To Whom it may concern,

I am happy to write a recommendation for Ms. Eriyon Tecson. We have worked on several projects together and Eriyon's energy is felt from the moment she enters the room. Her focus and fun approach to her work will inspire all to seek her out for future productions. Not only does she have a professional attitude, but she will also go above and beyond the needs of any production. She is a producer's dream. I've witnessed Eriyon's willingness to pitch in with the loose ends of the production but never missed a beat with her assigned roles. She would come early and leave late. She has talent but more importantly grit. Her roster will continue to grow because of her tenacity and love for the craft. I enjoyed watching her work because I know how dedicated she is to develop her artistry through hard work and passion.

I would recommend Eriyon for any opportunity. She is someone who will take an opportunity and make it a wonderful experience for all. As a person, and an artist, Eriyon is reliable, intentional, and witty. While many other actors I have known have given up their craft because they did not receive the outcome hoped for, I know Eriyon will continue to perfect and hone her craft with joy. She continues to pray for guidance and puts God first. I would continue to welcome her in any future projects not only for her talent but for her spirit and joy for the craft. She has an open heart and an enquiring mind. She is open to learning all that she can and then she makes it her own. She will be a force to reckon in this industry.

It is for all these reasons I believe she will excel in any area or challenges that life will throw at her. She has a great vision for her life and if given the chance she can make a great difference in the entertainment industry and all the lives she will touch.

To whom it may concern:

It is my distinct pleasure to speak to the talent, passion, professionalism, and readiness of Eriyon Tecson as an actor. I first encountered Eriyon in May 2020 during the rehearsal process for Tulsa 21: Black Wall Street. She has that thing that makes you notice her on stage and I knew that there would be greater opportunities for her with the World Stage, in town, and in her near future!

I was floored by how prepared she was on the first day of rehearsal. She stepped up and offered choreography for the show and was committed to the process of co-creating an incredibly powerful piece of theater. She had the spirit of always asking the question, "What can I do to make this better?" and looking for constant feedback to strengthen her performance. I couldn't have been prouder of her performance! She was always ready to jump right into the work of the day and truly embodies the spirit of "The show must go on"!

Eriyon approached her work with contagious style, and camaraderie crucial to creating an environment ideal for exploration and innovation. She very seriously and energetically contributed to the teamwork that is vital to the success of any production.

The mission of our theatre company is to "give actors and audiences access to the world by telling multicultural, inspirational, and transformational stories that connect our hearts and minds with people, places, and ideas." We are so happy that Eriyon is the perfect example of that. Eriyon has been recognized in her academic achievements as well as through theatre programs that she has access to outside of school due to her talents. We are always afraid of losing talented artists to more competitive markets, but we are equally as proud when they are ready to go and grow! Eriyon is ready and should you choose to work with her, you will not be disappointed.

It should be clear that I give Eriyon Tecson my highest recommendation without hesitation. I have no doubt that you will be pleased by her contributions, commitment, and excellence. If you require further information, please feel free to call me at 832-746-3447 or email me at kelli@okworldstage.org.

Respectfully submitted,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Please give your fullest consideration to the application for employment by Eriyon Tecson.

Eriyon has provided excellent support to the Marketing and Communications department by providing professional voice over and on camera acting talent to several marketing campaigns that have been a credit to this university.

But that only begins to tell the story. In a small university with a small staff, Eriyon has accepted all the related roles that providing top quality content demand. She is public relations, writer, talent director, actor, editor, voice over artist and tackles any other role that may come up during an assigned task.

She mentors her student peers.

Best of all, she is dependable. She will follow through a project to the very end ensuring that everything is just right before submitting her work. Eriyon values collaboration and possesses the humility necessary to make others shine.

Please give Eriyon's application a thoughtful review. You would be lucky to have her on your team.

Sincerely,
