

Millie Casselman

Courageous, brave and yellow are three words that succinctly capture me. Courageous because my chaotic life trained me to take on challenges that terrify me. Brave because I stand up for what's right, even when I stand alone. And yellow because I shine bright like the sun, because that is the best way to live. My eclectic skill set includes figure skating, track & field, singing, homeschool, sewing, editing on After Effects, and mild boxing. But what sets me apart is that I know who I am, as much as anyone can at the tender age of 15, and have failed enough times to not let it slow me down.

EXPERIENCE
