of Presentation
Tools / Slides:

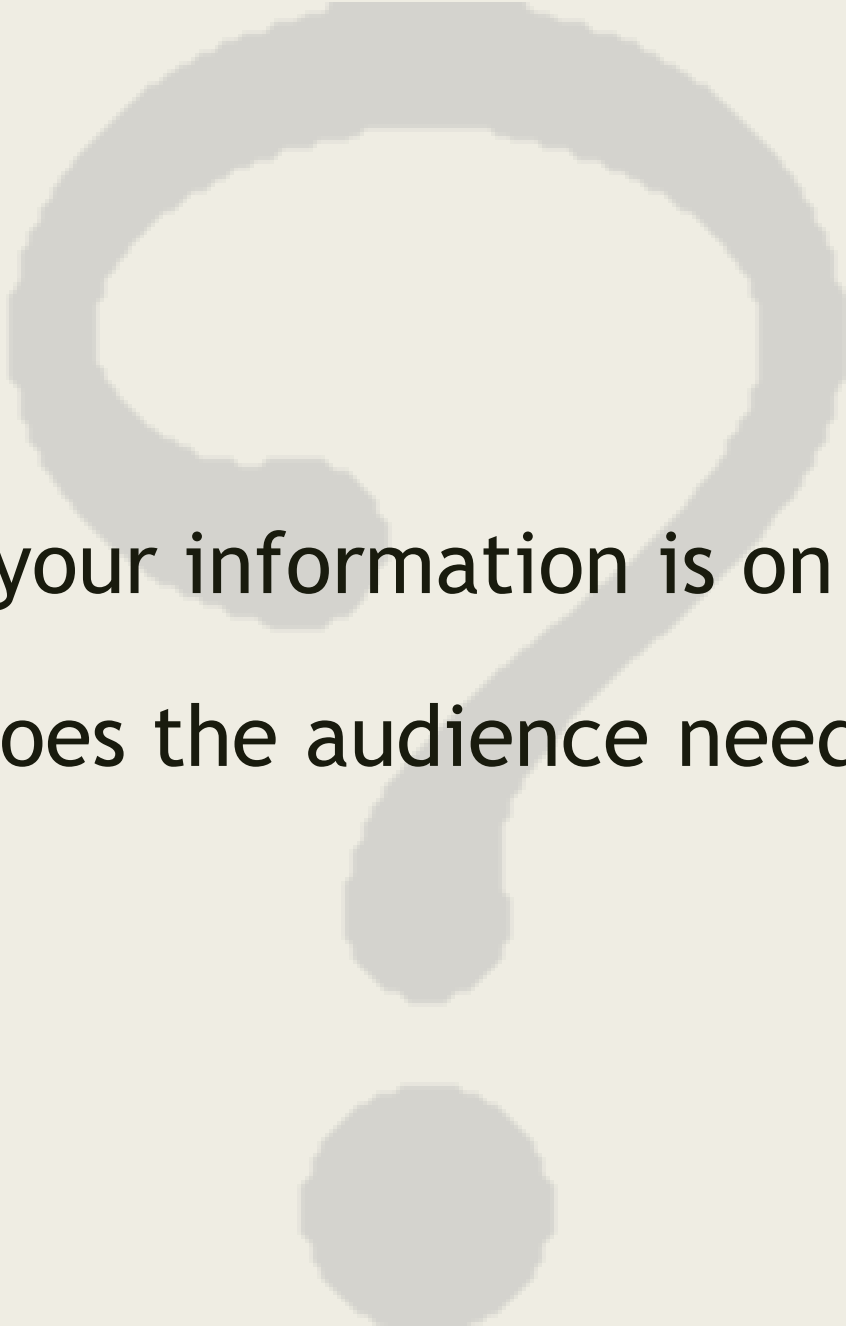

- A. Entertain audience
- B. Repeat spoken information
- C. Supplement spoken information
- D. Distract audience from looking at you, the speaker

SLIDE STRUCTURE (TERRIBLE)

- It's best to use text minimally when using slides. If you have too much information, your audience will either read the slide and ignore you because they think they are going to get the best insider information that you're leaving out of your talk so only the readers get to find out what is most important. Presenters should avoid wordiness on their slides by using key words and phrases only that are written in a parallel format and you fill in the rest verbally.
- Presenters should also be sure to limit text to not more than 6 points per slide—if they're using bullet-points—and, ideally keep lists to no more than 4 or 5 ideal. Also, they should try not to use more than 1-2 slides for each minute of their presentation, if possible. Fewer is better.

SLIDE STRUCTURE (ONLY SOMEWHAT BETTER)

- Be a minimalist: write information in point form (bullet-points) and not in complete sentences that explain every detail, unless you are using a direct quotation.
- Avoid wordiness on your slide. Use key words and phrases only, written in a parallel format; fill in the rest verbally.
- To avoid clutter, you should not include more than 6 points per slide, with 4-5 being ideal.
- Try not to use more than 1-2 slides for each minute of your presentation, if possible. Fewer is better.

“ If all of your information is on your slides,
why does the audience need you? ”

- Your words should always parallel your slide content.
- Always.

SLIDE STRUCTURE (GOOD!)

- Key words/phrases
- Parallel structure
- <6 points per slide
- 1-2 slides per minute

Slide Structure (Non-Parallel)

- Present key words/phrases
- Parallel structure
- Always <6 points per slide
- Use 1-2 slides per minute

A EMK1-knockdown

B collagen overlay

C Ca-switch

Emk1 knockdown inhibits lumen formation in MDCK cells:

-RT-PCR: EMK1 is effectively knocked down in MDCK cells 24 hours after transfection with P-SUPER (control) or P-SUPER-siEMK1 plasmid; knockdown confirmed on the right with antibodies to EMK1.

- Collagen overlay assay: cells cultured 24 h on collagen I before being overlaid with additional collagen on the apical surface, analyzed 24 h later. Note the lack of lumen in EMK1-KO cultures.

- Ca switch: control or EMK1-KO cells were plated in low Ca medium 24 h upon transfection with pSUPER or pSUPER-KO. After 12 h, cultures were switched to normal medium for 24 h. Transmission EM of cells sectioned perpendicular to the substratum shows lack of microvilli in EMK1-KO cells.
