

TopCity Summer Treasure Hunt

Found it!
Selfie!

- The creatures may be fake, but the fun never is. Climb on over to see the larger than life wildlife!
- "Drive-in" to this wonder of Kansas and eat like Guy Fieri.
- This is the only National Historic Site dedicated to a Supreme Court case. You can visit it for free.
- The owner of this eatery knew that Topeka was the place to be. They even have a "Pong Bar"!
- A mere 296 steps takes you to the top of Topeka.
- Flavors have been "popping" at this local business since 2013!
- The nation's 49 other houses like this are bigger, but ours has the largest public yard.
- This museum was home to the only U.S. Vice President who was Native American.
- Find the plane Maverick and Goose flew at this museum.
- Walk down "Main Street" to discover the place where the Free State Constitution was ratified in 1855.
- There are six of us here, cast in bronze, so take a photo with one from dusk to dawn.
- This daredevil's lucky rabbit's foot made him as famous as his jumps.
- If walls could talk, these would have a lot to say. They tell the colorful stories of our community.
- You'll find the Kansas Hall of Fame here.
- Find the only sweet and nutty Hill in Topeka. Sure to satisfy your chocolate desires.
- When the flag drops, records are broken here.
- This child-approved location has been helping kids discover, learn, and create since 2011!
- Here you can find the very first photo of a Kansas tornado, a Cheyenne tipi, and 150 other things we love about Kansas.

Found it!
Selfie!

- Expedia says this place is the best in Kansas.
- You'll find building bricks of all sizes in the basement "Lab" of this museum.
- Radar, Doc and Hawkeye won't be there, but you can check out the set here.
- You'll find a Viking, Topeka's best cheese and some pink in this booming district.
- You can get a "hot bath" for 10 cents and a Green River here.
- Fuse it yourself at this underground shop, or choose a "Prairie" creation to take home.
- It's not a train station, but this early Topeka home was a stop on the Underground Railroad.
- If you're nuts for sweets but can't eat nuts, this bakery has a recipe for you.
- It's not in a blue box, but you can admire Louis' fancy glass here.
- The oldest place in Topeka where you can "rest" ... in peace.
- This former school is the nation's oldest continually running dinner theatre.
- We're red or blue and can ride all over!
- Taylor Swift said "Shake it off," this ____ of the year wants you to "Check it out."
- Lions, tigers and bears are among more than 200 residents here.
- You can jump for joy when you arrive. Don't forget to eat before you leave!
- On the east side of town, you'll find trucks that stand.
- You can find me around town, but my favorite place is 17th Street, where students tell me I have a nice "bod".
- This restaurant shares its name with a founder of Topeka.