Sock Monkey ●●●●●●●●●●
 Rockford and Sock Monkeys go together like peanut butter and jelly. This Rockford icon got its start at the Nelson Knitting Company when the company's red-heeled socks were turned into monkeys during the depression. Today, Midway Village Museum hosts the annual Sock Monkey Madness Festival and is the unofficial home of the Sock Monkey.

Cheap Trick
 The world-famous band that has called Rockford home since the beginning continues to rock across the world. Check their schedule and you may luck out and get to see them play a hometown show.

Ski Broncs ●●●●●●●●●●
 The Pride of Loves Park is none other than the Ski Broncs Water Ski Show Team. The ski shows delight families throughout the summer at Shorewood Park on the Rock River every Wednesday and Friday night. Admission is free.

Fred VanVleet ●●●●●●●●●●
 For years as a youth, Fred VanVleet raised his game on the hardwood courts of Rockford - one 5:45 a.m. workout at a time. His basketball career began at Auburn High School in Rockford. VanVleet was recognized in college at Wichita State where he led the Shockers to three MVC titles. He now plays in the NBA for the Toronto Raptors and is the Sports Brand Ambassador for the RACVB.

Rockford Peaches ●●●●●●●●●●
 During the existence of the All American Girls Professional Baseball League, 1944-1954, the city of Rockford supported the Rockford Peaches. This team was featured in the 1992 movie A League of Their Own. The Peaches originally played at Beyer Stadium in Rockford, now home to the new Rockford women's baseball team, the Starfires.

Phantom Regiment
 Beloved as Rockford's roving ambassadors, The Phantom Regiment Drum & Bugle Corps tours the country every year and plays to packed crowds in the Rockford region. They earned recognition as the Drum Corps International World Champions in 1996 and 2008.
