- 2. HAWAIIAN ISLANDS HUMPBACK WHALE NATIONAL MARINE SANCTUARY
Brilliantly displayed with murals of undersea life, the center offers educational displays, artifacts, reading and video materials on the Humpback Whales and their habitat. Lectures and free educational materials. Open Monday thru Friday, from 10:00am-3:00pm and Saturday from 10:00am-1:00pm. For additional information, please call (808) 879-2818 or (800) 831-4888 or visit <http://hawaiihumpbackwhale.noaa.gov/about/welcome.html>.
- 3. HALE PAAHAO
Lahaina's prison from the whaling days of the 1800's. Hale Paahao was built from coral stone from a demolished waterfront fort. It was quite crowded in its time and still has the wall shackles and ball and chain restraints for you to see. Open from 10:00am to 4:00pm Monday thru Saturday. For additional information, please call (808) 667-1985 or visit <http://www.lahainarestoration.org/paahao.html>.
- 4. HALE PAI
The printing house of Lahainaluna Seminary, founded in 1831, and was restored in 1980. A free exhibit features a replica of the original rampage press and facsimiles of early printings. Open Monday thru Friday from 10:00am to 4:00pm. For additional information, please call (808) 667-1985 or visit <http://www.lahainarestoration.org/halepai.html>.
- 5. ART NIGHT IN LAHAINA
Friday nights from 6:00-9:00pm. Browse in the galleries, meet the artist and leisurely view the art. There are some world class pieces to be seen, do some window-shopping. Only free if you don't buy anything! Many of the galleries offer light refreshment and free entertainment. Good way to see the character of Lahaina, plus it's cooler at night.
- 6. SNORKELING
Not all snorkeling is done by boat. You can easily rent gear for next to nothing. Drive to either Honolua Bay on the upper west side or to La Perouse Bay on the south side. Please do your part to protect these precious areas. Pack all trash out with you, do not stand on the coral and never take any thing out of the preserve unless you or someone else brought it in.

7. WHALE WATCHING
During the humpback whale season (December to May) you can see them just about every where you look. Some of the better viewing locations from shore would be at either the Scenic Lookout along the Honoapilani Highway or up on the cliffs over looking Honolua Bay. During late February and March, sometimes you can free dive down off the beach and even hear them singing.
8. THE ROAD TO HANA
It is not so much the destination that counts on this trip as it is the scenery on the way. The east side of Maui is what you really picture Hawaii to be. Pack a big lunch; stop at as many waterfalls and pools as you can. The many flower and fruit stands, Wainapanapa State Park and Oheo gulch are only some of the many highlights.
9. MAKENA BEACH
One of the largest and prettiest beaches on the island. This is the last major undeveloped beaches on the south side of the island. This beach is so precious that the county of Maui has purchased the surrounding land to keep it undeveloped. Locals and visitor enjoy the soft white sand and crystal blue waters.
10. HOOKIPA BEACH
If your timing is right you will get to see some the world's top professional windsurfers in action. Considered to be the windsurfing capital of the world, Hookipa Beach Park attracts windsurfers from around the world to challenge the wind and waves. These guys and girls fly at speeds up to 30 mph and jump distances of over 30 feet.
11. MAUI ARTS AND CULTURAL CENTER

12. LAHAINA ACTIVITIES CENTER
900 Front St., Lahaina - Free hula lessons, craft making, hula shows, replica of a Hawaiian Village and general cultural tours.
13. LAHAINA WHALING CENTER
Lahaina, at Crazy Shirts. Lawless days and ways from the whaling era revived through artifacts.
14. HALEKII – PIHANA HEIAU
In Wailuku at end of Hea Place off Kuhio Place from Waiehu Beach Road (Highway 340). 10 acres protecting the remains of two historical and cultural heiau (temples) used as war temples. Good views of central Maui.
15. BANYAN TREE PARK
Lahaina at the beginning of Front Street. You've never seen a tree like this before. It is so big it shades almost an entire acre of land.
