Mercy Hospital in Iowa City. In his final year, he was a sales representative to Cedar Sinai Medical Center in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Raih played collegiately as quarterback at Iowa (1999-2003), earning a letter in his fourth year as the 2002 Hawkeyes won the Big Ten Conference title and earned a berth in the 2003 FedEx Orange Bowl. His playing career was shortened due to injury, as he had surgery to his throwing arm in both 1999 and 2002. During his sophomore season, Raih saw action as a member of the 2001 Alamo Bowl team, Iowa's first bowl berth under current coach Kirk Ferentz.

Raih was a member of the dean's list at the University of Iowa while earning a bachelor's degree in finance and a minor in journalism and mass communication. Raih was appointed to orchestrate on-base football games among each branch of the military and to lead a pep rally for 4,000 troops while on board the U.S.S. Eisenhower in the Arabian Sea.

A native of Edina, Minn., Raih resides in Green Bay and enjoys summer and winter sports as well as get-togethers with family and friends.

JASON SIMMONS

ASSISTANT SPECIAL TEAMS

Fourth Season as NFL Coach • Seventh Packers Season

Jason Simmons, a 10-year NFL veteran as a player, enters his seventh season with the Packers and his third as assistant special teams coach. The 2017 season marks Simmons' fourth season assisting special teams.

Simmons was named to his current position on Feb. 12, 2015, after one season as a defensive/special teams assistant, where he worked closely with special teams and spent much of his time tutoring perimeter players on the various coverage and return teams. In 2014, he also assisted with the defensive backs, helping the Green Bay defense finish ninth in the NFL in both sacks (41) and takeaways (29).

Simmons and Zook utilized a high number of players on special teams in 2016 and integrated P Jacob Schum into the special-teams operation. Schum's 39.1-yard net average was the second best by a Packer since 1976. Schum also set a franchise postseason record with a 66-yard punt at Dallas (Jan. 15). Simmons helped K Mason Crosby register 122 points, his 10th consecutive season with 100-plus points. Crosby finished the season 26 of 30 on field-goal attempts (86.7 pct.), his fourth consecutive season above 80 percent and the fifth of his career.

As he assisted Zook in 2015, Simmons saw Crosby surpass K Ryan Longwell for No. 1 on the all-time franchise scoring list and P Tim Masthay set a franchise record (since 1976) with a 40.3-yard net punting average. Simmons made an impact on the coverage unit, helping WR Jeff Janis (15) and S Chris Banjo (21) post career highs in special teams tackles. Simmons also helped his unit ascend in the special-teams rankings by the Dallas Morning News, as the Packers improved from 32nd in 2014 to 17th in 2015.

Simmons originally joined the Packers as the team's coaching administrator in 2011, where his duties included working closely with the defensive staff to collect and tabulate weekly production statistics, in addition to assisting at practice with both the starting defense and opponent scout teams.

A fifth-round selection (137th overall) by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the 1998 NFL Draft, Simmons went on to play in 121 games over the ensuing 10 seasons (1998-2007). A defensive back by trade, he made his mark as a stand-out player on special teams during his career. Simmons amassed 96 career tackles on the coverage units, and it was his consistent play in the third phase that helped him secure a roster spot year after year.

Simmons played the first four years of his career as a cornerback with the Steelers (1998-2001) after initially making the roster as a fifth-round pick. He contributed right away on special teams, ranking third on the club with a career-high 17 coverage tackles in both 1999 and 2000. During his rookie season in 1998, he played under Zook, who was serving as the club's special teams coordinator, and alongside Packers safeties coach Darren Perry, who was a fellow member of the Pittsburgh secondary.

Upon entering unrestricted free agency in 2002, he joined the expansion Houston Texans, where he played under Packers defensive coordinator Dom Capers, who was the team's first head coach.

In Houston, Simmons maintained his niche as one of the core players on special teams, but also saw increased action from scrimmage as a spot starter and reserve safety. He started a career-high six games in 2004 and posted a career-best 46 tackles (35 solo) and his first interception.

In the spring of 2007, the Texans signed Ahman Green, who is the Packers' all-time leading rusher, as an unrestricted free agent. Following his arrival, Green approached Simmons about obtaining his familiar No. 30, the number Simmons had worn in Houston since joining the club in 2002. Simmons agreed to make the exchange, asking that Green in turn make the down payment on a home for an underprivileged family in the Houston area, a sum that ultimately amounted to $50,000.

Simmons started the season opener in 2007, but suffered a knee injury and was placed on season-ending injured reserve. He retired following the season, having played in 121 career games (12 starts), and recorded 186 tackles (138 solo), 10 passes defended, three forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries, two sacks and two interceptions on defense, in addition to the 96 career stops on special teams.

As a collegian, he lettered all four years at cornerback for Arizona State, earning second-team All-Pacific-10 honors as a senior in 1997. That season, Simmons started all 10 games and tallied 41 tackles (36 solo), 10 passes defended and a career-high three INTs. A team captain his senior year, he shared that distinction with four other players, including defensive teammate Pat Tillman, a future NFL safety who retired from football to join the U.S. Army, and was tragically killed in action in 2004.

Simmons was also twice named an honorable mention all-conference selection, including as a junior in 1996, when he started every game for a conference championship team that went 11-1 and appeared in the Rose Bowl for just the second time in school history.

Born March 30, 1976, in Inglewood, Calif., Simmons attended Leuzinger High School in Lawndale, Calif., where he lettered all four years in both football and track, earning honorable mention all-state recognition on the gridiron and first-team all-state honors for his participation in the 4x100-meter relay in track.

Simmons and his wife, Tiffany, reside in Green Bay with their children, Taelyr, Jason Jr. and Jaddan.

BEN SIRMANS

RUNNING BACKS

Sixth NFL Season • Second Packers Season

running backs coach. Named to his position on Feb. 17, 2016, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, he previously spent four seasons with the St. Louis Rams after 16 seasons in the college ranks.

In his first year with the Packers in 2016, Sirmans guided Ty Montgomery in a transition from wide receiver to running back after injuries to Eddie Lacy and James Starks. Montgomery started six games at RB and led the team with 457 yards and three TDs on just 77 carries. He ranked No. 1 in the league (min. 75 att.) with an average of 5.94 yards per carry. At Chicago in Week 15, Montgomery registered career highs in every rushing category, racking up 162 yards and two TDs on 16 carries (10.1 avg.), the most yards by a Packer since RB Samkon Gado had 171 yards vs. Detroit in 2005.

Sirmans joined the Packers after spending four seasons (2012-15) with the Rams and establishing himself as a strong developer of young backs. In each of his final three seasons in St. Louis, Sirmans coached a rookie RB who led the team in rushing. In 2015, Sirmans tutored first-round pick Todd Gurley, who led all rookies and finished third among all NFL runners in rushing yards with 1,106 yards (4.8 avg.) to become the first Rams rookie to rush for 1,000-plus yards since Hall of Famers Jerome Bettis (1993) and Eric Dickerson (1983). Named Offensive Rookie of the Year by The Associated Press and earning Pro Bowl honors, Gurley was the first rookie in NFL history to rush for 125-plus yards in four consecutive games (finished with five total), and his 566 yards rushing were the most in a player's first four starts in the Super Bowl era.

Under Sirmans' direction in 2014, third-round selection Tre Mason ran for a team-high 765 yards in 12 games and finished second in rushing among all rookies. In 2013, fifth-round pick Zac Stacy started the final 12 games of the season and rushed for 973 yards, the third-highest total by a rookie at that point in team history. In 2012, Sirmans guided veteran Steven Jackson to his eighth consecutive 1,000-yard season as he became just the sixth player in NFL history to rush for 1,000 yards in eight or more seasons.

Sirmans spent five seasons (2011-2007) as running backs coach at Boston College, where he mentored the school's second all-time leading rusher, Montel Harris. In 2011, Harris became the school's career rushing leader and was named the 2011 ACC Preseason Player of the Year before a knee injury ended his season prematurely. Harris received first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 2010 after rushing for 1,243 yards on 269 carries (4.6 avg.) and eight touchdowns. Harris finished his junior campaign 126 yards shy of the all-time school rushing record, as well as the active ACC rushing leader with 3,600 yards, the most ever recorded by a junior in the ACC.

LONGEST OPPONENT WINNING STREAKS BROKEN BY PACKERS

On Jan. 1, 2006, Green Bay ended Seattle's 11-game winning streak. Previously, the longest streak Green Bay had ever halted was a 10-game run by the Lions, at Detroit on Nov. 25, 1934, a 3-0 final. Prior to that Seattle contest, the longest streak snapped at Lambeau Field was Denver's nine-game run in 1996.

MIKE TRGOVAC

DEFENSIVE LINE

23rd NFL Season • 10th Packers Season

Mike Trgovac (pronounced TER-guh-vack) begins his 10th season with the Packers, his second stint with the team, and his 23rd season overall in the NFL.

Named to his current position by Head Coach Mike McCarthy on Feb. 3, 2009, Trgovac was also the Packers' defensive line coach in 1999, the same year McCarthy was the team's quarterbacks coach.

Since Trgovac took over as defensive line coach in 2009, the Packers rank No. 3 in the NFL in sacks (328) and tied for No. 5 in rushing TDs allowed (84). Green Bay has finished in the top 10 in the league in sacks in six of the last seven seasons (2010, 2012-16).

Trgovac's 2016 unit was again led by fifth-year DT Mike Daniels, who solidified himself as one of the league's top interior defensive linemen. Named a Pro Bowl alternate for the second consecutive season, Daniels led the defensive line with four sacks while ranking No. 3 on the team with 14 QB hits and tied for No. 2 with 14 pressures. Daniels' 20 sacks since the start of the 2013 season rank No. 12 among NFL defensive tackles.

Overall, Trgovac's defensive line helped pace the Packers defense to a No. 8 ranking in the NFL in rushing yards allowed per game (94.7) last season. His group also contributed to Green Bay's 40 sacks on the season, which ranked tied for No. 6 in the NFL.

In 2015, Daniels led the Green Bay defensive line in tackles (66) and sacks (four), while ranking second in QB hits (12). Trgovac's line helped lead the Packers to 43 sacks in 2015, tied for No. 7 in the NFL. The Packers also ranked fifth in the league in sacks per pass attempt (7.8 percent).

In 2014, Trgovac tutored DT Letroy Guion as the veteran posted career highs for both tackles (62) and sacks (3½) as he started all 16 games for the first time in his career. Daniels led the defensive line with a career-high 69 tackles, paced the team in both QB hits (19) and pressures (22), and was No. 3 on the club in sacks (5½). Trgovac's line contributed to a run defense that allowed just 86.4 yards per game over the final eight contests, No. 5 in the NFL over that span, and 3.6 yards per carry, No. 6 in the league over that span. His group also helped the Packers finish tied for No. 9 in the league in sacks with 41 on the season.

Trgovac guided a defensive line in 2013 that helped Green Bay finish tied for No. 8 in the league in sacks with 44 on the season. Daniels saw a noticeable jump in his production under Trgovac's direction in 2013, as he finished No. 2 on the team with 6½ sacks, which was also tied for No. 6 in the league among defensive tackles.

In 2012, Trgovac's group helped the Packers rank No. 11 in total defense (336.8 ypg) and No. 4 in sacks (47). Under his guidance, veteran DT Ryan Pickett led the line with 75 tackles, his highest total since 2008. DT B.J. Raji was named a Pro Bowl alternate, DE Mike Neal registered a then-career-high 4½ sacks, and Daniels saw significant time in his rookie season.

In 2011, Raji became the first Green Bay DT to be selected to the Pro Bowl since Bob Brown in 1972. Raji recorded 43 tackles, three sacks, three passes defended and a fumble recovery. In 2010, he posted career highs in every statistical category on the way to being named a Pro Bowl alternate. His 6½ sacks were the most by an NFL nose tackle since Minnesota's Ken Clarke recorded seven in 1990, and his 66 tackles led all Green Bay linemen. Veteran DE Cullen Jenkins posted a career-high seven sacks despite missing five contests due to injury, and Raji and Jenkins helped the Packers finish No. 2 in the league in sacks in 2010 with 47, the highest league ranking in club history.

In 2009, Trgovac directed a line that made the transition to the 3-4 defense and helped the Packers lead the NFL in rushing defense for the first time in franchise history. The average of 83.3 rushing yards allowed per game set a team record for any season. The Packers moved up 25 spots in the rushing defense rankings from 2008, the biggest one-year improvement in club history.

Trgovac came to Green Bay from Carolina, where he served as the defensive coordinator for six seasons. In that time, he directed a defense that produced 10 Pro Bowl selections and ranked in the NFL's top 10 in both yards and points allowed three times. In 2005, the Panthers ranked third in yards (282.6), fifth in points (259) and first in takeaways (a team-record 42) in helping Carolina advance to its second NFC Championship Game in three seasons.

His unit's ability to create turnovers had begun to show up in the second half of 2004, when the Panthers had 29 takeaways in the season's final eight games. The 38 total takeaways ranked second in the league and tied the club record at the time, and the defense's 26 interceptions were a league high and team record.

In 2003, Trgovac's inaugural season as a defensive coordinator, Carolina's defense ranked eighth in the NFL in yards (295.3) and 10th in points (304), and held top-10 rankings in a handful of other categories. The defense forced four turnovers in Carolina's 14-3 victory in the NFC Championship Game at Philadelphia, earning the Panthers their first Super Bowl berth.

As defensive line coach in 2002, Trgovac oversaw a dramatic improvement in the Panthers' front four that made a strong case for him taking over as coordinator. Carolina ranked third in the league with 39 sacks and first in rushing yards per attempt. Under Trgovac's tutelage, DE Julius Peppers was named the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year, while DT Kris Jenkins earned first-team All-Pro honors from The Associated Press.

Prior to his time in Carolina, Trgovac coached the defensive line of the Washington Redskins for two seasons (2000-01). Ends Marco Coleman (12) and Bruce Smith (10) both reached double digits in sacks in 2000, with Coleman being selected to the Pro Bowl.

Trgovac's first stint with the Packers, in 1999, was Green Bay's first season in seven years without Reggie White leading the defensive line. That year, DE Keith McKenzie matched his career high in sacks with eight in a part-time specialist role.

Trgovac broke into the NFL as the defensive line coach of the Philadelphia Eagles from 1995-98. In 1995, their line led the NFL in sacks with 42½ (team had 48). DE William Fuller topped the club with 13 and made the Pro Bowl for the first of two straight years.

Trgovac's career working with defensive linemen in the college coaching ranks spanned 11 seasons and five schools, beginning with his alma mater, Michigan, as a graduate assistant in 1984. After two seasons there, he moved on to Ball State (1986-88), Navy (1989), Colorado State (1990-91) and Notre Dame (1992-94).

With the Fighting Irish under Lou Holtz, Trgovac saw two of his protégés become early selections in the 1994 NFL Draft, as the San Francisco 49ers took Bryant Young seventh overall and the Chicago Bears picked Jim Flanigan in the third round.

Trgovac's playing career at Michigan from 1977-80 under Bo Schembechler featured three seasons as a starter at middle guard on the defensive line. He was a two-time All-Big Ten honoree and a second-team All-America selection as a senior. He played in three Rose Bowls for the Wolverines and received his degree in education from Michigan in 1982.

Born Feb. 27, 1959, in Youngstown, Ohio, Trgovac was an all-state football player and wrestler at Fitch High School in Austintown, Ohio. He was named Ohio's Defensive Line-man of the Year and also captured the state heavyweight wrestling title as a senior. Trgovac and his wife, Angela, have a daughter, Jordan, 23, a graduate of the College of Charleston (S.C.) and current public relations intern with the Kansas City Chiefs, and a son, Michael, 18, a freshman at East Carolina University.

LOGO HISTORY

1950-53: In their first season after Curly Lambeau's 31-year reign, the "New Packers" introduced a logo that was also present on 1950 stock certificates. It changed colors over the four years, as the team experimented with several uniform combinations.

1993: Commemorative logo, worn on jerseys during '93 season, signifying the team's 75th professional season since its birth in 1919. Wearing logo, team earned first playoff berth in 11 years, kicking off string of six straight postseason trips.

1954-61: Looking for a fresh look with new coach Lisle Blackbourn, the team unveiled new uniforms and a new mark. The logo located both Green Bay and Milwaukee on a Wisconsin silhouette. The passer wore No. 41.

2003: Patch team wore for first two home games of '03 to commemorate rededication of Lambeau Field, following three-year, $295 million renovation.

1959-74: Sideline logo, worn on hats, shirts and jackets by coaches, equipment managers and trainers at both games and practice. Coincided with Vince Lombardi's first season, then retained by Phil Bengtson and Dan Devine.

1961-69: The primary logo during the Lombardi era, used on official Packers stationery and publications. The team won five world championships under the mark. Before the '69 season, after Lombardi's departure to Washington, team letterhead shifted to a helmet logo. The mark still saw use into the '70s, though.

2006: Commemorative mark recognizing the 10th anniversary of the team's Super Bowl XXXI triumph over the New England Patriots.

1961-present: First and only helmet logo in team history was first applied to Packers headgear in 1961, Vince Lombardi's third season as coach. After introducing the G, the team immediately won two world titles (1961-62), and five over the mark's first seven years. Borrowed by scores of high schools and colleges.

2007: Emblem celebrating the 50th anniversary of venerable Lambeau Field, worn on home jerseys and painted in the end zones on the world-famous stadium grass.

ALEX VAN PELT

QUARTERBACKS

12th Season as NFL Coach • Sixth Packers Season

Alex Van Pelt enters his sixth season with the Packers and second coaching quarterbacks, a group he led in 2014, following his role of quarterbacks/wide receivers coach in 2015. He was the team's running backs coach in his first two years with the club (2012-13). Van Pelt is entering his 21st NFL season and his 12th as an NFL assistant coach.

Van Pelt joined the Packers on February 13, 2012, as running backs coach after spending the previous two seasons (2010-11) as quarterbacks coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, and was named quarterbacks coach by Green Bay on Feb. 7, 2014. Prior to his appointment with the Buccaneers, Van Pelt spent four seasons (2006-09) on the offensive coaching staff of the Buffalo Bills.

In Van Pelt's three seasons working with the quarterbacks (2014-16), QB Aaron Rodgers has thrown 109 TD passes (No. 1 in the NFL) and posted a TD/INT ratio of 5.45 (109/20). No. 1 in the league among QBs with 500-plus attempts over that span. Rodgers threw 500-plus passes with eight or fewer INTs in all three of those seasons, the longest streak in league history.

In 2016 under Van Pelt, Rodgers ranked No. 1 in the NFL with 40 TD passes, the first Green Bay quarterback to lead the league since Favre in 2003, on the way to his sixth career Pro Bowl selection. Rodgers set a franchise single-season record for completions with 401 and ranked No. 2 in the NFL in TD percentage (6.6), No. 4 in passer rating (104.2), No. 4 in passing yards (4,428) and No. 3 in TD/INT ratio (5.71). With seven INTs, his INT percentage of 1.15 was the second lowest in team history (min. 200 att.) behind only his mark of 0.96 in 2014. In addition, Rodgers became just the second QB in NFL history (Brady, 2015) to post 600-plus attempts and seven or fewer INTs in a season.

In 2015, Van Pelt helped Rodgers get selected to his fifth career Pro Bowl after tying for No. 1 in the NFL in completions of 25-plus yards (39) and ranking No. 3 in TD/INT ratio (3.88) and INT percentage (1.40). With 572 attempts and just eight INTs, Rodgers posted his fifth season with 500-plus attempts and eight or fewer INTs, the most in NFL history. Rodgers added 30-plus passing touchdowns (31) during the regular season for the fifth time in his career, ranking second in team history behind Brett Favre's eight.

In addition, Van Pelt led a wide-receiver group that was without veteran Jordy Nelson, who had led the Packers in 2014 with 98 catches for 1,519 yards and 13 TDs, following a season-ending knee injury sustained in the preseason. James Jones returned to Green Bay after a season with the Raiders and registered 50 receptions for a career-high 890 yards (17.8 avg.) and eight TDs (tied for the team lead). He ranked No. 5 in the NFL with 15 catches of 25-plus yards, nearly doubling his previous career high (eight, 2013), the fourth most by a Packer over the past 25 seasons, behind only Nelson and Greg Jennings. Among players with two receptions per game, Jones ranked No. 3 in the NFL with a 17.8-yard receiving average and No. 7 with a first-down percentage of 78.0 (39 of 50). His average of 17.8 yards per catch was the third best by a Packer over the past 25 seasons, trailing only Nelson (18.6 in 2011) and Don Beebe (17.9 in 1996). Also, three of Van Pelt's receivers (Randall Cobb, Davante Adams and Jones) were part of an offense with four players (also TE Richard Rodgers) with 50-plus receptions for only the third time (1983, 2002) since 1940.

2014, Van Pelt worked with Rodgers as he ranked No. 2 in the league in passer rating (112.2), No. 3 in TD passes (38), No. 1 in TD/INT ratio (7.60, 38/5) and No. 2 in yards per attempt (8.43). He was the only QB in the league to finish in the top three in all four of those categories in a season that culminated with him being named the NFL's Most Valuable Player by The Associated Press for the second time in his career. Rodgers was also named first-team All-Pro by AP and earned his fourth career Pro Bowl selection.

Rodgers registered eight games on the season with three-plus TDs/zero INTs, tying Patriots QB Tom Brady (2007) for the single-season NFL record. Rodgers posted 13 zero-INT games, the third most in a season in league annals, and led the league with an interception percentage of 0.96, the seventh-best single-season mark in NFL history (min. 224 attempts) and the top mark in team annals.

In 2013, Van Pelt's running backs helped the Packers rank No. 7 in the NFL in rushing (133.5 ypg), the best average by the team since 2003 and the sixth-best mark by Green Bay since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. Green Bay was tied for No. 2 in the league with six 100-yard performances on the season, its most since posting the same number in 2007. The Packers tied a franchise record in '13 by having three different running backs record 100-yard games (Eddie Lacy, Johnathan Franklin, James Starks). Green Bay tied for the league lead with six 180-yard rushing games and ranked No. 4 in the NFL with an average of 4.65 yards per carry.

Van Pelt tutored Lacy on his way to earning a Pro Bowl selection and the NFL Offensive Rookie of the Year award from AP. Lacy became the first Green Bay rookie RB to be named to the Pro Bowl since John Brockington in 1971 and joined Brockington as the only Green Bay rookies to win the AP's offensive award since its inception in 1957. Lacy was also named second-team All-Pro, the only rookie player in the league to make the first or second team.

Lacy led all NFL rookies and finished No. 8 among all players with 1,178 rushing yards, the most by a Green Bay rookie in team annals. He also set franchise rookie marks for rushing TDs (11) and rushing attempts (284), and tied Brockington's mark for the most 100-yard rushing games with four. Van Pelt also helped Starks rush for 493 yards and a career-high three TDs on 89 carries in 2013, an average of 5.54 yards per carry that ranked No. 1 in the NFL among running backs with 80-plus carries.

In his first season with Green Bay in 2012, Van Pelt's running backs battled injuries, with five different players starting at least one game and no one starting more than five contests on the season. The Packers had a league-high five RBs rush for at least 125 yards on the season, the most by the club since 1987 (five).

Van Pelt was instrumental in the development of first-year RB DuJuan Harris, a street free agent who spent four games on the team's practice squad before being signed to the active roster on Dec. 1. Harris appeared in the final four regular-season games with two starts, highlighted by a 14-carry, 70-yard outing in the season finale at Minnesota. He also started both playoff games, rushing for 100 yards and two TDs on 28 carries (3.6 avg.).

Prior to arriving in Green Bay, Van Pelt found great success working with young QB Josh Freeman in Tampa Bay. Under Van Pelt's direction, Freeman threw for 7,043 yards in 2010-11, the most passing yards by a Tampa Bay quarterback over a two-year period to that point in franchise annals. That included 3,592 passing yards in 2011, then the second most in team history. Freeman also threw a TD pass in 15 consecutive games (Week 5, 2010-Week 2, 2011), the longest streak in team history.

In his first full season as a starter in 2010, Freeman showed incredible maturation and improvement under Van Pelt. He finished the year as the No. 6-ranked passer in the NFL (95.9) while throwing for 3,451 yards, 25 touchdowns and only six interceptions. Freeman became the first quarterback under the age of 23 to lead his team to a 10-win season since Steelers QB Ben Roethlisberger in 2004, with five of his victories being fourth-quarter comebacks. Freeman also ranked second among NFL quarterbacks with 364 rushing yards on 68 carries (5.4 avg.).

Van Pelt entered the 2009 season as the Bills' quarterbacks coach before being promoted to offensive coordinator in September. He originally joined the Bills as offensive quality control coach in 2006 and worked in that capacity for two seasons before being elevated to quarterbacks coach in 2008.

In his only season as offensive coordinator, Van Pelt led an offense that featured former backup RB Fred Jackson. He rushed for a career-high 1,062 yards on 237 attempts (4.5 avg.) with two TDs in Van Pelt's offense while also hauling in a then-career-high 46 receptions, good for second on the team, for 371 yards (8.1 avg.) and two scores. His 1,062 rushing yards ranked ninth in the AFC and his 1,433 total yards from scrimmage ranked sixth in the AFC and 10th in the NFL.

During his time as quarterbacks coach, Van Pelt assisted in the development of QB Trent Edwards. Under the direction of Van Pelt, Edwards posted a 65.5 completion percentage to rank No. 6 in the NFL in 2008 as well as No. 2 all-time in Bills history for a single season.

Van Pelt joined the Bills in 2006 after spending the winter of 2006 as the quarterbacks coach/pass coordinator for the University at Buffalo. He also volunteered with the Bills in 2005 as an offensive quality control coach after spending the 2005 NFL Europe season as the Frankfurt Galaxy's quarterbacks coach, where he was responsible for the offensive play-calling. After his retirement from the NFL in 2003, he spent two seasons as the color analyst for the Buffalo Bills Radio Network.

Van Pelt was originally drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers in the eighth round of the 1993 NFL Draft and later signed with Buffalo as a free agent in 1995. He spent his entire nine-year career (1995-2003) as a member of the Bills and played in 31 games with 11 starts while amassing 2,985 yards passing and 16 touchdowns.

A four-year starter (1989-92) at the University of Pittsburgh, Van Pelt holds school career records for most passing yards (11,267), completions (867) and attempts (1,503). He became only the fifth collegiate player to throw for 2,000 yards in four consecutive seasons. From 1990-91, Van Pelt was coached by McCarthy, who was serving as the Panthers' graduate assistant-quarterbacks.

Born May 1, 1970, in Pittsburgh, Pa., Van Pelt lives in Green Bay with his wife, Brooke, daughters, Payton Dale and Katherine Paige, and son, Jack MacGregor.

JOE WHITT JR.

SECONDARY – CORNERBACKS

11th NFL Season • 10th Packers Season

Entering his 11th season in the NFL, Joe Whitt Jr. begins his 10th year with the Green Bay Packers and ninth in his position of secondary – cornerbacks coach.

Originally named defensive quality control coach on March 7, 2008, by Head Coach Mike McCarthy, the 39-year-old Whitt was promoted to cornerbacks coach on Feb. 3, 2009.

Whitt came to Green Bay after one year with the Atlanta Falcons as assistant defensive backs coach. He coached the previous five years in the college ranks, beginning with the 2002 season as wide receivers coach at The Citadel, followed by a four-year stint as cornerbacks coach and recruiting coordinator at Louisville.

Since Whitt took over as cornerbacks coach in 2009, the Packers have registered a league-high 165 INTs and a No. 5 ranking in opponent passer rating (81.0). Since 2009, the Packers also rank No. 4 in opponent completion percentage (58.9) and No. 4 in TD/INT ratio (1.25). CBs Tramon Williams (18) and Sam Shields (15) combined for 33 interceptions from 2010-14 under Whitt's guidance, No. 1 in the league over that span among tandems who were teammates for all five of those seasons.

Whitt's corners were ravaged by injury in 2016 as the established veteran and Pro Bowler Shields was lost for the season after Week 1 and talented second-year corners Damarious Randall and Quentin Rollins missed a combined nine games. Whitt came to rely on undrafted CB LaDarius Gunter, who provided a tough and consistent presence in the secondary in just his second season on his way to playing in all 16 games with 15 starts and leading the team with 15 passes defended, all career highs. Despite the challenges, Whitt's group helped lead the Packers to 17 interceptions on the season, tying for No. 4 in the NFL.

In 2015, Whitt was charged with leading a secondary that featured two rookies, Randall and Rollins, and both impressed in their first campaigns. Each returned an interception for a touchdown in 2015, marking the first time the Packers had two rookies/first-year players post INT returns for TDs in the same season since 1921. Randall's three interceptions on the season ranked tied for second among all NFL rookies, while Rollins ranked tied for fourth with two INTs. Randall was also named the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Month for November. Shields continued to excel under Whitt, as he recorded three interceptions to tie for the team lead despite missing four games because of injury.

In 2014, Whitt guided Shields to his first career Pro Bowl selection as he finished No. 2 on the team with 13 passes defended and No. 3 with two interceptions. Shields also posted his fifth career interception in the playoffs to move into the No. 1 spot in franchise postseason history. Williams paced the club with 16 passes defended and was tied for the team lead with three interceptions on his way to being named a Pro Bowl alternate under Whitt's tutelage. CB Casey Hayward was tied for the team lead in total take-aways with five (three INTs, two fumble recoveries), including two returns for TDs. He was one of only two players in the league to register an INT return for a TD and a fumble return for a TD (Texans DE J.J. Watt) in '14.

In 2013, Whitt helped Shields set career highs for tackles (64) and passes defended (25) and match his career high with four INTs. Under Whitt's direction, Williams posted career highs for tackles (91) and sacks (2½) while adding three INTs, two forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries and 14 passes defended.

With Hayward limited to just three contests in 2013 due to a hamstring injury, Whitt's preparation of rookie DB Micah Hyde became crucial for the defense. Hyde led the team's rookies with 54 tackles on the season and posted a sack, a forced fumble and four passes defended. Third-year CB Davon House added a career-best 32 tackles, a sack, an interception and 13 passes defended under Whitt's guidance.

In 2012, with veteran Charles Woodson shifting to safety in the team's base defense and Shields and House both missing time due to injuries, Whitt was charged with preparing Hayward to contribute immediately. Hayward led all NFL rookies with six interceptions (tied for No. 5 overall), becoming the first Packer to lead the league's rookies in the category since Mike McKenzie in 1999. Hayward was named to the All-Rookie Team by Pro Football Weekly/PFWA, becoming the first Green Bay CB to be honored since the team was first selected in 1974, and finished third in voting for the NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year by The Associated Press.

Williams matched his career high with 24 passes defended in 2012, his fourth straight campaign with 20-plus under Whitt. Shields posted 16 passes defended in just 10 games and registered an INT in both of the Packers' playoff contests. Whitt's group helped the Packers post a league-high five games with less than 120 net passing yards allowed, the most by the team since it registered five in 1988.

In 2011, the Packers led the league in interceptions (31) for the second time in three seasons, and Green Bay was the only club to have three CBs each register four-plus INTs (Woodson, Williams, Shields). Green Bay posted 85 INTs from 2009-11, Whitt's first three seasons as cornerbacks coach. It marked the most by the Packers over a three-year period since 1943-45 (95 INTs) and the most by an NFL team since Minnesota and San Francisco each posted 86

INTs from 1986-88.

Woodson's seven INTs in 2011 tied him for the league lead as he earned his fourth straight Pro Bowl bid, the first Green Bay CB to do so since Herb Adderley (1963-67), as well as first-team All-Pro recognition from AP. Woodson also posted two sacks to become the first CB in franchise annals (since 1982) to register two-plus sacks in four consecutive seasons.

Under Whitt's tutelage in 2011, Williams recorded four INTs, his fourth straight season with four or more picks, the only non-drafted player in the NFL to accomplish that feat over that span. Shields also posted a career-best four INTs in the nickel-back role.

In 2010, Whitt's work with Williams culminated in his first Pro Bowl bid. Williams led the team in interceptions (a career-high six) and passes defended (23), and added three more INTs in the playoffs, which tied the franchise single-postseason record. Whitt also was instrumental in the rapid development of the rookie Shields, another undrafted prospect who became the team's nickel back by the season opener – despite playing the corner position only one season in college – and helped the Packers advance to the Super Bowl with two interceptions in the NFC title game at Chicago.

Woodson posted career highs in tackles (105) and forced fumbles (five) and earned a Pro Bowl bid and second-team All-Pro honors in 2010, when the Packers led the league in opponent passer rating (67.2) and finished second in INTs (24).

In 2009, Whitt was part of a staff that guided the Packers defense to a No. 2 overall ranking in the league, the highest ranking since the 1996 team finished as the No. 1 defense. Green Bay led the league with 40 takeaways and 30 interceptions, the first time the Packers led the league in INTs since 1965 (tied with Washington that season with 27).

Also in 2009, Woodson posted a career-high nine INTs as part of perhaps his finest all-around season on his way to earning NFL Defensive Player of the Year honors from AP as well as all-pro honors from virtually every publication. Then 33, Woodson became the oldest defensive back to win the player of the year award and just the fifth cornerback to earn the honor since the award's inception in 1971.

In Whitt's first season with the Packers in 2008, his duties included breaking down opponent game film and analyzing their offensive tendencies while also assisting with the defensive backs and special teams.

In 2007 with Atlanta, Whitt worked alongside veteran coach and former Packers defensive coordinator Emmitt Thomas in tutoring the Falcons' defensive backs.

During his time in Louisville, Whitt's recruiting efforts helped bring the program into national prominence as the Cardinals went 41-9 over that four-year stretch. After joining the staff in 2003, Whitt worked diligently to improve the Cardinals' recruiting efforts, and the program landed its first top-25 recruiting class in 2005.

On the field, he coached All-Big East first-team selection William Gay, who led the team with six interceptions and was a fifth-round draft pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 2007. Whitt also had a hand in helping safeties Kerry Rhodes (Jets/Cardinals) and Antoine Harris (Falcons) make it to the NFL.

Whitt broke into the collegiate coaching ranks in 2002 as wide receivers coach at The Citadel. In his only season there, the Bulldogs saw their passing output increase by 81.3 yards per game over 2001, averaging 219.8 yards in 2002. Under Whitt's guidance, all of the team's receivers produced career highs in 2002, most notably Scooter Johnson, who improved on his six catches for 104 yards as a junior to bring in 69 passes for 950 yards and seven touchdowns to earn first-team All-Southern Conference honors as a senior.

A native of Auburn, Ala., and a walk-on as a player at Auburn University, Whitt eventually earned a scholarship and played for a coaching staff that included his father, Joe Sr., a longtime assistant at the school.

Whitt worked his way into Auburn's rotation at wide receiver and contributed on special teams, battling several injuries along the way. After four shoulder surgeries and reconstructive knee surgery, he was granted a medical hardship waiver and became a student assistant at Auburn for two seasons, coaching alongside his dad.

Born July 19, 1978, Whitt graduated from Auburn in 2001 with a degree in communications. He and his wife, Ericka, have three children – a son, Joseph Barrington, and two daughters, Ava Jeneé and Zoë Jade.

NOTE—regular season only

SAM SEALE

WEST REGIONAL SCOUT

Sam Seale, a nine-year NFL veteran as a player, heads into his 22nd season scouting college players for the Packers, his first post in player personnel. Promoted to West regional scout on May 23, 2012, Seale was hired July 22, 1995, and maintains primary focus on the West Coast region.

Seale was recognized as the NFC Scout of the Year at the Fritz Pollard Alliance Meeting, which took place during the 2017 NFL Scouting Combine.

Seale began his NFL playing career after being picked in the eighth round of the 1984 NFL Draft by the then-Los Angeles Raiders. After one year as a wide receiver (1984) and three seasons as a defensive back/kick returner (1985-87) for the Silver and Black, Seale headed south to play for the San Diego Chargers for the next four seasons (1988-91).

After becoming a full-time starter (at cornerback) for the first time in his pro career in 1989, Seale appeared in all 16 games for San Diego in both 1990 and '91. He then returned to the Los Angeles area in 1992 to play one additional season for the Raiders and appeared in one game with the then-Los Angeles Rams in 1993.

In 121 career games, Seale recorded 11 interceptions, returning one for a touchdown in 1985. He also scored once on a fumble recovery (in 1988 with San Diego).

A four-time letterman (1980-83) as a running back for Western State College (Colo.), Seale averaged 5.3 yards per carry as a collegian while leading the team twice both in rushing and receiving. He also earned NAIA All-America honors in track, competing in the 60-, 100- and 200-meter events. The political science major was an All-Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference pick two seasons in football and four times in track. Seale was inducted into the Western State College Hall of Fame in 2002.

While attending Orange (N.J.) High School, Seale was an all-state performer in football his senior year and in track as a junior and senior. He earned four letters as a running back/defensive back for the football team while also lettering twice in track as a sprinter.

He and his wife, Elizabeth, reside in San Diego and have two sons, Ricky (Sam Jr.), 25, and Samir, 23, and a daughter, Shi-Ann, 18. Ricky is the all-time leading rusher in San Diego prep history and was a four-year letterman (2011-14) at Stanford University.

CHAD BRINKER

PRO SCOUT

Chad Brinker enters his eighth season with the Packers' pro personnel department after joining the team Jan. 31, 2010. He was promoted May 23, 2012, after two seasons as a scouting assistant. In his role as a pro scout, Brinker assists player personnel in various areas, including evaluating both college and professional players, advance scouting of upcoming opponents, in-season tryouts, and attending college pro days.

Brinker originally entered the NFL in 2003 as an undrafted free agent out of Ohio University with the New York Jets. He scored two touchdowns in preseason play before being waived in the team's final roster reduction. Brinker was re-signed by the Jets following the '03 season and was allocated to NFL Europe. He lined up at running back for the Cologne Centurions during the 2004 season before suffering a concussion in his third contest. Brinker was placed on injured reserve and was later released by the Jets.

Brinker was a four-year starter and two-time All-Mid-American Conference selection at running back for the Ohio Bobcats. As a senior, he ran for a career-best 1,099 yards and remains Ohio's sixth all-time leading rusher with 2,826 career yards. His 30 total touchdowns rank third in school history, and he also remains near the top in nearly every rushing category despite missing seven games as a junior after having an arachnoid cyst removed from his skull.

Brinker also competed in track for the Bobcats, running the 60-meter indoor and 100-meter outdoor. He received a specialized-studies degree in exercise science as an undergraduate at Ohio and earned a master's degree in sports administration from his alma mater.

Following his football career, Brinker entered the business world, working for Merck as a pharmaceutical sales representative and then later as an account manager for Stryker Medical. His passion for football never left him as he remained close to the game by also serving as the radio color analyst for Ohio University football from 2006-08. During the 2009 season, he was an assistant football coach at Westerville Central High School in Columbus, Ohio, coaching running backs and defensive backs.

A four-year letterman at Martins Ferry (Ohio) High School, Brinker was a finalist for the Mr. Ohio Football Award and a USA Today All-American. He twice earned first-team all-state honors and also lettered multiple times in basketball, baseball and track.

On the year, Benuska aided an offensive line that paved the way for second-team All-Big 12 QB Trevone Boykin to register 3,575 passing yards, the second most in program history. TCU's offensive unit was one of the conference's most efficient during his senior season, with 4,976 total yards (1,933 rushing, 3,043 passing) on 745 plays (6.7 avg.).

Benuska lettered for the first time in his career as a junior in 2014, appearing in six contests on the offensive line. The No. 6-ranked Horned Frogs were ultimately crowned Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl champions in the largest margin of victory in CFA Peach Bowl history, 42-3, over No. 9 Ole Miss.

Born May 26, 1993, Benuska earned a B.B.A. in entrepreneurial management from TCU in 2015, and is a native of San Marino, Calif. Joe Hueber enters his third season with the Packers and his first as a college scout after being promoted in June 2017. Hueber previously served as a scouting assistant (2015-16) for the team's personnel department.

Prior to joining the Packers, Hueber was a recruiting assistant for the University of Pittsburgh's football program for three seasons (2012-14). While at Pitt, Hueber's contributions to the Panthers' daily recruiting efforts helped the program see a rise in impressive young talent. In his first season with Pitt, the program boasted a 27-player recruiting class that was ranked 20th nationally and third in the ACC by Scout.com.

Hueber followed up a successful first season with a 2013 recruiting class that contained 12 true freshmen who saw immediate playing time, including seven players who made at least one start during the regular season. The freshmen class also featured players who led the team in eight different statistical categories.

Before joining the Panthers, Hueber gathered valuable experience at his alma mater, the University of Minnesota, where he assisted the program in its evaluation and recruitment process while earning his B.A. in sports management in 2010.

Hueber also served as an undergraduate recruiting assistant for the University of Iowa, where he began his college education.

Malaspina finished his tenure with San Francisco as the team's director of college scouting for four seasons (2013-16). He oversaw the daily operations of the college scouting department and the staff. For the three years (2010-12) prior, Malaspina was a national scout, primarily serving in the Southeast region. Malaspina spent the 1999 season evaluating college prospects from the Southeast region for the Carolina Panthers. He also spent 1998 with National Football Scouting.

Malaspina was a coach as well, serving as an offensive assistant at Jacksonville University from 1997-98. His first college coaching position was with Central Florida, his alma mater, in 1997. Malaspina graduated from Central Florida in 1993, playing center for the Knights. Before returning to coach for the Knights, Malaspina played center in the Canadian Football League for the Shreveport Pirates in 1994 and participated in training camp in 1995.

MIKE OWEN

Mike Owen enters his sixth season with the Packers' player personnel department and third as the Northeast area scout in 2017. He joined the team on May 23, 2012, as a college scout.

Prior to joining the Packers, Owen spent two seasons as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Riverhead (N.Y.) High School, where he coached the tight ends and helped with the linebackers. He was a four-year letterman (2006-09) at Syracuse University, where he played tight end, defensive end and linebacker during his career. Elected a team captain as a senior, Owen finished his career with 36 receptions for 319 yards (8.9 avg.) and three touchdowns.

Owen played in all 12 games with 10 starts as a senior in '09 and hauled in 12 passes for 93 yards (7.8 avg.) and a TD. As a junior, he started 11 contests and ranked No. 2 on the team with 19 catches for 175 yards (9.2 avg.) and two TDs. He recorded single-game career highs for receptions (five), receiving yards (59) and receiving TDs (two) vs. Akron that season.

Owen moved to tight end prior to the 2007 season after having switched to defensive end from linebacker before the '06 campaign. He posted a career-best three tackles on special teams vs. Louisville in 2007. Owen earned a degree in child and family studies at Syracuse.

At Riverhead (N.Y.) High, Owen was ranked the No. 18 outside linebacker in the nation by Tom Lemming on ESPN.com. He was also rated the No. 9 prospect in New York by Rivals.com and the 12th-best prospect in the state by SuperPrep. Owen played in the 2005 Governor's Bowl, an all-star game featuring the top prospects from New York and New Jersey.

As a senior in 2004, Owen recorded 51 tackles, two sacks and an interception despite battling through an elbow injury throughout the season. As a junior, he posted 113 tackles and a fumble recovery on his way to being named all-county and second-team All-Long Island. Owen was named the team MVP as a junior and earned the 2004 Pat Kelly Award for overcoming serious injury. He also won the Carl Smith Award in '03 for outstanding achievement in academics and athletics.

Owen is recently married. He and his wife, Mandee Jo, reside in Riverhead, N.Y.

CHARLIE PEPRAH

COLLEGE SCOUT

A seven-year NFL veteran as a player, Charlie Peprah enters his second season with the Packers' player personnel department and first as a college scout in 2017. He joined the team in an official capacity on June 16, 2016, as a scouting assistant before being promoted to his current post in June 2017. Peprah also serves as the team's National Football Scouting representative to the annual NFL Scouting Combine.

A former Packers safety, Peprah first entered the NFL ranks as a fifth-round selection (No. 158 overall) by the N.Y. Giants in the 2006 NFL Draft before he was claimed off waivers by Green Bay on September 3, 2006. DANNY MOCK

COLLEGE SCOUTING COORDINATOR

Now enjoying his 21st season with the Packers and 38th in the NFL, Danny Mock is responsible for a variety of scouting services as the team's college scouting coordinator. Mock's duties include tracking Green Bay's scouts who scour the country looking for players, coordinating all-star, combine and draft meetings and heading up the computer operations for the team's annual draft preparations.

Mock gained his first NFL experience as a member of the Atlanta Falcons' grounds crew from 1980-85. In addition to his duties on the field, Mock served as a film assistant from 1983-86. Following three seasons in the film department, the NFL moved to video and Mock was promoted to assistant video director by the Falcons in 1986.

After serving two years in that capacity, Mock turned to the player personnel side of football. For the following nine seasons (1988-96), he acted as the administrative assistant in the Falcons' player personnel department.

Having lived in the South his entire life, Mock headed north when he was named the Packers' college scouting coordinator on June 28, 1997, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

Mock attended Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College (1981-82) in Tifton, Ga., majoring in turf management and business.

Mock had earlier attended Gilbert (Ariz.) High School while growing up in the Phoenix area. He graduated from Duluth (Ga.) High School, where he lettered three times for the basketball team. During his sophomore basketball season, Mock was a teammate of 1980 Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, who later would go on to star in football at the University of South Carolina and play seven seasons in the NFL. Mock also was elected team captain in basketball for his senior season, leading the school to the state quarterfinals.

RED BATTY

EQUIPMENT MANAGER

A veteran in his area of expertise, Gordon "Red" Batty is in his 24th season as equipment manager of the Green Bay Packers.

Batty is responsible for properly outfitting players with the safest and most advanced equipment, as well as ordering and maintaining all of the team's equipment and sideline apparel. Immediately prior to joining the Packers, he had spent 13 seasons (1981-93) in the same position with the then-Houston Oilers.

A 58-year-old native of Montreal, Batty remarkably is in his 45th season in the equipment field. Six years later, he was elevated to the position of equipment manager for the Alouettes. During Batty's tenure in Montreal, the Alouettes won two Grey Cups (1974 and '77).

Batty subsequently joined the Oilers in June 1981, in the process becoming the NFL's youngest equipment manager at age 22. He also purports to be the first native-born Canadian to garner both a Grey Cup and Super Bowl ring, and he now has two of each, the latter distinction earned when the Packers captured Super Bowls XXXI and XLV with Batty in charge of the team's equipment. He also worked his fifth Pro Bowl following the 2015 season.

Upon being named to the Packers' staff on Jan. 24, 1994, Batty became only the fifth person in club history to hold the title of equipment manager. Batty (pronounced BATT-ee) was born Nov. 18, 1958, in Montreal and has two children, a daughter, Chelsea, 26, and a son, Cameron, 21.

PEPPER BURRUSS

DIRECTOR OF SPORTS MEDICINE ADMINISTRATION

One of the more visible people in the organization, Pepper Burruss embarks upon his 25th season with the Packers and his 41st in the NFL overall, which is the second-longest tenure

Burruss, a certified athletic trainer and physical therapist, enters his third season as director of sports medicine administration after 22 years as the head athletic trainer. He joined Green Bay in 1993 following 16 seasons with the New York Jets as an assistant athletic trainer.

Burruss has won several awards during his NFL tenure. Most recently, he earned the NFL Physicians Society's Outstanding NFL Athletic Trainer award for the 2012 season at the annual NFL Scouting Combine.

The Packers' athletic training staff was honored by its peers with the NFL Athletic Training Staff of the Year award in 2011. It was the second time Burruss had won the award; the first came as a member of the Jets' athletic training staff in 1985. Burruss' Jets staff also was honored at the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA) clinical symposium in 1994 by former Jets defensive lineman Dennis Byrd, who credited the team's emergency care as a contributing factor in his miraculous recovery from quadriplegia. Byrd had suffered a fractured neck after an on-field collision in a 1992 game against Kansas City at the Meadowlands.

Burruss has been involved in multiple head, neck and spinal-care initiatives. In 2010, he was chosen by the NFL to represent the Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society (PFATS) on the league's Head, Neck and Spine Medical Committee, which led to his subsequent serving on both the Equipment Standards and Return to Play Criterion subcommittees.

Professionally, Burruss has served two terms on the executive committee of the PFATS, first as an AFC assistant athletic trainer representative, then as the NFC head athletic trainer representative.

A product of Wappingers Falls, N.Y., where he attended Ketcham High School, Burruss was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2000, and in 2011, he was also inducted into the Wisconsin Athletic Trainers Association (WATA) Hall of Fame.

Gizzi was acquired by the Packers off waivers on the eve of the 2000 regular season and spent time on both the 53-man roster and the practice squad during his first season with the club. The first-year linebacker played in 11 games and ranked fifth on the club with eight special teams tackles.

NICKNAME ORIGIN

The nickname "Packers" appeared in print for the first time in the Aug. 13, 1919, edition of the Green Bay Press-Gazette. It was the first story written about Green Bay's newly formed football team, which held its organizational meeting two days earlier in the paper's editorial department.

The Indian Packing Co. was the team's sponsor and, hence, the Press-Gazette's Aug. 13 story referred to the team as both the "Packers" and the "Indians." On Aug. 15, the Press-Gazette used only the nickname "Packers," and that's who they've been ever since.

It's uncertain who coined the nickname, but it almost certainly was one of two Press-Gazette staff members: Val Schneider, who was writing the paper's sports column at the time, or George Whitney Calhoun, city editor at the time and the football team's co-founder along with Curly Lambeau.

With Indian Packing as a sponsor in 1919 and 1920, and Acme Packing as the sponsor in 1921, the nickname was a natural. But the Packers were expelled from what is now the NFL in January 1922 for using three Notre Dame players in a non-league game against Racine.

Green Bay was readmitted to the league six months later, but disavowed any connection to Acme Packing and stopped calling themselves the Packers. The Press-Gazette used Bays and Blues as alternatives, but fans and out-of-town writers resisted the change and the name Packers endured.

DRAFT-ORDER TIES

Draft-order ties are resolved by the cumulative record of each team's opponents. The team with the weaker opponents receives drafting priority. Within a tied segment, non-playoff clubs are given priority over playoff clubs. For the teams that do make the postseason, there is a reseeding based on how far they go in the playoffs. The losers of the wild-card contests are seeded 21-24 based on their records. The losers of the divisional games are slotted 25-28, and teams losing in the conference championship games are picks No. 29 and No. 30. The Super Bowl loser picks 31st, with the Super Bowl winner picking last at No. 32.

EARNING THE HONOR

While the Packers achieved the ultimate team success on the field in 2010, winning the franchise's 13th world championship and fourth Super Bowl, there were also a number of individual accolades that accompanied the collective accomplishment.

When the initial voting for the Pro Bowl was released, five Green Bay players (T Chad Clifton, S Nick Collins, WR Greg Jennings, LB Clay Matthews and CB Charles Woodson) were named to the NFC's all-star team. Following the addition of three alternates (WR Donald Driver, LB A.J. Hawk, and CB Tramon Williams), the Packers' list grew to eight players. The eight selections were tied for the second most in team history and was the largest representation the organization had on the Pro Bowl roster since it sent nine in 1967.

Fortunately, though, none of the Packers' selections ever appeared in the game (played Jan. 30, 2011), as they were preoccupied with preparations for the upcoming Super Bowl XLV on Feb. 6.

A look at the most-represented Packers teams in terms of Pro Bowl selections since the game's inception following the 1938 season. The Packers played as a team in the 1939 game and therefore that year isn't included.

That season, his third and final as Green Bay's head coach, ended at 6-8, with losses in four of his last five games (all on the road). What's more, Bengtson faced the toughest schedule ever thrown at the Packers. The toughest schedules in team history, based on opponent records at the end of that season:

TITLETOWN: GREEN BAY, WIS.

On Dec. 6, 1961, three days after the Packers clinched the Western Conference title and were assured of playing host to the NFL Championship Game in Green Bay for the first time, civic leaders adopted the nickname "Tittletown, U.S.A."

Some 110 men and women from all walks of civic and business life in Green Bay agreed to the idea — the brainchild of Jack Yuenger, the Green Bay Press-Gazette's advertising manager at the time — during a breakfast at the old downtown Beaumont Hotel. Festivities were to start following the Packers' final regular-season game in Los Angeles on Dec. 17.

The group made plans to hang Tittletown banners and signs in the downtown area; held a number of events, including a Christmas party for the Packers on Dec. 23 at the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena; and wrote a song, "Tittletown, U.S.A.," to the tune of "Mr. Touchdown."

The community enthusiastically greeted the idea to the point where it still uses the nickname, and the Packers did their part on Dec. 31 by beating the Giants, 37-0, in the first postseason game ever played at what is now Lambeau Field.

Flashed his impressive range on the first INT in the first quarter when he came from the hashes to haul in a deep QB Jay Cutler pass intended for WR Roy Williams along the Chicago sideline. The second INT came early in the fourth quarter when Cutler sailed a throw to Williams and he reached back to make the INT. With the two INTs, became the first Packer since Cecil in 1988 to record four INTs in his first seven NFL games. Also teamed with Woodson to become the first Packers teammates to register two-INT games in back-to-back weeks since Cecil and CB Ron Pitts did so in Weeks 5-6 in 1988...vs. St. Louis (Oct. 16): Suffered a fracture in his right hand at practice during the week and played the game with a club cast. The Green Bay offense would score a TD seven plays later...vs. N.Y. Giants (NFC Divisional, Jan. 15): Made his playoff debut, finishing with five tackles (four solo), two passes defended and an INT. The INT came in the second quarter after he'd dropped into a zone coverage and dove forward to catch an overthrown pass from QB Eli Manning intended for WR Hakeem Nicks, returning it 12 yards on what was the Giants' lone turnover of the game.

Along with Shields, who started at nickel CB, became the first Green Bay rookie defensive-back tandem to start the season opener since the AFL-NFL merger in 1970. On the Bills' opening drive of the fourth quarter, attacked the line of scrimmage before the snap and met WR Roscoe Parrish immediately as a Trent Edwards pass arrived, wrestling the ball away for the INT at the Green Bay 43. The turnover led to a five-play, 52-yard TD drive that put the Packers ahead, 34-7. Added four tackles (three solo) and a pass defended, including a stop of Lynch for no gain up the middle on the play before his INT...vs. Detroit (Oct. 3): Posted three tackles (two solo) in 23 snaps, but suffered a torn ACL in his left knee, ending his debut season...2010 Draft: Selected by the Packers in the third round with the No. 71 overall pick. Became the first player drafted by the Packers out of Georgia Tech since WR Charlie Simmons (sixth round, 1995) and was the highest-drafted safety out of Georgia Tech since Travares Tillman (Buffalo, 2000, second round, No. 58 overall).

Detroit (Oct. 6): Posted a career-long 67-yard run off left tackle in the third quarter, the longest run by a Packer since RB Brandon Jackson's 71-yarder at Washington on Oct. 10, 2010. It was the longest by a Green Bay WR since James Lofton's 83-yard TD at the N.Y. Giants on Sept. 20, 1982. Combined with Jones' 83-yard TD catch in the game, it marked the first time an NFL team had both a 65-yard run and an 80-yard pass in the same contest since the L.A. Raiders did so on Nov. 5, 1989... At Baltimore (Oct. 13): Made four catches for 53 yards (13.3 avg.) in the first two quarters before suffering a knee injury just before halftime that forced him from the game. The injury would sideline him for the next 10 games... At Chicago (Dec. 29): Was activated to the 53-man roster the day before the game and made a memorable return to the lineup. Caught a game-winning 48-yard TD pass from Rodgers on a fourth-down play with 38 seconds remaining to clinch a third consecutive NFC North title for the Packers. With Green Bay trailing, 28-27, and facing a fourth-and-8, adjusted his route in response to the coverage of S Chris Conte, who was playing him to stop near the first-down marker. Sped past Conte on a go-route down the middle of the field, catching the ball near the Chicago 10 and then charging forward before being tackled into the end zone

A SEASON FOR ALL INTENTS AND PURPOSES

Wide receiver Randall Cobb burst onto the scene in 2011 when he earned NFC Pro Bowl alternate status as a kick returner and was named to the prestigious Pro Football Weekly/PFWA All-Rookie team. He ranked No. 2 in the NFL in kickoff return average (27.7) and became the first Packers rookie to return both a kickoff and a punt for a TD in the same season. A versatile threat with untapped potential on offense, the question quickly became, what would he do for an encore?

Cobb answered that question emphatically in 2012, being voted the first alternate for the Pro Bowl as a return man and proving himself to be one of the most dynamic weapons in the league. He paired his prowess as a returner with an expanded role on offense that saw him post a team-high 80 catches, en route to becoming the first player in NFL history to have more than 900-plus receiving yards (954) and 900-plus kickoff return yards (964) in the same season.

Combining those two totals with his 292 yards on punt returns and an additional 132 yards on carries out of the backfield, he set the single-season franchise record for all-purpose yardage in Week 16 vs. Tennessee.

A look at the top single-season all-purpose yardage totals in franchise history:

| Player | Season | Rushing | Receiving | Punt Ret. | Kickoff Ret. | All-Purpose |
|---------------|--------|---------|-----------|-----------|--------------|-------------|

Did not find the end zone, but almost all of the catches were critical, drive-extending plays that helped stake Green Bay to a 21-7 lead in the division-clinching win. Registered a career-high three receptions of 25-plus yards...vs. Tennessee (Dec. 23): Eclipsed Green's single-season franchise record for combined net yards on his first touch, a 14-yard punt return in the first quarter. Hauled in three passes for 62 yards (20.7 avg.) and a TD. Sustained an ankle injury on a third-quarter punt return, one that would sideline him for the remainder of the contest as well as the regular-season finale at Minnesota.

2011: Appeared in 15 contests and the team's playoff game in his rookie campaign...Was named a Pro Bowl alternate as a kick return specialist and to the Pro Football Weekly/PFWA All-Rookie team as a kickoff returner...Ranked No. 2 in the NFL in kickoff return average (27.7) and No. 7 in the league in punt return average (11.3)...Set a franchise rookie record with 941 kickoff return yards...Became the first player in franchise history and the first

The return would go on to be named the NFL Play of the Year at the league's awards ceremony. Nearly lost his footing near the Green Bay 20 after spinning out of a hit by CB Leigh Torrence, but was held up by teammate John Kuhn, returned to his feet and went the rest of the way untouched for the score. Marked the Packers' first kickoff return TD since Allen Rossum's 92-yarder vs. Indianapolis (Nov. 19, 2000) and bested Carmichael's previous franchise record (106 yards) for the longest kickoff return in team annals. At 21 years, 17 days old, he became the youngest NFL player to return a kickoff for a TD since the Chicago Bears' Andy Livingston did so on Dec. 13, 1964 (20 years, 53 days). The kickoff score marked Cobb's second TD of the game as he made his way into the end zone in the first quarter on a 32-yard catch-and-run from Rodgers. Became the first Packer since Walker (Sept. 8, 2002) to catch a TD pass in his pro debut. Became just the second player in NFL history to catch a TD pass and score on a kickoff return in his pro debut, joining Detroit's Bill Bowman (vs. Chicago, Sept. 26, 1954). Added a 55-yard kickoff return in the third quarter to set up a TD as he became the first NFL player since Kansas City's Dante Hall (Dec. 8, 2002) to post an 80-plus-yard punt return and a 55-plus-yard kickoff return in the same game and the first Packer to do so since Williams (Nov. 2, 1969)...At Kansas City (Dec. 18): Saw increased time on offense with Jennings sidelined (knee) and led the team with a season-high four catches for 53 yards (13.3 avg.)...2011 Draft: Was selected by the Packers in the second round (No. 64 overall). LAMBEAU'S TWIN FLAGS

The twin American flags above Lambeau Field enter their 14th season in 2017. The impressively sized flags, 15 feet by 25 feet, were raised May 28, 2004, on Memorial Day weekend that year.

Located on top of the stadium's indoor club seats on the north end of the facility, the flags are the culmination of the desire to improve Lambeau Field's honoring of America, an effort first discussed in Fall 2003, at the end of the stadium's 32-month renovation.

"Once the Lambeau Field redevelopment project was complete and we had our first games in the stadium, we realized the old flag and flagpole appeared a bit small compared to the larger size of the new facility," said Packers then-CEO Bob Harlan.

"We needed something more prominent to appropriately honor our country and decided to upgrade that component of the stadium. We also heard from a few fans that they had trouble locating the flag during the anthem, so this will definitely help in that area, too.

"The new, larger flags are a great way to honor America and the timing worked out for it to be done for Memorial Day weekend."

The flags are positioned atop 72-foot-high flagpoles which are stationed on top of the northeast and northwest corners of the stadium, above the club seats. All told, the flags are flying at 180 feet above ground.

Once the plans were set, the team worked with Kocken and Associates, of De Pere, Wis., on the design and engineering of the project. A major challenge of the design was ensuring both the structure and the flagpoles themselves could withstand the extreme wind load from the two large flags at that height.

Physical preparation for the new flagpoles began months prior with structural work, including reinforcing the area above the ceiling and on the roof with additional steel and concrete to support the extra load.

The two flags fly 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and are illuminated by spotlights at night.

LATE-SEASON SUCCESS

Lambeau Field has proven to be a difficult place to play once the weather turns, and Head Coach Mike McCarthy has continued the tradition of late-season success in Green Bay, compiling a 23-4 home record and a 37-14 mark overall in December and January in the regular season. Last season, the Packers went 5-0 during the months of December/January en route to their eighth straight postseason appearance (2009-16).

Since 2000, Green Bay owns the league's third-best regular-season record in games played Dec. 1 and later:

THE USS GREEN BAY

On July 15, 2006, the U.S. Navy christened a 684-foot warship, and dubbed it the USS Green Bay at a shipyard in the New Orleans area.

Constructed in Avondale, La., at a shipyard owned by Northrop Grumman, it is the second Navy vessel to be called the Green Bay, following a small gunboat that patrolled the seas during the Vietnam era.

The newest USS Green Bay, used to carry troops for rapid deployment, launch and recovery, has become a significant part of the U.S. amphibious fleet.

Former Green Bay Packers quarterback Bart Starr appeared in a video that was played at the July 2006 christening ceremony, and Nancy Croy, principal at Green Bay's Lombardi Middle School – named after Starr's legendary coach Vince Lombardi – traveled to attend the christening as part of the school's relationship with the Navy.

Members of the Packers' front office, including President and CEO Mark Murphy, toured the ship in November 2008 during the team's road trip to New Orleans for a game against the Saints.

Commissioned Jan. 24, 2009, it can carry 360 Navy sailors and as many as 800 Marines. The ship is assigned to the U.S. Pacific Fleet; its home port is at the naval base in San Diego, Calif.

THE LOMBARDI SWEEP

Vince Lombardi was fond of saying, "Every football team eventually arrives at a lead play. It becomes the team's bread-and-butter play ... My No. 1 play has been the power sweep, sometimes called the Lombardi Sweep." The call in the huddle was Red Right 49 and the play unfolded with the halfback – Paul Hornung (No. 5) when he was in his prime – carrying the ball around right end following his pulling guards, Jerry Kramer (64) and Fuzzy Thurston (63).

Companion plays in Lombardi's offense included the weak-side sweep with the fullback as the ball carrier and also the halfback option pass.

rushing TD, taking an end-around from QB Brett Hundley in the fourth quarter and going 19 yards for the score...Vs. N.Y. Giants (NFC Wild Card, Jan. 8): Tied for the team lead with three tackles on special teams, including a stop of WR Dwayne Harris for no gain on a punt return early in the second quarter and a tackle of Harris for just a 1-yard return at the New York 8 on a punt later in the second quarter. Also returned three kickoffs for 77 yards (25.7 avg.), highlighted by a 33-yard return out to the Green Bay 44 in the second quarter.

2015: Appeared in all 16 games, seeing time on offense and special teams...Had two catches for 79 yards (39.5 avg.)... Ranked No. 2 on the team with a career-high 15 tackles on special teams and posted a 29.0-yard average on 14 kickoff returns, including three returns of 45-plus yards...Played in both postseason contests and recorded seven catches (tied for the team lead) for a team-high 145 yards (20.7 avg.) and a team-leading two TDs...Also returned four kickoffs for 99 yards (24.8 avg.)...Vs. Seattle (Sept. 20): Registered two tackles, the first of his career on special teams...Vs. San Diego (Oct. 18): Saw significant action on offense (40 snaps) after Montgomery departed in the second quarter due to an ankle injury, and made an impact with his first catches of the season, posting 79 yards on two receptions (39.5 avg.). Had a career-long 46-yard grab midway through the second quarter down to the San Diego 11 to help set up a Crosby field goal. Made a 33-yard catch with just over five minutes remaining in the game on a drive that was capped off with Crosby's 28-yard FG that gave Green Bay a 27-20 lead...At Minnesota (Nov. 22): Played 20 snaps on offense and 21 on special teams, making a pair of impactful plays in the game. Posted a 70-yard kickoff return late in the first quarter to the Minnesota 34 to help set up Crosby's 47-yard FG on the first return of his pro career. It marked the longest return by a Packer on his first NFL kickoff return since Dave Hampton's 89-yarder vs. San Francisco on Sept. 28, 1969. The return was also the longest by a Packer since DB Micah Hyde posted a 70-yarder vs. Pittsburgh on Dec. 22, 2013. With the Packers leading, 9-6, late in the first half, came back on a deep throw from Rodgers to draw a 50-yard pass-interference penalty on third-and-15 on CB Terence Newman, giving Green Bay the ball at the Minnesota 35 on a drive that would be capped off with a 10-yard TD catch by Cobb...Vs. Chicago (Nov. 26): Had two kickoff returns for 82 yards (41.0 avg.), highlighted by a 64-yard return in the second quarter to the Chicago 33 that helped set up a 22-yard Crosby FG. Took the return down the middle of the field, breaking several tackle attempts before bouncing it out down the left sideline. Became the first Packer to post a kickoff return of 60-plus yards in back-to-back games since WR Robert Brooks in 1993 (Oct. 3-10). Became the first NFL player to register two kickoff returns of 60-plus yards in his first four attempts since Oilers CB Willie Tullis in 1981...Vs. Dallas (Dec. 13): Led the team with a career-high three tackles on special teams. On all three of the stops, which came on punt returns, brought down WR Lucky Whitehead for a 2-yard loss...At Arizona (NFC Divisional, Jan. 16): Led the team with seven catches for 145 yards (20.7 avg.) and two TDs, becoming the first player in franchise history to register seven-plus catches, 140-plus receiving yards and two-plus receiving TDs in a playoff game. His 145 receiving yards were the third most in franchise history in a playoff game, trailing only TE Jermichael Finley (159 at Arizona, Jan. 10, 2010) and WR John Jefferson (148 vs. St. Louis Cardinals, Jan. 8, 1983). On his first career TD, which came with just over 10 minutes remaining in the third quarter on third-and-goal from the 8, initially cut off his route near the goal line before making an inside move to free himself from CB Justin Bethel as a scrambling Rodgers found him for the 8-yard score. With less than a minute remaining in regulation and the Packers trailing, 20-13, got behind Bethel to make a 60-yard catch to the Arizona 36. After an illegal-motion penalty on the Packers and an incompleting gave the offense one final play at the Arizona 41, streaked down the field and made a leaping catch of Rodgers' Hail Mary pass over CB Patrick Peterson in the end zone with no time remaining, a reception (along with Crosby's extra point) that sent the game into overtime. It marked the first game-winning or game-tying passing TD to end regulation in NFL playoff history. His 101 receiving yards on the final possession were the most by an NFL player on a postseason drive since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger.

2014: Played in three games as a rookie and caught two passes for 16 yards (8.0 avg.)...Was inactive (healthy scratch) for the other 13 regular-season contests and both playoff games...Posted two catches in the preseason, with both going for touchdowns (34 yards and 33 yards)...At Chicago (Sept. 28): Made his NFL debut, playing one snap on offense and five on special teams...Vs. Minnesota (Oct. 2): Registered the first receptions of his career, finishing with two catches for 16 yards (8.0 avg.). His first career reception came on a third-and-5 from the Green Bay 25 in the fourth quarter when he hauled in a 9-yard pass from QB Matt Flynn on a slant with CB Xavier Rhodes covering him...At Miami (Oct. 12): Saw limited action, appearing on three plays on offense and four on special teams...2014 Draft: Selected by the Packers in the seventh round with the No. 236 overall pick, the first wide receiver ever to be selected in the NFL Draft out of Saginaw Valley State. Became just the fourth player to be drafted from the school and the first since T Todd Herremans in 2005 (Philadelphia, fourth round).

RIDING BIKES TO PRACTICE

One of the most heartwarming and enduring of the Packers' many great traditions is the bike-riding one during training camp. Since at least the Vince Lombardi era, more than a half-century ago, players have been riding kids' bikes from the locker room at what is now Lambeau Field to the Packers' nearby practice field(s).

So far the earliest evidence of the tradition was a photo furnished (on right) by Keegan Wright showing Jim Temp (82) and Dan Currie (58) walking to practice while Lamar McHan (16) rides a kid's bike.

The tradition continues today as kids line up outside the stadium hoping to give a player a lift, and then again outside the practice field following practice. It's a tradition that not only has brought immediate joy to kids and players alike, but also led to lasting friendships.

PACKERS SPRING MINICAMP HISTORY

Dan Devine coached collegiately for 16 years before Green Bay hired him in 1971. Shortly after his arrival, he implemented a college tradition: spring practice. That April, Devine took his new players to the University of Texas at Arlington and the Packers' first minicamp, where he got his first look at No. 1 draft choice John Brockington. In 1977, the Packers' revolutionary indoor facility allowed spring practice in Green Bay. However, the team migrated to Arizona in '94, so the Don Hutson Center could be finished.

- Late Game – Game with kickoff at 3:05 or 3:25 p.m. CT.

BLACKOUT POLICY (Suspended during the 2017 season)

To ensure an NFL club's ability to sell all of its game tickets, and to make televised games more attractive to viewers through the presence of sellout crowds, the following policy is observed by the NFL:

For a home game to be aired locally in the franchised market and in any secondary blackout market(s), the game must be sold out 72 hours in advance of kickoff. If the game is not a sellout by the 72-hour cutoff, both the home franchised market and the secondary markets of the carrying network will air an alternate game.

NUMBER OF GAMES IN A MARKET

With regard to the number of NFL games seen in a particular market on a Sunday afternoon, there are three situations.

- An NFL franchised market (i.e., New York, Chicago, Dallas, etc.) – On a week when the NFL team (or teams) in a market is on the ROAD Sunday, Monday or Thursday night, or Saturday afternoon, the market will receive three Sunday afternoon games: Two telecasts by the network with the doubleheader week and one game by the network with the single-game week. When an NFL team in the market is playing at HOME on Sunday afternoon, the market will receive two games: one game on FOX and one game on CBS, regardless of which network has the doubleheader week. That is, unless 1) the home team's assigned telecaster that day (CBS or FOX) also is on the doubleheader network and 2) the game is sold out 72 hours in advance. In that case, the three games would be the home team's and two other games in the remaining early or late window.
- All other television markets (including secondary blackout markets) – Network affiliates in these markets will receive three games on Sunday afternoon, two on the doubleheader network (one early and one late) and one game on the single-game network (either early or late).

SELECTION OF GAMES TO BE TELECAST REGIONALLY

By network contract, all team road games must be telecast back to that team's home territory (franchised market and secondary blackout markets). Other than this requirement, the televising network is the sole selector of which game(s) will be aired in all markets.

HISTORY OF THE SACK STATISTIC

In 1947, the NFL implemented a new team statistic, yards lost attempting to pass. The new category allowed the league to separate gross yards passing from net yards, to more accurately reflect a team's passing performance. Net passing yards included yards lost by backs tackled on passing plays.

In 1963, Seymour Siwoff, president of the league's official statistical company, the Elias Sports Bureau, made a suggestion. Recognizing the "yards lost attempting to pass" figure needed a complement, he argued for a new category: number of times losing yards attempting to pass. The league agreed, and one of the NFL's top executives, Jim Kensil, first coined the term "sack," which is a dark-ages word, meaning to plunder a captured town. Kensil, who handled NFL public relations among other responsibilities, popularized the term in his stories and publicity materials.

In 1982, convinced by member-team PR directors (many of whom were convinced by their players), Elias and the NFL agreed to make individual sacks an official number. New rules were written, such as only two players can share in a sack.

Today, it's arguably the game's most popular defensive stat. Siwoff, whose bureau also tracks official numbers for MLB, the NBA and the NHL, still has the final word on every challenged sack, spending Tuesday or Wednesday in the film room at the league office.

century mark...At San Francisco (Sept. 8): Delivered an impactful performance, seeing time on 71 defensive plays and posting a career-high 10 tackles (eight solo), including three for a loss and a sack. His first TFL came on San Francisco's second drive when he shot inside of FB Bruce Miller and buried RB Kendall Hunter for a 7-yard loss. His first sack of the season came late in the second quarter when he rushed to the inside of the protection and beat LG Mike Lupati to take down Kaepernick for a 6-yard loss...At Cincinnati (Sept. 22): Finished with two tackles (both solo, both for a loss), a sack and a career-high two forced fumbles (that were recovered by the Packers), despite exiting the game just before halftime with a hamstring injury. First forced fumble came on a third-and-1 play with the Packers trailing, 14-3, in the second quarter. The Bengals attempted a running play to the opposite side off of RT, but he read the play and flew down the line to hit RB BenJarvus Green-Ellis and jar the ball loose, where it was recovered by S M.D. Jennings and returned 24 yards for a TD. Posted his first strip-sack of the season on the Bengals' next drive when he drilled QB Andy Dalton and knocked the ball out, where it was recovered by LB Brad Jones. His pair of turnovers resulted in 10 points amidst a 30-point unanswered stretch by Green Bay in the second and third quarters...Vs. Detroit (Oct. 6): Started and appeared on 42 defensive plays before departing in the third quarter with the thumb injury. Started the game at ROLB and appeared on 36 defensive plays, finishing with three tackles (one solo)...At Dallas (Dec. 15): Posted three tackles (one solo), a half-sack, five QB hits and a pressure. Late in the fourth quarter, crashed toward QB Tony Romo on a run fake, missing the sack but creating enough pressure to rush the play and force Romo to misfire on a throw that was intercepted by CB Sam Shields and set up the Packers' game-winning TD drive...Vs. Pittsburgh (Dec. 22): Started and appeared on 21 defensive plays before re-injuring his thumb on a second-quarter sack of QB Ben Roethlisberger, one that forced him from the game and ended his season. The sack was the 50th of his career as he became just the fifth player in franchise history to hit the half-century mark.

2012: Made the offseason transition back to his original position of ROLB and flourished in his return to what is the blindside for most QBs...Was on track to have what would have been his most prolific statistical season when a hamstring injury sustained in the second half of a Week 10 contest vs. Arizona sidelined him for the ensuing four games... Finished the regular season having played in 12 games (all starts), posting 60 tackles (45 solo), 13 sacks, four passes defended and a forced fumble...Selected to the Pro Bowl, becoming the first player in franchise history to be named to the all-star game in each of his first four seasons in the league...Was also named second-team All-Pro by AP...The sack total was the second highest of his career and ranked fifth in the NFL and second in the NFC, despite his missing a month of action...It marked his third double-digit sack season, placing him third all-time in team history in that category behind DEs Gbaja-Biamila and White (four)...Also started both playoff games and added three sacks...Vs. Combined with his efforts in Week 1, the six sacks matched his personal best for the most sacks in a two-game span in his career (also had six in Weeks 1-2 of 2010). The 3½ sacks were the most in a game by a Green Bay defender since Gbaja-Biamila had four at Chicago on Jan. 2, 2005, and the yardage total (29) was the second highest of his career and helped result in a net passing total of 74 yards for the Bears...At Houston (Oct. 14): Key part of a front that limited Pro Bowl RB Arian Foster to a career-low (to that point) 1.7-yard average (min. 15 att), on 17 carries for 29 yards. Had back-to-back plays to thwart a drive in the first quarter, first beating LT Duane Brown to trip up Foster for a 1-yard loss in the Arizona (Nov. 4): Started the game and appeared on 35 plays before suffering a hamstring injury in the third quarter. Fell awkwardly while wrapping up QB John Skelton and limped off following the play and did not return...At Chicago (Dec. 16): Returned to action after missing four games and made his presence felt almost immediately. Finished with seven tackles (all solo), two sacks and a pass defended. Made both of his sacks on stunts through the middle of the Bears' protection unit. Finished with five tackles (four solo), two sacks, six QB hits and a forced fumble that he also recovered. Beat Kalil around the edge on Minnesota's first drive of the third quarter, punching the ball free from QB Joe Webb and quickly recovering it. Also helped cause another turnover later in the quarter as he diagnosed a play-action bootleg to his side, breaking down on Webb in the open field and forcing an errant throw that was intercepted by Shields downfield.

On the play, stepped in front of Manning's pass intended for RB Ahmad Bradshaw in the right flat, catching the ball in stride and going untouched down the sideline to give Green Bay its first lead, 14-10. With the return, became the first player in franchise history to score a defensive TD (fumble or INT return) in each of his first three seasons in the league and tied Mike Douglass for first place in franchise history for TD returns among LBs. Later in the quarter, recorded his sixth sack of the season when he fought past RT Kareem McKenzie and hit Manning, forcing the ball out as the QB cocked his arm back to release it. MORE ABOUT THE FROZEN TUNDRA

- The Lambeau Field playing surface underwent an off-season makeover prior to the 2007 season that brought the latest technology to the hallowed ground and made future in-season resodding unnecessary.
- In a project that took several months to complete, DD GrassMaster, a natural grass surface reinforced with man-made fibers developed by Desso DLW Sports Systems, was installed on top of a completely new drainage and heating system. The new surface and underlying systems represent the latest developments in field management.
- The new grass surface wasn't entirely new for the players, though. It was identical to the surface on the team's Clarke Hinkle Field. That surface, installed prior to 2005 training camp, had garnered rave reviews from the players. The team again used the surface in 2009 for the new Nitschke Field.
- According to the Packers' fields manager, Allen Johnson, the Packers had been following the evolution of the relatively new system for several years, going back to its development on European soccer fields.
- DD GrassMaster's advantage mainly is attributed to the sand-based soil, which allows superior drainage and softer, more consistent footing over the previous clay-based field. Because a sand-based root zone has less stability, the system employs millions of strands of polyethylene and polypropylene materials eight inches below the surface, with one inch exposed on the top. This gives the field firm footing and eliminates clumps of sod tearing from the surface. Even after a full season's wear late in the year, the footing remains excellent due to the soil-strengthening strands.

- The Packers and Denver Broncos are the only two NFL teams to use the system in their respective stadiums. However, the surface has gained increasing popularity overseas and is used by Oklahoma State University as well as Wembley Stadium and some of Europe's top soccer clubs, including Arsenal, Liverpool and Manchester City. Most recently, the surface was installed at the Arena de Sao Paulo in Sao Paulo, Brazil, and was used for numerous matches during the 2014 World Cup.
- Due to the enhanced drainage capabilities, fans at Lambeau no longer notice a perceptible crown on the field. A slight slope exists, about a half-degree decline, to assist with water and snow removal when the field is covered with a tarp.
- Also included in the '07 project was a new service path encircling the field. Cement was replaced with a rubberized surface, similar to the one adjacent to the Don Hutson Center on the side of Hinkle Field. The rubberized path still allows for equipment use, but is safer for players who run far out of bounds.

The nine catches tied RB Edgar Bennett (at Dallas, Jan. 16, 1994) and Freeman (vs. Denver, Jan. 25, 1998) for the most by a Packer in the postseason and tied the third-highest total by any NFL player in a Super Bowl. His yardage total was the most by an individual in any of the franchise's five Super Bowl appearances and was the fourth-highest single-game total in team postseason history. IMPOSTER

During the 1923 season, the Green Bay Press-Gazette published a major story announcing the Packers had signed Jack "Dollie" Gray, an end who'd received All-America honors at Princeton.

According to participation charts kept by George Calhoun, Gray started his only game played – a 24-3 loss to the Racine Legion at Bellevue Park.

Made suspicious by Gray's performance, Curly Lambeau checked the player's background, only to discover he was an imposter. Lambeau quickly gave the player – whoever he was – his walking papers.

However, because he did play in a game, the Packers still list him on their all-time roster.

Vs. Dallas (Nov. 15): Returned from the knee injury and posted a season-high four receptions for 32 yards (8.0 avg.)...At Pittsburgh (Dec. 20): Caught four passes for a season-high 71 yards (17.8 avg.)...At Arizona (Jan. 3): Beat CB Michael Adams deep down the middle and made a leaping season-long 51-yard grab at the Arizona 1; Rodgers took it in for a TD on a QB sneak on the next play. Returned three kickoffs for a 29.7-yard average, highlighted by a career-long 54-yard return late in the fourth quarter. Became the first Packer since the merger in 1970 to post a 50-yard reception and a 50-yard kickoff return in the same game.

Dallas (Sept. 21): Established a season high with four catches for 42 yards (10.5 avg.), all of them coming in the second half. Would match the reception total twice in the next three games...At Tennessee (Nov. 2): Started his first career game as the Packers opened up in a three-WR set and had two catches for 34 yards (17.0 avg.). Posted a 40-yard kickoff return in the second quarter...2008 Draft: Selected in the second round (36th overall), the third WR taken. The choice was obtained from the N.Y. Jets, along with a fourth-round selection (113th overall), in exchange for Green Bay's first-round pick (30th overall). Was only the third player from Kansas State ever selected by the Packers, and the highest selection since HB Veryl Switzer (fourth overall) in 1954. Became the first top-40 selection from KSU in the draft since CB Terence Newman was selected No. 5 overall by the Dallas Cowboys in 2003.

2012: Was plugged in at LOLB in the team's rookie minicamp following the draft and remained there all the way into the regular season... The sack was bittersweet as he came free off the left side and delivered a jarring hit to QB Andrew Luck, knocking the ball loose on what was initially an 8-yard loss. The play was flagged as officials ruled that he led with the crown of his helmet on the hit and a 15-yard unnecessary-roughness penalty was enforced, nullifying the fumble and lost yardage... At Houston (Oct. 14): Started and appeared on 10 plays, making a solo tackle. Suffered a knee injury early in the second quarter and did not return... 2012 Draft: Selected by the Packers with the No. 28 overall selection in the first round.

PACKERS CHEERLEADERS

The Green Bay Packers once had official cheerleaders, but after the 1988 season the decision was made not to reinstate them. While some Packers fans supported the official cheerleaders, many were opposed or indifferent, at best.

Helping the Packers make the decision to discontinue the program was a television news poll in which fans were generally split over whether they wanted the program to continue.

Bob Harlan, then the Packers' executive vice president of administration, was quoted in an official release Feb. 7, 1989, saying: "In general terms, the poll disclosed there were as many fans who expressed opposition to the return of the cheerleaders as there were those in favor of restoring them. On that basis, we felt the appropriate decision at this time would be to continue without them."

At this time, there are no plans to return to official cheerleaders.

For several years, the team has used cheering squads from two local schools, St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wis., and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. Compared to squads at other stadiums, though, they are not as much a part of the gameday experience at Lambeau Field.

A FRANCHISE FIRST

Packers LB Clay Matthews has enjoyed a meteoric rise since Green Bay traded up to select him as the second of two first-round picks in the 2009 NFL Draft. A one-time collegiate walk-on, he has developed into one of the most dynamic and impactful defensive players in the league. Matthews' career in Green Bay has been defined by an instinctive, all-out style that features a knack for game-changing plays.

His popularity among fans is equaled by the respect he garners from players, coaches and media alike, and it is that combination that has made him a recurring candidate for several postseason awards.

In 2009, Matthews became the first Green Bay rookie since WR James Lofton in 1978 to be selected to the Pro Bowl, and went on to be voted to the all-star team each of his first four seasons. In doing so, he became the first player in franchise history to earn the honor in each of his first four seasons in the league, and is one of only five active players to have achieved the feat.

A look at the five active players who have gone to the Pro Bowl in each of their first four seasons in the league:

St. Louis (Oct. 11): Threw for 241 yards and two TDs on 19-of-30 passing and also led the team in rushing with 39 yards on eight carries (4.9 avg.), including a season-long 18-yard pickup on Green Bay's opening drive as he took it up the middle for the first down on third-and-7. Was picked off by LB James Laurinaitis on a ball that was tipped at the line in the first quarter, his first interception at Lambeau Field since Dec. 2, 2012. The INT snapped a streak of 492 attempts and 44 TD passes at home without an INT (both NFL records), and including playoffs, 586 straight attempts and 49 TD passes. Green Bay also trailed by 20 points midway through the third quarter (20-0), just the third time in team annals that the Packers overcame a deficit of 20-plus points in the second half. With Green Bay trailing, 23-21, drew a facemask penalty on DE Devin Taylor with no time remaining to give the Packers one last untimed play at the Green Bay 39. On the TD pass, initially moved to his left before rolling out to his right to avoid pressure and buy time, heaving a pass from the Green Bay 35 that was caught by a leaping Rodgers in front of several Detroit defenders a few yards deep in the end zone. With less than a minute remaining in regulation and the Packers trailing, 20-13, rolled out to his left on fourth-and-20 from the Green Bay 4 and found Janis, who had gotten behind CB Justin Bethel, for a 60-yard completion to the Arizona 36. After an illegal-motion penalty on the Packers and an incompleting gave the offense one final play at the Arizona 41, again rolled out to his left, throwing a Hail Mary pass as he went to the ground just before LB Markus Golden could hit him, one that was hauled in by Janis in the end zone as he made the leaping grab over CB Patrick Peterson with no time left on the clock. The reception, along with Crosby's extra point, sent the game into overtime. It marked the first game-winning or game-tying passing TD to end regulation in NFL playoff history.

RODGERS' 2011 A SEASON TO REMEMBER

In what was his fourth year as the starter under center for the Packers in 2011, quarterback Aaron Rodgers turned in one of the finest seasons by any player at the position in the history of the National Football League. Rodgers was voted the Pro Bowl starter for the NFC and earned Most Valuable Player honors from The Associated Press following the season, winning the vote by a nearly unanimous 48-2 margin.

During the regular season, he completed 343 of 502 attempts for 4,643 yards and 45 touchdowns against just six interceptions, netting a cumulative passer rating of 122.5. Rodgers' marks for yardage, touchdowns, completion percentage, yards per attempt and 300-yard games were all new franchise records. Even more impressive was that he accomplished all of that despite appearing in just 15 games (he was rested for the regular-season finale in Week 17).

A look at some of the superlatives from Rodgers' fantastic season:

- 122.5 QB rating set a new NFL record, as did his 13 games with a 100-plus passer rating.
- Joined Tom Brady and Dan Marino as the only three QBs, at the time, to throw three-plus TD passes in a game 10 or more times in a season.*
- Tied the NFL record shared by Brady and Peyton Manning by throwing at least two TD passes in 13 consecutive games.
- Set an NFL record with 11 consecutive games with a 110-plus QB rating.
- Became the only QB in NFL history to have more than one season with 500-plus pass attempts and seven or fewer INTs, and also became the first 4,000-yard passer in league annals to throw six or fewer INTs.
- Experienced a torrid stretch over a three-game span in the middle of the season when he became just the second QB in NFL history (Kurt Warner) to record three consecutive games with a 140-plus passer rating.
- With his 408-yard outing in Week 4 vs. Denver, he became the first QB in NFL history to register 400 passing yards/four passing TDs/two rushing TDs in a game.

* Drew Brees and Manning threw three-plus TD passes in a game 11 times in 2012 and 2013, respectively.

Plays can either be reviewed by an on-site NFL replay official or on behalf of a coach's challenge. The following is a look at the results of instant replay over the past 18 regular seasons:

THE COMPENSATORY SYSTEM

The Packers were awarded one compensatory draft selection from the league in 2017, a fifth-round choice. Since the first compensatory picks were awarded in 1994, only Baltimore (48) has received more than the Packers (38).

Under terms of the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement, a team losing more or better compensatory free agents than it acquires in a year is eligible to receive compensatory draft picks.

The number of picks a team receives equals the net loss of compensatory free agents up to a maximum of four. The 32 compensatory choices announced every March supplement the original choices in the seven rounds of the NFL Draft.

Compensatory free agents are determined by a formula based on salary, playing time and postseason honors. The formula was developed by the NFL Management Council. Not every free agent lost or signed by a club is covered by this formula.

Teams were previously not allowed to trade compensatory players, although they were during the early years of the system. A rule change approved by clubs in 2015 permitted compensatory draft picks to be traded beginning again in the 2017 draft.

Because of that clause, the Packers acquired two compensatory choices in 1994 from San Francisco. In other words, Green Bay has actually drafted 40 compensatory players, but the league only has awarded the team 38.

THE GREEN BAY PACKERS BRAND

Created in 2007, the Turnkey Team Brand Index serves as the first-ever brand report card of all professional sports teams throughout the four major sports.

It aims to better understand team brands, including their strengths and weaknesses as well as the attributes most closely associated with the team. Results are based upon fan polls in a team's home market.

After finishing 10th in 2007, the Green Bay Packers took the top overall spot in the 2008 standings, finishing ahead of the Boston Red Sox (second) and Pittsburgh Steelers (third). The Packers finished second in the out-of-market rankings behind the New York Yankees, indicating the strength of the Packers brand across the country.

GREEN BAY'S UNIQUE TRAINING-CAMP EXPERIENCE

The Packers are one of a growing number of teams who do not leave their regular-season practice facility during training camp. But beyond practice and meetings, the team does use a college setting to sleep, bunking at St. Norbert College in De Pere, a 10-minute drive from Lambeau Field.

The Packers' 60-year training-camp relationship with St. Norbert, launched in 1958 by head coach Scooter McLean, is the longest in league history. The Vikings (Minnesota State-Mankato, 52 years) and Steelers (St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa., 52 years) are the only other teams with comparable training-camp tenures. The Packers' full list of training-camp sites, since Curly Lambeau launched the tradition in 1946:

ROOKIES VS. FIRST-YEAR PLAYERS

Rookies are players in their first year of pro football who have not been on another pro football team's roster for any regular-season or postseason games. First-year players are those who have played in other pro sports leagues (Arena Football League, etc.), have participated in previous NFL training camps, or have been on an NFL team's active, inactive or reserve list fewer than six games.

The rule originated when Lawrence McCutcheon, drafted by the Los Angeles Rams in 1972, played only three games his "rookie" season, then rushed for 1,097 yards in 1973. Today, due to McCutcheon and because rosters began expanding around the 1970 NFL-AFL merger (reserve lists formalized, etc.), that year is considered the beginning of the rookie rule. So today, for records purposes, the Packers use 1970 as a separator. From 1921-69, anyone who had yet to play three league games was generally considered a rookie.

PLANE PIONEERS

The Packers were the first NFL team to fly to a road game, but the trip didn't exactly go smoothly. On Nov. 14, 1940, the Packers left Green Bay on a 7 a.m. Milwaukee Road train and headed for Chicago, where they were taken by limousine from the depot to the airport to board two United Airlines planes.

This was a Thursday and they were scheduled to play the Giants in New York on Sunday. The Packers' itinerary called for them to leave Chicago at 12:30 p.m. and arrive at LaGuardia Airport at 4:25 p.m. (CST). When a host of photographers showed up at the runway, takeoff time was delayed slightly as the Packers posed for several pictures, including Cecil Isbell lifting a stewardess off the ground and pretending to throw her to Don Hutson.

Once in the air, things went smoothly until the planes had to land in Cleveland for refueling. With LaGuardia under a heavy fog, the decision was then made to abort the flights. A fleet of taxicabs took the Packers to downtown Cleveland where they ate dinner and sat around a hotel lobby until they could board a New York Central railway sleeper to complete the trip to New York. The Packers finally arrived in New York at 8:30 a.m. on Friday and headed to Central Park to practice.

After losing to the Giants, 7-3, things went better on the trip home. The Packers took off early Monday morning from LaGuardia and landed in Chicago without incident. There they took limousines from the airport to Union Station, where they had an hour wait before catching their train back to Green Bay.

The term NFL Rookie is defined as a player who is in his first season of professional football and has not been on the roster of another professional football team for any regular-season or postseason games. A Rookie is designated by an "R" on NFL rosters. Players who have been active in another professional football league or players who have NFL experience, including either preseason training camp or being on an Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Injured or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform for fewer than six regular-season games, are termed NFL First-Year Players. An NFL First-Year Player is designated by a "1" on NFL rosters. Thereafter, a player is credited with an additional year of experience for each season in which he accumulates six games on the Active List or Inactive List, or on Reserve/Injured or Reserve/Physically Unable to Perform.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Aaron Rodgers threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score, leading Green Bay to a 27-23 victory against the Jacksonville Jaguars in the teams' season opener Sunday.

Rodgers completed 20 of 34 passes for 199 yards, with TD passes to Jordy Nelson and Davante Adams. He was sacked once for no yards and didn't turn it over.

Nelson played his first game since tearing the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee in the 2015 preseason. The injury significantly impacted Rodgers, who lost his best deep threat, and the offense, which fell to 23rd in the league and tied for 25th in passing.

Nelson finished with six receptions for 32 yards, including a 6-yard TD in the second quarter.

The Jaguars mounted a late drive that came up short on a fourth-and-1 play at the Packers 14. The Jaguars had converted their previous three fourth-down plays, but Allen Hurns failed to move the sticks on a bubble screen.

Blake Bortles completed 24 of 39 passes for 320 yards with a touchdown and an interception.

With 13 seconds left in the first half, Adams hauled in a 29-yarder that was vintage Rodgers, who managed to get rid of the ball with a defender tugging at his jersey and still got enough on it to reach the end zone.

Jaguars running back Chris Ivory was hospitalized Sunday with a "general medical issue" and was inactive for the opener. Ivory was taken by ambulance from the team hotel to a local hospital early Sunday. He was limited in three practices this week because of a calf injury, but the team said that was not related to his hospital stay.

Jaguars receiver Allen Robinson finished with six catches for 72 yards, but there were nine more passes thrown his way.

U.S. Bank Stadium, Sunday, Sept. 18, 2016. Attendance: 66,813. Time: 3:12. Weather: Indoors.

MINNEAPOLIS – Sam Bradford had a Minnesota debut almost as dazzling as the new $1.1 billion building itself, completing 22 of 31 passes for 286 yards, two touchdowns and no turnovers to lead the Vikings to a 17-14 victory over the Green Bay Packers on Sunday night just 15 days after he arrived in a trade.

The defense did the rest, harassing Aaron Rodgers for five sacks and two fourth-quarter turnovers that quashed the comeback and sent the crowd of 66,813 into a deafening frenzy in celebration of the first regular-season game at U.S. Bank Stadium.

Adrian Peterson limped off in the third quarter with a right knee injury, and only 19 yards on 12 carries, but the Vikings (2-0) proved they still have a lot of options. Stefon Diggs caught nine passes for 182 yards and a touchdown. They held the Packers (1-1) to 65 total yards in the first half, withstanding an early touchdown pass by Rodgers to Jordy Nelson on a drive aided by two penalties by cornerback Terence Newman.

Trae Waynes, who had two penalties himself, intercepted Rodgers' pass in Vikings territory with 1:50 left to seal the victory. The previous drive was killed with a strip sack by Brian Robison, when Shamar Stephen recovered at the Minnesota 44 with 6:53 remaining.

Rodgers, who ran for 29 yards and a touchdown, began to find a groove throwing the ball down the stretch. He finished 12 for 21 for 154 yards in the second half, but Bradford was the better quarterback on this night.

Bradford found Diggs for a 4-yard completion on fourth-and-1 from the 18. Then he hit Kyle Rudolph for an 8-yard touchdown pass three plays later.

GREEN BAY, Wis. -- Aaron Rodgers threw for 205 yards and four touchdowns, including two in the first half to Jordy Nelson, and the Packers snapped out of their offensive funk before holding off the Detroit Lions for a 34-27 win Sunday.

Rodgers was 15 of 24, leading the Packers to touchdowns on their first three series. Nelson had 101 yards on six catches, returning to the form that made him one of the NFL's best receivers before missing the 2015 season with a knee injury.

Marvin Jones' 35-yard touchdown catch with 3:34 left got Detroit (1-2) within seven. But Rodgers had a critical 11-yard run on third-and-8 from the Packers' 27 with 3:22 left to effectively seal the win.

Jones had a career-high 205 yards on six receptions. Matthew Stafford passed for 385 yards and three scores for the Lions, who held advantages in total yardage (418-324) and time of possession, holding the ball for 35 minutes.

But the Packers burned the secondary with big plays to build a big lead, and Eddie Lacy ran for 103 yards on 17 carries.

The Lions gained chunks of yardage in the second half after being forced to play catch-up following Green Bay's big early lead. The Packers' defense was also missing four starters, including linebacker Clay Matthews.

Stafford found holes over the middle of the field. He connected with Jones for a 23-yard completion on the first play from scrimmage in the second half to the Detroit 46.

But Green Bay's staunch run defense had another big day. Detroit managed just 50 yards on 23 carries, with a team-high 38 yards on 10 carries by Dwayne Washington.

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Oct. 9, 2016. Attendance: 78,401. Time: 3:15. Weather: 49° F, Wind: E 7 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers got pushy on both sides of the line of scrimmage against the New York Giants. The offensive line kept Aaron Rodgers clean in the pocket and helped drive the running attack. Rodgers threw for 259 yards and two touchdown passes, and Green Bay's defense disrupted Eli Manning and limited Odell Beckham Jr. in a 23-16 win on Sunday night.

Manning was 18 of 35 for 199 yards and was sacked three times. The Giants (2-3) lost their third straight game, and the offense has struggled in road losses at Minnesota and Green Bay the last two weeks.

The Packers' defense contained the Giants in the red zone, holding New York to three field goals until late in the fourth quarter. The Giants managed just 43 yards on 15 carries against a defense ranked first against the run coming into the night.

Mike Daniels and Letroy Guion led the effort on the defensive line, with first-round draft pick Kenny Clark becoming a key sub. Beckham finished with five catches for 56 yards, but did get his first touchdown catch of the season.

The 8-yard score stood on replay review after the receiver jumped high in the air for Manning's pass and was ruled inbounds after straddling the back line of the end zone.

Randall Cobb was the Packers' most consistent receiver with nine catches for 108 yards.

Giants cornerback Janoris Jenkins had two interceptions in the first half, one coming on third-and-6 at the Giants 21 after a pass deflected off receiver Jordy Nelson's hands.

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Oct. 16, 2016. Attendance: 78,481. Time: 3:09. Weather: 69° F, Humidity: 63 percent, Wind: NE 8 mph.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Rookie Dak Prescott finished 18 of 27 and threw for 247 yards and three touchdowns, and the Cowboys forced four turnovers in a 30-16 win over the Green Bay Packers.

Prescott picked on a Packers secondary that played much of the game without their top three cornerbacks because of injuries.

The Packers had five fumbles on the day, losing three. The four turnovers were a season high for Green Bay (3-2).

Aaron Rodgers finished 31 of 42 for 294 yards.

The Packers didn't get into the end zone until Rodgers and Randall Cobb connected on a 6-yard touchdown pass with 6:53 left to get within 27-16.

Rodgers accounted for two turnovers with an interception to go with a fumble on first-and-goal at the Cowboys 1 with 1:10 left in the third quarter. It was a designed draw play out of an empty backfield.

Prescott's NFL-record streak for a quarterback at the start of his career without an interception ended at 176 pass attempts. He broke the mark of 162 previously held by New England's Tom Brady earlier in the game.

Dallas dented Green Bay's league-best run defense. The Packers had been allowing 42.8 yards per game entering Sunday. Dallas was averaging a league-best 155.2 yards per game.

Rookie Ezekiel Elliott finished with 157 yards on 28 carries, giving him 703 yards rushing — the second-most in a player's first six career games, behind only Eric Dickerson (787). Elliott also became the only rookie to rush for at least 130 yards in four consecutive games.

GREEN BAY, Wis. — Aaron Rodgers set a record. The Chicago Bears lost another quarterback. Rodgers was 39 of 56, setting a franchise mark for completions in a game, and threw for 326 yards and three touchdowns. Davante Adams and Ty Montgomery emerged as playmakers in the second half and the Packers beat the Bears, 26-10, on Thursday night.

The Packers (4-2) moved effectively on short gains most of the night, but couldn't break into the end zone until Adams caught the first of his two touchdown receptions with 9:11 left in the third quarter for a 13-10 lead.
