Europe’s record-setting 18½-to-9½ victory over the U.S. at Oakland Hills was best summarized by Spain’s 24-year-old Sergio Garcia. “I think that this whole team and also myself, we just live for this,” said Garcia, who scored 4½ of a possible 5 points to tie for team-leading honors. Europe’s most dominant performance over the U.S. in 77 years began with the opening match and continued through the final putt Sunday. Europe earned its second consecutive triumph, fourth of the past five meetings and seventh of the past 10.

The European Team, guided by Captain Bernhard Langer of Germany, made the most of its putting acumen. Europe took its team play to another level, winning the Sunday singles, 7½ to 4½, repeating its showing in 2002 on the final day. Lee Westwood closed out his match with a par putt, earning a 1-up victory over Kenny Perry that put Europe within a half-point of victory. Minutes later, veteran Colin Montgomerie of Scotland, who had never been defeated in singles, holed a par putt to win his match over David Toms, 1 up, to clinch two more years with the Ryder Cup.
