The Formula

1.86M*0.58M*0.32M

Cabinet, pneumatic pump, chemical vessels, acrylic, gold foil, water pipe, clay, cotton, spotlight, feather

When people think that the formula of making gold can be obtained by summing up the experience of this alchemic gashapon machine, they do not realize that the chemical reaction part of the machine and the gashapon part are completely two separate parts. Do people often force experience into rules and truths, so that they can predict and grasp the future through rules and truths? Sometimes rules and truth may be such nonsense.

I made an instruction manual for the machine, which was hand-drawn and then created using computer. It also contains forms allowing participants to record their failure or success experience.
