A watercolor illustration of two birds, possibly doves, facing each other. The bird on the left is shown in profile, with a greenish-brown head and a reddish-brown beak. The bird on the right is shown in profile, with a reddish-brown head and a greenish-brown beak. The background is a light pinkish-beige color. The birds' bodies are rendered in various shades of green, brown, and blue, with some areas showing a mottled or speckled pattern.
