

October 1, 2025

Dear Valued OSG Distributor,

The current economic climate has introduced significant market fluctuations and inflationary trends, impacting the financial landscape of numerous sectors. This has resulted in cost increases for a wide range of products, materials, and services.

At OSG, we truly value our partners and have made great strides in implementing numerous cost-saving measures to minimize impact on our customers. However, as a global organization we continue to experience significant rising costs and regretfully, are no longer able to absorb the entire impact.

As a result, effective November 1, 2025, OSG USA, Inc. will be implementing a price increase. Please login to your distributor portal at osgtool.com after October 1 for more details on the upcoming price increase and to download the updated price list file.

This increase will help ensure our continuous commitment to providing you and your customers with the very best quality cutting tools and world-class service and support.

Any orders received after 4:00 PM CST on Friday, October 31, 2025, will be invoiced at the new pricing.

We truly appreciate your continued support and loyalty.

Sincerely,
