TAYLAR RYALS

Professional Summary

My name is Taylar I. Ryals, and I'm a young female writer who still has the dream to work in her ideal production studios partnership.

I've been living in Georgia since birth, and still find the littlest things exciting. I love exploring by myself to uncover my personal interest and fondness for things around me. I never had the opportunity to work with any production company, I do follow most of their platforms online to keep up to date on their upcoming events. Being in school and working as a pharmacist I missed out on perfect opportunities given for me. I do work on my own movie script inside my Google docs during my days at home. Even writing down tv show ideas in my phone is entertaining to me. But being close to the city, Atlanta, I find the inspiring things useful toward my content. I would love to embrace my skills with Tyler Perry and finally jump start my studio arts career with this company.
