

Shoftim Perek 15

- Shimshon remembers his wife.
- Shimshon is denied access to her by his father in-law, who offers Shimshon a younger daughter instead.
- Shimshon sends three hundred foxes with lit torches tied between their tails into the Plishti town in order to burn it down.
- The Plishtim respond by going to war against the tribe of Yehudah.
- Yehudah responds, saying that they will hand Shimshon over to them.
- Three thousand men of Yehudah speak to Shimshon about what is happening.
- Shimshon consents to allowing himself to be tied with ropes and be handed over to the Plishtim.
- Shimshon destroys the ropes that bind him and he kills one thousand Plishtim with the jawbone of a donkey.
- Hashem performs a miracle that the donkey's jawbone gave forth water to revive the thirsty and weakened Shimshon.
- Shimshon is the judge of the Jews for 20 years.