30 year old HAROUN RISA has had an interest in artistry, spirituality, tourism, film/TV production and journalism since he was a boy, has been acting his whole life, and has been writing too, alongside more interests which will be discovered.

He started off in stage plays such as (3:02), (ONCE UPON A PARABLE-2013), (KING HEROD-THE MAN ABOVE, 2012) then he started his TV stint as a background artist in a TV series called LIES THAT BIND, then went on to feature as a supporting actor in short films such as PLASTIC MAASAI, HOMECOMING, PUMWANI and STICKING RIBBONS, alongside participating in a flash mob in the Nairobi CBD promoting LIPA NA M-PESA by Safaricom.

Haroun also made his international debut by getting a supporting role on the second season of Netflix's SENSE8 TV series, which was set in Kenya.

Not only is Haroun an actor and scriptwriter, he is an author of novels, the first one called MOMBASA RAHA, MY FOOT, a fiction novel series raising awareness against human trafficking and sex tourism in Kenya. Currently, the first 7 are published on Amazon, and he also has featured in TV Commercials like the CCK DIGITAL MIGRATION advert, Now rebranded Communications Authority of Kenya (C.A.K), among others that are coming soon.

Haroun also won awards, including, 'BEST NARRATIVE' in the IGIZA THEATER FESTIVAL on August 31st, 2013, for his narrative, 'SIMPLE FARMING TOOLS.'
