

LOCKDOWN ESCAPE SCRIPT

The current days are rather strange,
We are living through something we are not familiar with.

We suddenly have limits.

Confined, we feel trapped in this lockdown.

We can't go about our normal day,

It's funny that the minute when we are told we can't do something, that we begin to crave
it so badly,

We may have restrictions, but we can still enjoy the world around us.

The green, the blue, the yellow, the purple, the pink,

we take in each colour, each leaf that creates a magical mosaic,

we venture down new paths not yet taken,

and the paths walked 100 times before, we walk with eyes newly open, everything seems slightly different, we notice things we didn't see before,

perhaps the peaceful river nestled in nearby woods,

we take heed to the sound of birds chirping around us,

we feel the wind on our faces and smile,

Because no matter what, the feeling of mother nature around us will never change.

During the long days, we can still escape, even just for a short time, we can let go.

And although there are many steps to take, we tackle them one at a time, we take one day at a time.

The day of no limits is coming, patience is needed for just that bit longer.

The river of hope will soon lead us to the open ocean of freedom.
