Local Craft Beer Events

Thanks for picking up the Wilmington Ale Trail Magazine, and welcome to the Port City!

From hopheads to lager lovers and every beer drinker in between, Wilmington, NC has all palates covered. Peruse these pages to discover more about our local breweries and bottle shops, as well as the region's most craft-savvy restaurants and bars.

This go-to guide is a visitor's one-stop shop for Wilmington's local beer scene, including helpful neighborhood maps and detailed info on all of our breweries and bottle shops. Visit WilmingtonAleTrail.com for more in-depth stories on our brewing community—and brewery tour information! You have uncovered the best way to navigate this town with bountiful varieties of beer.

After flipping through the Wilmington Ale Trail Magazine, you will be craving the nearest craft brew. We hope you find the breweries, bottle shops, and beer hot spots as welcoming and lively as our locals do. Enjoy your brewcation at the beach!

ON OUR COVER

Thank you to photographer Brian Lantz for our cover image. For more info about his photography services, please visit his website: BrianLantzPhotography.com.

Discover the Breweries

Wilmington has a thriving brewery community that locals and tourists alike can enjoy. Between our bustling yet quaint downtown along the Cape Fear River and our beautiful beaches on the Atlantic shore, there is plenty to see and do. Even better, Wilmington is the number one spot on the coast of North Carolina to enjoy local craft beer.

Southeastern North Carolina is home to over a dozen craft breweries. You will find that each creates great craft beer with its own unique spin—whether it is a focus on supporting the natural environment, a dedication to the science of brewing, or going all in to make beer with interesting and fun ingredients. You can find these local beers in neighborhood bottle shops and in many restaurants—but we suggest you take a brewery tour.

Tours are the best way to discover Wilmington's breweries. You can chat with the brewmaster to gain exclusive access behind-the-scenes and experience the brewing process in action. Many of the local breweries offer tours, or you can sign up with Port City Brew Bus for the most comprehensive way to experience Wilmington's beer scene!

Bill's Front Porch Pub and Brewery

Bill's Front Porch, the home of Bill's Brewing Company, is one of Wilmington's hidden gems located in Midtown off of Market St. This totally renovated building provides a very unique experience with recycled wood making up the entire interior creating a warm, cabin-like feel. The brewpub carries a very large selection of handcrafted beers that are brewed on the exposed seven barrel, steam-fired system. There are award-winning beers to satisfy almost any palate such as crisp lagers, refreshing seasonal Belgian ales, and of course, juicy IPA's. The food menu is comprised of many options that include beer in the recipes and everything is made fresh from scratch including weekly dinner specials and homemade desserts. Bill's famous fried chicken has become a staple in the Port City and can also be taken home by the bucket with a crowler of your favorite ale. Bill's is a fun, family atmosphere with six flat screens and a projector to watch the big game on and a monthly lineup of the best local artists performing on stage.

Flytrap Brewing

In the Brooklyn Arts District of Historic Downtown Wilmington, an old office building has been transformed into an excellent microbrewery. Flytrap Brewing, named after North Carolina's official carnivorous plant, the Venus Flytrap, is unique in all the right ways.

Specializing in American and Belgian-style ales, Flytrap invites you to sample their brews in a flight or to enjoy a full pour. Its walls are lined with eye-catching art from local artists, and you can often find a tasty food truck parked outside. On Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights, you can watch some of the area's best up-and-coming musicians perform as you relax with your favorite microbrew.

Edward Teach Brewery

Set in a 111-year-old historic firehouse on North 4th Street in Downtown Wilmington's Brooklyn Arts District, Edward Teach Brewing features a classy, almost subtle nod to the most infamous pirate of all: Blackbeard, who 300 years ago was a regular on the shores and shallows of North Carolina's coast (and whose proper name was Edward Teach).

With a magnificent, 2-story ship-shaped bar (literally) built in, and Head Brewer Erik Peterson at the helm, Edward Teach currently features eight craft beer styles including Queen Anne's Blonde Ale, the highly-rated Cutlass German Lager, Scallywag Session IPA, Cannon Fire Amber Ale, Black Spot Lager, and Pegleg Porter, among other masterfully-crafted brews. On-site brewery tours are coming in the late Spring or Early Summer 2018.

Mad Mole Brewing

Mad Mole Brewing is Wilmington's first solar powered brewery! Spun off from a local software company, Mad Mole combines technology and art to brew better beer. Take a tour to see what happens when computer programmers build a brewery.

The first thing you notice when you walk in is the rack of large Mueller serving tanks shipped from Holland. Taps are mounted directly to the tanks for the freshest beer possible. Attached thermometers confirm it will be cold. The tasting room is cozy and literally makes you feel like you are part of the brewing process. A large, glass garage door opens to a beer garden making for a great inside-outside atmosphere. Dogs are welcome. Conveniently located off Oleander Drive near Bradley Creek, this is the perfect place to pick up beer "brewed by the sun" when you are on the way to the beach.

IRONCLAD BREWERY AMENITIES:

- Over 11,000 square feet of space.
- Comfortably holds over 400 people.
- Two floors with large bars on each floor.
- Stage and sound system.
- High definition overhead projector with a 12-foot screen.
- The City of Wilmington's 2nd Street parking deck is directly across the street from Ironclad. The first hour is free and it only costs $1 for each additional hour.

Ironclad Brewery is a unique event space for weddings, receptions, corporate events, and fundraisers, as well as retirement, birthday, and holiday parties. Events held at Ironclad Brewery are scheduled as either public or reserved events. A public event means the brewery remains open to customers. A reserved event is when either the 2nd floor or the entire brewery is closed to the public. A contract is required for reserved events. The venue, bartenders, tables, chairs, and glassware are all included!

Planning a great event takes a lot of time and effort, but it should not cost a lot of money! For reserved events, there is a minimum bar tab required, as the brewery will be closed to the public during the event. Event bookings are done on a first-come, first-serve basis. Please call 910.769.0290 and ask to speak with a manager to book your event.

Discover the Bottle Shops

Visitors to the Port City may find that Wilmington's market features beers and breweries they will never run across at home. The best place to scoop some of these up for yourself, be it limited productions or six-packs of that well-crafted IPA, is in one of our area bottle shops. Pick some up to enjoy on the back deck of your beach house or at the hotel before going out—or take some home to share with friends.

All of our bottle shops feature beers on tap and by the bottle to be enjoyed in their bars. You will find that these stores have become Wilmington locals' neighborhood watering holes, where everyone is friendly and eager to recommend the perfect craft beer for your palate. On the weekends, some offer live music or may even be hosting a brewery event in the shop. We urge you to check out our bottle shops and see what you can find!

The term "session" is used in the beer world to indicate a refreshing and balanced experience that allows you to have multiple beers, within a reasonable timeframe, without overwhelming your senses or reaching inappropriate levels of intoxication. Embracing this philosophy, Session Beer Market is Wilmington's newest pet-friendly bottle shop and growler station.

Located near the intersection of South College Road and 17th Street, Session Beer Market features 8 rotating taps, 6 cooler doors full of individually priced beers, and larger format bottles and six packs to enjoy at home.

Discover the Restaurants and Bars

Wilmington has long been revered for its delicious food culture, from Southern farm-to-table cuisine to excellent French and Thai restaurants. Likewise, with the city's emphasis on craft beer, many restaurants and bars cater to the industry by carrying local brews on tap and producing menus to pair perfectly with the beers they feature.

The Wilmington Ale Trail Magazine compiles a list of great bars and restaurants to help you navigate the city's marriage of food and beer. Try any of these appetizing spots for lunch or dinner and get a taste of true Port City flavor, washed down with a pint or two from our local breweries.

HOURS
Sun-Thur 11 am-9 pm
Fri-Sat 11 am-10 pm

Moe's Original Bar-B-Que is an easy-going BBQ joint that smokes their meats in-house. Moe's turns out a whole lot more than barbecue. Both the Shrimp Moe Boy and the smoked wings with Alabama White sauce come highly recommended, but you need to try their sides and desserts as well. The recipes have been passed down for generations and are perfect to pair with one of the 20 rotating taps.

Moe's Original Bar-B-Que is a Southern soul food revival. They serve incredible food in an atmosphere that is soulful, relaxed, spontaneous, yet civilized...well, sometimes.

Pour Taproom offers you a beer and wine festival every day. Customers have freedom to taste a large variety of craft beer and wine and pay by the ounce.

Pour Taproom is in the unique 1911 Murchison Building bank located in the heart of the downtown historic district of Wilmington. The 6,500-square-foot taproom offers 70 taps consisting of craft beer, ciders, and wines. The first level has 42 beers on tap and the second floor mezzanine level has 20 taps dedicated to Wilmington-based breweries, as well as breweries from around North Carolina. The 2-story taproom offers an assortment of beers ranging from stouts and porters to Belgians and even sour beers and ciders. Taps will rotate frequently so there will always be something new to try both locally and from world-class breweries. Find a beer you cannot leave without? Beer Hosts can fill a 32 oz crowler for you to take home. If you prefer wine, enjoy samples of rich reds and crisp whites from inside the original 120-square-foot bank vault.

Pour Taproom also serves a full food menu with all items under $10. Items include a variety of paninis, grilled cheeses, flat bread pizza, all-beef hot dogs, nachos, pretzel baguettes, cheese boards, and salads. Multiple TV's can be enjoyed throughout the space to catch the latest sporting events. Pour Taproom is a fun and relaxing place to meet up with friends, family, and co-workers to try some world class beers and wines.
