

5	Foreword Annette Bhagwati
9	Pathways of Art Introduction Esther Tisa Francini

Acquiring
19	Introduction
21	From Libraries to the Museum The illustrated pharmacopoeia Ikhtiyārāt-i Badīʿī by Hajji Zayn al-ʿAttar Rosine Vuille
29	An Aztec Rattlesnake, the Shadow of Alexander von Humboldt, and the Limitations of Provenance Research David Blankenstein
37	Tlingit Sun Mask Approaching the history of an object from multiple perspectives Mira Jossen
47	Traces of Colonial Injustice Collaborative provenance research into artworks from the Kingdom of Benin Michaela Oberhofer and Esther Tisa Francini
67	The Art of Diplomacy Gift exchange in the Kingdom of Bamum Michaela Oberhofer

Collecting

87	Introduction
89	Power through Art Imperial collecting in China Kim Karlsson
97	“Wild Things” in the Villa The Oceania Collection of Sidney W. Brown Sarah Csernay
113	Multiple Displacements National Socialist cultural policy and the Nell Walden Collection Esther Tisa Francini
123	The Fascination with Iran in the 1930s Rudolf Schmidt and the collecting of the Luristan bronzes Esther Tisa Francini
139	Split, Donate, and Export Alice Boner’s efforts to preserve her art collection in India and Switzerland Johannes Beltz

Displaying

159	Introduction
161	The Life Story of Chinese Bronzes Alice Yu Cheng
177	Canonization and the Cult of Relics The Ardabil carpet and its remnant in Museum Rietberg Axel Langer
183	From Stage to Museum Modes of presentation for Nō masks Esther Tisa Francini and Khanh Trinh
195	The Werner Reinhart Collection and the Reception of Indian Miniature Paintings in Switzerland Rosine Vuille
211	“Suspended before a white background, I exist.” Photography and the creation of the canon of African art in the Global North Nanina Guyer

Dealing

231	Introduction
233	Hayashi Tadamasa and the Creation of a Market for Japanese Art Brigitte Koyama-Richard
249	C. T. Loo Art dealer and cultural mediator Alexandra von Przychowski
259	The Business of Art Iconoclasm in Côte d’Ivoire and the trade practices of Swiss gallerist, Emil Storrer Esther Tisa Francini
275	From Ritual Object to Work of Art The routes of Tibetica to the museum Martin Brauen

Fragmenting

295	Introduction
297	Stories from the Edge The reconstruction of Islamic painting and calligraphy albums with the help of borders Axel Langer
311	Antoine-Louis Henri Polier in India Patron, collector, enlightened art lover? Claire Brizon
319	Local and Global Trading of Pre-Hispanic Andean Textiles Insights into the collection Cecilia Pardo
335	Buddha Heads and the Reception of Chinese Buddhist Art at the Beginning of the 20 th Century Alexandra von Przychowski
351	Market and Manipulation The “beautification” of Chinese tomb pottery by art dealers Alexandra von Przychowski

Knowing

363	Introduction
365	From Stone Lake to Lake Zurich The 400-year journey of a Chinese painting Kim Karlsson
379	Research That Gets under the Skin The role of conservation-restoration in object analysis Axel Langer
387	The History of a Maya Relief The tension between transfer of cultural property and knowledge production Christian M. Prager and Antje Grothe
407	A Collaboration in Art-Ethnography Haku Shah and Eberhard Fischer in Gujarat, 1965 to 1972 Eberhard Fischer
423	When Instruments Sing Again Collaborative research and exhibiting Johannes Beltz

433	Authors
435	Image Credits
437	Imprint