

The background of the book cover is a stylized illustration. It features a large, dark grey, swirling mass at the top, resembling a storm or a giant's head. Below this, several parallel, slightly curved tracks in shades of brown and tan run diagonally across the frame. A red, jagged, flame-like or smoke-like shape is positioned on the right side. In the lower center, a character with a pale, greyish face and a single visible eye is shown. The character has long, flowing red hair and is wearing a blue, mechanical-looking headpiece with yellow circular details. The character's mouth is open, showing red, tongue-like or flame-like elements. The overall style is graphic and somewhat surreal.

Sylvia Plath

*Mary Ventura und das
neunte Königreich*

Insel-Bücherei Nr. 1483