Pivigo is seeking a

Data Scientist and Machine Learning Expert

with immediate start date

Introduction

At Pivigo we are building the leading marketplace for data science. With our five years of experience running Europe's first, largest and most successful data science bootcamp, and our current web portal, we are deeply involved with the data science community. We are now looking for a data scientist to help us with some challenging machine learning and AI projects, for our internal projects as well as our clients.

We work in a small, dynamic team and typically use Python for our data science work. This role is ideal for someone who has experience with the implementation of statistical models and machine learning algorithms and who is a great communicator. The position will involve new and ongoing internal projects in areas such as database management, cloud computing and natural language processing. It will also include providing some technical support for our client facing consultants, working with them to innovate new machine learning solutions that can benefit our clients.

What we are looking for

We are looking for talented, interested, and curious data scientist who enjoys using data science methodologies to answer business questions.

As a data scientist you will have at least one year of commercial experience with:
- Python
- Machine learning
- Statistical analysis
- Communicating with both technical and non-technical audiences

Most importantly you will be friendly, curious, knowledgeable and motivated and be able to solve complex problems that may not have straight-forward answers. You will also be able to juggle multiple responsibilities and be able to shift gears quickly in your day-to-day work.

What you get

We offer a competitive salary, but more importantly you will be part of a small team working on exciting projects both internally and for our clients. Your contribution will matter. You will matter, and you will get the respect of a global community of data scientists, as well as be part of a dynamic and fast-growing team. Other benefits include a weekly professional massage, an unlimited supply of cookies and many vouchers and deals via Perkbox. We often organise Pivigo team days to enjoy each other's company and our successes.
