The novel and movie, The Hate U Give by Angie Thomas have many similarities and differences. Some of the biggest ones are Khalil got shot and Officer 115 didn't get indicted. These are important to point out because they caused a huge riot and protest.

First, Khalil gets shot, and Officer 115 doesn't get indicted is similar in a way, For example, it caused a huge riot and protest in the book and movie.

book and movie have important differences as well. The most important difference is at the end of the movie Sekani pulled a gun on King. Also, in the book Sekani didn't have a gun. A final difference in the book is the family leaves Garden Heights, and in the movie, the family stays in Garden Heights.

Although the book and movie were similar in many ways, the book was better than the movie because the opening of the book was better. In conclusion, I felt the book was better because the movie took a whole different plot twist.
