✍️ 3. Writing Your Cover Letter

Tell Us Why You're Interested

A cover letter isn't required unless specifically requested, but it can be a great way to introduce yourself beyond your resume—especially if you're interested in moving into a different team, department, or type of role.

Keep it brief and focus on:

• Why you're interested in the opportunity

• What you've learned or accomplished in your current role

• The skills and experience you would bring to the team

• How the opportunity connects to your career goals

✨ Make it personal. Because you're already part of Wyld, you don't need to spend time explaining why you like the company. Instead, use the space to tell us where you'd like to grow and what you could bring to the opportunity.
