ARTISTIC DIRECTOR Eric Schaeffer
MANAGING DIRECTOR Maggie Boland

Dear Friend,

All of us at Signature are grateful to individuals who decide to leave a legacy by including Signature Theatre in their estate plan.

We are delighted to honor members of the Ever After Society who have arranged a planned gift, ensuring our long-term ability to reinvent classic musicals, develop new work, produce contemporary plays and reach the community through engaging educational and outreach opportunities.

By including Signature in your estate plan, you'll make a lasting impact on the Theatre as we strive to serve, enrich, inspire and impact our community.

Thank you for considering a planned gift to secure the future of Signature Theatre.

 - Special Ever After Society Appreciation Breakfast prior to the Open House
 - Up Next: The Making of a Theater Season—exclusive announcement of shows for the upcoming season
 - First Glimpse presentations—an in-depth preview of each mainstage show from the director about their vision for the production
 - A Closer Look—a private event with the director and members of the artistic team from one of the season's shows

About the Ever After Society

Members of the Ever After Society include Signature Theatre in their estate plan and are honored throughout their lives. Once your planned gift is arranged and documentation is submitted to Signature, you become a member of the Ever After Society and begin receiving benefits and privileges immediately.

Options for making planned gifts include, but are not limited to, simple bequests in a will or trust or within an estate plan as well as non-cash assets such as real property. You can even include a provision naming Signature as a beneficiary of your life insurance policy or retirement plan. To assist you, here is sample bequest language: I, [name], bequeath the sum of [amount or percentage of my residuary estate] to Signature Theatre, 4200 Campbell Ave, VA 22206 .

Thoughts from Ever After Society Members

“We have long believed that arts are very important to our society and culture. Given that belief, we think we must provide whatever amount of support we can to keep the arts, particularly theater, alive and healthy.”

– Carolyn Harris

“The Ever After Society provides a way for me to express my appreciation to Signature Theatre for the decades of theatrical excellence that I have enjoyed and to help ensure that future patrons will have the same experience. That is, after all, the purpose of estate planning, to thank those individuals and organizations that have been important in our lives.”

– Robert E. Hebda

Thank you for ensuring the future of Signature!
