PAIS School is also an international school. It is an American school following both the Paraguayan Ministry of Education's syllabus as well as the American one. I teach Spanish Language and Literature, which is a core Ministry subject, and French as a foreign language, a complementary subject. In both cases, I am responsible for preparing, adapting, and delivering class materials, following the process of each learner, keeping meetings with parents, and informing the Academic Department of improvements or the opposite. I am the head teacher of one of the high-school classes and the project manager of this grade, which enables me to oversee their execution and state at every level of the process.
