Clyde's Restaurant

Seated underneath a brilliant display of playful glass jellyfish, I sipped a velvety butternut squash soup with lemongrass and cilantro cream. I gazed out floor-to-ceiling windows before taking a rich, nutty bite of perfectly cooked risotto. I had just enough room left for an intensely flavored chestnut soufflé with eggnog ice cream for dessert.

I was in culinary heaven. Not enjoying as much of the sights and tastes of 2941 restaurant as possible would have just been sinful. The restaurant, like so much of Fairfax County, Virginia, offers the amenities of a big city with the warmth of a charming town.

Dining

The upscale 2941 is hardly the only restaurant dishing up fabulous fare. Fairfax County serves up flavors from around the world.

Let your taste buds start their epicurean travels with Italian and swing into Dante Ristorante, located in a charming home originally built in 1889. Relax on the patio while dining on traditional Italian fare like lamb osso buco, risotto and homemade pasta. For hearty Alsatian-French cuisine, settle into

Reston Town Center

L'Auberge Chez Francois, a romantic spot that will leave you swooning.

Asian options are plentiful. The Japanese Tachibana presents creative sushi as well as tempura and teriyaki. Tune into Bangkok Blues for a side of live music with Thai classics, like the spicy Larb Gai and Drunken Noodles.

Chef Geoff's at Tysons Corner also blends fantastic continental fare with a cozy ambiance, patio dining and an enormous bar offering 30 beers on tap.

After an around-the-world culinary trip, it's time for American, and there are options for every budget. Inox is an indulgence of modern fare worth a splurge from start (sunchoke soup, lobster with short-rib ravioli) to finish (tangerine vacherin, chocolate bread pudding). For another great meal, head to Bazins on Church for the flat-iron steak served with savory flavored mashed potatoes. Just make sure to leave room for the chocolate hazelnut crunch bars.

When only a mouth-watering burger will do, head to Elevation Burger, which uses organic meat and cooks its fries in olive oil.
