About Me

Born and raised in Texas, I wanted to create a more inclusive world and advocate for people similar to how Karli Kloss and Mama Cax have done. After acquiring my Bachelor of Science in public relations, I began to thoroughly explore my potential in both modelling and communications by immersing myself in the inspiration of model icons like Tiana Parker and Naomi Campbell. Though physical appearance may be important in the industry, I hope to reach people with my passion for making the world a better place— whether that be through fashion, runway or my compassion and will to uplift others.

Aspirations

My aspirations include working with top agencies like Elite Model Management, IMG Models, and Ford Models; walking runway for brands like The Blonds, Versace, Prada, Alexander McQueen, and Savage x Fenty; and personally building relationships with confident and genuine colleagues along the way. From the countless hours of runway training to the laughs I've shared on set, I've learned that I am limitless and fearless; I push the boundaries of fashion as far as I can and acknowledge that the future is not a gift, but an achievement that will lead my dreams to fruition, but only if I allow it.
