

ASEXUAL MEMES

CONTENT CREATOR

MISSION STATEMENT

My mission with the “Asexual Memes” brand is to educate and uplift young people who are questioning their sexuality. I was a late-in-life asexual — meaning I only figured out I was ace between the ages of 26 and 27. I hope to make asexuality education accessible to people much earlier in their life so they can fully understand themselves and their sexuality. I would love to partner with a brand that is 'all gender-inclusive' to share their products with my young audience. I am particularly interested in businesses that are queer-owned and who do more than just sell a product — who actually give back to and improve the lives of queer kids in this generation as well as the generations to come.
