From its natural beauty to extraordinary meeting spaces – every place in Monterey County spurs innovation.

MEET IN THE MOMENT

Monterey County has a huge variety of venues for all budgets and service needs. From traditional meeting spaces like the newly renovated Monterey Conference Center to unique gathering spots at The Barns at Cooper Molera and Monterey Bay Aquarium, this destination has it all. And between meetings and conferences, take some time to be a tourist and explore.

Most of our go-to venues are located within walking distance of beaches, delicious restaurants, hiking trails and so much more!

A LEGACY OF INNOVATION

Since California's first constitution was written in Monterey in 1849, Monterey County has always been a destination for great minds to come together and gain perspective. It has been a retreat and meeting place for scientists, thinkers, artists, musicians, inventors, business barons and venture capitalists alike. Follow in the footsteps of Steve Jobs, John Steinbeck, Jimi Hendrix and many others when you meet here.

Create your own Path of History tour and peruse some of the area's oldest landmarks, such as California's First Theatre and Royal Presidio Chapel. The area is also home to three of California's iconic missions, including Mission San Carlos Borromeo in Carmel.

NATURALLY INSPIRING

Where land meets sea is great for your next meeting. Monterey County's fresh air leads to fresh thinking. Its open space inspires bigger ideas, and the consistently mild weather makes it a great place to host your business getaway year-round. And when you take a minute to get back to nature — on the trail, by the ocean or deep in the redwoods — there's no telling what will transpire.

Hop on a whale watching tour and catch a rare glimpse of one of the largest mammals on earth, check out 150-year-old redwoods at Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park and sample wines from vineyards planted by Franciscan Friars over 200 years ago.
