A row of four vintage black and white photographs with deckled edges. The first photo shows a woman and a young child standing on a concrete step in front of a house with a large tree. The second photo shows a woman and a young child sitting on a stone ledge outdoors. The third photo shows a woman and a young child standing on a wooden porch or deck. The fourth photo shows a woman and a young child sitting on a grassy hillside with trees in the background.
