GREAT PLACES TO DINE IN DOWNTOWN FREDERICK

Bella trattoria 129 N. Market Street, Frederick
301-694-3015 | bellafrederick.com

Located in the heart of downtown, Bella trattoria features authentic, Northern Italian Cuisine. Our menu offers original, classically prepared, traditional recipes from the Emilia-Romagna Region of Italy! We utilize the highest quality, seasonally fresh ingredients served family style in a comfortable, home-like setting.

221B N. East Street, Frederick
301-378-9536 | pistarro.com

Slightly removed from the hustle and bustle but still within walking distance of everything downtown has to offer, Pistarro's is the place to gather with close friends and family and share a slice of perfectly crisp, charred crust Neapolitan wood-fired pizza. The contemporary bar plays host to happy hour 7 days a week. Free parking available.

44 N. Market Street, Frederick
301-698-8922 | isabellas-tavern.com

Bringing an authentic Spanish taverna and tapas experience with high praise from the locals, Isabella's is located in one of Frederick's finest examples of brownstone architecture. Cozy up to the fireplace or bar for a killer cocktail or glass of wine from the exclusive selection. Voted Frederick's Best Ethnic Restaurant.

AYŞE MEZE LOUNGE

6 N. East Street, Frederick
240-651-5155 | aysemeze.com

Ayşe's small-plate style Greek, Turkish, and Lebanese cuisine is abundant in flavor. Housed in the Everedy Bottling Factory warehouse, Ayşe is a favorite for both lunch and dinner and brunch is on a whole other level. Accommodating private and corporate events of up to 200 guests, the beautiful patio makes for a unique wedding venue. Voted one of Washingtonian's Top 100 restaurants. Free parking available.

124 N. Market Street, Frederick
301-631-0089 | brewers-alley.com

With its long rich history of beer making on the premise and the newly added rooftop bar, Brewer's Alley is leading the culinary experience in downtown Frederick. Pair the Fish of the day with a pint of Kolsch. It's delicate hop aromas will make you very happy. Ample deck parking available.

BUCKET LIST

The list of things to do in Frederick is never ending, but how should you spend your time if you only have a few days to explore? You haven't had the full Frederick County experience until you've done these things.

Share your progress using #FrederickBucketList

WALK THE ENTIRE LENGTH OF CARROLL CREEK PARK

Created as a flood control project, this picturesque body of water is lined with colorful lilies in the summer and illuminated boats in the winter. The mile and a half long stretch includes pedestrian paths, water features, an amphitheater and stunning public art. Start in Baker Park and end up at the Frederick Fairgrounds to ensure you don't miss anything!

CLIMB CHIMNEY ROCK

The hike is somewhat strenuous, but the view from 1,419 feet over Catoclin Mountain Park is worth every step. You haven't truly seen Frederick until you've looked down on its tallest trees.

DANCE IN FRONT OF HUNDREDS OF STRANGERS

Friends and families gather at the Baker Park Amphitheater every summer Sunday. Bands play everything from Beatles music to reggae. Put on your dancing shoes and let the music move you to the front of the crowd.

^ MAKE YOUR OWN FLOAT AT THE POP SHOP

This might be the best date night idea ever. Over 400 vintage sodas are available at this retro shop and any can be paired with your choice of creamery ice cream. Impress someone special with this fun twist on the root beer float.

> SHAKE YOUR KEYS

What's the best way to cheer on the home team at a Frederick Keys baseball game? By shaking your car keys of course! Kids and adults alike have embraced this tradition.

EXPLORE AN ENGINEERING MARVEL

If the C&O Canal itself doesn't knock your socks off, the 7 stone arches towering over it sure will. The Monocacy Aqueduct dates back to 1828 and is just as stunning today as it was when it was built. Float under the arches or walk along the top.

POSE WITH THE "EDGE OF GRAVITY" MURAL

This is far from local artist William Cochran's only Downtown Frederick piece, but it might be the most fun to take a picture with! You might do a double take when you see this incredibly realistic mural of a figure floating above the ground. Mimic his iconic pose and snap a photo of yourself being an "angel in the architecture."

TASTE WEIRD BEER AT FLYING DOG BREWERY

With 20 varieties on tap, you are bound to find something unusual at Flying Dog Brewery's state-of-the-art brewing facility. Special batch and limited release beers that include some unexpected ingredients, like sunflowers or salt and pepper, are often only available here.

CENTURIES of HISTORY

SINCE ITS FOUNDING IN 1748,

Frederick County has played a role in every chapter of the American story. Picturesque historic buildings, one-of-a-kind museums and engaging walking tours throughout Frederick County bring centuries of history to life.

SPIRITUAL JOURNEYS

Our rich religious heritage is evident at Emmitsburg's National Shrine of St. Elizabeth Ann Seton, which tells the story of the first American-born saint. Nearby, at Mount Saint Mary's University, is the National Shrine Grotto of Lourdes, which features one of the oldest American replicas of France's Lourdes Shrine.

HISTORIC FRAMEWORK

Eighteenth century structures dot the county, including Catoctin Furnace, a 1770s industrial site at Cunningham Falls State Park. This iron furnace has its own role in the nation's history, but also in that of the adjacent company village, the State Park, Catoctin Mountain National Park and the nearby town of Thurmont. In Frederick, Schifferstadt Architectural Museum is a fine example of an early German colonial home.

TRANSPORTATION HERITAGE

Frederick County stands at the crossroads of two National Scenic Byways. The "Historic National Road, the road that built the Nation," crosses the county from east to west. The "Journey Through Hallowed Ground" travels along U.S. 15 from north to south.

Brunswick
Heritage
(Railroad)
Museum

Early transportation advances are evident throughout Frederick County. The nation's earliest railroad, the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, and the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal first converge and compete for passage westward through the mountains. Brunswick's Heritage (Railroad)

Museum tells the story of both modes of transport and how they alternately shaped the town. Today, hikers and cyclists travel the towpath and cross the aqueducts at the C&O Canal National Historical Park. You can even stay the night in a rustic canal lockkeeper's house.

National Museum of Civil War
Medicine

BETWEEN NORTH & SOUTH

At the heart of America's Civil War, Frederick County's location between the Potomac River and the Mason-Dixon Line meant it was alternately occupied by troops from both sides, and the site of important battles.

Confederate Gen. Robert E. Lee's first invasion of the "North" in September 1862 led to the battles of South Mountain and Antietam. At South Mountain State Battlefield, learn how Lee held back Union Gen. George McClellan's army and regrouped his own forces at nearby Sharpsburg, where the Battle of Antietam was fought three days later.

Civil War Trails markers tell how in June 1863, the Union Army of the Potomac strategized here in the days before the nearby Battle of Gettysburg.

THE "BATTLE THAT SAVED WASHINGTON"

At Monocacy National Battlefield, find out about the July 1864 "Battle That Saved Washington," part of the final Confederate effort to move the war north. Although Union General Lew Wallace's 5,800 Union soldiers were defeated by General Jubal Early's 18,000 troops, the encounter afforded enough time to militarily reinforce the nation's capital.

ONE VAST HOSPITAL

Immediately following the nearby battles, Frederick was transformed into "one vast hospital" with churches and large buildings used as makeshift infirmaries, where thousands of soldiers were treated. The story of the city's compassion and great medical progress is depicted at the National Museum of Civil War Medicine in Downtown Frederick.

ARTIST PROFILE: WILLIAM COCHRAN

"Frederick is a very vital arts center. And it's fascinating today to have such a historic city with such a contemporary arts scene."

KNOWN FOR:

Many of Cochran's works are done in the trompe l'oeil style. In French, the term means "deceive the eye," which is exactly what Cochran does by using realistic imagery to create the illusion of 3D objects and people.

SEE HIS WORK INCLUDING:

Community Bridge Mural, The Dreaming, Egress, Earthbound, Edge of Gravity

CASUAL SHOPPERS AND ART COLLECTORS ADORE FREDERICK COUNTY FOR ITS WIDE VARIETY OF GALLERIES.

SELF-GUIDED WALKING TOUR 1.3 miles

1 FREDERICK VISITOR CENTER

151 S. East Street

The Frederick Visitor Center is housed in a former canning warehouse, part of the surrounding industrial neighborhood where the canning industry thrived a century ago. Today, the Frederick Visitor Center greets more than 24,000 visitors each year.

Exit the front and turn left on S. East Street. Turn left on Commerce Street. Pass the Frederick Visitor Center and the Historic Preservation Training Center on your left. Turn right on S. Carroll Street. The Delaplaine Arts Center is on your right.

2 THE DELAPLAINE ARTS CENTER

40 S. Carroll Street

The historic 1907 Mountain City Mill was originally used to mill flour and later to distill whiskey. Today, this restored mill building and a modern addition house a non-profit education center that features art classes, exhibitions, special events and a gift shop.

Continue on S. Carroll Street, and use one of the ramps to descend to creek level and view the Community Bridge Mural.

3 CARROLL CREEK PARK

This mile-long creekside park—part of a flood-control project started in the 1980s—features walkways, gardens, bridges and public art. Local artist William Cochran and his helpers transformed a plain concrete bridge on S. Carroll Street into the Community Bridge, a “trompe l’oeil” illusion of stone and ivy.

Continue west along Carroll Creek Park. The William O. Lee Unity Bridge is ahead.

Among other bridges along Carroll Creek Park is a suspension bridge named for William O. Lee. During his 75 years, he served as a school administrator, mentor, historian, City of Frederick alderman and the first chairperson of the African American Resources-Cultural and Heritage Society.

4 NATIONAL MUSEUM OF CIVIL WAR MEDICINE

48 E. Patrick Street

This engaging museum tells the medical story of the Civil War, the devotion and courage of the caregivers and patients on both sides. It is housed in a building where undertakers built caskets and embalmed dead soldiers during the Civil War.

Continue on Patrick Street past Market Street. The Weinberg Center for the Arts is on your left.

Baker Park
Carillon

5 WEINBERG CENTER FOR THE ARTS

20 W. Patrick Street

Opened in 1926 as the Tivoli Theatre to show silent movies, this movie palace was severely flood-damaged in 1976. Restored and reopened in 1978 as the Weinberg Center for the Arts—named for the family who donated it to the city—it now hosts stage performances year-round.

Continue on Patrick Street, crossing over Court Street. The John Hanson House is on your left.

6 JOHN HANSON HOUSE AND NATIONAL MEMORIAL STATUE

108 W. Patrick Street

This is the site of John Hanson's home and a statue honoring him. In 1781, when the original 13 states were governed by the Articles of Confederation, Congress elected Fredericktonian John Hanson "President of the United States in Congress Assembled." He served a one-year term.

Continue on Patrick Street. The Barbara Fritchie House is on your left.

7 BARBARA FRITCHIE HOUSE

154 W. Patrick Street

This replica is located where Barbara Fritchie lived most of her 96 years. She was immortalized in a popular poem written in 1863 by John Greenleaf Whittier titled "The Ballad of Barbara Fritchie." The poem is displayed on a Civil War Trail marker by the house.

Cross Patrick Street to walk on paved path along Carroll Creek. Make a right on Bentz Street. Baker Park is on your left.

8 BAKER PARK BANDSHELL AND THE BELL CARILLON

Bentz Street and W. Church Street

The Joseph Dill Baker Carillon stands within Baker Park's 44 acres. Erected in 1941 to honor the man who gave the land to create this park in 1927, the 70-foot-high tower holds 49 bells that ring automatically every 15 minutes. Carilloners performs recitals the 1st and 3rd Sunday of each month.

Continue on Bentz Street to Second Street. Memorial Park is across the intersection.

9 MEMORIAL PARK

Corner of Bentz Street and W. Second Street

Memorial Park is built on the former graveyard established by the Evangelical Reformed Church in 1775. In 1917, the church reinterred the graves to Mt. Olivet Cemetery and donated this land for a memorial park. The World War I Memorial was dedicated in 1924 and the park later added memorials to WWII, Korea, Vietnam and Gulf War veterans.

Make a right on Second Street. Calvary United Methodist Church is on the corner.

10 CALVARY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

131 W. Second Street

Calvary United Methodist Church, sometimes called "the little cathedral of Western Maryland," was built in 1929 on land donated by Joseph Dill Baker. The current church building has a 90-foot bell tower that houses eight peal bells—one of only 40 in North America.

Continue down Second Street to Record Street. The Presbyterian Church is across the street.

11 FREDERICK PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

115 W. Second Street

Founded in 1780, the Frederick Presbyterian Church built the white brick building across Second Street in 1825. During the Civil War, Confederate General Stonewall Jackson visited here, and the church housed wounded soldiers after the Battles of South Mountain and Antietam in September 1862.

Make a right on Record Street. The Ramsey House is on your right.

12 RAMSEY HOUSE

119 Record Street

Abraham Lincoln came to this house on October 4, 1862, while returning from his inspection of Antietam Battlefield. Here he visited Union General George Hartsuff, who was recuperating from wounds he suffered at Antietam.

Continue on Record Street. Make a left on Church Street. The Tyler Spite House is on your right.

13 TYLER SPITE HOUSE

112 W. Church Street

In 1814, Dr. John Tyler heard that city officials wanted to extend Record Street through his lot here. According to legend, he did not like this proposal, so he started construction of this residence to prevent Record Street's extension and "spite" city hall.

Continue on Church Street. City Hall is on your left.

14 CITY HALL

101 N. Court Street

At this site in 1765, Frederick citizens burned effigies of British officials in protest of the Stamp Act. The present building was constructed as the Frederick County Courthouse in 1862, after the previous courthouse burned in 1861. This building became Frederick's City Hall in 1985 when a new county courthouse was built nearby.

Continue on Church Street. All Saints' Episcopal Church is on your right.

15 ALL SAINTS' EPISCOPAL CHURCH

106 W. Church Street

All Saints' Parish, founded in 1742, has had many noteworthy parishioners, including Francis Scott Key. This Gothic structure is the parish's third church, designed by noted architect Richard Upjohn and completed in 1855.

Continue on Church St. and cross N. Court Street. Evangelical Reformed Church is on your left.

16 EVANGELICAL REFORMED CHURCH

11 W. Church Street

This structure was built in 1848 when the congregation outgrew the stone chapel across the street. Civil War heroine Barbara Fritchie attended this church, and General Stonewall Jackson worshipped here on September 7, 1862.

Continue on Church Street. Trinity Chapel is on your right.

17 TRINITY CHAPEL

10 W. Church Street

This is the site of the first German Reformed Church in Frederick. The stone tower is all that remains of the original church built in 1763. Its 1807 steeple is the oldest of Frederick's "clustered spires," and it holds the town clock. The original clockworks are in the Smithsonian Institution.

Continue on Church Street. "Earthbound" is on your right.

"Earthbound"

18 "EARTHBOUND"

SW corner of W. Church and N. Market Street

Painted in the "trompe l'oeil" style (French for "trick the eye"), "Earthbound" is one of three "Angels in the Architecture" murals by local artist William Cochran. Frederick has more than 30 pieces of public art downtown.

Continue on Church Street, crossing over Market. Kemp Hall is on your right.

19 KEMP HALL

4 E. Church Street

Beginning in April 1861, the Maryland Legislature met here in a special session to decide if Maryland should secede from the Union. In September, delegates with Southern sympathies were arrested by Federal troops, ending any further debate.

Continue on Church Street. Winchester Hall is on your right.

20 WINCHESTER HALL

12 E. Church Street

Erected in 1843 by Connecticut educator Hiram Winchester, this stately structure originally housed the Frederick Female Seminary, predecessor to Hood College. Winchester Hall now houses Frederick County government offices.

Continue on Church Street. Evangelical Lutheran Church is on your left.

21 EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN CHURCH

35 E. Church Street

Organized nearby in 1738, the first Evangelical Lutheran Church in Frederick was built of logs in 1746. In 1762, it was replaced by a stone structure. The present church, completed in 1854, served as a hospital during the Civil War.

Continue on Church Street. Museum of Frederick County is on your right.

22 MUSEUM OF FREDERICK COUNTY HISTORY

24 E. Church Street

Built in 1824 as a residence, this structure was later used as an orphanage before Heritage Frederick purchased it in 1959 as a cultural center. It is open seasonally to the public for exhibits and programs as the Museum of Frederick County History.

Continue on Church Street. Trail Mansion is on your right.

23 TRAIL MANSION

106 E. Church Street

Currently a funeral home, this mansion was constructed by Col. Charles Trail in 1852. The stepping stone along the street in front of the wrought iron gate was used by women getting in and out of carriages.

Continue on Church Street. Turn left on Chapel Alley. St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church is on your left and Visitation Academy is on your right.

24 ST. JOHN THE EVANGELIST ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH AND FORMER VISITATION ACADEMY

116 and 200 E. Second Street

By the mid-1800s, Jesuits had a campus of buildings here including the Novitiate, St. John's Literary Institution, St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church (on left, finished in 1836) and Visitation Academy (on right, founded in 1846).

25 SHAB ROW/ EVEREDY SQUARE

N. East Street

Today's shops on Shab Row once housed tinkers, wheelwrights and others who serviced stagecoaches traveling on the National Road in the 1800s. Across the street, Everedy Square's shops occupy the former Everedy Company buildings that manufactured bottle cappers and other kitchenware for more than 50 years.

Continue on East Street to return to the Visitor Center.

OTHER SITES WITHIN WALKING DISTANCE

A ASBURY UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

W. All Saints & Court Streets

Frederick's African American community worshipped down the street at the "Old Hill Church" since 1818, acquired this lot in 1912 and completed this building in 1921.

B ALL SAINTS STREET NEIGHBORHOOD

E. and W. All Saints Street

By the early 1900s, All Saints Street had become the center of commerce and entertainment for Frederick County's African American community.

C MARY QUANTRELL SCHOOLHOUSE

220 W. Patrick Street

On September 10, 1862, schoolteacher Mary Quantrell waved her Union flag as Confederate soldiers marched by. A wayside exhibit here tells her story.

D ROGER BROOKE TANEY HOUSE

121 S. Bentz Street

This house was once owned by attorney Roger Brooke Taney, who later became fifth Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

E MOUNT OLIVET CEMETERY

515 S. Market Street

Established in 1854, this cemetery features the gravesite and monument of Francis Scott Key, and is the final resting place for Barbara Fritchie, Thomas Johnson, the first Governor of Maryland, and more than 300 Civil War Confederates.

F BJORLEE MUSEUM AND FREDERICK TOWN (HESSIAN) BARRACKS

101 Clarke Place

Located on the Maryland School for the Deaf campus, the BJORLEE Museum contains school-related artifacts. A Revolutionary War-era stone barracks still stands adjacent to the museum.

G SCHIFFERSTADT ARCHITECTURAL MUSEUM

1110 Rosemont Avenue

Built in the 1750s by Joseph Bruner, Schifferstadt is the oldest building in the City of Frederick.

H CENTENNIAL MEMORIAL UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

8 W. 2nd Street

Constructed in 1900 by its congregation, which was founded in 1873, this church is distinguished by its Victorian gothic design, stained glass windows and Möller organ.

I GRACE UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST

25 E. 2nd Street

This Victorian gothic edifice, constructed in 1903, includes art glass windows created by Tiffany's general foreman.

J LABORING SONS MEMORIAL GROUND

5th Street and Chapel Alley

In 1837, the Beneficial Society of Laboring Sons was established to provide proper burials for free blacks and others. They created a cemetery here in 1851.
