Taelor High is a trained actor who has hopes of one day starting her own production company to give underrepresented minority groups a way to express themselves in mainstream media utilizing different mediums of creativity through a collaborative process. Taelor dreams of writing, producing, directing, and starring in her own films and series', as well as acting in other artist's projects and collaborating with other creative professionals to create impactful work. She has a passion for music as well and writes and records original R&B songs which she one day would love to perform across the globe.
