CAREER OBJECTIVE

My career in entertainment stems back to 2012. I've been creating content and producing content for over 11 years. I've been successful on every platform that I've been a part of. Being a traveling stand up comedian, podcast host and producer, I can wear many hats and juggle many things at the same time comfortably. Having on camera experience and podcast experience is something that I've molded into a successful career. Looking to expand my horizons in the space is something I'm always striving towards.
