Who We Are

Welcome to Mountain View by Shefa Living

Our dream has always been to create a community where Torah, community, and family are not just values we speak about, but the rhythm of daily life.

Here in the mountains, the world slows down.
The noise fades, and what remains is what truly matters: menucha, connection, and meaning. It's in this stillness that families can grow, children can thrive, and Yiddishkeit can be lived with depth, joy, and authenticity.

This vision is not about building houses; it's about building a place where shefa flows naturally through every home, every Shabbos table, and every friendship formed.

My life's work has always centered on families, responsibility, and community. Through my years as a wealth management advisor and co-founder of Aequus Partners, and through my volunteer work as a Mesila financial coach, I witnessed firsthand the growing pressure so many families face in sustaining a meaningful Jewish life.

Those experiences shaped my vision for Mountain View by Shefa Living deeply.

Alongside my professional work, I am a Rebbe at Yeshiva Lev Simcha, a maggid shiur, and I have the privilege of translating the Torah teachings of the Kalover and Munkatch Rebbes, reaching thousands of Jews around the world each week.

Long before Shefa Living, I was already building community on the ground - fostering connection, learning, and shared purpose.

This project was born at the intersection of all of this: a response to what families need today, and a continuation of the kind of community I have always sought to live in - one rooted where Torah, family, and community are not just ideals we speak about, but the natural rhythm of everyday life.

We are so excited for you to join us on this incredible journey BH.

Warmly,
Rabbi Yudi Gross

Our Vision

What is Shefa Living?

Shefa Living is our approach to building community - a values-driven framework rooted in Torah, family, and connection - Mountain View is our home.

While Mountain View is the location, Shefa Living is the vision behind it: a belief that communities thrive when they are thoughtfully designed for real families, real life, and long-term sustainability. Beyond natural beauty, access to nature, and well-planned homes and amenities, what truly defines Shefa Living is hands-on leadership and a unified vision deeply invested in the community's success.

Born from years of working closely with families as wealth advisors, educators, and community builders, Shefa Living responds to the real challenges families face in sustaining meaningful Jewish life. Our commitment is simple and unwavering: to build with intention, lead with presence, and create a community designed to flourish for generations.

What's here on Day One

From the very beginning, Shefa Living is designed to feel lived-in, connected, and intentional. On Day One, families arrive to more than completed homes; they arrive to the foundations of a real community already in place.

From the moment families arrive, Shefa is alive. Beyond finished residences, walkable roads and trails, open green spaces, and shared gathering areas, Day One includes a mountaintop shul overlooking the valley, a serene mikvah tucked into the trees, and a yeshiva campus of light-filled learning cottages centered around a communal green.

With essential infrastructure complete, families can settle in comfortably and immediately begin building relationships. Early community programming, shared spaces for learning and gathering, and the natural rhythm of Shabbos and Yom Tov establish a deep sense of belonging from the start.

YESHIVA OF GLADE VALLEY

The Yeshiva of Glade Valley serves boys and girls from early childhood through high school and is the educational heart of the Mountain View community.

Built on the belief that every child is created with a unique tafkid, the Yeshiva offers deep, lived Torah learning alongside rigorous general studies in a warm, relationship-centered microschool environment. Education here begins with the child - not systems or comparison - and grows through strong Rebbe/Morah relationships, emotional safety, and real responsibility.

Through hands-on learning, including the Shefa Farm and greenhouse, Torah and academics come alive in daily life, building confidence, middos, and purpose. Growing intentionally with the community, the Yeshiva of Glade Valley nurtures children to become grounded, capable, and joyful Jewish adults.

"והנה השפע בא לעולם דרך הצינורות של האמונה, וכל אחד
מקבל כפי הכנתו ובטחונו בה'... ומי שיש לו אמונה חזקה
– נעשה הצינור שלו רחב, ומקבל שפע גדול."

The shefa enters the world through the pipes of emunah (faith), and each person receives according to their preparation and trust in Hashem.
One who has strong emunah – his channel becomes wide, and he receives great shefa.
