Make the most of your time at the coast.

As gorgeous as our beaches are, our marshlands are just as awe-inspiring. Year-round you'll discover some new points of interest. The range of wildlife alone is simply astounding.

Our intertidal zones are an ever-changing zoological study of crabs (including hermit and horseshoe), starfish, sand dollars, jellyfish, and shell life. And, at night, starlight may reveal the wonders of loggerhead sea turtles forming their nests. (We're careful to protect them.)

Here, we have five nature preserves to explore from the Green Swamp Preserve to Bird Island. And speaking of birds—which we do often—birdwatchers come here from all over to spy the hundreds of species that make the Brunswick Islands a temporary home along their migratory path.

Keep your eyes open and binoculars handy. You don't want to miss any of the natural wonders we have to offer.

Relax, recharge, or reinvigorate.

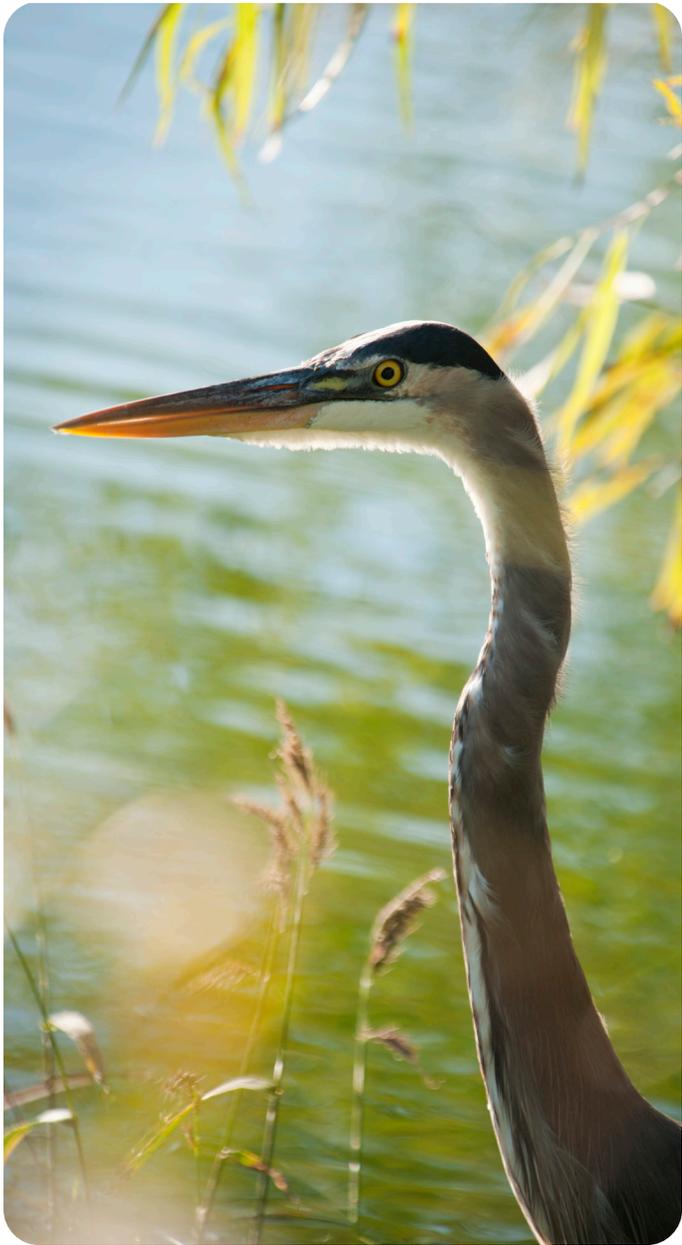

Few things are as glorious as relaxing on the beach, doing as little as possible. However, for those rare moments you wish to pry yourself away from the shore, we have the activities that make it worthwhile. Dip a paddle into waters filled with natural wonders, dip a toe into the tide at a magnificent ocean sunrise, or dip a fork into a plate piled high with Calabash shrimp. This is your time to do exactly as you please.

Whether you long to join the folks at a festival or celebration or take a solo walk along quiet shores, your every wish is granted. Climb to lighthouse perches that reveal 360 degrees of island splendor, cast a line into the surf, or take a zipline tour through a swamp.

Every day brings new adventures, new pleasures—even if it's a well-earned nap in your favorite beach chair.

Share the beach with some interesting characters.

Our barrier islands are surrounded by more than water. Look in any direction, up into the sky and down below the surface, and you'll find a world of habitats to be discovered. Tidal flats, creek-fed marshes, inlets, sand dunes, and maritime forests create healthy homes where sea creatures, plants, and wildlife thrive. They also create an endless source of amazement for visitors of every age and interest.

Residents and visitors engage in supporting safe nesting sites for loggerhead sea turtles on our beaches. High tides deposit an amazing array of interesting shells, especially after storms churn the waters out at sea.

It seems that birds find our islands to be the perfect rest stop on their travels along the coastal flyway. (Naturally, we named Bird Island in their honor.) Birdwatchers are often rewarded with sightings of rare species, along with glimpses of our beautiful resident bird friends.

There's something mesmerizing about the swooping flight of a snowy egret over the marsh or the fishing skills of a great blue heron. Keep your eyes open. There are as many as 330 bird species to be found here.

Not far from the beaches, local nature preserves offer hiking trails through lowland forests. You may even spy a few carnivorous plants along the way. Take a guided eco-tour deep into a swamp park through a maze of cypress knees that native reptile and amphibian creatures call home.

Take a hike. Take a boat. Take a kayak. But be sure to take time to explore the wonders around you.

Our beaches are full of tiny treasures.

As the tide recedes, you'll find that many of our beaches are laden with natural treasures brought in by the tide. They are Mother Nature's remarkable architecture for our sea creatures' homes, each a little piece of art.

You're welcome to gather shells as the ultimate beach vacation souvenir. But always remember that if you find a shell with a living creature inside, put it back on the beach or in the water so it can live peacefully and contribute to nature.

New treasures arrive daily here. So come again tomorrow or try another Brunswick Island to expand your collection.

CALICO SCALLOP

Argopecten gibbus

An eye-catching patchwork of red and pink gives this colorful bivalve its name. Often used to make jewelry, ornaments, and other accessories.

LETTERED OLIVE

Americoliva sayana

This olive varies from gray to reddish-brown with zigzag markings and lives near shore or on sand flats near inlets.

STARFISH

Asterias rubens

Not a fish but an echinoderm, starfish famously regenerate their limbs. However, they should be handled with care. The patient may even see them move in a tidal pool.

COMMON NUTMEG

Cancellaria reticulata

This small, textured shell with an interesting lattice pattern is also home to a sea snail. The shell is quite sturdy and often still whole once it washes to shore.

KEYHOLE URCHIN

Mellita quinquesperforata

Commonly known as the sand dollar, this urchin is disc-shaped and is identified by its five keyhole slots. Please do not take any living sand dollars from their habitat.

LIGHTNING WHELK

Busycon contrarium

This ribbed whelk with its distinctive alternating bands was used by Native American tribes to fashion both tools and jewelry. Often found in both sand and muddy areas.

ATLANTIC COQUINA

Donax variabilis

These tiny treasures, once home to a species of clam no bigger than an inch, can be found in an assortment of beautiful colors with a variety of markings. Search for these shells to collect, and keep an eye out for live coquinas to show up in the surf.

BABY'S EAR

Sinum perspectivum

Look for this roundish shell on your stroll down the beach. It's usually solid white with a shallow coil. Don't be fooled by its delicate look. This shell was once home to a carnivorous creature!

COCKLE

Cerastoderma edule

Often mistaken for a scallop, this bivalve is notable for the riotous profusion of colors it comes in. Often used by shellers to make ornaments, necklaces and other accessories.

Find the perfect spot for just you, or your whole crew.

Whether it's a solo trip, a romantic getaway, or a family get together, you'll find the perfect place to unwind and make memories. And once you all fall in love with it, don't be surprised if everybody wants to come back again and again.

Maybe you're looking for a cozy room for two and breakfast served with a big helping of charm and hospitality. That's the specialty of B&Bs located in historic Southport.

You'll also find full-service resorts perfect for a wedding or a golf gathering, locally owned inns that have been the pride of generations, and hotels that offer swimming pools and other amenities.

Whether you're in pursuit of a weekend escape or a vacation that allows you to stay for weeks to fully recharge, North Carolina's Brunswick Islands is perfectly accommodating.

Vacation Rental Homes

From smaller bungalows and cottages to homes that sleep 20 or more, you have your choice of vacation rental homes and condos throughout our islands and beaches. What's your idea of the perfect home? A quiet screened porch? An oceanfront view? A canal setting with a private dock for a boat, kayak, crab nets, and evening cocktails? You can find homes with swimming pools and gourmet kitchens. Crowsnest perches and balconies. And many are happy to welcome your dog, too! Vacation rental homes offer privacy and flexibility for your family or group to enjoy each other's company all day and night.

Hotels and Inns

There's a lot to be said for daily housekeeping, breakfast, and a front desk attentive to your needs. Yes, a hotel beach vacation can be a sweet escape, and we offer plenty to choose from to suit your style and budget. Select from hotels on the beach, the Intracoastal, or on the mainland. Many offer catering services and banquet facilities to host weddings, reunions, and business meetings. Choose a golf resort or fairway villa for your foursome. There are also charming inns owned and operated by local families who have helped to make memories for visitors for decades, with amazing views and friendly service.

Bed & Breakfasts

Intimate, personal, and nostalgic, a B&B vacation takes you back to a simpler time when people opened their homes to visitors and shared their love and knowledge of the area. It's not just the homes but the owners' hospitality that make B&Bs so charming. Enjoy a great breakfast and then set out for a day of exploring towns or beachcombing. Return in time for evening cocktails, wine, or tea on a veranda and share your experiences with other guests. Each B&B is unique and offers its own special appeal.

Golf Packages

Pet Friendly

Wedding Packages

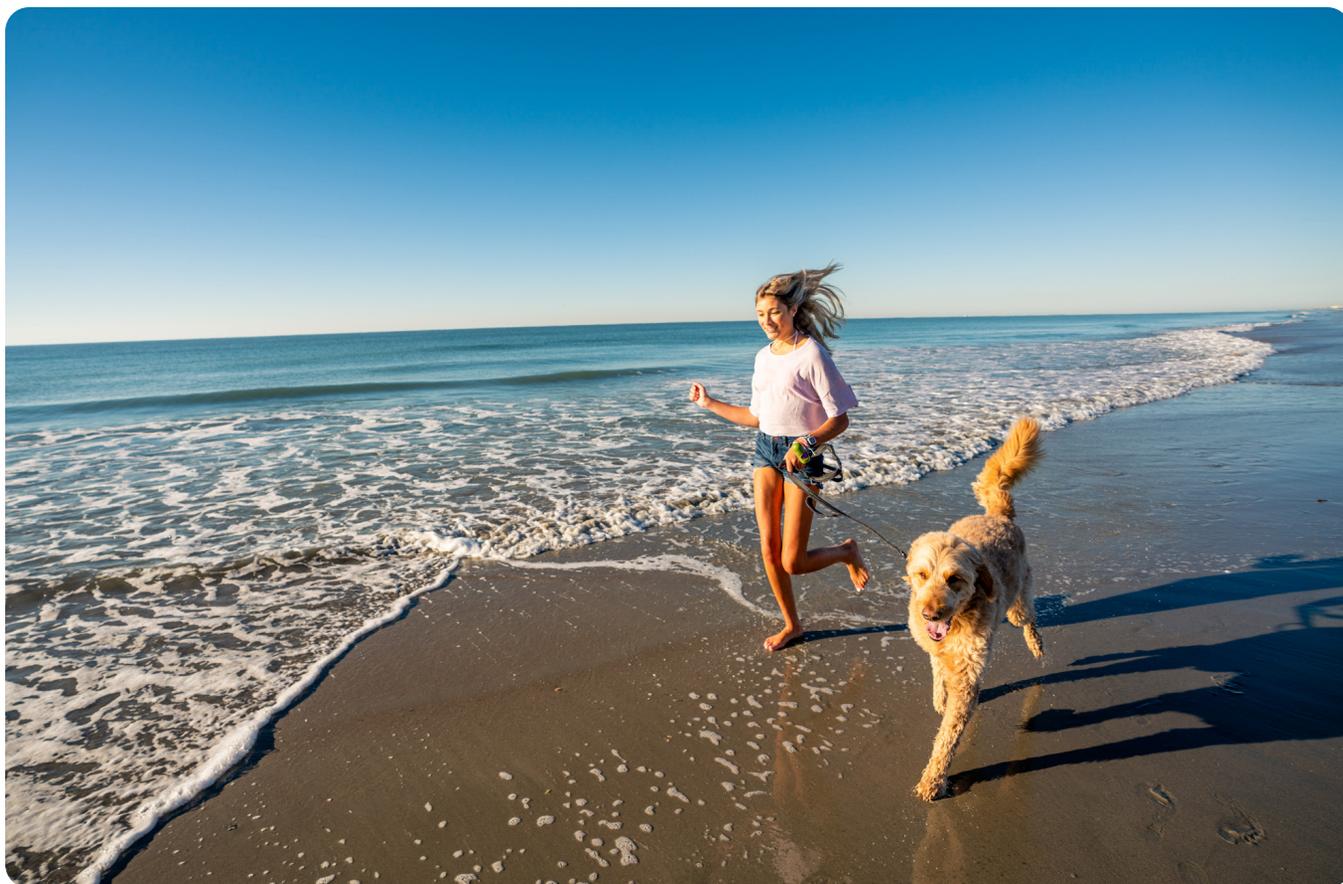

Give your dog a real treat.

You know that sad look your dog gives you when you start packing your bags to leave? This time, give your pooch some news that's better than a biscuit. Tripswithpets.com named Caswell Beach and Oak Island numbers 1 and 2 on their list of "Top Dog-Friendly Beaches in North Carolina." So, pack a leash and toys in a bag all their own.

All six of our beautiful beaches welcome leashed dogs year-round (hours vary), and some offer off-leash freedom fall until spring. Your dog must be closely supervised in case they head for the water, and other guests will appreciate that they don't wander into their quiet space to check out their snacks.

You can find pet-friendly hotel and motel accommodations and a wide range of vacation rental homes that welcome pets. You'll also find boarding kennels throughout the area, some even provide beach outings for your dog or let you come by to take the dog out for walks. (Oh boy, oh boy, oh boy!)

Many of our towns and communities feature dog parks for friendly play and sniffing, including Salty Dog Park in Oak Island and Shallotte Township Park in Shallotte. Lots of our restaurants and breweries are pet friendly, so bring the dog to enjoy our outdoor and waterfront dining settings.

Each of our six pristine beaches has its own dog policies and hours, but all require you to bag and remove dog waste to keep our beach strands beautiful for people and pets. Before you arrive, be sure to check out each island's pet policies at www.ncbrunswick.com/plan/pets.

Paddle up to breathtaking views.

Few experiences are more serene and inspiring than a glide through the salt marshes and waterways of North Carolina's Brunswick Islands. Whether you choose to travel by kayak, paddleboard, or canoe, your perspective changes with this close-range view sitting just above the water's surface.

Explore an ecosystem of oyster beds, fish, crabs, and skates. In these quiet realms you can hear the call of birds, the rustle of marsh grass, and the splash of fish skipping through the water—along with the occasional squeal of delight from friends and family who spy something new.

No need to haul equipment from home. Our expert outfitters have everything you need to explore our wetlands, including gear, training, and tips for the best routes. The entire county offers paddling experiences, including blackwater rivers and creeks as well as the Intracoastal Waterway. Keep your eyes open for otter, deer, egrets, great blue herons, and brown pelicans, as well as bottlenose dolphins on their own fishing expedition.

How about a guided tour?

Plan a half- or full-day tour with the experts to get the most out of your experience. Outfitters can arrange everything for you, your family, or group, including kayak, canoe, or paddleboard rentals and transport, along with expert guidance through marshland mazes and waterways. You may opt for a twilight tour to enjoy a magnificent sunset and stargazing from your kayak—truly a one-of-a-kind experience to write home about.

Rather walk than paddle?

Several of our towns provide boardwalks and scenic walkways along our rivers, marshes, and the Intracoastal Waterway. Bring your fishing gear or camera as you look for blue heron, eagle, spot, flounder, and alligator.

The Oak Island Experience

Catch a great time.

When you live in a place that includes the “Seafood Capital of the World,” you know a thing or two about where to find and bring in the best catch. But we’re also known for amazing sportfishing. Ask any local and they’ll be happy to give a bit of advice.

What’s your pleasure?

You can simply claim your spot on the beach, plant your rod holder in the sand, and spend a glorious day casting into the surf for red drum, blue fish, whiting, or flounder, depending how they’re running. Cast a bait net and you’re a self-sufficient fishing marvel.

Want to get a little farther out? The five fishing piers on our barrier islands stretch hundreds of feet out into the bountiful ocean. There’s no limit to the conversation with locals and other visitors. Choose one and make a day of it. Fishing passes vary.

For exciting blue water adventure, our local charter captains can get you on the fish. You’ll find larger charters with the speed for deep sea adventure 45 miles out in the Gulf Stream as well as custom skiffs for inshore fishing in the marsh creeks and inlets. These guides know the species and the weather conditions to make the most of your half- or whole-day trip while trolling, bottom fishing, or casting for big game fish.

If you have your own boat, you’ll find plenty of public access ramps with parking throughout our towns, and private marinas offer slip rentals and fueling. For the ideal fishing vacation, tie up your boat on your private dock at a rental home with canal or marsh-side access.

Whether fishing is your passion or just an excuse to be on the water, we promise you’ll reel in great memories day after day.

HOLDEN BEACH PIER

Purchased by the Town of Holden Beach, plans are underway to upgrade the pier and other onsite public facilities such as concessions and beach access.

OAK ISLAND PIER

Rebuilt in 2019, the pier is complete with a pier house, a bait and tackle store, restaurant, and coffee shop.

OCEAN CREST PIER

Also located on Oak Island, the pier has a full line tackle shop and onsite weather station. A restaurant adjoins the pier.

OCEAN ISLE BEACH PIER

An Ocean Isle Beach family favorite, the pier has bait and tackle as well as an arcade, grill room, and ice cream shop.

SUNSET BEACH PIER

A 900-foot stretch into the ocean, the pier has a snack bar and tackle shop and is fully handicap accessible with free scooter chairs.

Experience sea to table.

Raise your glass—whether craft beer or tropical umbrella drink—to the seafood capital of the world.

Find your culinary bliss in fresh catches from the ocean, inlets, and bountiful salt creeks. Fresh-picked produce from local Carolina farms and fields are all lovingly prepared and fussed over to perfection.

Here, in NC's Brunswick Islands, we're passionate about good food. Discover why our Calabash shrimp is declared world famous and our oysters are the pearl of the East Coast. See how we raise good ol' Eastern Carolina barbecue to a mighty fine art form. Then, pair them all with our local wines, a flight of craft beer, or our Carolina sweet tea.

Whether you indulge at one of dozens of waterfront bistros or bring your market catch back to your beach house to feed your flock, nobody leaves the table hungry.

DIG IN.

There are wonderful places to dine and memories to be made!”

-Angela, 10 visits to NC's Brunswick Islands

Cooking up everybody's favorites.

Is it the salt air that makes us hungry? Or just the amazing food that calls us back for more?

Whether you arrive at your favorite restaurant by boat, on foot, or in an SUV filled with family, you're about to experience one of the Brunswick Islands' most coveted vacation traditions—big helpings of freshly prepared food, served with warm and gracious hospitality from hush puppy starters to decadent desserts.

Yes, we have a famous little town heralded as “The Seafood Capital of the World,” but there's no limit to the cuisine offerings throughout the area—Asian, Mexican, Italian, barbecue, burgers—oh, who are we kidding? We're here for the seafood! It's best served with a frosty cold drink while overlooking the Atlantic, the Intracoastal, the Cape Fear River, or beneath oak trees beside green fairways. Some of our restaurants even start their seafood preparation before dawn when they send out their own boats to pull in the freshest catch.

And then there's world-famous Calabash style seafood—seafood prepared in the style that originated in the 1930s along the docks of its namesake town. What makes it so special that it's now imitated all over the world?

We take fresh shrimp, fish, oysters, clams, and crabs, fuss over them with a feather-light batter, drop them into a sizzling fryer for a hot second, and, voila, you have a puffy, flaky taste of fresh and salty heaven. Calabash style isn't Calabash unless it's served in mega portions. And for purists, Calabash seafood isn't Calabash unless it comes from its Brunswick Islands home. There's no substitute for authenticity.

Mornings at the beach should come with fresh-brewed coffee, tea, or other eye-openers. Our coffee shops are amazing and range from those that boast fancy barista wizards to coffee/surf shops that send you out with a good cup of joe and a few surf tips. For something liquid a little later in the day, you'll find a winery, breweries, taprooms, and wine bars.

Don't miss the North Carolina Oyster Festival each October or any of the other festival celebrations throughout the year. There are always new tastes to try and old favorites to enjoy while you listen to music, explore arts and crafts, or try a carnival game.

Have you worked up an appetite yet? We're ready to serve.

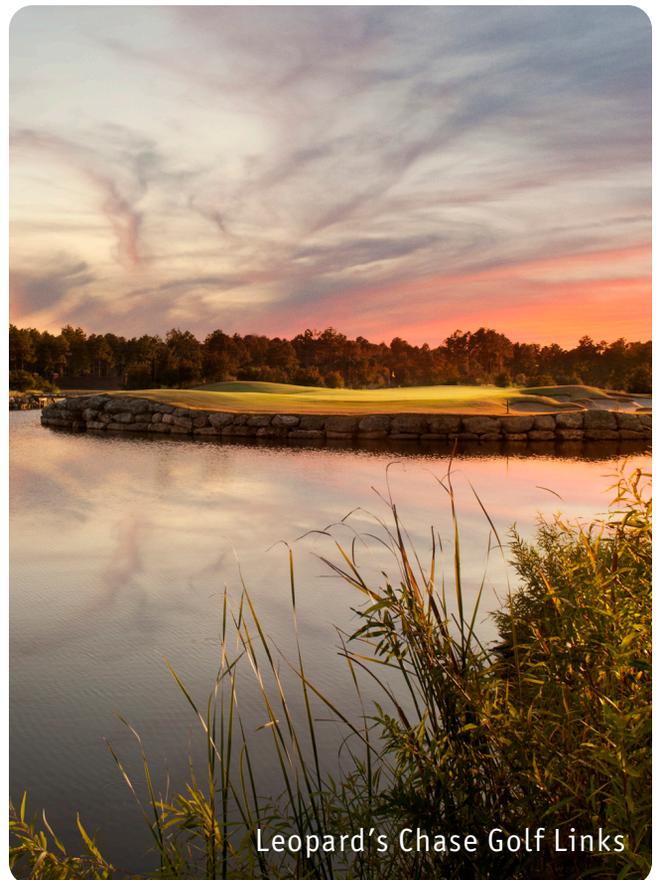

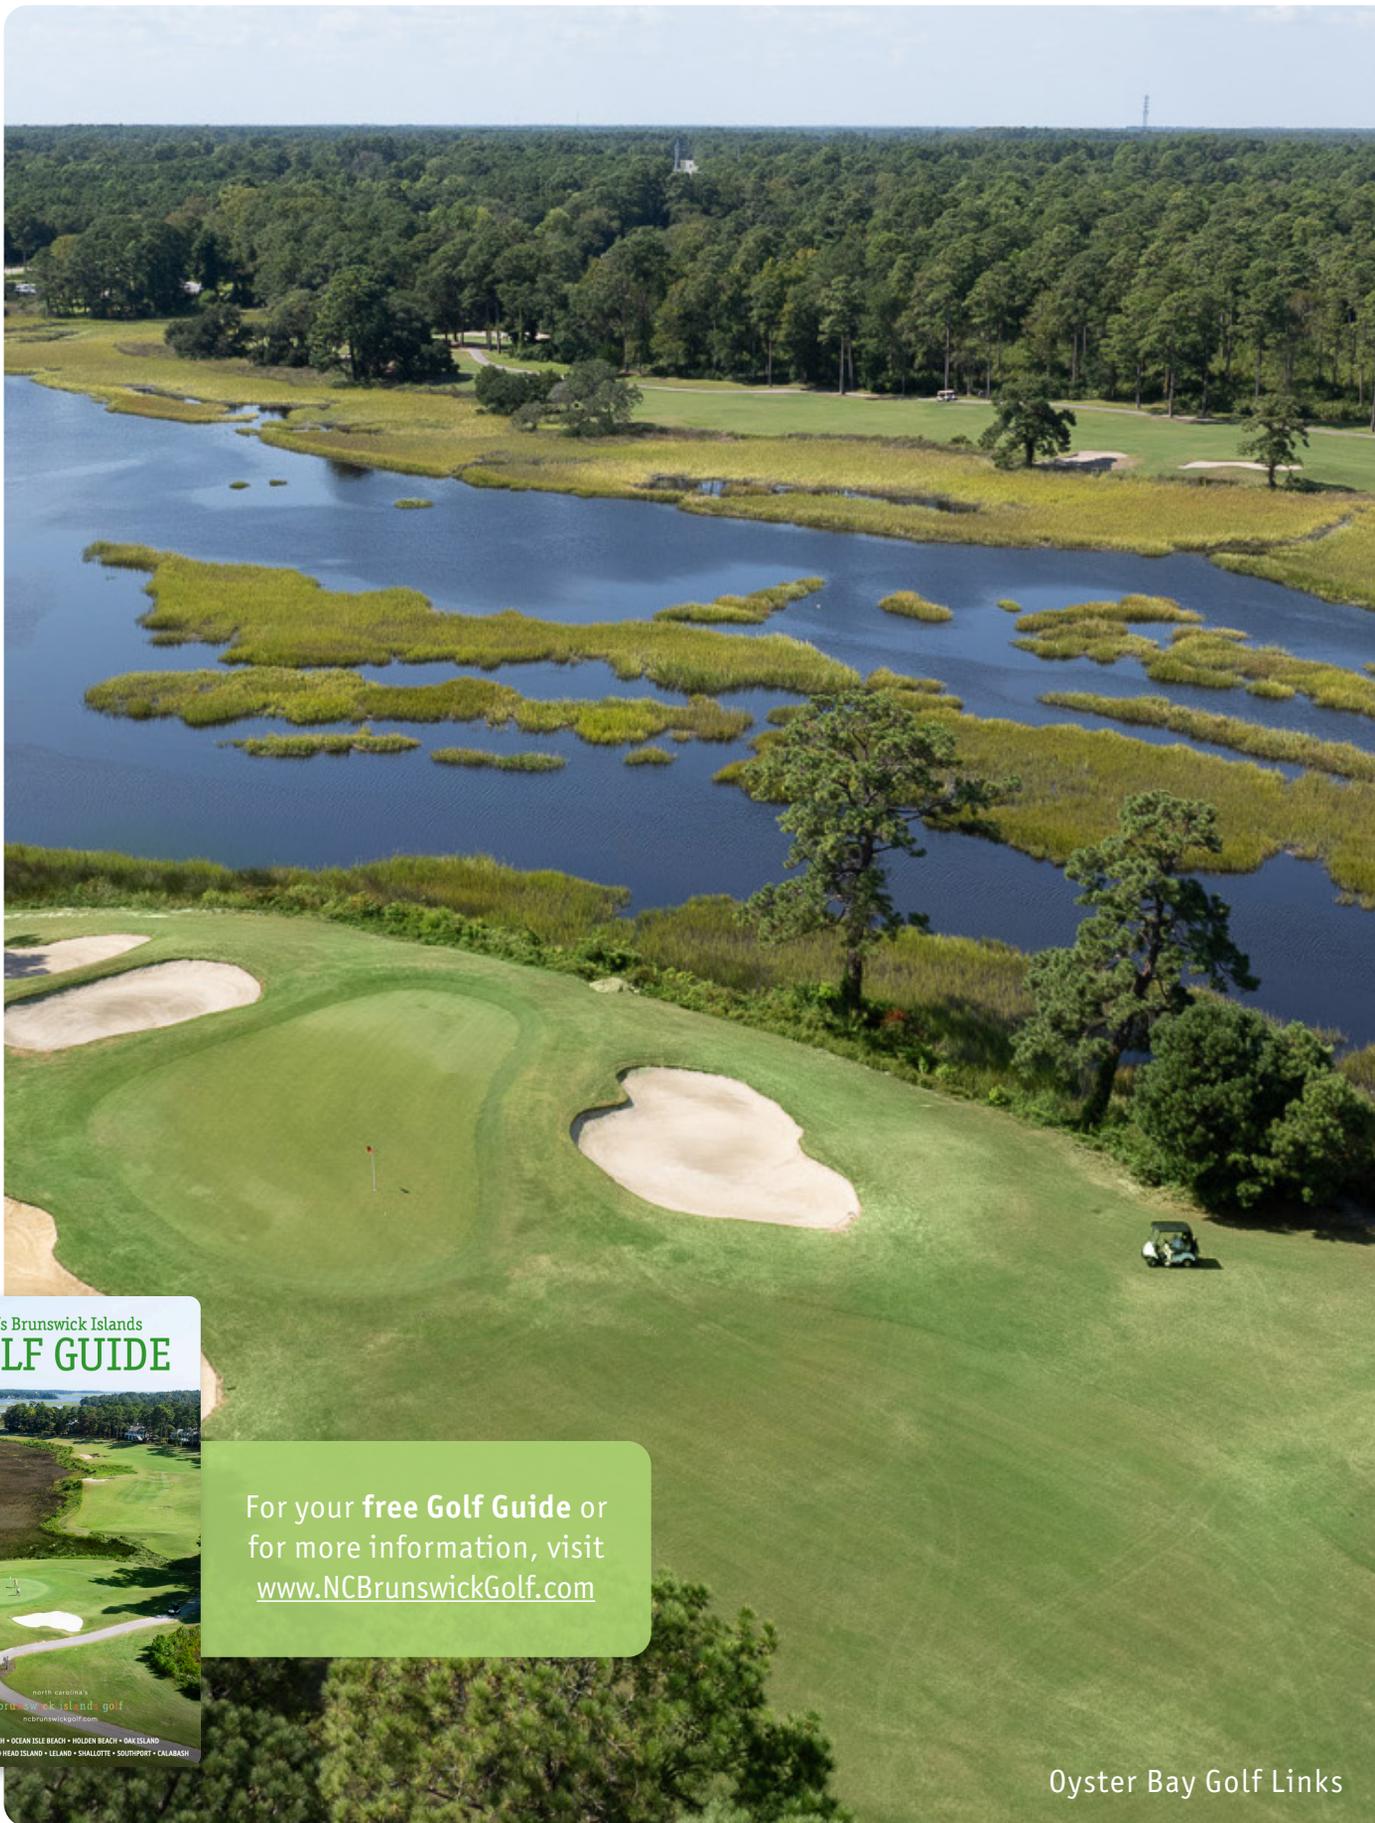

There's nothing below par about our courses.

North Carolina's Brunswick Islands enjoys a rich golf tradition. With over 20 championship courses by renowned course architects like Arnold Palmer, Rees Jones, Dan Maples, Willard Byrd, Tim Cate, and Fred Couples, it doesn't take long to understand why this place has been crowned North Carolina's Golf Coast. (And if this isn't enough to keep you busy, there are 80 more courses within an hour's drive.)

It's hard to keep your head down when there's scenery like this to enjoy—a picturesque coastal landscape of ocean dunes, waterways, salt marshes, and forests. You'll find 120 miles of sweeping emerald fairways including classic St. Andrews-style links courses, along with genteel but deceptively tricky Southern classic courses.

Not to brag, but we're masters at hosting golf buddy outings, family and couples play, or a child's first taste of the game—in a low-key setting that many prefer to the Grand Strand down the road. No matter your skill level, there's no better way to hone your skills than in a place where the love of the game is celebrated with every round.

Beach time is family time.

Sun, sand, and precious family memories. Here, kids can be kids and parents can too. With 45 miles of shoreline to explore, there will always be another sandcastle to create or ebbing wave to boogie board. The firm sand is perfect for bike rides, bocce ball, kite flying, cornhole, and tidal pool exploration.

There are shells to be collected, scuttling crabs to be chased, and dolphins to be sighted. At night the beach becomes a starry wonderland where the ocean's roar feels louder, and the mysteries of a sea turtle's return is something to reverently behold.

This vacation is a perfect time to discover new skills and enjoy new experiences. Sign up for surf lessons, golf lessons, a family kayak excursion, a charter fishing trip, or a dolphin cruise. There's no better way to discover nature than to meet it face-to-face in the many nature preserves, in a planetarium, or zip lining through The Swamp Park.

Of course, kids who rule a kingdom should view their realm from atop a lighthouse where they can shout, "I hereby declare this island in the name of...me!" We are at their service.

A graphic titled "Wedding Planner" with the tagline "Here, dream weddings are a reality". It features a photograph of a couple on a beach, with the man in a white shirt and the woman in a white dress. Below the photo, it lists "north carolina's brunswick islands" and the website "ncbrunswick.com". At the bottom, it lists several beach locations: "SUNSET BEACH • OCEAN HILL BEACH • HIDDEN BEACH • ONE ISLAND CARROLL BEACH • BALD HEAD ISLAND • LELAND • SMALLLOTTE • SOUTHPORT • CALABASH".

There's nothing more love affirming than a destination wedding. And the choices here are many. You can stand before the endless ocean and pledge your commitment to the one beside you. Or take your vows under the awe-inspiring ancient live oaks. If golf is your fancy, a carpet of emerald fairway can make the perfect backdrop for your special day. North Carolina's Brunswick Islands presents not only a perfect setting for a wedding, but everything you need to make it memorable for you and your guests.

Venues abound from elegantly uncomplicated beach set ups to elaborate resort and clubhouse ballrooms. And accommodations for your family and friends run the gamut from hotels, inns, and B&Bs, to vacation rental homes that fit the largest families. Catering, flowers, planners, dresses, personalized gifts—are all given the special Brunswick Islands touch.

And when it comes to the honeymoon, no travel required. You've already begun life's journey together in the perfect spot to make dreams come true—and a lovely place to return for many anniversaries to come.

Our special settings make more than weddings special.

Weddings? Yes, but we're an ideal destination whenever friends and family gather. North Carolina's Brunswick Islands attracts generations as a place to reunite and relax for family reunions, golf outings, class reunions, and friends' getaways. Accommodation options run the gamut from vacation rental homes that can accommodate 20 or more, or at hotels and inns across our friendly islands and towns. With just the right combination of things to do and wide-open spaces to kick back and reminisce, our islands and towns are all about connection.

Sunset Beach

What made National Geographic rank this beach among the “21 Best Beaches in the World?” Well, you might say “it’s plenty of nothing.” With virtually no commercial development, towering dunes and spectacular sunrises and sunsets are all that are needed to create a world-class setting that speaks to the soul in a whisper.

This natural gem is the smallest of our barrier islands. Just the right size to wander its expansive beachfront to visit the adjoining Bird Island. Birdwatchers flock here to observe birds of all kinds who find this to be the perfect rest stop on their travels north and south.

At low tide, the vastness of this beach unfolds before you in a magical way—ideal for children’s cartwheels and bike wheels. You just may find yourself twirling around, arms spread wide, in a giddy celebration of the sun and sand.

Sunset Beach is low-key and everyone is always warm and welcoming.”

-Emily, 25 years of vacations in NC's Brunswick Islands

Ocean Isle Beach

Ocean Isle Beach is a family favorite with its beautiful palm-lined streets. There's no telling how many of its fans caught their very first glimpse of the ocean here as toddlers—then return year after year until it's their turn to share the experience with their children and grandchildren.

The island has a wide variety of accommodations—from oceanfront hotels to condos to vacation home rentals. The island's marsh-side vacation rental homes with docks on deep canals are ideal for families, where you can tie up your boat, launch your paddleboard or kayak, or cast a line or crab net.

Ocean Isle Beach has been named "The South's Best Tiny Town" by Southern Living. Tiny perhaps, but this beach village is packed with big fun. The lively town offers something for everyone with a wide array of restaurants, many with waterfront views. Challenge the family to a mini-golf tournament, try your luck at the arcade, or take a zip-line tour above the wonders of the ecosystem at The Swamp Park. Adults can also enjoy the adventure of finding a new favorite refreshment at the local brewery or winery.

Whether it's your first glimpse of the ocean or one of thousands in your life, the pleasures of Ocean Isle Beach never grow old.

My happy place. Ocean
Isle Beach is peaceful, tranquil, and serene.
I have so many memories here. ”

-Kellie, 10 visits to NC's Brunswick Islands

There's an atmosphere that is hard to explain. Our family 'gets it.'

-Jackie, 45 years of visits to NC's Brunswick Islands

Holden Beach

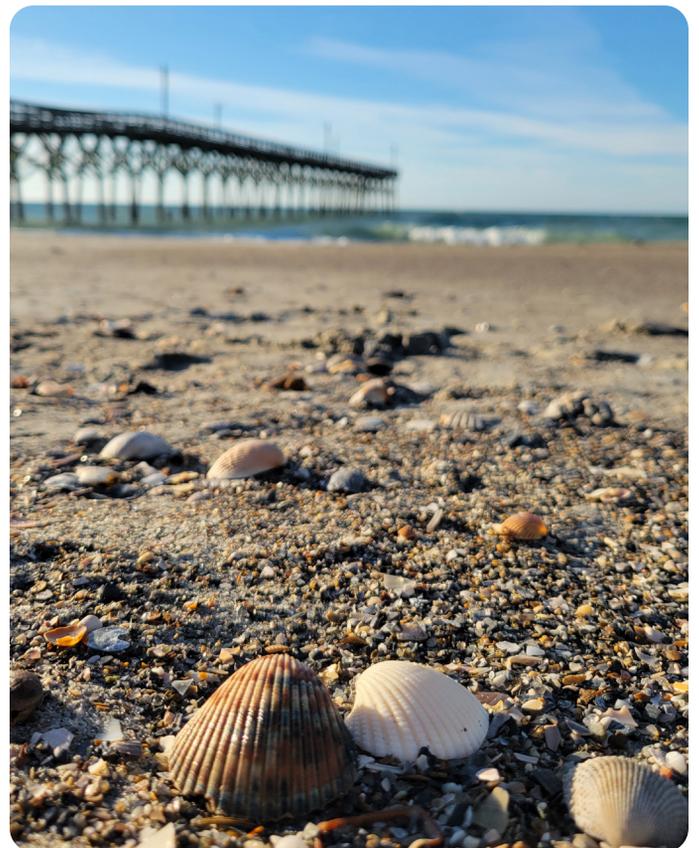

Your spirits soar as you cross over the Intracoastal Waterway on the Holden Beach Bridge. It quite literally lifts you up above the water and sweeps westward providing a bird's eye view of the majestic expanse of beach below. You can't help but say, "Ahhhhh" as you come in for a soft landing in a vacation experience that soothes the soul.

Holden Beach welcomes families to inviting vacation beach homes—no hotels here—as well as fishing and shrimping trawlers to its working waterfront. Spend the days inspecting tidal pools along the beach for treasure troves of perfect shells while working up an appetite for the fresh local seafood arriving daily.

Prefer to bring in your own catch? While the Holden Beach fishing pier is temporarily closed as upgrades are planned for the site, a wade in the surf with a rod and some bait gives intrepid anglers plenty of chances to put dinner on the table.

The Intracoastal Waterway is your backyard where kayakers lazily paddle while checking out the wildlife. And your glorious front yard of pristine beach invites you to cycle or saunter to popular Lockwood Folly Inlet on the island's eastern point.

The epitome of low key, Holden Beach is the bridge to a true vacation escape.

Oak Island

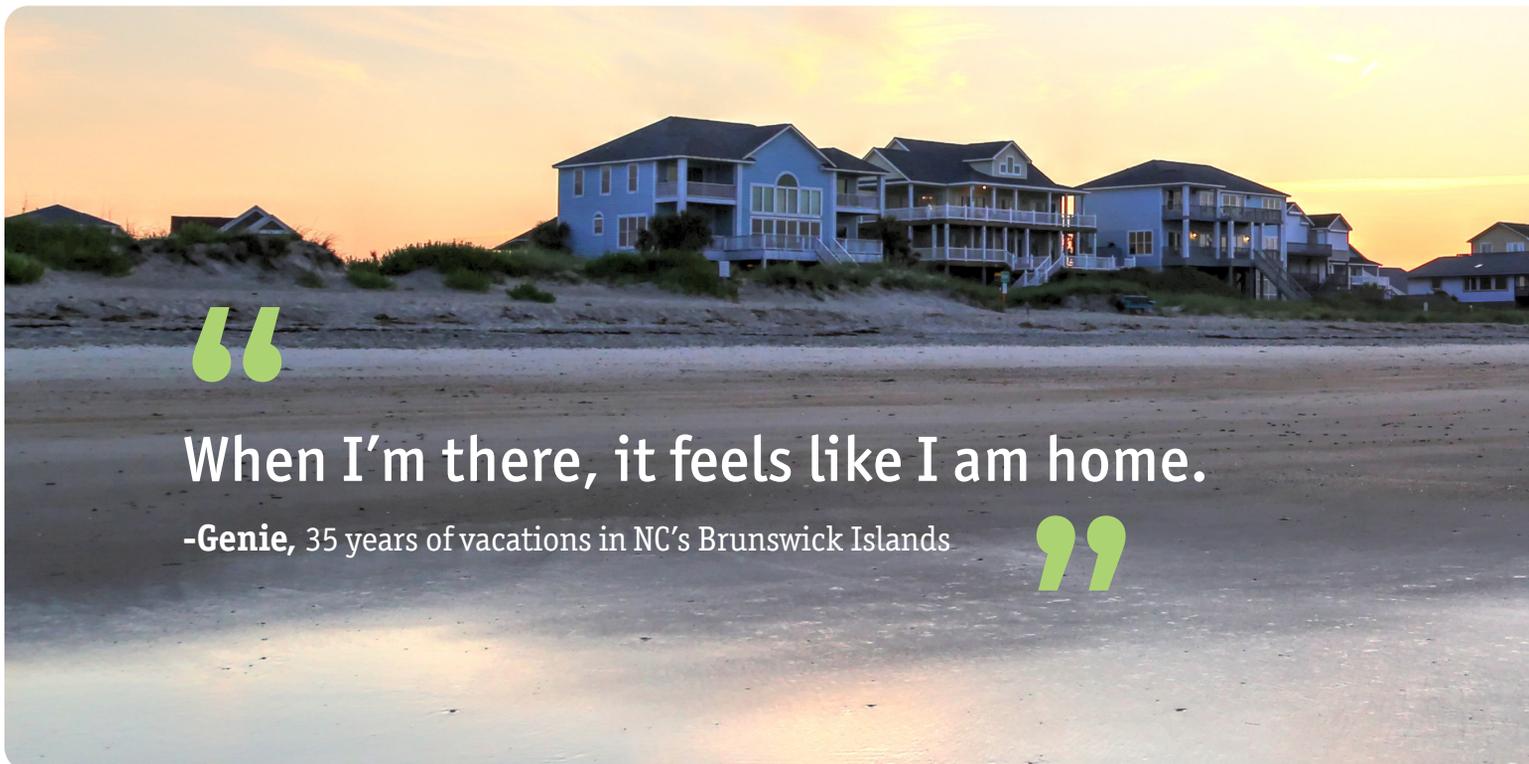

Oak Island welcomes back generations of happy visitors with mile after mile of beautiful beaches, a full-service marina, and oceanfront dining. You'll find that some of our happiest visitors wear nothing but a collar and just can't help drooling over the broad stretch of sand before them. Oak Island and adjoining Caswell Beach have been named as two of "North Carolina's most dog-friendly beaches" with designated areas that allow unleashed pups to frolic from mid-October to mid-March.

For the rest of us, the largest of our barrier islands offers a fishing mecca with two fishing piers and several boat ramps, along with four kayak ramps. 60 convenient public beach access points welcome sun and surf worshipers. There's always something new to discover at the Oak Island Nature Center where you can explore the island's diverse salt marsh ecosystem or wander down the Talking Trees Trail.

Oak Island lives like a neighborhood with all the everyday conveniences that make you feel at home. Plus, you'll find plenty of unique shopping so you don't go home empty-handed.

Dogs may wag their tails in approval here. The rest of us are more than happy to sit and stay.

When I'm there, it feels like I am home.

-Genie, 35 years of vacations in NC's Brunswick Islands

Caswell Beach

If the climb to the top of Oak Island Lighthouse in Caswell Beach doesn't leave you breathless, the view will. At 153 feet high—the tallest structure for miles—your climb is rewarded with a perfect perch to overlook the beauty and expanse of our barrier island ecosystem.

On the marsh side, a maze of waterways and inlets are waiting to be explored by kayak or shallow draft boat. Your bird's-eye view also reveals the estuarine wilderness, a nursery for birds, fish, and other wildlife.

Wildlife outnumbers people here as dog-friendly and quiet Caswell Beach is the most sparsely inhabited of our beaches. But you'll find plenty of ways to enjoy this peaceful setting including an oceanside Cobb-designed golf course long known as a hidden gem, along with great restaurants and shopping just minutes away.

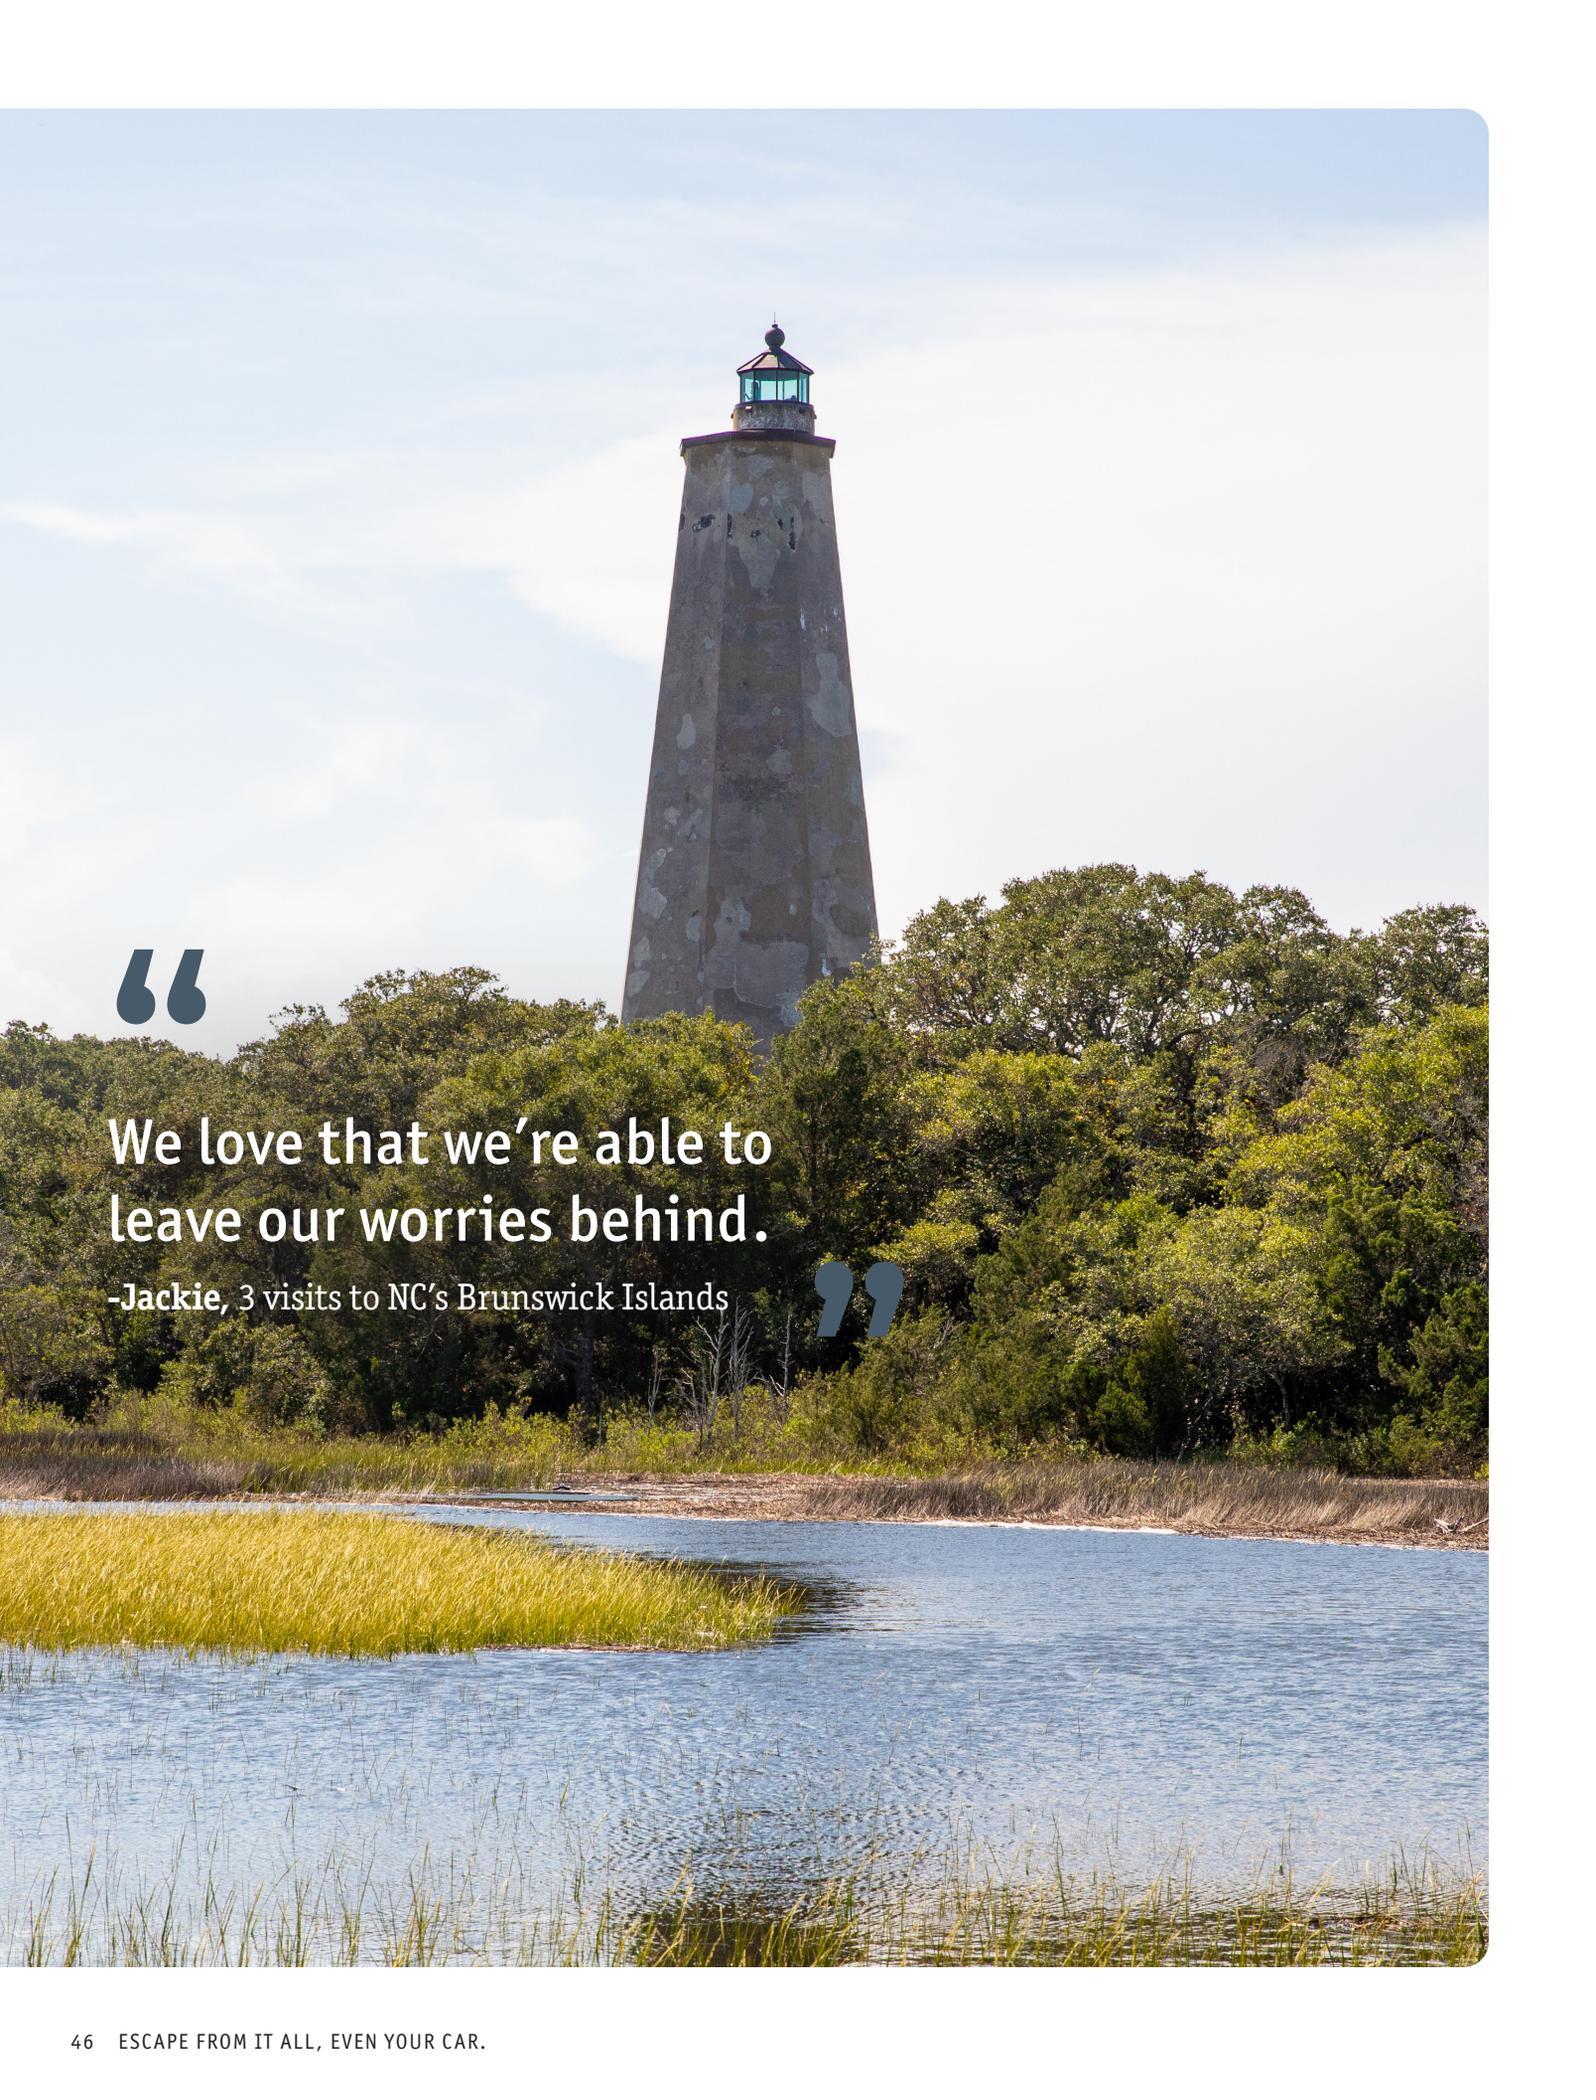

Quite simply, this is a wonderful place to detach from the mainland, treat yourself to the serenity of the surf, and allow yourself to wander to your heart's content.

Caswell Beach is beautiful and uncrowded.
I love the hometown feel. ”

-Cynthia, 12 visits to NC's Brunswick Islands

We love that we're able to leave our worries behind.

-Jackie, 3 visits to NC's Brunswick Islands

Bald Head Island

Your Bald Head Island vacation begins with a farewell to cars and traffic and a refreshing ferry or boat ride to a unique island that's more nature preserve than resort. In fact, 10,000 of its 12,000 acres are wildlife habitats set aside for stewardship by the Bald Head Island Conservancy.

No cars allowed, your mode of transportation is by golf cart, bike, or flip flops. Pathways lead from upscale beach homes through natural vegetation to broad white sand beaches. This environmental oasis attracts visitors of all species. A plethora of birds inhabit the forests, salt marshes, and seashore. The island is also one of the nation's most extensive sea turtle nesting sites.

Your visit isn't complete without a visit to Bald Head Island Lighthouse, lovingly called "Old Baldy." Since 1817, it's welcomed seafarers and enchanted visitors. Only 108 steps to a bird's-eye view!

Creatures of nature may rule here, but we haven't forgotten the natural creature comforts of humans. Bald Head Island offers shopping, restaurants, fresh seafood, a marina, and one of the South's premier golf courses.

A Bald Head Island vacation is the perfect way to unplug, relax, and let nature take care of the rest.

Leland

Even beach lovers can't stay away from this inland town known for its championship golf, great dining, paddle sports, and natural beauty. Just one mile away from the port city of Wilmington, NC, Leland delivers the best of both worlds—city conveniences and quiet small-town charms.

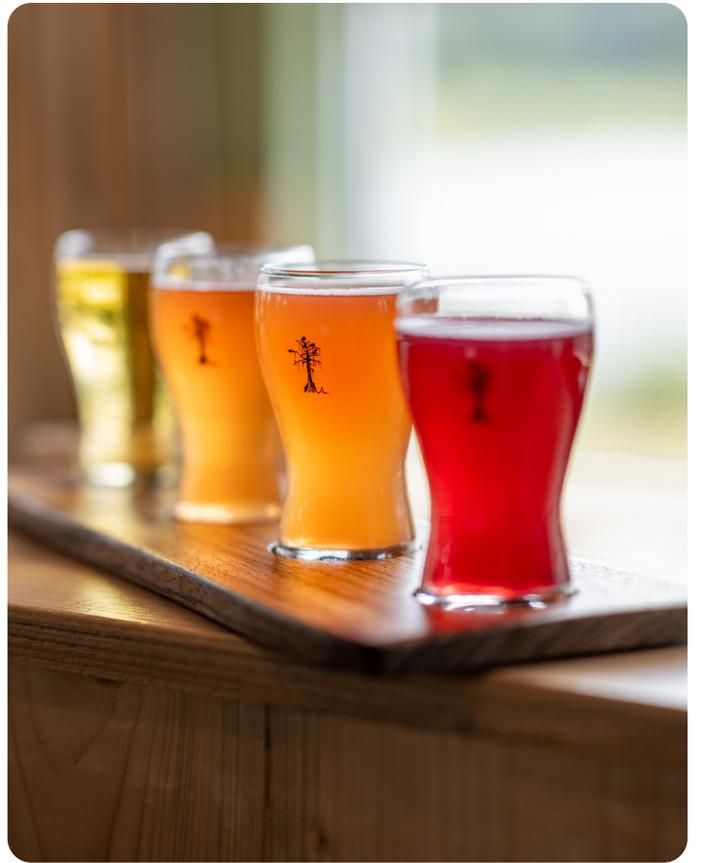

The town is a haven for those who love to commune with nature by kayak, bike, or foot. Nearby Brunswick Nature Park offers more than seven miles of mountain bike trails for all skill levels. In nearby Belville, visit the Belville Riverwalk Park where you can watch for osprey, herons, and eagles in flight or glide along the Brunswick Paddle Trail by kayak or boat.

Golfers also enjoy natural beauty. Wildflowers, sculpted greens, Carolina pines, and grassy meadows grace the local courses. Magnificent views, well-maintained fairways, and sparse crowds delight all levels of play. It's not just golfers who are in for a treat though. The House of Pickleball in Leland offers world-class courts for you to show off your game. You'll find hotels and a variety of restaurants and breweries here to accommodate groups year-round.

A visit to the nearby Battleship NORTH CAROLINA tells the story of her crew's service in the Pacific theater during World War II. And when you're ready to hit the beach, Oak Island and Caswell Beach are just moments away, so you won't miss a thing when you choose to stay in this inland treasure.

The best of both worlds awaits, and we think you deserve the best—times two.

Shallotte

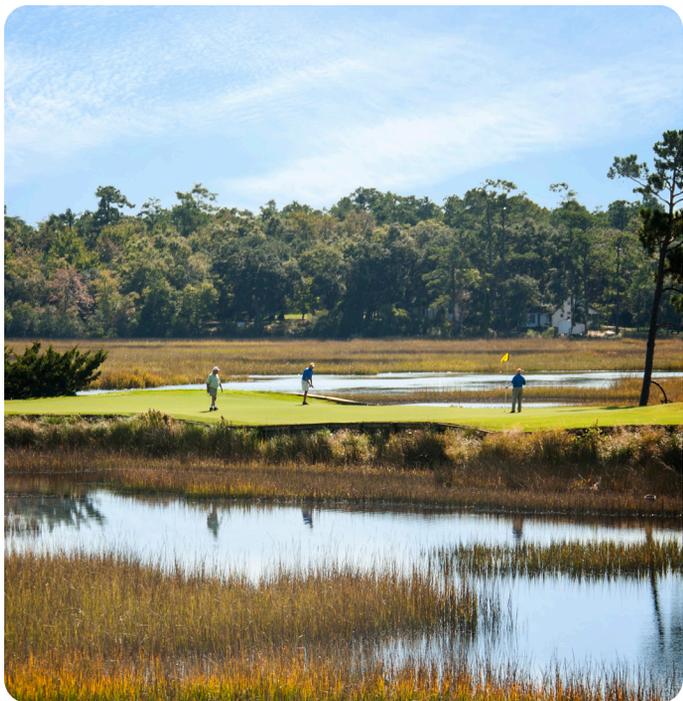

Close to all the barrier islands, Shallotte is your central hub. Everything you need for a week at the beach or a day in the sun is here. Supermarkets and convenience stores can fill your cooler or beach bag.

Need some fun out of the sun? Shallotte can supply that, too. Planet Fun features arcade games, laser tag, cosmic bowling, even midnight drive-in movies. If shopping is your game, you can lead a treasure hunt through locally-owned boutiques and antique shops or your choice of brand-name stores. Afterwards, take a break at the Shallotte Riverwalk and enjoy the view.

Reward yourself with great seafood or other favorites at one of the waterfront restaurants. Shallotte is the beach-goers dining hub to satisfy a range of tastes from burgers and pizza to Mexican and Asian cuisine.

Centrally located to the county's championship golf courses, players know this is the perfect place to grab what you need for your round or celebrate your score on the way back to the beach.

While everyone's smiling, why not stop at picture-perfect Shallotte Point for a few shots with the ancient live oak trees framing the Shallotte River. It's the best souvenir of a memorable vacation.

Southport

Southport's historic waterfront has welcomed sailors, seafarers, and even a few pirates since the 1500s. Today, this coastal town continues to honor its maritime heritage, with a harbor where the Cape Fear River meets the Intracoastal Waterway and the Atlantic Ocean, oak-shaded streets, and graceful old homes and churches.

Its charm hasn't gone unnoticed: Southport has starred in beloved films and series including Crimes of the Heart, A Walk to Remember, I Know What You Did Last Summer, Safe Haven, and more recently, The Summer I Turned Pretty and Outer Banks. But it's not the movie lights that make Southport shine, it's the people, the slower pace, and the views you'll remember long after your visit.

Pull up a chair at a waterfront restaurant overlooking the Yacht Basin and savor fresh seafood and a cool drink as the sun sets over the water. Stroll through Waterfront Park, where porch swings invite you to stay awhile, or explore nearby galleries, boutiques, and shops filled with local art and coastal treasures.

Landmarks like the Old Brunswick Jail, Old Brunswick County Courthouse, the River Pilots Tower, and the Fort Johnston–Southport Museum and Visitors' Center tell stories of the town's rich past, while the North Carolina Maritime Museum connects visitors to its seafaring roots.

Whether you come for the history, the seafood, or the peaceful charm of its oak-lined streets, Southport welcomes you with open arms. It's easy to see why Coastal Living named it "America's Happiest Seaside Town."

Calabash

How does a tiny fishing town in North Carolina become the “Seafood Capital of the World?” It’s all in our name. People all over the world think they have tasted Calabash seafood—lightly seasoned and flash-fried to lock in freshness—but until you taste the original in its natural habitat, you haven’t experienced the true magic.

Your wait is over as you dive into dozens of great dining options where the shrimp and fish on the menu were swimming that morning. In fact, you can watch the trawlers arrive while you eat at dockside and waterside restaurants. Or you can buy a haul of fresh seafood right off the dock to cook at home.

Think you can match the catch yourself? Then you’re invited to hop aboard one of the charter fishing boats that will fully outfit you to haul in some eyepoppers. Prefer to be a waterway spectator instead? The whole family will love the experience of a boat tour to enjoy the antics of dolphins and seabirds.

Land lovers can stroll along the docks to check out the boats or spend time reeling in a shopping haul. Callahan’s of Calabash is a great place to find something unusual to mark your visit, including Christmas décor that will warm your heart with Calabash memories each year.

Believe it or not, some people don’t come here for the seafood. Golfers know all about the six championship courses here in Calabash, including Brunswick Plantation Resort and Golf where you can stay in a villa steps away from the course.

With unabashed pride, Calabash welcomes you to a vacation experience that’s a boatload of fun.

Mainland

The perfect complement to our beaches and islands is the mainland areas of the Brunswick Islands. Like our islands, our mainland offers a lot of different experiences destined to make lifelong memories.

The mainland area is located just across the Cape Fear River from Wilmington, NC and stretches south to the South Carolina state line. It includes nine towns—some no more than a crossroads, but each has a story to tell.

History buffs will find plenty to explore in this home of some of our nation's earliest settlers, including more than a few pirates. You can still feel the hearty spirit of freedom that attracted them to our shores.

Brunswick Town in Winnabow is site of the county's original settlement. Today, you can walk the grounds to find archaeological ruins of colonial homes and the shell of St. Philips Church among the ancient trees. Destroyed by the British during the Revolutionary War, Confederate earthworks were built on top of the site in 1862, abandoned in 1865, and the untouched Fort Anderson site still stands as one of the most pristine intact coastal fortifications in the nation.

Varnamtown offers an interesting waterfront on the Lockwood Folly River, where you can watch fishermen in action. The Boiling Spring Lakes and Green Swamp Nature Preserves will reveal rare birds and plants, including the carnivorous Venus flytrap.

Offering a distinctively different vibe than our beaches, you'll find the mainland is a great way to mix it up on your Brunswick Islands vacation discovering wonders old and new.

Pack your trip full of fun.

No matter what floats your boat when you're living on island time, you'll find it here exploring history, nature, birdwatching, delving into science, or scaling the ships ladder of a lighthouse. Your Brunswick Islands vacation can be packed full of daily adventures or as relaxing as you like.

We don't want you to miss a thing, so here's a bucket list of things to see and do—museums, nature preserves, points of interest, and cultural opportunities. You may be surprised at all the options. Find a few that speak to you. If you can't cover it all this trip, you'll have something to look forward to during your next visit.

NC Festival by the Sea— Holden Beach

Holden Beach hosts a coastal arts and crafts festival. This two-day event features local art and food vendors, live music, and lots of special activities for kids. Sign up for the annual horseshoe tournament and sandcastle building contest.

Every member of the family delights in this popular and beloved celebration. Don't miss your chance to join in on all the excitement brewing in the streets.

NC 4th of July Festival— Southport and Oak Island

The first 4th of July celebration in Southport was reported in 1795. As the nation prepares to commemorate America 250, Southport's festival will celebrate not just our history, but the enduring spirit of independence that began right here along the North Carolina coast. This is everything you'd expect and more—from moving readings of the Declaration of Independence and ceremonies of honor and remembrance to live music and family fun.

The festivities extend across the bridge to Oak Island for its annual Beach Day, which is filled with summer games, food, and music by the sea. Back in Southport, the celebration continues with a beloved parade, classic car display, freedom flotilla, and dazzling fireworks over the water.

There's always a good reason to come for a visit.

Whether you plan your vacation around one of our festivals or concerts, or just stumble upon it by happy accident, you're in for a treat. We love to put on a party. And y'all are invited.

The authentic vibe of our barrier island life lends itself to celebrate everything—the sun, the sand, the salt breezes, good fellowship, great seafood, wonderful music, and unique artistry. Check out a few of our favorites here and visit www.ncbrunswick.com/events to see our current calendar of events.

NC Oyster Festival— Ocean Isle Beach

For more than 40 years, oyster lovers have flocked to this celebration of all things oyster. The two-day celebration includes sample recipes from local vendors and a chance to vote for your favorite oyster stew. But you don't have to be an oyster aficionado to have a great time here.

You'll find wonderful arts and crafts vendor displays with unique treasures to kick off your holiday shopping. Join in the cooking and shucking contests where you can show off your skills or cheer on your favorite participants. And there's a full calendar of music and entertainment from good old rock 'n' roll and beach music to country and R&B. (Bring your dancing shoes!)

NC Rice Festival

A unique blend of history, education, and celebration, the North Carolina Rice Festival spans four days of activity, culminating in a day long festival on the grounds of the Brunswick Town/Ft. Anderson historic site. Surrounded by some of the area's largest former rice plantations, the event is both a showcase of our region's history and the enduring impacts of the Gullah Geechee people and culture. Head down in March for a celebration complete with traditional music, panel discussions, living historians, and vendors from across the Gullah Geechee Heritage Corridor. Event parking is free.

Southport Wooden Boat Show

If you enjoy charming and historical coastal towns, then you won't want to miss the Southport Wooden Boat Show. Each fall, you can see wooden boats of all shapes and sizes displayed in and around the historic Old Yacht Basin in Southport and even talk to the boat makers and owners. The event features nautical and maritime arts and crafts vendors, children's activities, and delicious food. There's something for everyone at this delightful show, so grab the whole family for a weekend you'll never forget.

Summer Fun For All

When putting together your summer bucket list, be sure to add our seasonal events to your plans. You'll find tunes and tastes for everyone at our summer concert series and regular markets across our islands and towns.

Enjoy free concerts throughout the summer with a variety of acts including jazz, Motown, blues, country, and rock. And when you want to see what flavors, fashions, and flair make NC's Brunswick Islands so special, stop by one of our farmers or artisans markets.

We have summer fun for everyone here—and no matter how you fill your itinerary, a trip here is one you will never forget.

Days at the Docks—Holden Beach

Looking for food, dancing, and a chance to win big? Then look no further than Days at the Docks in Holden Beach. It's a two-day festival free to the public with live entertainment including some of the best beach music you'll hear all year. For kids there are inflatable rides, games, and face painting. And with an array of food vendors, you won't leave the docks hungry. The highlight of the festival is the world famous "Bopple Race." Try your luck by buying a $1 Bopple and you could win up to $100. To learn what a Bopple is and to line dance the afternoon away, don't miss Days at the Docks.

Sunset at Sunset—Sunset Beach

If you like amazing music, fun and unique crafts, and finger-licking food, then the Sunset at Sunset Festival is right up your alley. Nearly 100 local vendors are ready to serve you everything you could possibly want: food, arts, crafts, locally crafted beer and wine, and so much more. Our smallest visitors are also in for a great time with a Kid Korner featuring face painting and inflatables. No matter what you love, you'll find it at the biggest block party in Sunset Beach. Best of all, all this fun and excitement is free to attend for all ages.

Holiday Happenings

Check out our holiday cheer! The fun begins with the Annual Ocean Isle Beach Flotilla, a family favorite event where boats decorated in Christmas lights travel down the Intracoastal Waterway. It's a sight you won't soon forget, and it kicks off a holiday season full of tree lightings, parades, and many other events in our area. From Calabash to Oak Island, 'tis the season for festive fun. You wouldn't want to miss the merriment of Southport's Winterfest, a weeklong holiday celebration featuring the Annual Holiday Tour of Homes, numerous activities for kids, and the Southport Winterfest Flotilla. This year, ho ho hop on over to see how we deck the halls.
