BIOGRAPHY

Gretch'N, whose real name is Gretchen Lobaina Batista, is native of Havana, Cuba, a city known for its rich cultural heritage. She trained as a professional dancer at the prestigious National School of Performing Arts (ENAE) in Havana. Her dance training has significantly influenced her music and performances, combining her skills as a professional singer and dancer to create captivating and unique experiences for her audiences. She began as a dancer in some of Cuba's most prestigious hotels, the Hotel Nacional (Cabaret Parisien) and the Hotel Cohiba (Havana Café). This foundation laid the foundation for her career that has evolved over the years taking her from the vibrant streets of Cuba to the Caribbean Cayman Islands and later to the lively Miami scene, where she managed to work for television networks such as Telemundo and Univision in programs like America TV, Despierta America, TN3, among others. She was part of the cast of dancers for Marc Anthony in the Latin Billboards 2015, participated in music videos for Alejandro Sanz (feat. Jesse & Joy), Nick Jonas and more. Her music is a combination of the urban genre and the diverse influences she has collected during her time in the Caribbean and North America. She currently lives in Canada where she continues to develop the local scene in Montreal, she was nominated at the "Canada Latin Awards 2017" and won revelation artist of the year. Her social media presence has grown and continues to evolve organically, with over 100k streams on Spotify. She is currently preparing to attend the biggest Latin music festival in Canada called "Fuego Fuego" where she will perform alongside another local artist premiering their first collaboration this May 2024.
