Cannonball Creek Brewing Company was founded in January of 2013 by Jason Stengl and Brian Hutchinson. They take pride in their craft and exist because crafting beer is their passion. They do not stick to any particular style. They brew beers that inspire them. This keeps it fun for them, and they believe that translates to better beer for you. In the short amount of time that they have been open, they have taken home one gold medal and two silver medals from the Great American Beer Festival, as well as a bronze medal from World Beer Cup! www.cannonballcreekbrewing.com

Golden City Brewery was founded in 1993 by two geologists, Charlie & Janine Sturdavant. They filled the old machine shop behind their historic Golden home with used dairy tanks and Charlie began brewing German-style ales. The brewery is still in the machine shop, but a second level was added inside. All of the old equipment has been replaced with real beer fermenters and a slightly used gas-fired kettle. The brewery produces those now legendary red & pale ales, in addition to a few other brews. gcbrewery.com

Holiday Brewing Co. is the passion project of Karen Hertz, a craft beer enthusiast and lover of living life to the fullest. Karen survived melanoma and thyroid cancer in her early 30's, leading to a treatment plan including a gluten-free diet. Years of taste testing GF beers, research on gluten-free ingredients and an understanding of processes other brewing companies utilized led her to believe there was a better way. And so, the idea of Holiday Brewing Company was born: a company dedicated to creating excellent tasting gluten-free beer. www.holidaybrewing.com

Mountain Toad opened in Golden in 2013. The one-room industrial venue is a converted machine shop. On a nice night, get some fresh air by grabbing a seat at a picnic table in the outdoor beer garden—dogs allowed, water bowls included! They offer a broad range of styles, including IPA, pale ales, Irish reds and stouts, German kolsch and dunkelweissen as well as a good selection of Belgian wit and saisons. Some of their beer is brewed to be representative of the style, while others are their own interpretations, often using some interesting ingredients. New Terrain Brewing Company is a brewery crafting exploratory beers. Some of their beers are brewed following tradition, while others are manifestations of their curiosity to try things differently. All of their beers reflect the relentless joy that craft brewing brings them, with a precision and passion behind each recipe. Just like them, their beers are constantly evolving. It is a culture of curious & distinct individuals dedicated to the science & craft of small batch, high quality, creative beers. Their motto is not "this is how it is done" but rather, "what if we try this way?" It inspires them to create, to innovate, and to explore new terrain. newterrainbrewing.com
