

Smithsonian Institution Anacostia Community Museum Archives

Oration by Frederick Douglass Delivered on the Occasion of the Unveiling of the Freedmen's Monument, April 14, 1876

Extracted on Apr-14-2018 10:32:03

The Smithsonian Institution thanks all digital volunteers that transcribed and reviewed this material. Your work enriches Smithsonian collections, making them available to anyone with an interest in using them.

The Smithsonian Institution welcomes personal and educational use of its collections unless otherwise noted;

- If sharing the material in personal and educational contexts, please cite the Anacostia Community Museum Archives as source of the content and the project title as provided at the top of the document. Include the accession number or collection name; when possible, link to the Anacostia Community Museum Archives website.
- If you wish to use this material in a for-profit publication, exhibition, or online project, please contact Anacostia Community Museum Archives or transcribe@si.edu

For more information on this project and related material, contact the Anacostia Community Museum Archives. See this project and other collections in the Smithsonian Transcription Center.

ΒY

FREDERICK DOUGLASS

DELIVERED ON THE OCCASION OF THE

UNVEILING OF THE FREEDMEN'S MONUMENT

IN MEMORY OF

ABRAHAM LINCOLN,

In Lincoln Park, Washington D. C.

April 14th, 1876,

WITH AN APPENDIX. [[flourish]]

WASHINGTON, D. C. GIBSON BROTHERS, PRINTERS. 1876. [[boxed]] [[/preprinted]]

ORATION
FREDERICK D	OUGLASS
UNVEILING OF THE FREEDM
- ABRAHAM LI	NCOLN,
In Lincoln Park, Washi April 160, 1909
WITH AN APP	ENDIX.
Wannavier, D. C. Gebrox Destructor, P. 1956.

[[blank page]]

[[end page]] [[start page]]

ORATION. [[short line]]

Friends and Fellow-Citizens:

I warmly congratulate you upon the highly interesting object which has caused you to assemble in such numbers and spirit as you have to-day. This occasion is in some respects remarkable. Wise and thoughtful men of our race, who shall come after us, and study the lesson of our history in the United States; who shall survey the long and dreary spaces over which we have travelled; who shall count the links in the great chain of events by which we have reached our present position, will make a note of this occasion; they will think of it and speak of it with a sense of manly pride and complacency.

I congratulate you, also, upon the very favorable circumstances in which we meet to-day. They are high, inspiring, and uncommon. They lend grace, glory, and significance to the object for which we have met. Nowhere else in this great country, with its uncounted towns and cities, unlimited wealth, and immeasurable territory extending from sea to sea, could conditions be found more favorable to the success of this occasion than here.

We stand to-day at the national centre to perform something like a national act-an act which is to go into history; and we are here where every pulsation of the national heart can be heard, felt, and reciprocated. A thousand wires, fed with thought and winged with lightning, put us in instantaneous communication with the loyal and true men all over this country.

Few facts could better illustrate the vast and wonderful

ORATION.

Prints and Filler City

Priord and Filter Chines: 1 search comparison for highly interesting object which are sumed year to associate in our investor and spirit-ary na have today. This securion is in our respects mean-radius. This security income of our new, where during me-free van and utaging the bosons of our new, where during methers are all utaging the long and during the main bildly in the security of the long and during the prior solution with the method over the link in the proof, will main a part of the merianion, they will think of it and speak of it with a sense of manly prior and comple-neary.

energ. I computable yes, also, upon the rary farmable draws-stances which we send to day. They are high, heipiting and weremone. They lead gave, give, and significance to fit-ologic for which we have and. Northers due to this pred-county, with its assumed to ress with cities, which its well. and instanzands for they extending from our to an outil-midiation to both more formed to the nearons of the momentum bars have a standard to the nearons of the momentum bars. The standard more investible to be predom some bar black have a standard and more the theory in the barbers.

We study taking at the minimum multiple to prevent solvery thing like a maintain atom and which is to go its be biology and so are here where every pulsation of the rational least can be based, bid, and reciproceds. A thousand wires, field with thought and winged with lightness, per as in instanti-ments communication with the legal and true over all ever change which has taken place in our condition as a people than the fact of our assembling here for the purpose we have to-day. Harmless, beautiful, proper, and praiseworthy as this demonstration is, I cannot forget that no such demonstration would have been tolerated here twenty years ago. The spirit of slavery and barbarism, which still lingers to blight and destroy in some dark and distant parts of our country, would have made our assembling here the signal and excuse for opening upon us all the flood-gates of wrath and violence. That we are here in peace to-day is a compliment and a credit to American civilization, and a prophecy of still greater national enlightenment and progress in the future. I refer to the past not in malice, for this is no day for malice; but simply to place more distinctly in front the gratifying and glorious change which has come both to our white fellow-citizens and ourselves, and to congratulate all upon the contrast between now and then; the new dispensation of freedom with its thousand blessings to both races, and the old dispensation of slavery with its ten thousand evils to both races-white and black. In view, then, of the past, the present, and the future, with the long and dark history of our bondage behind us, and with liberty, progress, and enlightenment before us, I again congratulate you upon this auspicious day and hour.

For facts ciuld better illustrate the uset and wonderful

Friends and fellow-citizens, the story of our presence here is soon and easily told. We are here in the District of Columbia, here in the city of Washington, the most luminous point of American territory; a city recently transformed and made beautiful in its body and in its spirit; we are here in the place where the ablest and best men of the country are sent to devise the policy, enact the laws, and shape the destiny of the Republic; we are here, with the stately pillars and majestic dome of the Capitol of the nation looking down upon us; we are here, with the broad earth freshly adorned with the foliage and flowers of spring for our church, and all races, colors, and conditions of men for our congregation-in a word, we are here to express, as best we may, by appropriate forms and ceremonies, our grateful sense of the vast, high, and pre-eminent services rendered to ourselves, to our race, to our country, and to the whole world by Abraham Lincoln.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

3

The sentiment that brings us here to-day is one of the noblest that can stir and thrill the human heart. It has crowned and made glorious the high places of all civilized nations with the grandest and most enduring works of art, designed to illustrate the characters and perpetuate the memories of great public men. It is the sentiment which from year to year adorns with fragrant and beautiful flowers the graves of our loyal, brave, and patriotic soldiers who fell in defence of the Union and liberty. It is the sentiment of gratitude and appreciation, which often, in presence of many who hear me, has filled yonder heights of Arlington with the eloquence of eulogy and the sublime enthusiasm of poetry and song; a sentiment which can never die while the Republic lives.

For the first time in the history of our people, and in the history of the charge which has laber place is our condition us a perple-tion the lost of our association for the perpose we have codes. Handbase, however, a solution of the second strict barrow of the second strict second strict second strict cond have been binned best to strict any second strict of shore y and hadrains, which will have be highly and datary is some during here the second strict second barrow of the second strict second strict second strict barrow of the second strict second strict second strict barrow of the second strict second strict second strict for a second strict second stricts. here made our averaiding their the speet to their the open ing upon a set the ducle gives to evaluate out the open in the speet to the speet to the speet to the speet ducle set of the speet to the speet of the speet ducle set of the speet to the speet of the speet of the speet to the speet on the speet of the speet of the speet to the speet on the speet of the speet of the speet to the speet of the speet dispession of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of the speet of the speet of the speet dispession of the speet of th to devise the policy, exact the laws, and shape the dealays of the Espather; we are here, with the staticty pillars and majorifi-chanic of the Ospitel of the nation bodying down upon us, we are here, with the bread earth freshly adorsed with the bilings and flowers of spring for our church, and all move, colors, and conditions of new for our congregation—in a word, we are here to express, as best we may, by appropriate forms and corresponde, our grateful sense of the rast, high, and pre-smi next services rendered to cameluos, to our rare, to our country, and to the whole world by Abulan Lincoln. The semiment find brings us have to day is one of the webbed find can stir and theil the human heart. It has indexed has easy and shell the beaux hourt. In has covered and made garons the high phases of all reliable indices with the grandest and most embring works of art, designed to illustrate the elementers and perpetute the mea-ories of query public mer. It is the sentence which from your to your shows with fragmant and boarded forware the proves of our layer, hence, and pationic solutions who full in defense of the Union and liberty. It is the soutiment of grat-itude and approxision, which often, in presence of many who hear me, has filled yorder heights of Arlington with the do-quence of enlagy and the arbitrate entitestants of poetry and ung; a antinent which can accor do while the Republic

For the first time in the history of our people, and in the . Indeep of the whole American people, we join in this high wounds, and march compinensity in the lass of this time-boursed extension. First things are always induceding and this is one of our first things. It is the joint time that, in this is one of our first hings. It is the first line that, in this form and manner, we have mappid to the bases to an Antonian great mass, however duscring and Euclidean. I manned the line to notice, but is build in correspond of the Euclidean but ways of the start the web in the start of the start of the start of all patties and spinions have it, but these with despite starts of the spite of Bases (a spin, and gathades, but it haves or explorations and by excitpable with these and bases in the spite of Bases (a spin, and gathades, but it is manner exceptions, and by excitpable with these an internet in human energy-transmission and by excitpable with these an internet in the spin spin start in the number dust the science of the markind, that, in the presence and with the approval of the members of the American House of Representatives, reflecting whole American people, we join in this high worship, and march conspicuously in the line of this time-honored custom. First things are always interesting, and this is one of our first things. It is the first time that, in this form and manner, we have sought to do honor to an American great man, however deserving and illustrious. I commend the fact to notice; let it be told in every part of the Republic; let men of all parties and opinions hear it; let those who despise us, not less than those who respect us, know that now and here, in the spirit of liberty, loyalty, and gratitude, let it be known everywhere, and by everybody who takes an interest in human progress and in the amelioration of the condition of mankind, that, in the presence and with the approval of the members of the American House of Representatives, reflecting the general sentiment of the country; that in the presence of that august body, the American Senate, representing the highest intelligence and the calmest judgment of the country; in presence of the Supreme Court and Chief-Justice of the United States, to whose decisions we all patriotically bow; in the presence and under the steady eye of the honored and trusted President of the United States, with the members of his wise and patriotic Cabinet, we, the colored people, newly emancipated and rejoicing in our blood-bought freedom, near the close of the first century in the life of this Republic, have now and here unveiled, set apart, and dedicated a monument of enduring granite and bronze, in every line, feature, and figure of which the men of this generation may read, and those of after-coming generations may read, something of the exalted character and great works of Abraham Lincoln, the first martyr President of the United States.

Fellow citizens, in what we have said and done to-day, and in what we may say and do hereafter, we disclaim everything like arrogance and assumption. We claim for ourselves no superior devotion to the character, history, and memory of the illustrious name whose monument we have here dedicated to-day. We fully comprehend the relation of Abraham Lincoln both to ourselves and to the white people of the United States. Truth is proper and beautiful at all times and in all places, and it is never more proper and beautiful in any case than when speaking of a great public man whose example is likely to be commended for honor and imitation long after his departure to the solemn shades, the silent continents of eternity. It must be admitted, truth compels me to admit, even here in the presence of the monument we have erected to his memory, Abraham Lincoln was not, in the fullest sense of the word, either our man or our model. In his interests, in his associations, in his habits of thought, and in his prejudices, he was a white man.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

5

He was pre-eminent the white man's President, entirely devoted to the welfare of white men. He was ready and willing at any time during the first years of his administration to deny, postpone, and sacrifice the rights of humanity in the colored people to promote the welfare of the white people of this country. In all his education and feeling he was an American of the Americans. He came into the Presidential chair upon one principle alone, namely, opposition to the extension of slavery. His arguments in furtherance of this policy had their motive and mainspring in his patriotic devotion to the interests of his own race. To protect, defend, and perpetuate slavery in the States where it existed Abraham Lincoln was not less ready than any other President to draw the sword of the nation. He was ready to execute all the supposed constitutional guarantees of the United States Constitution in favor of the slave system anywhere inside the slave States. He was willing to pursue, recapture, and send back the fugitive slave to his master, and to suppress a slave rising for liberty, though his guilty master were already in arms against the Government. The race to which we belong were not the special objects of his consideration. Knowing this, I concede to you, my white fellow-citizens, a pre-eminence in this worship at once full and supreme. First, midst, and last, you and yours were the objects of his deepest affection and his most earnest solicitude. You are the children of the general seatiment of the country: that in the presence of the protonal auxiliated of the remarky: that in the pressure of that anyone body, the Assertians Neurole, representing the high-est inclingence and the veloced joingment of the constray, is pressure of the Supreme Court and Chief-Justice of the Dailed States, to show devisions we all patriotecily lower in the preshare and under the steady up of the honored and tracked President of the Enited States, with the members of his wise Provided at the United States, with the resolver of his wave and paristic Guidant, we, the coherd people, avery semant-path, and rejusting in our blockbanght freebast, next the effect of the first eventyer is the tilt of the Brights', laters new and have merided out sport, and definited a successful of empirical symptotic and below, in every line, futures, suc-figure of which the near of this generation may real, suc-tions of the sport of t

figure of which the new of this powerise may real, and these of abscissing point-line may real, and they fit is a straight of the United States. In this rest matry Frombation of the United States. The description is which we have study and the United state on any and also benefity, we solvakin exceptibility the argument and assemption. We takes for numbers in particular devices to the dwarfset is barbon in the input of dwarfset to the dwarfset is barbon. The in-terior is a state of the state of the states of the barbon is a state of the state of the states of the barbon is proper and heat within a state that the dwarfset takes in proper and heat with a state of the states that and it is started as the weight power of the United States. That is proper and heat with a state that the state filter of its is stated as the state is power of the United States. That is proper and heat with a state that and places. Truth is proper and boundal at all fains fids is any coset size and it is server some proper ad boundaries for any coset size sizes spacing of a goal public stars where results it high partner is the subman dushin, the silbert has due to be in and be ablicable, terch scrept and insider. In adjust, the dush is most be ablicable, terch scrept and inside the fids is most be ablicable, terch scrept and inside its his means flatzline. Takeway we set  $A_{ij}$  the following the screece of the same Hardam Takeway we set  $A_{ij}$  the following the screece of the screece screece of the screece of the following the screece of the screece screece of the screece of the screece of the screece of the screece screece of the screece of the screece of the screece of the screece screece of the either our man or our model. In his interests, in his associa-tions, in his habits of thought, and in his prejudices, he was a white man.

He was preventionally the white mat's President, entirely derated to the welfare of shife men. He was ready and willing at any time during the first years of his administration to deep, prepresent, and rewrites the rights of homosity in the It are store using one term prior is an elementation of deep perturbation of methods for highlar of kinashight in the solid perpit to promote the wellow of the velocity per-dition of the Associates. He cances here the Freidelinti device space size periodic alows, managing, experiation to fin-olithy space size and starting and the space of the period period of the starter of the starts where it is independent devices in the interaction of the starts where it exists Dischool. and perpendent elevery is the Relates where it exists Dischool and perpendent elevery is the Relates where it exists Dischool and perpendent elevery is the Relates where it exists Dischool and perpendent elevery is the Starts where its exist Dischool and the series of the starts. He was ready to covertaril the supposed contribution grameuters of the Ukids Diskins Constitution is inver of the institute of the starts Diskins Constitution. In terms of the institute of suppress and scale birt for figurits where its burster, such express a discer birth the Guivernesses. The rares to shids we a since rising the Elevery, theory, this perlop matter near shading the marror aquite the Government  $T_{\rm E}$  more to shide we below were not the speed objects of the consideration. So, Soweing this 1, cosmole to you, we with a full constant, and they are not permutation of the state of t Abraham Lincoln. We are at best only his step-children; children by adoption, children by force of circumstances and necessity. To you it especially belongs to sound his praises, to preserve and perpetuate his memory, to multiply his statues, to hang his pictures high upon your walls, and commend his example, for to you he was a great and glorious friend and benefactor. Instead of supplanting you at this altar, we would exhort you to build high his monuments; let them be of the most costly material, of the most cunning workmanship; let their forms be symmetrical, beautiful, and perfect; let their bases be upon solid rocks, and their summits lean against the unchanging blue, overhanging sky, and let them endure forever! But while in the abundance of your wealth, and in the fulness of your just and patriotic devotion, you do all this, we entreat you to despise not the humble offering we this day unveil to view; for while Abraham Lincoln saved for you a country, he delivered us from a bondage, according to Jefferson, one hour of which was worse than ages of the oppression your fathers rose in rebellion to oppose.

Fellow-citizens, ours is no new-born zeal and devotion--merely a thing of this moment. The name of Abraham Lincoln was near and dear to our hearts in the darkest and most perilous hours of the Republic. We were no more ashamed of him when shrouded in clouds of darkness, of doubt, and defeat than when we saw him crowned with victory, honor, and glory. Our faith in him was often taxed and strained to the uttermost, but it never failed. When he tarried long in the mountain; when he strangely told us that we were the cause of the war; when he still more strangely told us to leave the land in which we were born; when he refused to employ our arms in defence of the Union; when, after accepting our services as colored soldiers, he refused to retaliate our murder and torture as colored prisoners; when he told us he would save the Union if he could with slavery; when he revoked the Proclamation of Emancipation of General Frémont; when he refused to remove the popular commander of the Army of the Potomac, in the days of its inaction and defeat, who was more zealous in his efforts to protect slavery than to suppress rebellion; when we saw all this, and more, we were at times grieved, stunned, and greatly bewildered; but our hearts believed while they ached and bled. Nor was this, even at that time, a blind and unreasoning superstition. Despite the mist and haze that surrounded him; despite the tumult, the hurry, and confusion of the hour, we were able to take a comprehensive view of Abraham Lincoln, and to make reasonable allowance for the circumstances of his position. We saw him, measured him, and estimated him; not by stray utterances to injudicious and tedious delegations, who often tried his patience; not by isolated facts torn from their connection; not by any partial and imperfect glimpses, caught at inopportune moments; but by a broad survey, in the light of the stern logic of great events, and in view of that divinity which shapes our ends, rough hew them how we will, we came to the conclusion that the hour and the man of our redemption had somehow met in the person of Abraham Lincoln. It mattered little to us what language he might employ on special occasions; it mattered little to us, when we fully knew him, whether he was swift or slow in his movements; it was enough for us that Abraham Lincoln was at the head of a great movement, and was in living and earnest sympathy with that movement, which, in the nature of things, must go on until slavery should be utterly and forever abolished in the United States.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

7

When, therefore, it shall be asked what we have to do with the memory of Abraham Lincoln, or what Abraham Lincoln had to do with us, the ### causing sectors ship: In their here is provided with burght full, and provide the star here is pays with ranks and star in the sector is a star in the sectors and the secstar star is the sector here is the star is the stardard sector is a star in the star is the stardard sector is a star in the star is the stardard sector is a star in the star is the star star is include attricing on the star is an entropy by a determined balance. Links word for yes a southy, for determined from a balance of the opposite growth is the star star data and the star is a star in the star is a star star data star of the opposite growth is the star is a star data star of the opposite growth is star in the star star data star of the opposite growth star star is a starset data star of the opposite growth star star is a star-

and many of the appendix poor filters run in shalls to space.
The distance of space states of the space states and space states of the s answer is ready, full, and complete. Though he loved Caesar less than Rome, though the Union was more to him than our freedom or our future, under his wise and beneficent rule we saw ourselves gradually lifted from the depths of slavery to the heights of liberty and manhood; under his wise and beneficent rule, and by measures approved and vigorously pressed by him, we saw that the handwriting of ages, in the form of prejudice and proscription, was rapidly fading away from the face of our whole country; under his rule, and in due time, about as soon after all as the country could tolerate the strange spectacle, we saw our brave sons and brothers laying off the rags of bondage, and being clothed all over in the blue uniforms of the soldiers of the United States: under his rule we saw two hundred thousand of our dark and dusky people responding to the call of Abraham Lincoln, and with muskets on their shoulders, and eagles on their buttons, timing their high footsteps to liberty and union under the national flag; under his rule we saw the independence of the black republic of Hayti, the special object of slaceholding aversion and horror, fully recognized, and her minister, a colored gentleman, duly received here in the city of Washington; under his rule we saw the internal slavetrade, which so long disgraced the nation, abolished, and slavery abolished in the District of Columbia; under his rule we saw for the first time the law enforced against the foreign slave-trade, and the first slavetrader hanged like any other pirate or murderer; under his rule, assisted by the greatest captain of our age, and his inspiration, we saw the Confederate States, based upon the idea that our race must be slaves, and slaves forever, battered to pieces and scattered to the four winds; under his rule, and in the fullness of time, we saw Abraham Lincoln, after giving the slaveholders three months' grace in which to save their hateful slave system, penning the immortal paper, which, though special in its language, was general in its principles and effect, making slavery forever impossible in the United States. Though we waited long, we saw all this and more.

Can any colored man, or any white man friendly to the freedom of all men, ever forget the night which followed the first day of January, 1863, when the world was to see if Abraham Lincoln would prove to be as good as his word ? I shall never forget that memorable night, when in a distant city I waited and watched at the public meeting, with three thousand others not less anxious than myself, for the word of deliverance which we have heard read to-day. [[end page]]

[[start page]]

Nor shall I ever forget the outburst of joy and thanksgiving that rent the air when the lightning brought to us the emancipation proclamation. In that happy hour we forgot all delay, and forgot all tardiness, forgot that the President had bribed the rebels to lay down their arms by a promise to withhold the bolt which smite the slave-system with destruction; and we were thenceforward willing to allow the President all the latitude of time, phraseology, and every honorable device that statesmanship might require for the achievement of a great and beneficent measure of liberty and progress.

Fellow-citizens, there is little necessity on this occasion to speak at length and critically of this great and good man, and of his high mission in the world. That ground has been fully occupied and completely covered both here and elsewhere. The whole field of fact and fancy has been gleaned and garnered. Any man can say things that are true of Abraham Lincoln, but no man can say anything that is new of Abraham Lincoln. His personal traits and public acts are better known to the American people than are those of any other man of his age. He was a mystery to no man who saw him and heard him. Though high in position, the humblest could approach him and feel at home in his presence. Though deep, he was transparent; though strong, he was gentle; though decided and pronounced in his convictions, he was tolerant towards those who differed from him, and patient under reproaches. Even those who only knew him through his public utterances obtained a tolerably clear idea of his character and his personality. The image of the man went out with his words, and those rags of hondage, and being elothed all-over in the blac uniforms of the soldiers of the Unifed States, under his rule we are two hundred thousand of our dark and dusky rate we use two insorted thousand of our dark and shady people responding to the call of Abraham Lincols, and with mashets on their shoulders, and eagles on their buttons, timing their high Kotsteps to Blerty-and unles under the national flag; under his rule we now the independence of the black republic of Hayti, the special object of should-blnation for , under in refs we are the independence of the black regulated of Heyt for appendix object of almostal for averages and having. May reception the statistical term of the term of the second second second second second bases of the second second second second second second field in the Neutral Second Second Second Second Second field in the Neutral Second Secon noe if Abraham Lincoln would prove to be as good as his word ! I shall never depyt that memorphic night, when in a distant city I waited and watched at a public meeting. with three thousand others not less anxious flam seynell, for the word of deliverance which we have heard read to day.

Nor shall I over forget the 'estimate of joy and thanks, giving that rest the six when the lightning brought to us the consortiation producation. In that happy hour we forget all when, and longet all tardinons, longet that the President had belied the related to be drawn their arrays by a promise to withhold the hold which would make the also system with destruction ; and we were themedorward willing to allow the President all the latitude of time, phrasedogy, spins with distribute, and we were there derived a line of the strength of the strength prob-to effect for Poinskin at the hitch dot line, phenodage, and every howevalue dots that stationauxide radius of the first heradivenum of a gauss of all bardshort measure of herady and program. The stationauxide radius of the point and gauss have one of the high measure in the world. Thus present have need of the high measure in the world. Thus present have need of the high measure in the world. Thus present have and eleveness. The which field of thet and have and eleveness. The which field of thet and have and eleveness. The which field of thet and have and phenol and properly have means put shaps that are true of dimens. Likewise, but as more are say explicing that is zero of dimens. Likewise, but as a paperty in ar-ma who are hirder black then a barries of her all the handblact and approach have not find at home in his process. Theoryh deep, is was two presented in his con-vident, he was being threads them when a differed from the and phenol have brack theorem in the on-vident, he was bound threads them when differed from the and phenol have brack theorem in the same threads the same how and phenol have brack theorem in the same threads the same how and phenol have brack theorem in the same threads the same threads the same home have been as the same home have been been as the same home have been as a same same home have been as the same home have been as a same same home have been as the same home have been as a same same same home have been as a same same home have been home tion, and paint means towards have any adject point bins, and paint under represents. Even those who only lance him through his public uttrances obtained a tailenday clear idea of his character and his personality. The image of the man went out with his words, and those who read then, know his

I have said that President Linesis was a white man, and shared the prejudices common to his rewho read them, knew him.

I have said that President Lincoln was a white man, and shared the prejudices common to his countrymen towards the colored race. Looking back to his times and to the condition of his country, we are compelled to admit that this unfriendly feeling on his part may be safely set down as one element of his wonderful success in organizing the loval American people for the tremendous conflict before them, and bringing them safely through that conflict. His great mission was to accomplish two things: first, to save his country from dismemberment and ruin; and second, to free his country from the great crime of slavery. To do one or the other, or both, he must have the earnest sympathy and the powerful co-operation of his loyal fellowcountrymen. Without this primary and essential condition to success his efforts must have been vain and utterly fruitless. Had he put the abolition of slavery before the salvation of the Union, he would have inevitably driven from him a powerful class of the American people and rendered resistance to rebellion impossible. Viewed from the genuine abolition ground, Mr. Lincoln seemed tardy, cold, dull, and indifferent; but measuring him by the sentiment of his country, a sentiment he was bound as a statesman to consult, he was swift, zealous, radical, and determined.

Though Mr. Lincoln shared the prejudices of his white fellow-countrymen against the negro, it is hardly necessary to say that in his heart of hearts he loathed and hated slavery * The man who could say, "Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war shall soon pass away, yet if God wills it continue till all the wealth piled by two hundred years of bondage shall have been wasted, and each drop of blood drawn by the lash shall have been paid for by one drawn by the sword. the

[[line across page]]

[[footnote]] "I am naturally anti-slavery. If slavery is not wrong, nothing is wrong. I cannot remember when I did not so think and feel " —Letter of Mr. Lincoln to Mr. Hughes, of Kentucky, April 4, 1864. [[end page]] judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether" gives all needed proof of his feeling on the subject of slavery. He was willing, while the South was loyal, that it should have its pound of flesh, because he thought that it was so nominated in the bond; but farther than this no earthly power could make him go.

[[start page]] Ϊ1

Fellow-citizens, whatever else in this world may be partial, unjust, and uncertain, time, time! is impartial, just, and certain in its action. In the realm of mind, as well as in the realm of matter, it is a great worker, and often works wonders. The honest and comprehensive statesman, clearly discerning the needs of his country, and earnestly endeavoring to do his whole duty, though covered and blistered with reproaches, may safely leave his course to the silent judgment of time. Few great public men have ever been the victims of fiercer denunciation than Abraham Lincoln was during his administration. He was often wounded in the house of his friends. Reproaches came thick and fast upon him from within and form without, and from opposite guarters. He was assailed by Abolitionists; he was assailed by slaveholders; he was assailed by the men who were for peace at any price; he was assailed by those who were for a more vigorous prosecution of the war; he was assailed for not making the war an abolition war; and he was most bitterly assailed for making the war an abolition war.

the colored race. Looking back to his times and to the condition of his country, we are compelled to admit that this unbionely feeling on his part may be adely set down the subsolute finding on the port way be addy and down or not selected if the worked waves in compating the hepd harrison people for the treasmbors conflict blee down, and bringing them addy though that conflict. He-gest anisots was to assemptiab tree thinger (But, is any is control (reso, diamaciscent) and rives (add smooth, bi-fors in control (reso, diamaciscent) and rives (add smooth, bi-tors in control (reso, redo he), must be the second of the second (reso, redo he), but the the first second (re-age of an often) redo he), not set the first second (re-sons of the often) redo he). The second has a wide the proved in comparison of his heyd fifter contryings in the potential of decay bleet the substate of the

When the princy we associate noise for the states distant and abases of always before. For absorm, likel her-ber in the sensitive of always before fore absorber with the states in the sensitive states and induced resistance to which all here herein like and induced resistance to which all hereins moved herein, out, the distance of the versite state is associated and induced resistance is well, and any addition of the states of the self-fit means the state of the states and the states of the states of the state of the states of the self-fit means and the states of the states of the self-fit means and the states of the states of the self-state of the state of the states of the state of the state is any fit means the states of the state of the state is any fit means of the state of the state of the state is any fit means of the state of the state of the state is any part of the state of the state of the state many part any part of the state of the state of the state many part of the state of the state of the state of the state many part of the state of the state of the state of the state many part of the state of the state of the state of the state state of the state of the state of the state of the state state of the state state of the state of the state of the state of the state state of the state of the state of the state of the state state of the state of the state of the state of the state state of the state state of the state state of the state state of the state

**1 am naturally anti-skreep. If densey is not seeing, nothing is using 1 mmmi consider when if did not no filted and livel "--Arther of Ric Educits in Rev. Redges, of Kanharity, April 5, 1893.

judgements of the Lord are true and righteens silvagedies," gives all model proof of his finding on the subject of sharey. He was willing, while the South was level, that it should have its pound of fieth, because he thought that it almost here its panel of task, because he throught that its new as a scattering of its the body the factor than this ar-earing power could such the gas. Follow-entrom, winnerse due in this world may be particl, majori, and uncertain, timoi is impurited, just, and the radia of matter, it is a great worker, and will so its the radia of matter, it is a great worker, and will so its the radia of matter, it is a great worker, and the world is single to the view of the single start of the sec-ile starts of the starts of the secile starts works in the task of the start of the start of the secile disconting the matter of the single plasment of finers of maximum functions that the start of the single plasment of finers of maximum functions when the strength plasment of finers of maximum matter in the start of the single plasment works and they writed, and hence opposed quetters. He was manded by the initial term of the strength the single mathe-tic matter of maximum starts and the single time relative strength starts may writed and the specific quetters. He was manded by the initial term of matter of the single plasment of the single strength starts and hence of the single plasment of the strength starts and the specific quetters. He was availed by Hodinaria is was availed by shrebolirs -be was availed by Hodinaria is was availed by shrebolirs -be was availed by the new who were for purce at any price is was availed by these who were for a more eigeness proceention of the war; he was assailed for not making the war an abelition war; and he was most bitterly assailed for maki., the war an abolition was mail., the we as aborton was Bug now behalf the charges: the judgment of the present bore is, that taking him for all in all, measuring the trementous magnitude of the work before him, considering the necessary means to ends, and surveying the end from the beginning, infinite window has address sent any near into the world better fitted for his mission then Abraham Lincols. His hirth, his training, and his natural endowments, both mental and physical, were strongly in his favor. Form and yeared among the lowly, a stranger to would and larary, compelled to But now behold the change: the judgment of the present hour is, that taking him for all in all, measuring the tremendous magnitude of the work before him, considering the necessary means to ends, and surveying the end from the beginning, infinite wisdom has seldom sent any man into the world better fitted for his mission than Abraham Lincoln. His birth, his training, and his natural endowments, both mental and physical, were strongly in his favor. Born and reared among the lowly, a stranger to wealth and luxury, compelled to grapple single-handed with the flintiest hardships of life, from tender youth to sturdy manhood, he grew strong in the manly and heroic qualities demanded by the great mission to which he was called by the votes of his countrymen. The hard condition of his early life, which would have depressed and broken down weaker men, only gave greater life, vigor, and buoyancy to the heroic spirit of Abraham Lincoln. He was ready for any kind and any quality of work. What other young men dreaded in the shape of toil, he took hold of with the utmost cheerfulness.

A spade, a rake, a hoe, A pick-axe, or a bill: A hook to reap, a scythe to mow, A flail, or what you will.

All day long he could split heavy rails in the woods, and half the night long he could study his English Grammar by the uncertain flare and glare of the light made by a pine-knot. He was at home on the land with his axe, with his maul, with gluts, and his wedges; and he was equally at home on water, with his oars, with his poles, with his planks, and with his boat-hooks. And whether in his flat-boat on the Mississippi river, or at the fireside of his frontier cabin, he was a man of work. A son of toil himself, he was linked in brotherly sympathy with the sons of toil in every loyal part of the Republic. This very fact gave him tremendous power with the American people, and materially contributed not only to selecting him to the Presidency, but in sustaining his administration of the Government.

Upon his Inauguration as President of the United States, an office, even where assumed under the most favorable conditions, fitted to tax and strain the largest abilities, Abraham Lincoln was met by a tremendous crisis. He was called upon not merely to administer the Government, but to decide, in the face of terrible odds, the fate of the Republic.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

13

A formidable rebellion rose in his path before him; the Union was already practically dissolved; his country was torn and rent asunder at the centre. Hostile armies were already organized against the Republic, armed with the munitions of war which the Republic had provided for its own defence. The tremendous question for him to decide was whether his country should survive the crisis and flourish, or be dismembered and perish. His predecessor in office had already decided the question in favor of national dismemberment, by denying to it the right of selfdefence and self-preservation -- a right which belongs to the meanest insect.

Happily for the country, happily for you and for me, the judgment of James Buchanan, the patrician, was not the judgment of Abraham Lincoln, the plebeian. he brought his strong common sense, sharpened in the school of adversity, to bear upon the question. He did not hesitate, he did not doubt, he did not falter; but at once resolved that at ## grappic single-banded with the finitist hardwips of Rb, from bandler youth to stardy manhood, he gives strong in the rearry and hencie qualities domained by the great mission to which is was called by the vision bits countrymess. The hard coulding of his surgly 15s, which would have depressed and smallion of his safety its, which were note toppendent and heading down worker new, only give gravital file, sight, and heavymenty to file hereie spleit of Abraham Lincoln. He was ready for any hird and any quality of work. What other young men drawaled in file shape of bol, he took hold of with the whereat theoretices.

12

A spade, a railes, a lase, A prick-ann, or a bill ; A hash to reap, a septise to more, A dual, or what you will.

A find a series of the series was a min of work. A sum of build himself, for was instead in batchelly sympathy with the sum of buil in every lepid part of the Equidac. This way first gave him tremendant power with the Amonisma power, and materially excluded and only to subscring him to the Presidency had in startishing the administration of the Generator. Here, the startishing him himsenses are president of the United States, Papes him transportion we President of the United States, an office, even where assumed under the most investile conditions, fitted to test and strain the intrast abilities. Aluminars Lincoln was not by a transmissa evisit. He was called upon not movely to administer the threemanent, but to decide, in the face of terrible calls, the fate of the Republic

A formidable robellion some in his path before him; the A tornholds reduction size in law path betwee here. De-ticing was advantly spectically disorder, it is constituty was been and rest annotes at the centre. Housing works where densely cognitized against the Bogelide much with the manitoms of was which the Bogelide hed perceided for in-wear debases. The instandous quantum for this to devide man distance. The instandous quantum for this to devide man distance the recently should nervice the orbits and floweride.

we obtacs. The increasions specific for line is obtain on which lies incomply should error to exist and hands, or be dimensional and perich. His predowner is efficient ind abound obtained the question is free or in axianal dimension hereases, by deeping to its ingle of an inflation and effi-preservations or algobia with boling of the post multi-below of about Tablean. The first first first means three hybrases of about Tablean, the predox, in the work plopmost of Mathian Linker, in plotters with the set plotter of Mathian Linker, in plotters with the set plotter of Mathian Linker, in plotter bounds of abound produce of the paratise of the bounds of abound plotter of the predox. If the bounds of abound inclusion of the paratise of the constructions. Third much is the paratise of the constructions. Third must be the paratise of the the construction. Third must be the paratise of the constructions. Third must be the paratise of the constructions. The information particular of the Chine Show with the information particles of the Chine Show. Also we in information particular of the Chine Show. Others with a scheling of $500,000 essent he supersends, led it the adult is bound and a source of heat with a the initial particular of the Chine Show. Also we in information particles of the Chine Show. How we will be added of $500,000 essent he supersends, led it is about a fixed a standard in the bind and is higher and dust and fixes all accord has, but higher and show in the binder of the paratise of the standard of the struct and the rank of the present step (so the two in its dust and fixes all accord hum, but he bind area in the binds of a size when its observes on the source of a size is in the binder of the structure of a size of the acide of a size is in the binds of a size when its observes on the size of the acide of a size is in the size of a size when its observes on the size of the acide of a size of the states of the size states of a size of the acid. The bind states is the lowes of a size when its observes of suits sends or richts that naved only. He had not been achooled in the others of sharery, his phin life had forceed his love of truth. He had not been laught that treaces whatever peril, at whatever cost, the union of the States should be preserved. A patriot himself, his faith was strong and unwavering in the patriotism of his countrymen. Timid men said before Mr. Lincoln's inauguration, that we had seen the last President of the United States. A voice in influential quarters said "Let the Union slide." Some said that a Union maintained by the sword was worthless. Others said a rebellion of 8,000,000 cannot be suppressed; but in the midst of all this tumult and timidity, and against all this, Abraham Lincoln was clear in his duty, and had an oath in heaven. He calmly and bravely heard the voice of doubt and fear all around him; but he had an oath in heaven, and there was not power enough on the earth to make this honest boatman, backwoodsman, and broad-handed splitter of rails evade or violate that sacred oath. He had not been schooled in the ethics of slavery; his plain life had favored his love of truth. He had not been taught that treason and perjury were the proof of honor and honesty. His moral training was against his saying one thing when he meant another. The trust which Abraham Lincoln had in himself and in the people was surprising and grand, but it was also enlightened and well founded. He know the American people better than they knew themselves, and his truth was based upon this knowledge.

Fellow-citizens, the fourteenth day of April, 1865, of which this is the eleventh anniversary, is now and will every remain a memorable day in the annals of this Republic. It was on the evening of this day, while a fierce and sanguinary rebellion was in the last stages of its desolating power: while its armies were broken and scattered before the invincible armies of Grant and Sherman; while a great nation, torn and rent by war, was already beginning to raise to the skies loud anthems of joy at the dawn of peace, it was startled, amazed, and overwhelmed by the crowning crime of slavery-- the assassination of Abraham Lincoln. It was a new crime, a pure act of malice. No purpose of the rebellion was to be served by it. It was the simple gratification of a hell-black spirit of revenge. But is has done good after all. It has filled the country with a deeper abhorrence of slavery and a deeper love for the great liberator.

Had Abraham Lincoln died from any of the numerous ills to which flesh is heir; had he reached that good old age of which his vigorous constitution and his temperate habits gave promise; had he been permitted to see the end of his great work; had the solemn curtain of death come down but gradually -- we should still have been smitten with a heavy grief, and treasured his name lovingly. But dying as he did die, by the red hand of violence, killed, assassinated, taken off without warning, not because of personal hate -- for no man who knew Abraham Lincoln could hate him -- but because of his fidelity to union and liberty, he is double dear to us, and his memory will be precious forever.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

15

Fellow-citizens, I end, as I began, with congratulations. We have done a good work for our race to-day. In doing honor to the memory of our friend and liberator, we have been doing highest honors to ourselves and those who come after us; we have been fastening ourselves to a name and fame imperishable and immortal; we have also been defending ourselves from a blighting scandal. When now it shall be said that the colored man is soulless, that he has no appreciation of benefits or benefactors; when the foul reproach of ingratitude is hurled at us, and it is attempted to scourge us beyond the range of human brotherhood, we may calmly point to the monument we have this day erected to the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

14 and perjury were the proof of honor and honsety. His moral training was agained his saying one thing when he month another. The trust which Abusham Lincoln had in himself and in the people was surprising and grand, but it was also calightened and well founded. He knew the American people better than they know themselves, and his truth was based pen shis knowledge. Felieweikaesa, the featteenth day of April, 1965, of which Follow-raises, the instructh day of Aprl. 1986, of this is in the shown matrices is not out of will new remain a meanable day in the much of this Hapable. It was one the contain of this day, which forces and magnitury windless was in the last stages of its doubling power, which its remains wave bracks and assured before the inviscible remains of Gaust and Stateman; which a great aution, here out rest I wave, such adve hapating in twise to the stills had undrawn of great the dress of greats, it was starfful, heat matchings of all days and the dress of the state had undrawn of all states Lionek. It was nev remay, a rest of all days. So merges of the relation way to be the maximum of all holdson Lords. If was a new rules, a pure set of walks. No propose of the solution was to be sourced by it. It was doe simple gravitation of a builded spit of average. But it has done prod where, all. It has filled the country with a deeper abbarrows of always and a deeper how for the paral behavior. It is shift of the barrow behavior. It is the spin barrow barrow and the sources as the solution barrow barrow barrow barrow and the signature barrow barrow and the source barrow and the source barrow barrow barrow and the source barrow barrow source barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and which is spinors more source barrow barrow and source barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and which be barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and source barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and source barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and source barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and all has more barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and source barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow barrow and his mous barrow b ared his name heringly. But dying as he did die, by the red hand of violence, killed, associated, taken aff without warning, not because of personal hate-for ne man who knew Abushum Lincoln could hate him-but because of his fidelity to union and likeriy, he is doubly dear to us, and his memory will be precises forward.

Felloweitisten, I and, as I began, with congratulat We have done a good work for our rare to-day. In doing honor to the namory of our friend and likerstor, we have hom doing highest honors to consider and those who come have drag higher hours to consider and these who mus-date us; we have been interiory arearbost to a same and fame imperiability and innovative where also heres distalling constraints from a high-line scale of shall be and the for colored mass is collion; that he have boty operative densities or inconductors, where the first operarchic impatibility is included at an and it is strategied by severy to have also measured on here their day endolf to shall be into the measured we have the day endolf to the enery of Abraham Lincola.

[[blank page]] [[end page]] [[start page]] APPENDIX [[flourish]]

AFTER the procession arrived upon the grounds the stand was soon filled with guests. Immediately behind the speaker's stand were seated President Grant, Senator Ferry, the members of the Cabinet, and the Justices of the Supreme Court; Senators Morton, Boutwell, Spencer, Sherman, Bruce, and others of the Senate; Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Conant, Hons. S. S. Cox, N. P. Banks, and other members of the House; the Japanese Minister, Sergeant-at-Arms French, Dr. C. C. Cox, Hon. W. B. Snell, Dr. J. B. Blake, the distinguished gentlemen who were to take part in the exercises, and many other distinguished personages.

The marine band, stationed at the right of the stand, opened the exercises by playing "Hail Columbia."

Prof. John M. Langston, Chairman of the National Committee of Arrangements, presided.

Bishop John M. Brown, of the African M. E. church, offered a devout prayer, during the utterance of which a solemn and reverent silence was maintained throughout the vast throng.

Hon. J. Henri Burch, of Louisiana, read the proclamation of emancipation, which was received with as much enthusiasm as if it had just been issued, and at the conclusion the Marseillaise hymn was played.

Prof. Langston explained that Rev. Wm. G. Elliott, who was to present the monument, had been unable to attend, and introduced in his stead Mr. James E. Yeatman, President of the Western Sanitary Commission.

Mr. Yeatman said:

The Rev. Wm. G. Elliott, of St. Louis, to whom had been assigned the presentation of the monument for the acceptance and approval of those who had contributed the funds for its erection, and to give a short historical account of the same, has been prevented from doing so, and it has only been within the last few hours that I received notice that he could not be present, and that I was requested to take his place, which I am but poorly qualified to do. Asking your kind and considerate indulgence, I shall proceed, as the representative and president of the Western Sanitary Commission, to whom was entrusted the contributions of the freedmen, and the expenditure of the same for the erection of a freedmen's memorial at the National Capital.

It is perhaps proper that I should tell you how it was that a sanitary commission came to be entrusted with this work. This Commission, composed of Rev. Wm. G. Elliott, George Partridge, Carlos S. Greeley, Dr. J. B. Johnson, and James E Yeatman, well-known Union citizens of St. Louis, were appointed by General John C. Fremont, and afterwards ratified by Secretary Stanton. Their duties, principally, were to look after the sick, to fit up and furnish hospitals, provide competent nurses, &c. But as the war progressed, their duties were greatly enlarged. The care

APPENDIX.

.

I serves the procession active of spin the globales the strict trace and the although a growth. Inclusion of the strict strict trace is the strict trace of the strict st

The matrix hand, detended to tag to be seen of provide at the second sec mann, presiden. Fining Juke M. Brorn, of the Rhinn M. E. church, offsted a denset senses devices the subsystem of which a mission and supervise distance was maintained throughout the wast throug. Hun. J. Henri Borch, of Louisians, read the producation of constraints, at the conclusion file Marwellhine layon was pictred. Epsil: Langeton explained that here, Win, 6, Ellion, who was to present the monoment, bud been smaller to attand, and introduced in his strend Mr. Janser M. Kartane, Buddheir et fu, Wastern Genetizer, Genetizer,

In this  $N_{\rm eff}$  of a Hinks, of the Lenks telem half here arguing the solution of a flow more setting of the solution of t of the families and orphans of soldiers, Union refugees, the freedmen—in short, all the humanities growing out of the war-came under their charge. For these various purposes large sums of money, clothing, &c., were contributed and sent to them, and I can say, honestly and judiciously expended. And finally, after the war was closed ; after the lamented, honored, and loved Lincoln had been so foully assassinated in this city, five dollars were sent to us-the contribution of Charlotte Scott, a poor slave-woman, who, on hearing of the assassination of President Lincoln, went, in great distress, to her mistress-that had been, for she was then free-and said to her: "The colored people have lost their best friend on earth ! Mr. Lincoln was our best friend, and I will give five dollars of my wages towards erecting a monument to his memory." This money, this five dollars, this grain of mustard seed, contributed by Charlotte Scott in gratitude to her deliverer, was sent to us by her former master, Mr. P. Rucker, through the hands of General T. C. H. Smith, then in command of the military post of St. Louis, having received it from Mr. Rucker, who was a Union refugee from Virginia, having sought safety for himself and family in Marietta, Ohio, taking along with him Charlotte Scott, and perhaps others belonging to him. It was this five dollars that was the foundation of this beautiful and appropriate memorial which we now see before us. General Smith addressed a letter to me, conveying it, which was as follows:

ST. LOUIS, April 26, 1864.

JAMES E. YEATMAN, Esq.:

MY DEAR SIR: A poor negro woman, of Marietta, Ohio, one of those made free by President Lincoln's proclamation, proposes that a monument to their dead friend be erected by the colored people of the United States. She has handed to a person in Marietta five dollars as her contribution for the purpose. Such a monument would have a history more grand and touching than any of which we have account. Would it not be well to take up this suggestion and make it known to the freedmen?

Yours truly, T. C. H. SMITH.

In compliance with General Smith's suggestion, I published his letter, with a card, stating that any desiring to contribute to a fund for such a purpose that the Western Sanitary Commission would receive the same and see that it was judiciously appropriated as intended. In response to this communication, liberal contributions were received from colored soldiers, under the command of General J. W. Davidson, headquarters at Natchez, Miss., amounting in all to $12,150. This was subsequently increased from other sources to $16,242.

From the liberal contributions made in the first instance, we are led to believe that a very much larger sum would have been subscribed. But, as our determination was to have a free-will offering without solicitation, we determined to rest with what was voluntarily contributed.

Harriet Hosner, one of America's greatest sculptors, asked for permission to submit a design, which she did It was one of great beauty and merit, and could it have been executed, it would have been one of the grandest and most beautiful monumental works of art ever erected in this or any other country. I mention this here as the design has doubtless been seen by some that are now present. It was published in the London Art Journal and other journals published in this and other countries. I trust yet that the gratitude of the freed people will prompt them to execute this grand design. I now proceed to give you the history of the Lincoln Monument as adopted and executed.

Smithsonian Institution Transcription Center, Anacostia Community Museum Archives

One of the members of the Western Sanitary Commission, Rev. Wm. G. Elliott, being in Florence in the autumn of 1869, when visiting the studio of Mr. Thomas Ball, saw the group subsequently adopted, and was so much pleased with it that he spoke strongly in its praise after returning to St. Louis. He had learned from Mr. Ball that the work was conceived and executed under the first influence of the news of Mr. Lincoln's assassination. No order for such a group had been received, but Mr. Ball felt sure that the time would come when there would be a demand for it, and, at any rate, he felt an inward demand to produce it. His aim was to present one single idea, representing the great work for the accomplishment of which Abraham Lincoln lived and died, and all accessory ideas are carefully excluded. Mr. Ball also deterined not to part with it, except under such circumstances as to insure its just appreciation, not merely as a work of art but as a labor of love—a tribute to American patriotism.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

19

For several years it has stood there in its place greatly admired, but not finding the direction of its rightful destination. But, when the artist heard of the possible use to which it might be put, as the memorial of freedom by the emancipated slaves themselves, he at once said that he should hold it with that view until the Commission were prepared to take action, and that the price to be paid would be altogether a secondary consideration. When the description was given to the other members of the Western Sanitary Commission they sent for photographs, four of which, presenting the group at different points of view, were taken in Florence, and forwarded to them. They at once decided to accept the design, and an order was given for its immediate execution in bronze, in accordance with the suggestions made by Mr. Ball. The original group was in Italian marble, and differs in some respects from the bronze now to be inaugurated. In the original, the kneeling slave is represented as perfectly passive, receiving the boon of freedom from the hand of the great liberator. But the artist justly changed this, to bring the presentation nearer to the historical fact, by making the emancipated slave an agent in his own deliverance. He is accordingly represented as exerting his own strength with strained muscles in breaking the chain which had bound him. A far greater degree of dignity and vigor, as well as of historical accuracy, is thus imparted. The original was also changed by introducing, instead of an ideal slave, the figure of a living man—the last slave in Missouri taken up under the fugitive-slave law, and who was, at one time, rescued from his captors, (who had transcended their legal authority,) under the orders of the provostmarshal of St. Louis. His name was Archer Alexander, and his condition of legal servitude continued until the emancipation act became the law of the land A photographic picture was sent to Mr. Ball, who has given both the face and manly bearing of the negro. The ideal group is thus converted into the literal truth of history without losing anything of its artistic conception or effect. The monument, in bronze, now inaugurated, was cast at the Royal foundry in Munich. An exact copy of the original group as just designed by Mr. Ball has been executed by him in pure white Italian marble for the Western Sanitary Commission, and will be permanently places, as "Freedom's Memorial," in some public building of St. Louis. Of the eminent sculptor, Thomas Ball, to whose genius and love of country the whole praise of the work is due, it is unnecessary to speak. His design was accepted, after three years' diligent seeking, solely on its merits. But it is a source of congratulation to all lovers of the American Union that this monument, in memory of the people's President and the freedmen's best friend, is from the hand of one who not only stands in the foremost rank of living artists, but who is himself proud to be called an American citizen.

The amount paid Mr. Ball for the bronze group was $17,000, every cent of which has been remitted to him. So you have a finished monument, all paid for The Government appropriated $3,000 for the foundation and pedestal upon which the bronze group stands, making the cost in all $20,000. I have thus given you a brief history of the Freedmen's Memorial Monument, and how and why the Western Sanitary Commission came to have anything to do with it. To them it has been a labor of love. In the execution of the work they have exercised their best judgment—done the best that could be done with the limited means they had to do it with. It remains with you and those who will follow to say how wisely or how well it has been done. Whatever of honor, whatever of glory belongs to this work, should be given to Charlotte Scott, the poor slave woman. Her offering of gratitude and love, like that of the widow's mite, will be treasured in Heaven when the gifts of those rich in this world's good shall have passed away and been forgotten.

Professor Langston when receiving the statue, said :

In behalf of our entire nation, in behalf especially of the donors of the fund with whose investment you and your associates of the "Western Sanitary Commission" have been charged, I tender to you, sir, and through you to the Commission, our sincere thanks for the prompt and wise performance of the trust and duty committed to your care. The finished and appropriate memory and honor of him who is to be forever known in the records of the world's history as the emancipator of the enslaved of our country. We unveil it to the gaze, the admiration of mankind.

Fellow-citizens, according to the arrangement of the order of exercises of this occasion, it has fallen to my lot to unveil this statue which we dedicate to-day; but we have with us the President of the United States, and it strikes me that it is altogether fit and proper to now ask him to take part in the exercises so far as to unveil this monument.

President Grant advanced to the front of the stand. A moment passed in the deepest silence, but when the President pulled the cord and the flags fell away, and the bronze figures were exposed to view, the people burst into spontaneous applause and exclamations of admiration. To the noisy manifestations of admiration were added the booming of cannon and the strains of the band, which struck up "Hail to the Chief."

Professor Langton then announced that, by request, an original poem had been contributed by a colored lady of New York, Miss Cordelia Ray, and it would be read by Mr. William E. Mathews, of Baltimore. Mr. Mathews stepped forward, amid applause, and read as follows:

To-day, O martyred chief, beneath the sun We would unveil they form ; to thee who won The applause of nations, for thy soul sincere, A living tribute we would offer here. 'Twas thine not worlds to conquer, but men's hearts; To change to balm the sting of slavery's darts; In lowly charity thy joy to find, And open "gates of mercy on mankind." And so they come, the freed, with grateful gift, From whose sad path the shadows thou didst lift.

Eleven years have rolled their seasons round Since its most tragic close thy life-work found. Yet through the vistas of the vanished days We see the still, responsive to our gaze As ever to thy country's solemn needs. Not regal coronets, but princely deeds, Were thy chaste diadem ; of truer worth Thy modest virtues than the gems of earth. Staunch, honest, fervent in the purest cause, Truth was thy guide; her mandates were thy laws.

Rare heroism; spirit purity; The storied Spartan's stern simplicity; Such moral strength as gleams like burnished gold

Amid the doubts of men of weaker mold Were thine. Called in thy country's sorest hour, When brother knew not brother—mad for power— To guide the helm through bloody deeps of war, While distant nations gazed in anxious awe, Unflinching in the task, thou didst fulfil Thy mighty mission with a deathless will.

[[end page]] [[start page]]

21

Born to a destiny the most sublime, Thou wert, O, Lincoln! in the march of time. God bad thee pause—and bid the oppressed go free— Most glorious boon giv'n to humanity. While slavery ruled the land, what deeds were done! What tragedies enacted 'neath the sun! Her page is blurred with records of defeat— Of lives heroic lived in silence—meet For the world's praise—of woe, despair, and tears— The speechless agony of weary years!

Thou utterest the word, and Freedom fair Rang her sweet bells on the clear winter air: She waved her magic wand, and lo! from far A long procession came! with many a scar. Their brows were winkled—in the bitter strife Full many had said their sad farewell to life. But on they hasten'd—free—their shackles gone— The aged, young—e'en infancy was borne To offer unto thee loud pœans of praise— Their happy tribute after saddest days.

A race set free! The deed brought joy and light! It bade calm justice from her sacred height, when faith, and hope, and courage slowly waned, Unfurl the stars and stripes, at last unstained! The nations rolled acclaim from sea to sea, And Heaven's vaults rang with Freedom's harmony. The angels 'mid the amaranths must have hush'd Their chanted cadence, as upward rush'd The hymn sublime; and as the echoes pealed God's ceaseless benison the action sealed.

As now we dedicate this shaft to thee, True champion ! in all humility And solemn earnestness, we would erect A monument invisible, undecked, Save by our allied purpose to be true To Freedom's loftiest precepts, so that through The fiercest contests we may walk secure, Fixed on foundations that may still endure When granite shall have crumbled to decay And generations passed from earth away.

Exalted patriot! illustrious chief!

Thy life's immortal work compels belief. To-day in radiance thy virtues shine, And how can we a fitting garland twine? Thy crown most glorious is a ransomed race! High on our country's scroll we fondly trace In lines of fadeless light that softly blend: Emancipator, hero, martyr, friend! While Freedom may her holy sceptre claim, The world shall echo with "Our Lincoln's" name.

[[back cover]] [[blank]]

Oration by Frederick Douglass Delivered on the Occasion of the Unveiling of the Freedmen's Monument, April 14, 1876 Transcribed and Reviewed by Digital Volunteers Extracted Apr-14-2018 10:32:03

Smithsonian Institution

Anacostia Community Museum Archives

The mission of the Smithsonian is the increase and diffusion of knowledge - shaping the future by preserving our heritage, discovering new knowledge, and sharing our resources with the world. Founded in 1846, the Smithsonian is the world's largest museum and research complex, consisting of 19 museums and galleries, the National Zoological Park, and nine research facilities.Become an active part of our mission through the Transcription Center. Together, we are discovering secrets hidden deep inside our collections that illuminate our history and our world.

Join us! The Transcription Center: https://transcription.si.edu On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/SmithsonianTranscriptionCenter On Twitter: @TranscribeSI

Connect with the Smithsonian Smithsonian Institution: www.si.edu On Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/Smithsonian On Twitter: @smithsonian