

Behind The Scenes

See Charlotte County finally has a film local producer, R. Scott Stewart of R. Scott Stewart Productions. "The area has a lot of potential for film and television projects."

Carl Goldstein, director of "The Tale of Two Buds," said he had a "fantastic" experience shooting in the Englewood and Port Charlotte area. He said local businesses were "very, very giving, from Xeroxes to phones." Goldstein said he is working to set up five more independent films in the area. "I love it there," he said.

"Everyone's been incredibly cooperative with us," said Steve Klastorin, film publicist for Palmetto. "It's a beautiful community."
