

Backstory Of Desinon

The wealth distribution of society has increased ever so severely, disparities are at an extreme, the depraved rich mostly live in an abundance of pleasure and debauchery in their own private heavens of high rise buildings in the centre of the city. Depraved as they are, Living a circular lifestyle where capital and income prevails over anything else such as dignity, honour, and an open heart. Exploitation, trickery, manipulation was the constant device for power for the depraved rich.

The urban township of Desinon are made up from sectors of centrality and disparity. In the middle was the high rise apartments, the governmental buildings were constructed below ground. The less wealthy areas surround the high-rise buildings filled with high density and low altitude houses.

Sectors are clearly defined into, leisure (bath-houses, karaokes, shopping malls) and lifestyle (cafes, bookshops, records stores. Each sector is gated by scanning ones fingerprints, your fingerprints holds all information on you. From What sort of food you like, how much money you make, to what crimes you have committed, and what your dreams are. The reality is cold, so are the mechanical gates monitoring the township.

Criminals and those who's income is below the benchmarked average income for your age and sector will be denied access to areas of the city. This governing party sees individuals as living cogs working in a wheel towards progressing the entire human race to the inevitable destruction of the world. (Too much is expended, nothing is conserved) However, there is still hope in humanity, music and art burgeoned in the free sectors in the city, but so did drugs and violence. love and compassion still live on in many peoples hearts, and dreams never die regardless of social policies.

Backstory of ECW and ABMM

the Enforced Crime Watch (ECW) law was imposed and effective of January 1st 2040, 10 years after The Great Waste, on paper it was to counteract the rising suicidal rates and crime rates, the government decided to introduce this law which led to the implants of a nano chip named Advanced Behavioural Monitoring Module (ABMM), Inside all convicted felons. On paper, the law was supposed to reduce the chances of reoffending criminals by monitoring their vitalities and whereabouts.

A select few elite scientists (the dark) bears no hope for humanity whatsoever, having seen their hometowns and families destroyed by the radiation of the nukes, they have lost faith I the future and humankind as a whole, they are resolved to set the world on fire, wrecking havoc and unleashing chaos through seemingly fair experiments and protocols. Their lives are taken over by the burning fire of vengeance. Because of their close ties with high-ups within the government, they operate in a shadowy manner that eludes all exposure. They are the very ones that suggested the introduction of ABMM .The ECW (enforced crime watch) law that spawned the conception of the ABMM was for them a way to monitor and adjust human behaviour through manipulating consciousness and states of existence. Basically using humans as their puppets. It is also the start of a programme called GUARD in which a select group of conscripted participants would be erased from society to form a band of private militia that defended the dark ones.

Another splinter of scientist, (the light)

Holds the vision to de-celerate the speed that humans was destroying the planet and each other, and they hope to 'fix' the very humanity that led to the Great Waste, they feared catastrophic consequences for the planet as humans continued to ravage the environment and was exploiting others with technology hitherto more than before.

In contrary to the dark ones who only thought about destroying human kind, this group of scientists secretly adjusted the ABMM to what they call KEIN.

KEIN* is designed to adjust several neural pathways in the brain linked to empathy, happiness and hope, and decelerated neural pathways controlling sensitivity, bodily reactions, rage , and the ego.

The results of this was the creation of monkmans, human beings who's ideology of the world was shaped by the hopeful.

these participants became transcendent in a way that, they are full of hope, chivalry, and goodness. However, they were mute towards bodily sensations, and human emotions)they are unable to comprehend happiness and anger, love, and hate. almost robotic.. They had a steady influx of everyday dopamine. This made the monk mans very stable., friendship and courtship bore no importance In these participants lives. they had a ruthless heart towards criminals no matter how petty the crime and believed that once a wrong has been committed there is no turning back. what is evil is evil.

Desinon's future lies within these two branches of scientists, the dark, and the hopeful. I am also alluding to the dark and the light within ourselves. This balance of yin and yang, fire and water, dark and light, is central to our lives of human beings. What will happen to the fate of Desinon?

Xtra mind thoughts

Following the events of the announcement of the ECF law

A few riots sprawled. some agreed with the law, someone opposed it.

the rich natives flew away from Desinon. (the city in the story) fearing that their mind would be corrupted by incompetent governing power.

citizens had a years notice to get ready. In general, the public are worried about the complications of inserting a nano device in ones brain.

even if it is implanted in to a fugitive. what will happen to them once they were released from prison? will it be taken out? will it keep monitoring them lifelong?

Of course there are also valiant supported of this law, blind to the truth, they are happy to see felons put into place.

Backstory of the ABMM

On the 31st of december 2030, as people gathered to celebrate the end of a decade, you were in this party on the jade tower located in the central sector. Of  .enjoying life, having fun, you tango up with this girl, you then learn that she was part of the ABMM experiments, you learn that the contract first signed by conscripted participants included the need to keep the module in their brains. She found tech gurus who had gone and modded her ABMM.

She is no longer a part of the programme which then she explained to you that test subjects such as her had hallucinations, out of body experiences, phantom pains, mood swings, distorted perceptions of time. Basically being used as puppets. the participants feared that the module was a trap, they were conscripted as a band of militia for jobs that were too inhumane, so to say, for the special forces or the army or the police.

benefits of the abmm;

internet database accessible in the head, information in an instant

accelerated neurology, leading to rapid accumulation of intelligence in all areas in life, including combat altered sense of time; experience a day in a minute, experience a minute in a day neuro pathway switch, turn emotions and feelings on and off shortcomings of the abmm;

slow and gradual radiation poisoning of brain tissue

a loss of the sense of self and the ego, reality is constantly being modified, to the degree where one does not recognise what is real and what is not.

Animation plot

PROCEEDING SURGERY ROOM, YEAR 2040 10 years since the ECF LAWS was introduced, and 5 years since it was abolished.

wash your face

after washing your face and looking at yourself in the mirror, you see a distorted version of yourself, your head is glooming in the shadows, made up of forms of circles and triangles and polygons. You attempt to re-gather your thoughts up to this point. this has all been too insane. you think to yourself you have to get out of here

FLASHBACK

The guru/guide character transmits to you a frequency to the planted micro-chip in your brain. Codes, gibberish at first, you then witness the chair of state defence and national security / army generals having a conversation in a round table. This was the conversation that eventually led to the ECW which introduced the ABMM.

Next you witness horrible experiments, these are people who faced the side effects of the module. (Unrevealed right now is the splinter groups of scientists that set to work on this chip)

The guru tried to escape but is unable to, she's caught by the wardens and awaits further experimentation.

where are you anyways?

You're in a governmental hospital.

its exterior is camouflaged as a hotel by hologram.

You're not sure how you ended up here and your memory isn't functioning.

Suddenly, a bolt of static shoots through your auditory system, you hear a muffled voice with scrambled pitch that emits like the voice of god. pick up the headphones and tracker. it will help you greatly in whats to come.

you were confused and shocked, is that god? where is this voice coming from? as you thought about this the voice says 'reach for the urns, inside you will find a headphone (similar look to AirPods) and a remote mobile device (RMD) near-future equivalent of the smart phone, super thin portable future glass, that shifts forms in relation to your needs.

you reach for the urns and take the items.

you realise that the voice within your head must be the result of the surgery, and that image of yourself? Terrifying.

(You think of what is true and false, if what you're seeing is distorted is your reality distorted?

multiple realities)

does that mean the voice is one of the bad guys?

the voice suddenly erupted. "I KNOW WHAT YOU'RE THINKING OF, come and see me, and the truth SHALL reveal ITSELF TO YOU."

you want this thing out of your head, you Didn't want to hear voices all of a sudden, everything was just fine before this operation.

(the voice is a female voice, her real identity is 3f13, nobody knew of her past but she has died and her consciousness resides in a server, she is one of the leading figures in rebelling against the (enforced crime watch law) name known to the public frequency emitter laws since 2030.)

ECF