LEADERSHIP & AFFILIATIONS

Jackson State University Freshman Class Treasurer, Jackson, Mississippi, May 2023 – Present

- Demonstrated leadership qualities and the ability to work collaboratively with diverse groups to achieve common goals.
- Cultivated strong relationships with faculty advisors and school administration to advocate for class needs.
- Represented the freshman class in school-wide budget discussions and decision-making processes.

Jackson State University Sophomore Class Vice President, Jackson, Mississippi, April 2024

- Leadership Role: In expressing the concerns and interests of your peers, you are essential as the vice president of the sophomore class. To organize activities, speak out for the concerns of students, and develop a sense of community among sophomores, you collaborate closely with the president and other student government members.
- Organizational skills: To successfully organize meetings, activities, and initiatives, this role demands good organizational abilities. Schedule management, delegating work, and making sure that projects are finished on time and within budget will probably fall under your control.
- Communication and Collaboration: Being a successful vice president requires effective collaboration and communication. To address problems and bring about beneficial changes on campus, you'll need to collaborate with other student government members and the larger student body, as well as communicate clearly with them. You should also listen to criticism, share information, and act on it.

Maddrama, Jackson, Mississippi, November 2023-Present

- Choreographed and staged dynamic performances showcasing a diverse range of dance styles
- Mentored troupe members in dance techniques, stage presence, and performance etiquette
- Directed rehearsals to ensure precision, synchronization, and artistic expression among troupe members
