Crazy Plays for Crazy Times Part I and Part II

Part I

Silent performance. Students performed several different scenes about how we would go about exploring new approaches, new challenges.

Part II

Students rehearsed lines from plays by Rich Orloff. My lead role in one play was that of Jerry. Married man to wife of Sherry. They have two children and the setting takes place at Disneyland. Jerry and Sherry have some fights and public altercations while at the theme park. The couple addresses their marital issues yet the play ends with them making up and coming to the conclusion that they drive each other crazy, yet at the end of the day, still love each other. One of the challenges in rehearsal was letting our characters become angry, letting it all out, when both me and my supporting role actress are both very calm individuals. But it was a fun role to play.
