

| | | |
|----|---------------|---|
| 9 | | Introduction |
| | Part 1 | Investigating Space, Knowledge and Collaboration: A Theoretical Framework |
| 19 | 1 | A Relational, Agentified and Integrative Understanding of Space |
| 23 | 2 | A Practice-theoretical Analysis: Science in the Making |
| 23 | 3 | The Research Gap: The Interrelation of Knowledge Practice and Space |
| 26 | 4 | Individual and Collaborative Research in an Interdisciplinary Context |
| | Part 2 | Experimental Design-based Field Research |
| 36 | 1 | Experimentalization of Space |
| 40 | 2 | Methodological Challenges of a Science-Ethnographic and “Single-sited” Field Research |
| 45 | 3 | Mixed Methods Approach with a Visual Focus |

| | | |
|-----|---------------|--|
| 52 | 4 | Catalog of the Experimental Settings |
| 61 | | Collections 1–3 |
| 69 | | Settings in the Canon, Sprints as Rhythm: Development of an Interdisciplinary Procedure Model Guest contribution by Finn Geipel, Fabian Scholz, Christian Stein |
| | Part 3 | Individual Research Spaces |
| 81 | 1 | A Digitalized Research Practice |
| 87 | 2 | Dynamic Enfolding of the Physical-Virtual Workspace by Practice |
| 97 | | Collections 4–8 |
| | Part 4 | The Experimental Zone, a Shared Open Space |
| 109 | 1 | The Open-Plan Office: A Challenge for a Multidisciplinary Group of Researchers? |
| 113 | 2 | A Territorial Negotiation |
| 123 | 3 | Social Interaction in the Experimental Zone |

| | | |
|-----|---------------|---|
| 128 | 4 | An Oscillating Atmosphere |
| 137 | | Collections 9–14 |
| | Part 5 | From Co-presence to Collaboration or the Design of a Collaborative Habitat |
| 149 | 1 | Appropriation of the Experi- mental Zone as a Familiar Habitat |
| 154 | 2 | Collaborations in the Experimental Zone |
| 160 | 3 | Characteristics of a Collaborative Habitat |
| 163 | | Collections 15–17 |
| 171 | | References |
| 175 | | Notes on Contributors |
| 176 | | Acknowledgements, Imprint |