Summary

From a young age, I decided that gaining different perspectives is something that I would strive for, no matter what I do in my future.

Beginning with volunteering at my former elementary school, as well as being in Female Leadership at Self Enhancement, an official songwriter at Broadcast Music Inc, and even volunteering to confide in Democratic voters for the Biden-Harris campaign. Don't forget learning different languages to cure boredom.

With my endless positivity, happiness, and overall a passionate drive with everything that I do, especially when it comes to helping others, I know I'll do something never done before.
